PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

PERICLES, PRINCE OF TYRE, was first published, in Quarto, in the year 1609, with the following title-page :

THE LATE, | And much admired Play, | Called | Pericles, Prince |
of Tyre. | With the true Relation of the whole Historie, |
aduentures, and fortunes of the said Prince : | As also, | The no
lesse strange, and worthy accidents, | in the Birth and Life, of his Daughter | MARIANA. | As it hath been diuers and sundry times
acted by | his Maiesties Seruants, at the Globe on | the Banck-
side. | By William Shakespeare. | Imprinted at London for Henry
Gosson, and are | to be sold at the signe of the Sunne in | Pater-
noster row, &c. | 1609. |

Another edition was issued in the same year. As the title-pages are absolutely identical, it has hitherto been supposed that there was but one edition, and that the discrepancies between the copies were due to printers' corrections made while the sheets were passing through the press. A careful examination of the different copies has however convinced us that there were two distinct editions, and certain minute indications have enabled us to decide which of the two was the earlier. This we call Q_1 . The second we term Q_2 . We have consulted three copies of Q_1 ; which are found in the Bodleian, the Capell Collection, and the British Muscum. The last is marked in the catalogue C. 12. h. 5. Of Q_2 we have collated two copies, one in the Duke of Devonshire's library and one in the British Museum, marked C. 34. k. 36.

Another copy of Pericles 1609 is in the Public Library at Hamburg. From a sample of the various readings given in a note by M. Tycho Mommsen, in the preface to his reprint of Wilkins' Novel, we recognize it as a copy of Q₂.

Besides these, we know of no other copies of the two editions of 1609¹.

There is also in the British Museum (C. 34. k. 37) a unique copy of an edition in Quarto dated 1611, which formerly belonged to Mr Halliwell. The title-page is as follows :

THE LATE, | And much admired Play, | Called | Pericles, Prince |
of Tyre. | With the true Relation of the whole History, | aduen-
tures, and fortunes of the sayd Prince : | As also, | The no lesse strange, and worthy accidents, | in the Birth and Life, of his Daughter | MARIANA. | As it hath beene diuers and sundry times acted by | his Maiestyes Seruants, at the Globe on | the Banck-side. | By VVilliam Shakespeare. | Printed at London by
S. S. | 1611. |

This we call Q₃. It is printed from a copy of the second Quarto. Two leaves containing part of the second Act are wanting. It is so extremely ill printed, especially in the latter part, that it is in many cases impossible to determine with certainty the punctuation and even the reading.

The Quarto of 1619, our Q₄, of which there are two copies in the British Museum and one in the Capell Collection, has the following title-page :

THE LATE, | And much admired Play, | CALLED, | Pericles, Prince
of | Tyre. | With the true Relation of the whole Hi- | story, aduen-
tures, and fortunes of | the saide Prince. | Written by W. SHAKE-
SPEARE. | Printed for T. P. 1619.

The signatures of this edition are a continuation of those of 'The Whole Contention &c.,' published without date but by the same publisher, shewing that the two plays originally formed part of the same volume. See Vol. v. of the present work, Pref. pp. ix. x.

The edition of 1619 seems to have been printed from that of 1611. With the average number of misprints, it presents many corrections of the text, sometimes certain and generally happy, but all probably conjectural.

There was also an edition in Quarto of 1630, which we term Q₆. Two copies of this are found in the British Museum (C. 34 k. 39, and C. 34. k. 40), which differ in the imprint but are in other respects identical.

The imprint of the former, which is the same as that in the Capell Collection, is as follows:

LONDON, | Printed by I. N. for R. B. and are to be sould | at his shop in Cheapside, at the signe of the | Bible. 1630. |

That of the latter:

LONDON, | Printed by J. N. for R. B. 1630. |

This fifth Quarto is extremely incorrect.

Another edition, which we call Q₆, was printed five years later, from the fourth Quarto. It bears the following imprint:

Printed at London by Thomas Cotes, 1635.

The play of Pericles was not included in either the first or the second Folio. It was however reprinted, together with other plays wrongly attributed to Shakespeare, in the Folio of 1664 and in that of 1685. The text of the third Folio is taken from that of the sixth Quarto, but with a considerable number of conjectural alterations.

A duodecimo reprint of Pericles, taken from the fourth Folio, appeared in 1734.

Rowe included, in both his editions, Pericles and the other plays given as Shakespeare's in the third and fourth Folios but not found in the first and second. They were excluded by Pope and subsequent editors, nor were they republished in any edition of Shakespeare till Malone printed them in his Supplement to Steevens' Shakespeare of 1778, which appeared two years later. Malone, acting on the suggestion of Farmer, included Pericles in his edition of Shakespeare, published in 1790. Steevens in 1793 followed his example, and Pericles has been republished by all subsequent editors except Mr Keightley. Mr Knight reprinted it with Lochrine and the other spurious plays. There can be no doubt that the hand of Shakespeare is traceable in many of the scenes, and that throughout the play he largely retouched, and even rewrote, the work of some inferior dramatist. But the text has come down to us in so maimed and imperfect a state that we can no more judge of what the play was when it left the master's hand than we should have been able to judge of Romeo and Juliet if we had only had the first Quarto as authority for the text. The plot was founded on Twine's novel, called 'The Patterne of Painefull Aduenters:' first published in 1576 and reprinted by Mr Collier in the first volume of Shakespeare's Library, together with the story of Appollinus, the Prince of Tyr, from Gower's Confessio Amantis, a poetical version of the same romance.

Another novel by George Wilkins, avowedly based on the acted drama, was published in 1608, with the following title-page:

THE | Painfull Aduentures | of Pericles Prince of | Tyre. |
Being | The true History of the Play of Pericles, as it was | lately presented by the worthy and an- | cient Poet John Gower. | AT
 LONDON | Printed by T. P. for Nat: Butter, | 1608. |

The work, which is interesting as being the first of all 'Tales from Shakespeare' and of considerable use in determining the text of the play, was reprinted by M. Tycho Mommsen in 1857, from a copy in the Public Library at Zurich, with a Preface of his own and an Introduction by Mr Collier.

VENUS AND ADONIS was first published in Quarto, in 1593, with the following title-page:

VENVS | AND ADONIS | Vilia miretur vulgus: mihi flavus Apollo |
Pocula Castalia plena ministret aqua. | LONDON | Imprinted by
 Richard Field, and are to be sold at | the signe of the white
 Greyhound in | Paules Church-yard. | 1593. |

The printer's device is an anchor, with the motto, 'Anchora Spei.'

This we call Q_1 . It is printed with remarkable accuracy, doubtless from the author's own manuscript.

A second edition, also in Quarto, was published in the following year. The title-page is exactly similar to that of the first edition, except that the date 1594 is substituted for 1593. We call this Q_2 .

A third edition was issued in 1596 from the same printing office, with the following imprint:

Imprinted at London by R. F. for | Iohn Harison. | 1596. †

This edition, like all the subsequent ones, is in Octavo, but in order to avoid using a different set of symbols, we term it Q_3 .

The fourth edition¹, Q_4 [now Q_5], bears this imprint:

LONDON | Printed by I. H. | for Iohn Harison. | 1600. |

In the Bodleian copy the title-page is supplied in manuscript.

This edition was printed from Q_3 .² It contains many erroneous readings, due, it would seem, partly to carelessness and partly to wilful alteration, which were repeated in later copies.

The Bodleian copy once belonged to Malone and was given to him by Farmer. He says in a manuscript note: 'I have carefully collated the Venus and Adonis with the edition of 1596, with which I have been furnished by Mr T. Warton; and have noted the variations in the margin. March 24, 1785.

² The date 1600 is conjectural and has been assigned to this edition in consequence of its being bound up with the Lucrece of that year, which was 'printed by I. H. for Iohn Harison.' But it appears from internal evidence to be subsequent to the edition of 1599, from which it was possibly printed. [W. A. W.]

E. M.' Like most careful collations, which have not been revised, this of Malone's leaves many discrepancies unrecorded.

Two new editions were published, as we have discovered, in the year 1602.

There is extant, as we believe, only a single copy of each, one in the British Museum and one in the Bodleian Library¹.

The imprint of the former is as follows :

Imprinted at London for William Leake, | dwelling at the signe of the Holy Ghost, in | Paules Church-yard. 1602. |

The title-page of the Bodleian copy is the same as that of the Museum copy, excepting that it has 'vulgus : mihi' for 'vulgus, mihi,' and 'Pauls Churchyard' for 'Paules Church-yard,'² and the printer's device is different. The similarity of title-page and identity of date have led to the supposition that these were copies of the same edition, but a comparison of the two proves to demonstration that they were different editions. The Bodleian copy is very inferior to the Museum copy in typography, in the quality of the paper, and in accuracy.

The Museum copy formerly belonged to the late Mr George Daniel, who has written in a fly-leaf the following note : 'No other copy of this excessively rare edition is known. Mr Evans was wrong in stating that a copy is in the Malone Collection in the Bodleian Library. No copy is mentioned in the catalogue, nor is there one to be found there.' Mr Daniel had overlooked the existence of the Bodleian copy of 1602, but, as it turns out, his own copy is unique after all. That in the Bodleian has the autograph of R. Burton, author of the Anatomy of Melancholy.

¹ Another has since been discovered in the Earl of Macclesfield's Library at Shirburn Castle, Oxfordshire. This has the same printer's device as the copy in the British Museum, viz. a winged globe surrounded by a laureated skull, an hour-glass, and an open book bearing the inscription 'I lue to dy, I dy to lue.' But I learn from a minute description kindly furnished by Lady Macclesfield that it differs from it in several particulars, which shew that it was from a different setting of the type. It also has a colon for a comma after 'vulgus' in the motto. It is possible therefore that there was a third edition issued in the same year. In the Bagford Collection of title-pages is one which appears to be identical with that of Lord Macclesfield's copy. For this information, as well as for many other acts of courtesy and kindness, I am indebted to Mr W. Y. Fletcher. [W. A. W.]

We term the Museum copy Q_6 [Q_6] and the Bodleian Q_7 [Q_7]. Neither was printed from the other, but both from Q_4 [Q_5].

The next edition known to us has the following imprint :

LONDON, | Printed for W. B. 1617. |

This we term Q_7 [Q_8].

The next, our Q_8 [Q_9], has the imprint :

LONDON, | Printed for I. P. 1620.

A copy exists in the Capell Collection. Dr Bandinel also purchased one for the Bodleian, but it cannot now be found¹.

The next edition, which we call Q_9 [Q_{10}], is remarkable as having been printed at Edinburgh. It is also in Octavo, but longer than the English editions. The title page is as follows :

VENUS | AND | ADONIS. | Vilva miretur vulgus, mihi flavus
Apollo | Pocula Castalia plena ministret aqua. | EDINBURGH, |
Printed by John Wreittoun, and | are to bee sold in his Shop a litle
be- | neath the salt Trone. 1627. |

We believe that this was printed from a manuscript which the writer had copied from Q_8 [Q_7], but in which he had introduced, probably by happy conjecture, several emendations agreeing with the text of the three earliest editions. The only copy known to exist is in the British Museum².

An edition in the Bodleian wanting the title page, but catalogued with the date 1630, is referred to by us as Q_{10} [Q_{12}].³

² According to Mr Edmonds, another copy was sold at Sotheby's in 1864, and as I learn from Dr Justin Winsor's Bibliography of Shakespeare's Poems it is now 'in the Library of Almon W. Griswold, New York City.' [W. A. W.]

³ A copy formerly in the Ashmolean Museum, and now in the Bodleian (Wood 79, 9), has a title-page bearing date 1630. This is quoted as Q_{11} , and was printed by J. H., who is probably the same as I. H., the printer of the edition of 1636 for the same publisher. [W. A. W.]

Whatever be the true date, it is certainly earlier than the next, which we call Q_{11} [Q_{13}], bearing the following imprint:

LONDON, | Printed by I. H. and are to be sold by Francis Coules
in | the Old Baily without Newgate. 1636. |

In the Bodleian catalogue a copy is mentioned of the date 1675, but none such exists in the library itself.

The first edition of LUCRECE, which we have called Q_1 , was published in Quarto in 1594. It has the following title:

LVCRECE. | LONDON. | Printed by Richard Field, for Iohn Harrison, and are | to be sold at the signe of the white Greyhound | in Paules Churh-yard. 1594. |

The running title is 'The Rape of Lvcreece.'

Copies of this edition are in the Duke of Devonshire's Library, the British Museum, and the Library of Sion College¹. In the Bodleian² there are two copies, differing from each other in some important readings, which we have distinguished as Q_1 (Bodl. 1) and Q_2 (Bodl. 2). The former is marked 'Malone 34'; the latter 'Malone Add. 886'.

The second edition was printed in 1598. In order to avoid a different notation we have called this, though in reality an octavo, Q_2 . It has the following title:

LVCRECE. | AT LONDON, | Printed by P. S. for Iohn | Harrison. 1598. |

A copy of this edition is in the Capell Collection, which has been collated by Capell with a copy of Q_1 , apparently that in Sion College Library.

The third edition, our Q_3 , also in small octavo, was published in 1600, with the following title:

LVCRECE. | LONDON. | Printed by I. H. for Iohn Harison. | 1600. |

² And in the British Museum. [W. A. W.]

The only copy of this edition with which we are acquainted is in the Bodleian Library. It is bound up with the Venus and Adonis of [?] 1600 and was given by Farmer to Malone.

In 1607 appeared, also in octavo, what we have quoted as Q₄. Its title is:

LVCRECE | AT LONDON, | Printed be N. O. for John Ha- |
rison. 1607. |

In 1616, the year of Shakespeare's death, it was reissued with the author's name as 'newly revised'; but as the readings are generally inferior to those of the earlier editions there is no reason for attaching any importance to an assertion which was merely intended to allure purchasers. The title-page of this edition, which we call Q₅, is as follows:

THE | RAPE | OF | LVCRECE. | By | M^r. William Shakespeare. |
Newly Reuised. | LONDON : | Printed by T. S. for Roger Jackson, and are | to be solde at his shop neere the Conduit | in Fleet-street.
1616. |

Copies of this edition are in the British Museum and the Bodleian.

The sixth and last of the earlier editions of any importance appeared in 1624 with the following title:

THE | RAPE | OF | LVCRECE. | By | M^r. William Shakespeare. |
Newly Reuised. | LONDON. | Printed by I. B. for Roger Jackson, and are | to be sold at his shop neere the Conduit | in Fleet-street.
1624. |

A copy of this edition, which we call Q₆, is in the Grenville Collection in the British Museum. Through the kindness of Mr P. H. Frere, we have been enabled to collate another copy which formerly belonged to Sir John Fenn, the editor of the Paston Letters.

Of these six editions, the fifth and sixth differ considerably in their readings from the first four, which follow each other without any important variations. An edition bearing the date of 1632 is mentioned in Lowndes' Bibliographer's Manual, ed.

Bohn, but we have not been able to find it¹. The last of all, which we have quoted as Q₇ [Q₈], appeared in 1655 and forms part of the same volume with Quarles's Banishment of Tarquin.

The SONNETS appeared for the first time in 1609. The title of some copies is as follows:

SHAKE-SPEARES | SONNETS. | Neuer before Imprinted. | AT
LONDON | By G. Eld for T. T. and are | to be solde by William
Aspley. | 1609. |

In others the imprint is

AT LONDON | By G. Eld for T. T. and are | to be solde by
John Wright, dwelling | at Christ Church gate. | 1609. |

At the end of the Sonnets was printed in the same edition
A LOVERS COMPLAINT.

THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM was first printed in 1599 with the following title:

THE | PASSIONATE | PILGRIME. | By W. Shakespeare. | AT
LONDON | Printed for W. Iaggard, and are | to be sold by W.
Leake, at the Grey- | hound in Paules Churchyard. | 1599. |

In the middle of sheet C is a second title:

SONNETS | To sundry notes of Musicke. | AT LONDON |
Printed for W. Iaggard, and are | to be sold by W. Leake, at the
Grey- | hound in Paules Churchyard. | ²

¹ I have since discovered two copies of this edition, Q₇, with the imprint, 'LONDON, | Printed by R. B. for John Harrison, and | are to be sold at his shop at the golden | Vnicorne in Pater-noster Row. | 1632. |' One of these is in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Oxford (A. 4. 8), and is bound with Hudson's translation of the History of Judith (no title). The other formerly belonged to George Steevens, and was bought at his sale in 1800 by Mr Heber for fifteen shillings. It afterwards came into the possession of the late Mr Christie Miller and is now at Britwell. It is bound with a copy of Charles FitzGeffry's Blessed Birthday (Oxf. 1636). [W. A. W.]

² The date 1599 has been cut off by the binder. [W. A. W.]

A unique¹ copy of this edition, bound up with the Venus and Adonis of 1620, is in the Capell Collection. It was once in the possession of 'honest' Tom Martin of Palgrave, and a MS. note informs us that the volume cost a former owner 'but 3 halfpence.'

It was reprinted, together with some poems by Thomas Heywood, in 1612, and the whole were attributed to Shakespeare. The title at first stood thus:

THE | PASSIONATE | PILGRIME. | or | Certaine Amorous Sonnets, | betweene Venus and Adonis, | newly corrected and augmented. | By W. Shakespere. | The third Edition. | Whereunto is newly added two Loue-Epistles, the first | from Paris to Hellen, and | Hellens answeere backe | againe to Paris. | Printed by W. Iaggard. | 1612. |

In the Bodleian copy of this edition Malone has written the following note. 'All the poems from Sig. D 5 were written by Thomas Heywood, who was so offended at Jaggard for printing them under the name of Shakespeare, that he has added a postscript to his Apology for Actors, 4to 1612, on this subject, and Jaggard in consequence of it appears to have printed a new title-page to please Heywood, without the name of Shakespeare in it. The former title-page was no doubt intended to be cancelled, but by some inadvertence, they were both prefixed to this copy and I have retained them as a curiosity.'

The corrected title-page on the opposite leaf, A verso, is, except in the use of italics and Roman letters, the same, omitting 'By W. Shakespere.'

This is called 'The third Edition,' but no other between 1599 and 1612 is known to exist.

In 1640 a number of the Sonnets, together with some of the Poems from The Passionate Pilgrim and A Lover's Complaint, were collected into a volume, with some translations from Ovid

and other pieces evidently not by Shakespeare, and published with the following title:

POEMS: | WRITTEN | BY | WIL. SHAKE-SPEARE. | Gent. | Printed at London by Tho. Cotes, and are | to be sold by John Benson, dwelling in | S^t. Dunstons Church-yard. 1640. |

The order of the poems in this volume is very arbitrary, but it is followed in the editions by Gildon (1710), and Sewell (1725 and 1728), as well as those published by Ewing (1771) and by Evans (1775). In all these editions, Sonnets 18, 19, 43, 56, 75, 76, 96 and 126 are omitted, and Sonnets 138 and 144 are given in the form in which they appear in the 'Passionate Pilgrim.'

It was in 1709 (according to Lowndes, Bibliographer's Manual, ed. Bohn) that the whole of Shakespeare's Minor Poems were issued in a small 8vo form, under the title,

A Collection of Poems, in Two Volumes; Being all the Miscellanies of Mr. William Shakespeare, which were Publish'd by himself in the Year 1609. and now correctly Printed from those Editions. The First Volume contains, I. VENUS and ADONIS. II. The Rape of LUCRECE. III. The Passionate Pilgrim. IV. Some Sonnets set to sundry Notes of Musick. The Second Volume contains One Hundred and Fifty Four Sonnets, all of them in Praise of his Mistress. II. A Lover's Complaint of his Angry Mistress. LONDON: Printed for Bernard Lintott, at the Cross-Keys, between the Two Temple-Gates in Fleet-street.

No editor's name is given, and in Bohn's edition of Lowndes it is wrongly assigned to Gildon, who, as appears by Sewell's Preface, edited the Poems in 1710 with an introduction containing remarks upon the plays. The readings from this edition are therefore quoted by us as those of Lintott. In Capell's copy, with which he evidently intended to go to press, there are many corrections and emendations, which we have referred to as 'Capell MS.' This volume appears afterwards to have passed through Farmer's hands, as there is a note in his handwriting at the end of the 'Advertisement.' Possibly therefore it may have been seen by Malone, and as many of the alterations proposed by Capell were adopted by Malone or subsequent editors, we have indicated this coincidence by quoting them as 'Malone (Capell MS.),' or the like. Capell has left in the same volume a preface to the poems in MS., from the date to which we learn that it was prepared for press in 1766. The separate title-pages to the pieces in this collection all bear the same date 1609, which is that of the first edition of the Sonnets. But in another copy of the first volume only, which is in the Bodleian, the title-pages bear different dates and are in other respects different, though, so far as we have been able to judge, the text of the poems in the Capell and Bodleian copies is identical.

THE PHOENIX AND THE TURTLE first appeared, with Shakespeare's name appended to it, in Chester's 'Loves Martyr: or, Rosalins Complaint,' which was published in 1601.

We have been unable to see a copy of this extremely rare book, and have therefore been compelled to depend upon the excellent facsimile of the poem published by Mr Halliwell in the last volume of his recently completed edition of Shakespeare.

For the collation of those pieces in the Passionate Pilgrim which are printed in somewhat different forms in England's Helicon, Griffin's Fidessa, and by Barnfield, we are indebted to the kindness of Mr H. Bradshaw, Fellow of King's College, Cambridge. The originals are in the Bodleian Library. Mr Bradshaw informs us that the pieces which were printed by Barnfield, numbered VIII and [XXI] in the present edition, are not, as is usually stated, in 'The Encomion of Lady Pecunia,' but among the 'Poems: in diuers humors' at the end of a volume of which the first poem is 'The Complaint of Poetrie, for the Death of Liberalitie.' This, though bound with 'The Encomion &c.', has a distinct title and separate signatures.

We have now brought to completion a task which has cost us nearly six years' labour.

The labour, though severe, has been lightened by the assistance and sympathy of many friends¹, and of others personally unknown to us: we have throughout been encouraged by kindly criticism, and by a confident hope that the result would be a contribution of permanent value to English literature.

Neither, again, is the work of collating and editing, at least when undertaken on the large scale which we have attempted, merely the dry, mechanical, repulsive task which it is popularly supposed to be. The judgement has to be exercised at every step, in the settlement of the text, in the application of rules previously laid down, and in discriminating between essential and unessential variations. Thus the labour of a conscientious editor, however humble and unambitious in its aim, is neither servile nor mechanical. If it is often unduly depreciated in public opinion, this is in some degree because each successive editor, being bound to correct the errors of his predecessors, necessarily brings these into undue prominence, while as he cannot in all cases acknowledge, he seems to ignore, the services which they have rendered.

The good is oft interred with their bones.’

The plan which we have adopted gives to each his due, and will, we trust, secure a tardy justice for those whose merits have not been sufficiently recognized. But an editor of Shakespeare, even if he misses his meed of fame and praise, finds a sufficient reward in the labour itself. He feels that he is not, in Hallam's phrase, 'trimming the lamp of an ancient sepulchre,' but trimming a lamp which lights modern dwellings, and which will continue to light the dwellings of many generations of men yet to come. It is no mean task, but a noble privilege, to live in daily intercourse with the greatest of merely human men, to acquire a constantly increasing familiarity with the thoughts of the subtlest of thinkers and the language of the most eloquent of poets. The more we endeavour to fathom and to grasp the mind of Shakespeare, the more we appreciate his depth and his sublimity. As our knowledge grows, so also our admiration and our pleasure in the study increase, dashed only by a growing sense of the textual imperfections and uncertainties which stand between the author and his readers. For, besides the recognized difficulties, we are convinced that there are many passages, still easily scanned and construed, and therefore not generally suspected of corruption, which nevertheless have not been printed exactly as they were first written. Some ruder hand has effaced the touch of the master.

And these blemishes cannot be entirely removed, even by the most brilliant conjectural criticism, because the materials are wanting. Little more can be done than has been done already by successive editors and commentators. The attentive readers of our notes will, we are persuaded, come to the same conclusion that we have come to: viz. that the value of these men's labours has been greatly underrated. Nothing can be more unfounded than the notion, so prevalent in Germany, that Shakespeare has till of late years been neglected and undervalued by his countrymen. Even in England this erroneous assertion is frequently repeated, as if it were too obvious to require proof. The genius of Shakespeare and the stupidity of his commentators is a popular antithesis as trite as it is unjust. In this despised class are found some of the most famous and most accomplished Englishmen of their time. And it is a study of great interest to follow them as they exercise their varied talents on the noblest field which the literature of their country afforded: Rowe, himself a dramatist of no mean skill; Pope, with his deep poetic insight, Theobald, with his fine tact and marvellous ingenuity; Hanmer, whose guesses, however they may pass the sober limits of criticism, are sometimes brilliant, often instructive, and never foolish, Warburton, audacious and arrogant, but now and then singularly happy; Johnson, with his masculine common sense; Capell, the most useful of all, whose conscientious diligence is untiring, whose minute accuracy is scarcely ever at fault; Steevens, Malone, Blackstone, Farmer, Tyrwhitt, Rann, Boswell, Singer and Sidney Walker, with all their varied learning; together with their successors of the present generation in England, Germany and America, who have devoted themselves to the illustration of Shakespeare as to a labour of love.

For the contempt into which the earlier editors have fallen, they may thank, in part, their own quarrels. People are content to take each at his rival's estimate. Theobald is held to be the worst of dunces because Pope made him the hero of the Dunciad. Bearing this in mind, we have great satisfaction in the thought that there is scarcely an editor of Shakespeare now living to whom we are not indebted for some act of courtesy and kindness.

In the course of our inquiries we have been led to the study of other authors contemporary with or immediately subsequent to Shakespeare, and have thus gathered materials for the elucidation of his text, which must serve for another work, since our limits have compelled us rigorously to exclude them from this. Nevertheless the footnotes of the present work are in effect explanatory, because they contain not only all the material for criticism, but also, in a condensed form, the results of successive speculations. A vast mass of recent criticism, to which we hope to do full justice hereafter, finds no records in these pages, because its results, as far as the improvement of the text is concerned, have been anticipated by earlier commentators.

We take this opportunity of re-stating, more explicitly than before, some of the rules by which we have been guided in the present work, together with our reasons for adopting them.

1. We have given the text according to modern spelling. A recurrence to antiquated and disused forms would be productive of far more inconvenience than advantage. What is called 'modern' spelling is, in fact, not so much an alteration of the old spelling as a reduction to uniformity, which obviates numberless misinterpretations. Hardly a word can be found which was not in old days occasionally spelt as we spell it now. If Shakespeare himself could come to life again and read his own works in a modern edition, nothing in the spelling would seem to him strange.

Moreover the editions which come nearest to the hand of Shakespeare are, as a rule, the most uniform, that is, the most modern, in spelling: it follows therefore that the variations found in other copies are due to the caprice or indifference of transcribers or printers, and are not generally worth recording, much less worth repeating. We have recorded every variation which seemed instructive or curious in itself, besides all such as might help in the determination of doubtful readings.

Had there been any ground for supposing that Shakespeare corrected his own works as they passed through the press, we might have thought ourselves bound to retain the original spelling and even the punctuation, at least in those works which were printed during his lifetime. But in all probability not one of his works was thus corrected, nor, with few exceptions, were they printed from the author's manuscript. In earlier writers, like Chaucer, spelling is of importance, because it indicates the changes which were undergone by words before they came into their present shape, and so marks the various stages in their history, while at the same time it helps to preserve the inflections which were disused altogether before the time of Elizabeth. In the case of Spenser, the spelling is an essential part of the affectedly archaic character of his chief poem, and on this account should be retained. But none of these reasons apply to Shakespeare.

2. We have somewhere read, or heard, a suggestion that the text of the first Folio ought to be taken as a basis for a critical edition of Shakespeare. Those who have made such a proposal can scarcely be aware of the multitude of errors in reading and punctuation, and of the important omissions, which are found in the first Folio. That volume is far from containing the 'complete works' of Shakespeare. And in the great majority of cases where a previous Quarto exists, the Quarto and not the Folio is our best authority.

Besides, another reprint of the first Folio is unnecessary, since the splendid reproduction by photo-zincography, executed under Mr Staunton's superintendence, and the extremely accurate reprint published by Mr L. Booth, and edited, as we understand, by Mr Charles Wright.

3. In the selection of readings for the text we have conformed to the practice of all judicious editors of ancient classic. The more experience an editor has, the more cautious he will be in the introduction of conjectural emendations, not, assuredly, because his confidence in the earliest text increases, but because he gains a greater insight into the manifold and far-removed sources of error. The insertions, marginal and interlinear, and doubtless occasional errors, of the author's own manuscript, the mistakes, deliberate alterations and attempted corrections of successive transcribers and of the earliest printer, result at last in corruptions which no conjecture can with certainty emend. Therefore in all cases of doubt we have inclined to the retention of the text which has the best authority. But we have throughout endeavoured to bear in mind that rules are good servants but bad masters, and that high above all rules stands the golden rule of moderation dictated by common sense.

4. While dealing freely with the spelling, we have desired to leave intact the diction of Shakespeare. This has not prevented us from adopting frequent corrections of the grammar of the most ancient texts. Many false concords found in the Folio do not occur in the corresponding passages of the earlier Quartos and are consequently due to the copyist or printer; we are therefore justified in adopting similar corrections in other cases where the earlier authority is wanting. No doubt, grammatical rules were less rigorous in Shakespeare's time, and the necessities of rhyme often led him to employ constructions which would be inadmissible now. These we of course retain. And again, in the discourse of his clowns and rustics the author used a language suitable to the speakers. This no one would think of changing.

But it is sometimes difficult to draw the line and determine what belongs to orthography and what to diction. With all possible vigilance, perfect consistency is unattainable.

5. With regard to punctuation, we have introduced no novelty. As a general rule we have been sparing in the use of stops, but the clearness of each sentence has been our paramount consideration.

6. In the use of the apostrophe as a guide to the metrical pronunciation, which is very arbitrary and irregular in the older texts and has been generally disused by modern poets, we have adopted the following rule: to retain the 'e' when it is an essential part of the verb and to substitute an apostrophe where the 'e' is a part of the inflection. Thus we write in all cases 'loved,' 'assumed,' 'approved,' not 'lov'd,' 'assum'd,' ' approv'd,' and 'touch'd,' 'mark'd,' 'restrain'd,' whenever the metre requires them to be so pronounced. This via media, which avoids metrical uncertainties on the one hand and verbal ambiguities on the other, is sanctioned by the practice of the Poet Laureate.

6. We have retained one archaism: namely, 'ld' as an ab' reviation of 'would,' the most general form in the Quartos and Folios. Our reason is that such a form cannot possibly mislead a reader, while the modern form 'd', used indifferently as the abbreviation of 'would' and 'had', leads to obscurity in all cases where the present tense and the past participle of a verb are identical in form, or where the present tense of one verb is identical with the past participle of another.

Subjoined is a list in chronological order of the editions which we have completely collated, and of the works which we have consulted throughout. We have not included a multitude of other books which we have occasionally referred to, but which have not furnished us with any various readings. Neither, except in one instance, have we included periodicals in our list. Many names attached in our foot-notes to conjectural emendations will not be found in the following list, because the authors did not publish their notes in a separate form, but only communicated them to different editors or to periodicals, or else left them in manuscript.

The readings from Warburton's MS. notes (see vol. VII. Preface, p. xiv), now in the possession of Mr Norman Bennet (formerly Bennett), have appeared in the numbers of Notes and Queries for February 25, March 18, and April 8, 1893.

W. A. W.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

THE delay in the appearance of the present volume has been mainly due to the fact that for the last three months of 1892 I was unable to attempt any literary work, and it has only now been completed under the pressure of other duties which had the first claim upon my time. Since the publication of the last volume of the Cambridge Shakespeare in 1866, there have been discovered two editions of Venus and Adonis and one of Lucrece, which were then unknown to the editors. The readings furnished by these have been incorporated in the present edition, which it is necessary for me to say is a really new edition and not, as has been erroneously stated by some high authorities, a mere reprint of the first. The pages of copy sent to the printers would shew that the additions and corrections amount to many thousands, and that scarcely a page is free from them. A comparison of the notes on some crucial passages, as for instance The Tempest, iii. 1. 15, All's Well, iv. 1. 38, and Hamlet, i. 4. 36—38, with the corresponding notes in the first edition, will alone furnish sufficient evidence of this. My endeavour has been to include all that was overlooked in our former work, to correct what was erroneous, and to add to it what has appeared since. That I have been completely successful, I am not vain enough to hope, but I trust that although I may not have recorded all the various readings which are due to printers' errors, or all the changes of versification which have been suggested, I have not neglected anything of real importance. In any case, should such negligence appear, it has not been intentional.

The reprints of the early quartos, which in the first edition followed the plays to which they respectively belong, have been relegated to this concluding volume in order to effect a better arrangement of the volumes which precede it. In the first edition, Henry VIII., the last of the Historical Plays, was the first play in Volume VI., which began the Tragedies. In the present edition the Comedies are in three volumes as before, the Histories in two, and the Tragedies in three, while the last volume contains the doubtful Pericles, the Poems, and the reprints of the early quartos. Of these reprints I must say a few words in self-defence, as a comparison between them and the facsimiles by photolithography which have appeared in recent years might lead to the conclusion that the reprints are incorrect. The contrary will be found to be the case, for in all doubtful instances the originals have been appealed to and followed. In minute particulars the facsimiles are by no means a certain guide, for they turn commas into full stops, notes of interrogation into colons, semicolons into commas, and render it impossible to distinguish between 'c' and 'e,' 'r' and 't,' 'n' and 'u,' 'm' and 'in,' and the like. I make no complaint against them for these imperfections, because it would have been impossible to avoid them without incurring greater cost than was consistent with the object for which the series was issued. But when in the First Part of the Contention (iv. 10. 36, p. 562) the facsimile of the first quarto contains the words 'to the King' which were only added in the third quarto; when in Romeo and Juliet (ii. 2. 53, p. 654), 'entreat' is changed to 'enter at'; and when in Hamlet not only is 'course' altered to 'coarse' (i. 1. 31, p. 700), 'becke' to 'backe' (ii. 2. 170, p. 719), 'ghest' to 'ghost' (vi. 1. 43, p. 743), but the speakers' names are changed from 'Mar.' to 'Ham.' (i. 5. 155, p. 712), and from 'Hor.' to 'Ham.' (iii. 2. 182, p. 730), all confidence in the facsimiles as trustworthy authorities disappears.

In conclusion, I desire to thank the many friends who have assisted me in the work, and without whose help my difficulties would have been greatly increased. I would especially record my obligations to Mr E. Maunde Thompson, Principal Librarian, to Dr Garnett, Mr W. Y. Fletcher, and Mr W. Barclay Squire, of the British Museum; to Mr Falconer Madan, Sub-Librarian of the Bodleian, and to Mr George Parker; to Mr G. T. Pilcher and Mr A. E. Haigh of Corpus Christi College, Oxford; to the late Mr Henry Bradshaw, University Librarian, and Mr W. White, Sub-Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge; to Mr Alfred H. Huth; the Rev. W. H. Milman, Librarian of Sion College; to Dr Justin Winsor, Librarian of Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.; and above all to my constant friend Dr Horace Howard Furness of Philadelphia, whose monumental volumes are the admiration of every true student of Shakespeare.

ACT I.

Enter GOWER.

Before the palace of Antioch.

To sing a song that old was sung,
 From ashes ancient Gower is come,
 Assuming man's infirmities,
 To glad your ear and please your eyes.
 It hath been sung at festivals, 5
 On ember-eves and holy-ales;
 And lords and ladies in their lives
 Have read it for restoratives :
 The purchase is to make men glorious ;
 Et bonum quo antiquius, eo melius. 10
 If you, born in these latter times
 When wit's more ripe, accept my rhymes,

And that to hear an old man sing
 May to your wishes pleasure bring,
 I life would wish, and that I might 15
 Waste it for you like taper-light.
 This Antioch then Antiochus the Great
 Built up, this city, for his chiefest seat,
 The fairest in all Syria :
 I tell you what mine authors say : 20
 This king unto him took a fere,
 Who died and left a female heir,
 So buxom, blithe and full of face
 As heaven had lent her all his grace ;
 With whom the father liking took, 25
 And her to incest did provoke :
 Bad child, worse father ! to entice his own
 To evil should be done by none :
 But custom what they did begin
 Was with long use account no sin. 30
 The beauty of this sinful dame
 Made many princes thither frame,
 To seek her as a bed-fellow,
 In marriage-pleasures play-fellow :
 Which to prevent he made a law, 35
 To keep her still and men in awe,
 That whoso ask'd her for his wife,
 His riddle told not, lost his life :

 Graces her subjects, and her thoughts the king
 Of every virtue gives renown to men!

 Nothing but curious pleasures, as from thence Sorrow were ever razed, and testy wrath
 Could never be her mild companion.
 You gods that made me man and sway in love,
 That have inflamed desire in my breast 20

 Or die in the adventure, be my helps,
 As I am son and servant to your will,
 To compass such a boundless happiness!

With golden fruit, but dangerous to be touch'd;
 For death-like dragons here affright thee hard:
 Her face, like heaven, enticeth thee to view 30
 Her countless glory, which desert must gain;
 And which, without desert, because thine eye
 Presumes to reach, all thy whole heap must die.
 Yon sometimes famous princes, like thyself,
 Drawn by report, adventurous by desire, 35
 Tell thee, with speechless tongues and semblance pale,
 That without covering, save yon field of stars,
 Here they stand martyrs, slain in Cupid's wars;
 And with dead cheeks advise thee to desist
 For going on death's net, whom none resist. 40

 Were not this glorious casket stored with ill:
 But I must tell you, now my thoughts revolt;
 For he's no man on whom perfections wait
 That, knowing sin within, will touch the gate. 80
 You are a fair viol and your sense the strings,
 Who, finger'd to make man his lawful music,
 Would draw heaven down and all the gods, to hearken,
 But being play'd upon before your time,
 Hell only danceth at so harsh a chime. 85
 Good sooth, I care not for you.

Ant. Prince Pericles, touch not, upon thy life,
 For that's an article within our law,
 As dangerous as the rest. Your time's expired:
 Either expound now or receive your sentence. 90

 Few love to hear the sins they love to act;
 'Twould braid yourself too near for me to tell it.

 When what is done is like an hypocrite,
 The which is good in nothing but in sight!
 If it be true that I interpret false,
 Then were it certain you were not so bad 125
 As with foul incest to abuse your soul;
 Where now you're both a father and a son,
 By your untimely clasplings with your child,
 Which pleasure fits a husband, not a father;

 Will shun no course to keep them from the light.

Re-enter ANTIOCHUS.

Ant. He hath found the meaning, for the which we mean
To have his head.

He must not live to trumpet forth my infamy, 145
Nor tell the world Antiochus doth sin
In such a loathed manner;
And therefore instantly this prince must die;
For by his fall my honour must keep high.
Who attends us there? 150

Thal. Doth your highness call?

Ant. Thaliard,
You are of our chamber, and our mind partakes
Her private actions to your secrecy:
And for your faithfulness we will advance you. 155

We hate the prince of Tyre, and thou must kill him:

 In the day's glorious walk, or peaceful night, 4
 The tomb where grief should sleep, can breed me quiet?
 Here pleasures court mine eyes, and mine eyes shun them,
 And danger, which I fear'd, is at Antioch,
 Whose arm seems far too short to hit me here :
 Yet neither pleasure's art can joy my spirits,
 Nor yet the other's distance comfort me. 10

Attend me then: I went to Antioch, 70
Where, as thou know'st, against the face of death,
I sought the purchase of a glorious beauty,
From whence an issue I might propagate,
Are arms to princes and bring joys to subjects
Her face was to mine eye beyond all wonder; 75

Which by my knowledge found, the sinful father
Seem'd not to strike, but smooth: but thou know'st

'Tis time to fear when tyrants seem to kiss.
Which fear so grew in me, I hither fled, 80
Under the covering of a careful night,

Bethought me what was past, what might succeed.
I knew him tyrannous; and tyrants' fears
Decrease not, but grow faster than the years: 85

 That I should open to the listening air
 How many worthy princes' bloods were shed,
 To keep his bed of blackness unlaid ope,
 To lop that doubt, he'll fill this land with arms, 90
 And make pretence of wrong that I have done him;

Well, I perceive he was a wise fellow and had good discretion, that, being bid to ask what he would of the king, desired he might know none of his secrets: now do I see he had some reason for't; for if a king bid a man be a villain, he's bound by the indenture of his oath to be one. Took some displeasure at him; at least he judged so:
And doubting lest that he had err'd or sinn'd, 21
To show his sorrow, he'd correct himself;
So puts himself unto the shipman's toil,
With whom each minute threatens life or death. 24

 See if 'twill teach us to forget our own?

 Throws down one mountain to cast up a higher.
 O my distressed lord, even such our griefs are;

Who wanteth food, and will not say he wants it,
Or can conceal his hunger till he famish?

Our tongues and sorrows do sound deep

Our woes into the air; our eyes do weep,

Till tongues fetch breath that may proclaim them louder;

That, if heaven slumber while their creatures want, 16

They may awake their helps to comfort them.

I'll then discourse our woes, felt several years,

And wanting breath to speak help me with tears.

Dio. I'll do my best, sir.

Speak out thy sorrows which thou bring'st in haste,
For comfort is too far for us to expect.

Lord. We have descried, upon our neighbouring shore,
A portly sail of ships make hitherward.

Cle. I thought as much.

One sorrow never comes but brings an heir,
That may succeed as his inheritor;

And so in ours: some neighbouring nation,

65

Taking advantage of our misery,

Hath stuff'd these hollow vessels with their power,

To beat us down, the which are down already,

And make a conquest of unhappy me,

Whereas no glory's got to overcome.

 For that I am a man, pray see me buried.

First Fish. Die quoth-a? Now gods forbid't! And I have a gown here; come, put it on; keep thee warm.
 Now, afore me, a handsome fellow! Come, thou shalt go home, and we'll have flesh for holidays, fish for fasting-days, and moreo'er puddings and flap-jacks, and thou shalt be welcome.

Per. I thank you, sir.

Sec. Fish. Hark you, my friend; you said you could not beg. 86

Per. I did but crave.

Sec. Fish. But crave! Then I'll turn craver too, and so I shall 'scape whipping.

Per. Why, are all your beggars whipped then? 90

Sec. Fish. O, not all, my friend, not all; for if all your beggars were whipped, I would wish no better office than to be beadle. But, master, I'll go draw up the net.

Per. He is a happy king, since he gains from his subjects the name of good by his government. How far is his court distant from this shore?

First Fish. Marry, sir, half a day's journey: and I'll tell you, he hath a fair daughter, and to-morrow is her birthday; and there are princes and knights come from all parts of the world to just and tourney for her love.

Per. Were my fortunes equal to my desires, I could wish to make one there. 110

Per. An armour, friends! I pray you, let me see it. Thanks, fortune, yet, that after all thy crosses Thou givest me somewhat to repair myself; 120 And though it was mine own, part of my heritage, Which my dead father did bequeath to me, With this strict charge, even as he left his life, 'Keep it, my Pericles; it hath been a shield 'Twixt me and death:'—and pointed to this brace— 125 'For that it saved me, keep it; in like necessity— The which the gods protect thee from!—may defend thee.'

For it was sometime target to a king; 135

I know it by this mark. He loved me dearly,

And for his sake I wish the having of it;

And that you'd guide me to your sovereign's court,

Where with it I may appear a gentleman;

 Fame answering the most strange inquire,
 To the court of King Simonides
 Are letters brought, the tenour these :
 Antiochus and his daughter dead ; 25
 The men of Tyrus on the head
 Of Helicanus would set on
 The crown of Tyre, but he will none :
 The mutiny he there hastes t' oppress ;
 Says to 'em, if King Pericles 30
 Come not home in twice six moons,
 He, obedient to their dooms,
 Will take the crown. The sum of this,
 Brought hither to Pentapolis,
 Y-ravished the regions round, 35

 Disgorges such a tempest forth,
 That, as a duck for life that dives,
 So up and down the poor ship drives: 50

 Which wash both heaven and hell; and thou, that hast
 Upon the winds command, bind them in brass,
 Having call'd them from the deep! O, still Thy deafening dreadful thunders; gently quench 5
 Thy nimble sulphurous flashes! O, how, Lychorida,
 How does my queen? Thou stormest venomously;
 Wilt thou spit all thyself? The seaman's whistle
 Is as a whisper in the ears of death,
 Unheard. Lychorida!—Lucina, O 10

Am like to do: take in your arms this piece
Of your dead queen.

Lyc. Patience, good sir; do not assist the storm.
A little daughter: for the sake of it,
Be manly, and take comfort.

Per. O you gods!
Why do you make us love your goodly gifts,
And snatch them straight away? We here below
Recall not what we give, and therein may 25
Use honour with you.

Lyc. Patience, good sir,
Even for this charge.

Cer. Set 't down, let's look upon 't.

Sec. Gent. 'Tis like a coffin, sir.

Cer. Whate'er it be, 55

'Tis wondrous heavy. Wrench it open straight:
If the sea's stomach be o'ercharged with gold,
'Tis a good constraint of fortune it belches upon us.

Sec. Gent. 'Tis so, my lord.

Cer. How close 'tis caulk'd and bitumed! Did the sea cast it up? 61

First Serv. I never saw so huge a billow, sir, as toss'd it upon shore.

Cer. Wrench it open: soft! it smells most sweetly in my sense. 65

Sec. Gent. A delicate odour.

Cer. As ever hit my nostril. So, up with it.

Fear not, my lord, but think
 Your grace, that fed my country with your corn,
 For which the people's prayers still fall upon you,
 Must in your child be thought on. If neglect 20
 Should therein make me vile, the common body,
 By you relieved, would force me to my duty:
 But if to that my nature need a spur,

 Even ripe for marriage rite; this maid
 Hight Philoten: and it is said
 For certain in our story, she Would ever with Marina be: 20
 Be't when she weaved the sleided silk
 With fingers long, small, white as milk;
 Or when she would with sharp needle wound
 The cambric, which she made more sound
 By hurting it; or when to the lute 25
 She sung, and made the night-bird mute,
 That still records with moan; or when
 She would with rich and constant pen
 Vail to her mistress Dian; still
 This Philoten contends in skill 30
 With absolute Marina: so
 With the dove of Paphos might the crow
 Vie feathers white. Marina gets
 All praises, which are paid as debts,

Pand. Three or four thousand chequins were as pretty a proportion to live quietly, and so give over.

Bawd. Why to give over, I pray you? is it a shame to get when we are old? 28

Pand. O, our credit comes not in like the commodity, nor the commodity wages not with the danger: therefore, if in our youths we could pick up some pretty estate, 'twere not amiss to keep our door hatched. Besides, the sore terms we stand upon with the gods will be strong with us for giving o'er.

Bawd. Well, well; as for him, he brought his disease hither: here he does but repair it. I know he will come in our shadow, to scatter his crowns in the sun.

Boult. Well, if we had of every nation a traveller, we should lodge them with this sign. 115

Bawd. Pray you, come hither awhile. You have fortunes coming upon you. Mark me: you must seem to do that fearfully which you commit willingly, despise profit where you have most gain. To weep that you live as ye do makes pity in your lovers: seldom but that pity begets you a good opinion, and that opinion a mere profit. 122

Mar. I understand you not.

Boult. O, take her home, mistress, take her home these blushes of hers must be quenched with some present practice. 126

Bawd. Thou sayest true, i' faith, so they must; for your bride goes to that with shame which is her way to go with warrant.

Boult. Faith, some do, and some do not. But, mistress, if I have bargained for the joint,— 131

Bawd. Thou mayst cut a morsel off the spit.

 If thou hadst drunk to him, 't had been a kindness
 Becoming well thy fact: what canst thou say
 When noble Pericles shall demand his child?

Dion. That she is dead. Nurses are not the fates,
 To foster it, nor ever to preserve. 15
 She died at night; I'll say so. Who can cross it?
 Unless you play the pious innocent,
 And for an honest attribute cry out
 'She died by foul play.'

Cle. O, go to. Well, well,
 Of all the faults beneath the heavens, the gods 20
 Do like this worst.

But cast their gazes on Marina's face;
Whilst ours was blurted at, and held a malkin,
Not worth the time of day. It pierced me thorough;

See how belief may suffer by foul show!
This borrow'd passion stands for true old woe;
And Pericles, in sorrow all devour'd, 25
With sighs shot through and biggest tears o'ershower'd,
Leaves Tarsus and again embarks. He swears
Never to wash his face, nor cut his hairs:
He puts on sackcloth, and to sea. He bears
A tempest, which his mortal vessel tears, 30
And yet he rides it out. Now please you wit

 Thetis, being proud, swallow'd some part o' the earth:

 Into an honest house, our story says.
 She sings like one immortal, and she dances
 As goddess-like to her admired lays;
 Deep clerks she dumbs, and with her needle composes 5
 Nature's own shape, of bud, bird, branch, or berry,
 That even her art sisters the natural roses;
 Her inkle, silk, twin with the rubied cherry:
 That pupils lacks she none of noble race,
 Who pour their bounty on her, and her gain 10
 She gives the cursed bawd. Here we her place;
 And to her father turn our thoughts again,
 Where we left him, on the sea. We there him lost,
 Whence, driven before the winds, he is arrived
 Here where his daughter dwells; and on this coast 15
 Suppose him now at anchor. The city strived
 God Neptune's annual feast to keep: from whence

Gow. Now our sands are almost run ;
 More a little, and then dumb.
 This, my last boon, give me,
 For such kindness must relieve me,
 That you aptly will suppose 5
 What pageantry, what feats, what shows,
 What minstrelsy and pretty din,
 The regent made in Mytilene,
 To greet the king. So he thrived,
 That he is promised to be wived 10
 To fair Marina ; but in no wise
 Till he had done his sacrifice,
 As Dian bade : whereto being bound,
 The interim, pray you, all confound.
 In feather'd briefness sails are fill'd, 15
 And wishes fall out as they're will'd.

Enter PERICLES, with his train, LYSIMACHUS, HELICANUS, MARINA, and a Lady.

Per. Hail, Dian! to perform thy just command,
I here confess myself the king of Tyre;
Who, frighted from my country, did wed
At Pentapolis the fair Thaisa.
At sea in childbed died she, but brought forth 5
A maid-child call'd Marina; who, O goddess,
Wears yet thy silver livery. She at Tarsus
Was nursed with Cleon; who at fourteen years
He sought to murder. but her better stars
Brought her to Mytilene; 'gainst whose shore 10
Riding, her fortunes brought the maid aboard us,
Where, by her own most clear remembrance, she Made known herself my daughter.

Thai. Voice and favour!

You are, you are—O royal Pericles!— [Faints]

Per. What means the nun? she dies! help, gentlemen!

NOTES.

NOTE I.

No list of Dramatis Personæ is found in any Quarto edition. It is first given after the play in the third Folio and prefixed to it in the fourth. It is called as usual in both 'The Actors names.'

Antiochus is there described as 'a Tyrant of Greece.' Then follows 'Hesperides Daughter to Antiochus.' 'Dionyza' is called Dionysia, and 'Mytilene' 'Metaline.' Another character is introduced, viz. 'Philoten Daughter to Cleon.' The errors and omissions were partly corrected by Rowe and partly by Malone in his supplement to Steevens' edition of 1778, published two years afterwards. He also added the words 'SCENE dispersedly in various countries.'

The list, as given in this and in the Globe edition, is literatim as in Mr Dyce's first edition, except that we have written 'Tarsus' for 'Tharsus.'

NOTE II.

ACT 1. The Folios have here Actus Primus. Scena Prima; in the rest of the play the Acts are marked, but not the Scenes. There is no indication of either in the Quartos.

NOTE III.

1. 1. 6. The first, fourth, fifth and sixth Quartos read thus :

'Ant. Musicke bring in our daughter, &c.'

The second and third Quartos have the same reading, only putting a comma after 'Musicke.'

The Folios read 'Ant. Musick bring in our daughter, &c.'

Malone corrected the error, making Musick a stage direction Mr Dyce first transferred this stage direction to follow line 11.

NOTE IV.

1. 1. 55—57. The first Quarto, followed substantially by the rest, has here.

‘I wayte the sharpest blow (Antiochus)
Scorning aduice, read the conclusion then.
Which read &c.’

The Folios

‘I waite the sharpest blow (Antiochus)
Scorning advice. Reade the conclusion then
Ant. Which read &c.’

Malone first made the correction adopted in our text

Steevens gave the following arrangement:

‘I wait the sharpest blow, Antiochus,
Scorning advice.
Ant Read the conclusion then,
Which read, &c.’

NOTE V.

1. 2. 74. Steevens (1793) tells us that he once thought a line was wanting to complete the sense of the passage, and that the deficiency might be supplied as follows:

... ‘a glorious beauty,
From whence an issue I might propagate,
For royal progeny are general blessings,
Bring arms to princes, and to subjects joy.’

In Malone’s edition of 1780 the last line in Steevens’s note stands as it does in our text.

NOTE VI.

1. 4. 39. We have followed Steevens in adopting Mason’s conjecture, on account of its agreement with the following passage from Wilkins’

Novel: 'The ground of which forced lamentation was, to see the power of change, that this their City, who not two summers younger, did so excell in pompe, &c'

The reading 'Sends word,' II. prol 22, adopted by Malone and Steevens, and suggested, according to Mr Halliwell, by a MS. note of Theobald's, is also confirmed by the novel. 'Good Helycanus as proud at home, as his Prince was prosperous abroad, let no occasion slip wherein hee might send word to Tharsus of what occurments soeuer had happened in his absence, &c.' See other instances, II. 1. 48, 119, 153; II. 2. 30; II. 4. 10.

NOTE VII.

II. 1. 52—55. Steevens conjectures that the dialogue originally ran thus:

Per. Peace be at your labour, honest fishermen;

The day is rough and thwarts your occupation

2. Fish Honest! good fellow, what's that? If it be not a day fits you, scratch it out of the calendar, and nobody will look after it.'

He inserts in his text 'scratch it' and 'will,' but not the former alterations.

Perhaps, as Malone suggested, Pericles had said: 'Peace be at your labour, honest fishermen! good day.' And the fisherman replies 'Honest! Good! Fellow what's that?'

NOTE VIII.

II. 3. 74. Two leaves, signatures D₂ and D₃, are wanting in the unique copy of the Quarto of 1611, which is now in the British Museum. The part omitted extends from II 3. 74 to II. 5. 36 inclusive

NOTE IX.

III. 1. 51—54. The first Quarto reads:

'1. Pardon vs, sir; with vs at Sea it hath bin still obserued.

And we are strong in easterne, therefore briefly yeeld'er,

Per. As you thinke meet; for she must ouer board straight:

Most wretched Queene.'

The second and third Quartos omit the colon after 'straight,' and the fourth and sixth put a comma. The second and third have 'yeeld'er,' the rest 'yeeld her.' For 'ouer board,' the fourth has 'ore board' and the sixth 'ore boord.' The fifth Quarto has:

'1. Pardon vs sir; this is a lye with vs at Sea it hath bin still obserued And we are strong in easterne, therefore briefly yeeld her.

Per. As you thinke meete, for she must ore board straight,
Most wretched Queene.'

The Folios follow as usual the sixth Quarto, reading however, 'still hath bin' (F₃) and 'still hath been' (F₄) instead of 'hath beene still' (Q₆).

They also read 'Eastern' for 'easterne' (Q₁Q₂Q₃Q₄Q₅) and 'Easterne' (Q₆).

F₄ reads Pericles' speech as three lines

Malone was the first who read the whole passage as prose, and transferred the words 'for she must over-board straight' to the Sailor's speech.

For 'eastern' Steevens first adopted Mason's conjecture 'earnest,' and Singer first adopted Boswell's conjecture 'custom.' Steevens himself had guessed 'credence.'

Mr Knight, adopting Jackson's conjecture, reads, 'And we are strong in, astern,' i.e. we are driving strongly in shore astern. Malone, who retained 'Eastern,' supposed the words to mean 'There is a strong Easterly wind.'

Steevens reads 'Be it as you think meet' for the sake of metre.

[Sir Philip Perring conjectures 'strong in extreme.']

NOTE X

III. 2. 60—65. We have left the arrangement of this passage as it stands in the Quartos and Folios. Various attempts have been made to turn it into verse.

NOTE XI.

III. 3. 30. The conjectures of Steevens and Malone are confirmed by the following from Wilkins' Novel. 'vowing solemnly by othe to himselfe, his head should grow vnscisserd, his beard vntrummed, himselfe in all vncomely, since he had lost his Queene, &c.'

NOTE XII.

iv. 1. 58—67. Steevens makes a violent alteration here, reading :

‘That almost burst the deck, and from the ladder-tackle
Wash’d off a canvas-climber
. confusion

Leon. And when was this ?

Mar. It was when I was born :

Never was waves nor wind more violent.

Leon. Come, say your prayers speedily.’

This transposition was suggested to him by Mr M. Mason’s note to lines 61 sqq.: “Malone suspects that some line preceding these has been lost, but that I believe is not the case, this being merely a continuation of Marina’s description of the storm which was interrupted by Leonine’s asking her, When was that? and by her answer, When I was born, never were waves nor wind more violent Put this question and answer in a parenthesis, and the description goes on without difficulty :

. ‘endur’d a sea
That almost burst the deck,
And from the ladder-tackle washes off, &c’’

The line which Malone supposed to have dropped out between lines 60 and 61 of the text “may,” he says, “perhaps have been of this import :

‘O’er the good ship the foaming billow breaks.’”

NOTE XIII.

iv. 4. 13—16. The first Quarto, followed substantially by the rest, arranges this passage as follows :

‘Old Helicanus goes along behind,
Is left to governe it, you beare in mind.
Old Escenes, whom Hellicanus late
Aduancde in time to great and hie estate.’

Dr Nicholson would punctuate thus .

‘. behind.
Is left to govern it (you bear in mind)
Old &c.’

Mr Daniel, adopting the arrangement of the early copies, punctuates thus :

‘Old Helicanus goes along. Behind
Is left to govern it, you bear in mind,
Old Escanes, &c.’

His punctuation is substantially adopted by Hudson (1881), and as it gives a certain kind of sense it seems preferable to the more violent alteration, proposed by Steevens and followed by Malone, which we put in the text of our first edition .

‘Old Escanes, whom Helicanus late
Advanc’d in time to great and high estate,
Is left to govern. Bear you it in mind
Old Helicanus goes along behind.’

NOTE XIV.

iv. 4. 38—43. Steevens proposes to read these lines as follows :

‘Marina call’d; and at her birth
Proud Thetis swallow’d part o’ the earth :
The earth, fearing to be o’erflow’d,
Hath Thetis’ birth on heaven bestow’d :
Wherefore she swears she’ll never stint
Make battery upon shores of flint.’

NOTE XV.

iv 6. 24. Mr Collier suggests that ‘impunity,’ the reading of some of the early copies, is a misprint for ‘impurity.’

NOTE XVI.

v 13 Malone says that the corresponding rhyme, coast, shews that lest, in the first edition, was only a misprint for lost. The three copies of the first edition with which we are acquainted including that at the Bodleian which once belonged to Malone himself, all read ‘left’ not ‘lest.’

NOTE XVII.

v. l. 32. There is a confusion in the distribution of the dialogue in the first three Quartos; the first, followed by the other two, reads ·

Hell. You may, but bootlesse. Is your sight see, will not speake to any, yet let me obtaine my wish.

Lys. Behold him, this was a goodly person.

Hell. Till the disaster that one mortall wight droue him to this.'

The necessary correction was made in Q₄.

NOTE XVIII.

v l. 153. Mr Grant White thinks it "more than probable that 'Motion' is a stage direction which has slipped into the text, and that here Marina was to beckon or motion to Pericles to cease his rhapsody."

NOTE XIX.

v. l. 205, 206. The first Quarto, followed substantially by the rest, reads thus:

'Thou hast beene God-like perfit, the heir of kingdomes,
And an other like to Pericles thy father.'

Malone suggests, "Perhaps the poet wrote,

' — As in the rest you said
Thou hast been god-like-perfect, so go on;
Proceed and tell me but thy mother's name,
The heir of kingdoms, and a mother like
To Pericles thy father.'"

In his edition of 1780 he printed substantially the old text. But in 1790 he reads as follows:

'(as in the rest you said,
Thou hast been god-like-perfect;) the heir of kingdoms,
And a mother like to Pericles, thy father.'

In this reading he is followed substantially by Boswell.

Steevens says, "I would read,

'I am Pericles of Tyre, but tell me now
My drown'd queen's name: In all the rest thou said'st
Thou hast been god-like, perhaps the heir of kingdoms,
And another like to Pericles thy father.'

But in his edition of 1793 he printed the passage thus:

'I am Pericles of Tyre: but tell me now
(As in the rest thou hast been godlike perfect,)
My drown'd queen's name, thou art the heir of kingdoms,
And another life to Pericles thy father.'

Mason proposed,

'Thou 'rt heir of kingdoms,
And another life to Pericles thy father.'

Jackson would read,

'But tell me now
(As in the rest thou hast been god-like perfect,)
My drown'd queen's name, then thou 'rt the heir of kingdoms.'

Singer, in his first edition, printed the passage thus:

'I am Pericles of Tyre: but tell me now
My drown'd queen's name (as in the rest thou hast
Been godlike perfect), thou 'rt the heir of kingdoms,
And another life to Pericles thy father.'

In his second edition he reads,

'I am Pericles of Tyre: but tell me now
My drown'd queen's name (as in the rest you said
Thou hast been godlike perfect), the heir of kingdoms,
And another life to Pericles thy father.'

In this reading he is followed by Mr Collier in his second edition, except that in the third line he reads 'thou heir' for 'the heir.' Mr Staunton also adopts the reading of Singer (ed. 2), but prints 'another-life' for 'another life.' He suggests as another emendation,

'And mother-like to Pericles thy father.'

Mr Dyce (ed. 1) proposes,

'Thou hast been godlike perfect,—thou art then
The heir of kingdoms, and another life
To Pericles thy father.'

As the passage is so corrupt that it cannot be corrected with any approach to certainty by conjecture, we have left it as it stands in the Quartos and Folios

[Sir Philip Perring thinks it may so stand, and that, so standing, it very well admits of being explained. Hudson (1881) reads,

‘(as in the rest you’ve said
Thou hast been godlike perfect,) and thou art
The heir of kingdoms, and another life
To Pericles thy father’]

NOTE XX.

v. l. 230 The first three Quartos read,

‘Lys. Musicke my Lord? I heare.’

The fourth and fifth have,

‘Lys. Musicke my Lord, I heare.’

The sixth,

‘Lys. Musicke my Lord, I heare?’

The Folios,

‘Lys Musick, my Lord, I hear.’

Malone reads,

‘Lys. Musick? My lord, I hear—’

Steevens, following Malone, arranges Do ye...hear— as one line

Mr Dyce first suggested that ‘Music’ should be printed as a stage direction, and in this he has been followed by Mr Staunton, Mr Grant White, Dr Delius, and, though with some hesitation, by ourselves in the Globe edition. No music is mentioned in Wilkins’ Novel, and any music of earth would be likely to jar with that ‘music of the spheres’ which was already lulling Pericles to sleep. Perhaps the passage might be arranged thus ‘Lys. Music, my lord?

Per I hear most heavenly music.’

[This arrangement is followed by Hudson (1881). Sir Philip Perring suggests,

Rarest sounds Do ye not hear music?

Lys.

My lord!

Per.

I hear

Most heavenly music]

NOTE XXI.

v. l. 238—247. Steevens supposes that Diana's revelation was originally delivered in rhyme, thus :

‘My temple stands in Ephesus ; hie thither
 And do upon mine altar sacrifice.
 There, when my maiden priests are met together,
 Before the people all, in solemn wise
Recount the progress of thy miseries.
 Reveal how thou at sea didst lose thy wife ;
How mourn thy crosses, with thy daughter's : go,
 And give them repetition to the life.
 Perform my bidding, or thou liv'st in woe :
 Do 't, and be happy, by my silver bow.’

NOTE XXII.

v. 3. 15. The word ‘nun’ which Mr Collier had conjectured in a note to his first edition, is given by a MS. corrector in Capell's copy of the first Quarto.

NOTE XXIII.

v. 3. 80. ‘Heavens’ is the reading of all the Quartos and Folios in the text, but in the first three Quartos ‘Heaven’ is the catchword on the previous page.

VENUS AND ADONIS.

Vilia miretur vulgus; mihi flavus Apollo
Pocula Castalia plena ministret aqua.

TO THE
RIGHT HONORABLE HENRIE WRIOTHESLEY,
EARLE OF SOUTHAMPTON, AND BARON OF TITCHFIELD.

RIGHT HONOURABLE,

I KNOW not how I shall offend in dedicating my vnpolisht lines to your Lordship, nor how the worlde will censure me for choosing so strong a proppe to support so weake a burthen, onelye if your Honour seeme but pleased, I account my selfe highly praised, and vowe to take aduantage of all idle houres, till I haue honoured you with some grauer labour. But if the first heire of my inuention proue deformed, I shall be sorie it had so noble a god-father: and neuer after eare so barren a land, for fear it yeeld me still so bad a haruest, I leaue it to your Honourable suruey, and your Honor to¹ your hearts content which I wish may alwaies answere your owne wish, and the worlds hopefull expectation.

Your Honors in all dutie,

VENUS AND ADONIS.

EVEN as the sun with purple-colour'd face
 Had ta'en his last leave of the weeping morn,
 Rose-cheek'd Adonis hied him to the chase;
 Hunting he loved, but love he laugh'd to scorn :
 Sick-thoughted Venus makes amain unto him, 5
 And like a bold-faced suitor 'gins to woo him.

'Thrice fairer than myself,' thus she began,
 'The field's chief flower, sweet above compare,
 Stain to all nymphs, more lovely than a man,
 More white and red than doves or roses are ; 10
 Nature that made thee, with herself at strife,
 Saith that the world hath ending with thy life.

'Vouchsafe, thou wonder, to alight thy steed,
 And rein his proud head to the saddle-bow ;
 If thou wilt deign this favour, for thy meed 15
 A thousand honey secrets shalt thou know :
 Here come and sit, where never serpent hisses,
 And being set, I'll smother thee with kisses ;

‘ And yet not cloy thy lips with loathed satiety,
 But rather famish them amid their plenty, 20
 Making them red and pale with fresh variety;
 Ten kisses short as one, one long as twenty :
 A summer’s day will seem an hour but short,
 Being wasted in such time-beguiling sport.’

With this she seizeth on his sweating palm, 25
 The precedent of pith and livelihood,
 And, trembling in her passion, calls it balm,
 Earth’s sovereign salve to do a goddess good :
 Being so enraged, desire doth lend her force
 Courageously to pluck him from his horse. 30

Over one arm the lusty courser’s rein,
 Under her other was the tender boy,
 Who blush’d and pouted in a dull disdain,
 With leaden appetite, unapt to toy ;
 She red and hot as coals of glowing fire, 35
 He red for shame, but frosty in desire.

The studded bridle on a ragged bough
 Nimble she fastens—O, how quick is love !—
 The steed is stalled up, and even now
 To tie the rider she begins to prove : 40
 Backward she push’d him, as she would be thrust,
 And govern’d him in strength, though not in lust.

So soon was she along as he was down,
 Each leaning on their elbows and their hips.
 Now doth she stroke his cheek, now doth he frown, 45
 And 'gins to chide, but soon she stops his lips;
 And kissing speaks, with lustful language broken,
 'If thou wilt chide, thy lips shall never open.'

He burns with bashful shame; she with her tears
 Doth quench the maiden burning of his cheeks; 50
 Then with her windy sighs and golden hairs
 To fan and blow them dry again she seeks:
 He saith she is immodest, blames her miss;
 What follows more she murders with a kiss.

Even as an empty eagle, sharp by fast, 55
 Tires with her beak on feathers, flesh and bone,
 Shaking her wings, devouring all in haste,
 Till either gorge be stuff'd or prey be gone;
 Even so she kiss'd his brow, his cheek, his chin,
 And where she ends she doth anew begin. 60

Forced to content, but never to obey,
 Panting he lies and breatheth in her face;
 She feedeth on the steam as on a prey,
 And calls it heavenly moisture, air of grace;
 Wishing her cheeks were gardens full of flowers, 65
 So they were dew'd with such distilling showers.

Look, how a bird lies tangled in a net,
 So fasten'd in her arms Adonis lies;
 Pure shame and awed resistance made him fret,
 Which bred more beauty in his angry eyes: 70
 Rain added to a river that is rank
 Perforce will force it overflow the bank.

Still she entreats, and prettily entreats,
 For to a pretty ear she tunes her tale;
 Still is he sullen, still he lours and frets, 75
 'Twixt crimson shame, and anger ashy-pale;
 Being red, she loves him best; and being white,
 Her best is better'd with a more delight.

Look how he can, she cannot choose but love;
 And by her fair immortal hand she swears, 80
 From his soft bosom never to remove,
 Till he take truce with her contending tears,
 Which long have rain'd, making her cheeks all wet;
 And one sweet kiss shall pay this countless debt.

Upon this promise did he raise his chin, 85
 Like a dive-dapper peering through a wave,
 Who, being look'd on, ducks as quickly in;
 So offers he to give what she did crave;

Never did passenger in summer's heat
More thirst for drink than she for this good turn.
Her help she sees, but help she cannot get;
She bathes in water, yet her fire must burn :
'O, pity,' 'gan she cry, 'flint-hearted boy ! 95
'Tis but a kiss I beg; why art thou coy?

'I have been woo'd, as I entreat thee now,

Making my arms his field, his tent my bed.

 And died to kiss his shadow in the brook.

'Torches are made to light, jewels to wear,
 Dainties to taste, fresh beauty for the use,
 Herbs for their smell, and sappy plants to bear; 165
 Things growing to themselves are growth's abuse:
 Seeds spring from seeds and beauty breedeth beauty,

'Fondling,' she saith, 'since I have hemm'd thee here
 Within the circuit of this ivory pale, 230
 I'll be a park, and thou shalt be my deer;
 Feed where thou wilt, on mountain or in dale :

Graze on my lips, and if those hills be dry,
 Stray lower, where the pleasant fountains lie.

'Within this limit is relief enough, 235
 Sweet bottom-grass and high delightful plain,
 Round rising hillocks, brakes obscure and rough,
 To shelter thee from tempest and from rain :

Then be my deer, since I am such a park ;
 No dog shall rouse thee, though a thousand bark.' 240

At this Adonis smiles as in disdain,
 That in each cheek appears a pretty dimple :
 Love made those hollows, if himself were slain,
 He might be buried in a tomb so simple ;
 Foreknowing well, if there he came to lie, 245
 Why, there Love lived, and there he could not die.

These lovely caves, these round enchanting pits,
 Open'd their mouths to swallow Venus' liking.
 Being mad before, how doth she now for wits ?
 Struck dead at first, what needs a second striking? 250
 Poor queen of love, in thine own law forlorn,
 To love a cheek that smiles at thee in scorn !

Now which way shall she turn? what shall she say?
 Her words are done, her woes the more increasing;
 The time is spent, her object will away 255
 And from her twining arms doth urge releasing.

‘Pity,’ she cries, ‘some favour, some remorse!’

Away he springs, and hasteth to his horse.

But, lo, from forth a copse that neighbours by,
 A breeding jennet, lusty, young and proud, 260
 Adonis’ trampling courser doth espy,
 And forth she rushes, snorts and neighs aloud:

The strong-neck’d steed, being tied unto a tree,
 Breaketh his rein and to her straight goes he.

Imperiously he leaps, he neighs, he bounds, 265
 And now his woven girths he breaks asunder;
 The bearing earth with his hard hoof he wounds,
 Whose hollow womb resounds like heaven’s thunder;

The iron bit he crusheth ’tween his teeth,
 Controlling what he was controlled with. 270

His ears up-prick’d; his braided hanging mane
 Upon his compass’d crest now stand on end;
 His nostrils drink the air, and forth again,
 As from a furnace, vapours doth he send:

His eye, which scornfully glisters like fire, 275
 Shows his hot courage and his high desire.

Sometime he trots, as if he told the steps,
 With gentle majesty and modest pride;
 Anon he rears upright, curvets and leaps,
 As who should say 'Lo, thus my strength is tried; 280
 And this I do to captivate the eye
 Of the fair breeder that is standing by.'

What reckoneth he his rider's angry stir,
 His flattering 'Holla' or his 'Stand, I say'?
 What cares he now for curb or pricking spur? 285
 For rich caparisons or trappings gay?
 He sees his love, and nothing else he sees,
 For nothing else with his proud sight agrees.

Look, when a painter would surpass the life,
 In limning out a well proportion'd steed, 290
 His art with nature's workmanship at strife,
 As if the dead the living should exceed;
 So did this horse excel a common one
 In shape, in courage, colour, pace and bone.

Round-hoof'd, short-jointed, fetlocks shag and long, 295
 Broad breast, full eye, small head and nostril wide,
 High crest, short ears, straight legs and passing strong,
 Thin mane, thick tail, broad buttock, tender hide.
 Look, what a horse should have he did not lack,
 Save a proud rider on so proud a back. 300

Sometime he scuds far off, and there he stares;
 Anon he starts at stirring of a feather;
 To bid the wind a base he now prepares,
 And whether he run or fly they know not whether;
 For through his mane and tail the high wind sings, 305
 Fanning the hairs, who wave like feather'd wings.

He looks upon his love and neighs unto her;
 She answers him, as if she knew his mind:
 Being proud, as females are, to see him woo her,
 She puts on outward strangeness, seems unkind, 310
 Spurns at his love and scorns the heat he feels,
 Beating his kind embracements with her heels.

Then, like a melancholy malcontent,
 He vails his tail, that, like a falling plume,
 Cool shadow to his melting buttock lent: 315
 He stamps, and bites the poor flies in his fume.
 His love, perceiving how he was enraged,
 Grew kinder, and his fury was assuaged.

His testy master goeth about to take him;
 When, lo, the unback'd breeder, full of fear, 320
 Jealous of catching, swiftly doth forsake him,
 With her the horse, and left Adonis there:
 As they were mad, unto the wood they hie them,
 Out-stripping crows that strive to over-fly them.

All swoln with chafing, down Adonis sits, 325
 Banning his boisterous and unruly beast :
 And now the happy season once more fits,
 That love-sick Love by pleading may be blest ;
 For lovers say, the heart hath treble wrong
 When it is barr'd the aidance of the tongue. 330

An oven that is stopp'd, or river stay'd,
 Burneth more hotly, swelleth with more rage :
 So of concealed sorrow may be said ;
 Free vent of words love's fire doth assuage ;
 But when the heart's attorney once is mute, 335
 The client breaks, as desperate in his suit.

He sees her coming, and begins to glow,
 Even as a dying coal revives with wind,
 And with his bonnet hides his angry brow,
 Looks on the dull earth with disturbed mind, 340
 Taking no notice that she is so nigh,
 For all askance he holds her in his eye.

O, what a sight it was, wistly to view
 How she came stealing to the wayward boy !
 To note the fighting conflict of her hue, 345
 How white and red each other did destroy !
 But now her cheek was pale, and by and by
 It flash'd forth fire, as lightning from the sky.

Now was she just before him as he sat,

 Her eyes petitioners to his eyes suing;
 His eyes saw her eyes as they had not seen them;
 Her eyes woo'd still, his eyes disdain'd the wooing:
 And all this dumb play had his acts made plain
 With tears, which chorus-like her eyes did rain. 360

Full gently now she takes him by the hand,
 A lily prison'd in a gaol of snow,
 Or ivory in an alabaster band;
 So white a friend engirts so white a foe:
 This beauteous combat, wilful and unwilling, 365
 Show'd like two silver doves that sit a-billing.

Once more the engine of her thoughts began:
 'O fairest mover on this mortal round,

 And 'tis your fault I am bereft him so:
 I pray you hence, and leave me here alone;
 For all my mind, my thought, my busy care,

Thus she replies: 'Thy palfrey, as he should, 385

 Else, suffer'd, it will set the heart on fire:

 For looks kill love, and love by looks reviveth :

 But blessed bankrupt, that by love so thriveth !
 The silly boy, believing she is dead,
 Claps her pale cheek, till clapping makes it red ;

And all amazed brake off his late intent,
 For sharply he did think to reprehend her, 470
 Which cunning love did wittily prevent :
 Fair fall the wit that can so well defend her !
 For on the grass she lies as she were slain,

He wrings her nose, he strikes her on the cheeks, 475
 He bends her fingers, holds her pulses hard,

'Pure lips, sweet seals in my soft lips imprinted,
 What bargains may I make, still to be sealing?
 To sell myself I can be well contented,
 So thou wilt buy, and pay, and use good dealing;
 Which purchase if thou make, for fear of slips 515
 Set thy seal-manual on my wax-red lips

'A thousand kisses buys my heart from me;
 And pay them at thy leisure, one by one.
 What is ten hundred touches unto thee?
 Are they not quickly told and quickly gone? 520
 Say, for non-payment that the debt should double,
 Is twenty hundred kisses such a trouble?'

'Fair queen,' quoth he, 'if any love you owe me,
 Measure my strangeness with my unripe years:
 Before I know myself, seek not to know me; 525
 No fisher but the ungrown fry forbears:
 The mellow plum doth fall, the green sticks fast,
 Or being early pluck'd is sour to taste.

'Look, the world's comforter, with weary gait,
 His day's hot task hath ended in the west; 530
 The owl, night's herald, shrieks, 'tis very late;
 The sheep are gone to fold, birds to their nest;
 And coal-black clouds that shadow heaven's light
 Do summon us to part, and bid good night.

'Now let me say 'Good night,' and so say you ; 535
If you will say so, you shall have a kiss.'

'Good night,' quoth she ; and, ere he says 'Adieu,'
The honey fee of parting tender'd is :

Her arms do lend his neck a sweet embrace ;
Incorporate then they seem ; face grows to face. 540

Till breathless he disjoin'd, and backward drew
The heavenly moisture, that sweet coral mouth,
Whose precious taste her thirsty lips well knew,
Whereon they surfeit, yet complain on drouth :
He with her plenty press'd, she faint with dearth, 545
Their lips together glued, fall to the earth.

Now quick desire hath caught the yielding prey,
And glutton-like she feeds, yet never filleth ;
Her lips are conquerors, his lips obey,
Paying what ransom the insulter willeth ; 550
Whose vulture thought doth pitch the price so high,
That she will draw his lips' rich treasure dry.

And having felt the sweetness of the spoil,
With blindfold fury she begins to forage ;
Her face doth reek and smoke, her blood doth boil, 555
And careless lust stirs up a desperate courage,
Planting oblivion, beating reason back,
Forgetting shame's pure blush and honour's wrack.

Hot, faint and weary, with her hard embracing,
 Like a wild bird being tamed with too much handling, 560
 Or as the fleet-foot roe that's tired with chasing,
 Or like the froward infant still'd with dandling,
 He now obeys, and now no more resisteth,
 While she takes all she can, not all she listeth.

What wax so frozen but dissolves with tempering, 565
 And yields at last to every light impression?
 Things out of hope are compass'd oft with venturing,
 Chiefly in love, whose leave exceeds commission:
 Affection faints not like a pale-faced coward,
 But then woos best when most his choice is froward. 570

When he did frown, O, had she then gave over,
 Such nectar from his lips she had not suck'd.
 Foul words and frowns must not repel a lover;
 What though the rose have prickles, yet 'tis pluck'd:
 Were beauty under twenty locks kept fast, 575
 Yet love breaks through, and picks them all at last.

For pity now she can no more detain him;
 The poor fool prays her that he may depart.
 She is resolved no longer to restrain him;
 Bids him farewell, and look well to her heart, 580
 The which, by Cupid's bow she doth protest,
 He carries thence incaged in his breast.

'Sweet boy,' she says, 'this night I'll waste in sorrow,
 For my sick heart commands mine eyes to watch.
 Tell me, love's master, shall we meet to-morrow? 585
 Say, shall we? shall we? wilt thou make the match?'

He tells her, no; to-morrow he intends
 To hunt the boar with certain of his friends.

'The boar!' quoth she; whereat a sudden pale,
 Like lawn being spread upon the blushing rose, 590
 Usurps her cheek; she trembles at his tale,
 And on his neck her yoking arms she throws:
 She sinketh down, still hanging by his neck,
 He on her belly falls, she on her back.

Now is she in the very lists of love, 595
 Her champion mounted for the hot encounter.
 All is imaginary she doth prove,
 He will not manage her, although he mount her;
 That worse than Tantalus' is her annoy,
 To clip Elysium, and to lack her joy. 600

Even so poor birds, deceived with painted grapes,
 Do surfeit by the eye and pine the maw,
 Even so she languisheth in her mishaps
 As those poor birds that helpless berries saw.

 Are better proof than thy spear's point can enter;
 His short thick neck cannot be easily harmed;

 To which Love's eyes pay tributary gazes;
 Nor thy soft hands, sweet lips and crystal eyne,
 Whose full perfection all the world amazes;
 But having thee at vantage—wondrous dread!— 635
 Would root these beauties as he roots the mead.

'O, let him keep his loathsome cabin still;
 Beauty hath nought to do with such foul fiends:
 Come not within his danger by thy will;
 They that thrive well take counsel of their friends. 640
 When thou didst name the boar, not to dissemble,
 I fear'd thy fortune, and my joints did tremble.

'Didst thou not mark my face? was it not white?
 Saw'st thou not signs of fear lurk in mine eye?
 Grew I not faint? and fell I not downright? 645

‘ This sour informer, this bate-breeding spy, 655
 This canker that eats up Love’s tender spring,

 That sometime true news, sometime false doth bring,
 Knocks at my heart, and whispers in mine ear,
 That if I love thee, I thy death should fear : 660

 The picture of an angry-chafing boar,
 Under whose sharp fangs on his back doth lie
 An image like thyself, all stain’d with gore ;
 Whose blood upon the fresh flowers being shed 665
 Doth make them droop with grief and hang the head.

‘ What should I do, seeing thee so indeed,
 That tremble at the imagination ?
 The thought of it doth make my faint heart bleed,
 And fear doth teach it divination 670

And on thy well-breath'd horse keep with thy hounds.

'And when thou hast on foot the purblind hare,
Mark the poor wretch, to overshoot his troubles, 680
How he outruns the wind, and with what care
He cranks and crosses with a thousand doubles.

The many musits through the which he goes
Are like a labyrinth to amaze his foes.

'Sometime he runs among a flock of sheep, 685
To make the cunning hounds mistake their smell,
And sometime where earth-delving conies keep,
To stop the loud pursuers in their yell;
And sometime sorteth with a herd of deer:
Danger deviseth shifts; wit waits on fear: 690

'For there his smell with others being mingled,
The hot scent-snuffing hounds are driven to doubt,
Ceasing their clamorous cry till they have singled
With much ado the cold fault cleanly out;
Then do they spend their mouths: Echo replies, 695

 Each shadow makes him stop, each murmur stay :
 For misery is trodden on by many,
 And being low never relieved by any.

Make modest Dian cloudy and forlorn, 725
Lest she should steal a kiss, and die forsworn.

‘Now of this dark night I perceive the reason :
Cynthia for shame obscures her silver shine,
Till forging Nature be condemn’d of treason,
For stealing moulds from heaven that were divine ; 730
Wherein she framed thee, in high heaven’s despite,
To shame the sun by day and her by night.

‘And therefore hath she bribed the Destinies
To cross the curious workmanship of nature,
To mingle beauty with infirmities 735

Making it subject to the tyranny
Of mad mischances and much misery ;

Whereat amazed, as one that unaware
 Hath dropp'd a precious jewel in the flood,
 Or 'stonish'd as night-wanderers often are, 825
 Their light blown out in some mistrustful wood ;
 Even so confounded in the dark she lay,
 Having lost the fair discovery of her way.

And now she beats her heart, whereat it groans,
 That all the neighbour caves, as seeming troubled, 830
 Make verbal repetition of her moans ;
 Passion on passion deeply is redoubled :
 'Ay me!' she cries, and twenty times, 'Woe, woe !'
 And twenty echoes twenty times cry so.

She, marking them, begins a wailing note, 835
 And sings extemporally a woeful ditty ;
 How love makes young men thrall, and old men dote ;
 How love is wise in folly, foolish-witty :
 Her heavy anthem still concludes in woe,
 And still the choir of echoes answer so. 840

Her song was tedious, and outwore the night,
 For lovers' hours are long, though seeming short :
 If pleased themselves, others, they think, delight
 In such-like circumstance, with such-like sport :
 Their copious stories, oftentimes begun, 845
 End without audience, and are never done.

For who hath she to spend the night withal,
 But idle sounds resembling parasites;
 Like shrill-tongued tapsters answering every call,
 Soothing the humour of fantastic wits? 850

She says 'Tis so:' they answer all 'Tis so ;'
 And would say after her, if she said 'No.'

Lo, here the gentle lark, weary of rest,
 From his moist cabinet mounts up on high,
 And wakes the morning, from whose silver breast 855
 The sun ariseth in his majesty ;

Who doth the world so gloriously behold,
 That cedar-tops and hills seem burnish'd gold.

Venus salutes him with this fair good-morrow :
 'O thou clear god, and patron of all light, 860
 From whom each lamp and shining star doth borrow
 The beauteous influence that makes him bright,
 There lives a son, that suck'd an earthly mother,
 May lend thee light, as thou dost lend to other.'

This said, she hasteth to a myrtle grove, 865
 Musing the morning is so much o'erworn,
 And yet she hears no tidings of her love :
 She hearkens for his hounds and for his horn :

Anon she hears them chant it lustily,
 And all in haste she coasteth to the cry. 870

And as she runs, the bushes in the way
 Some catch her by the neck, some kiss her face,
 Some twine about her thigh to make her stay :
 She wildly breaketh from their strict embrace,
 Like a milch doe, whose swelling dugs do ache, 875
 Hasting to feed her fawn hid in some brake.

By this she hears the hounds are at a bay ;
 Whereat she starts, like one that spies an adder
 Wreathed up in fatal folds just in his way,
 The fear whereof doth make him shake and shudder ; 880
 Even so the timorous yelping of the hounds
 Appals her senses and her spirit confounds.

For now she knows it is no gentle chase,
 But the blunt boar, rough bear, or lion proud,
 Because the cry remaineth in one place, 885
 Where fearfully the dogs exclaim aloud :
 Finding their enemy to be so curst,
 They all strain courtesy who shall cope him first.

This dismal cry rings sadly in her ear,
 Through which it enters to surprise her heart ; 890
 Who, overcome by doubt and bloodless fear,
 With cold-pale weakness numbs each feeling part :
 Like soldiers, when their captain once doth yield,
 They basely fly, and dare not stay the field.

Thus stands she in a trembling ecstasy ;
 Till, cheering up her senses all dismay'd,
 She tells them 'tis a causeless fantasy,
 And childish error, that they are afraid ;
 Bids them leave quaking, bids them fear no more :
 And with that word she spied the hunted boar ; 900

Whose frothy mouth, bepainted all with red,
 Like milk and blood being mingled both together,
 A second fear through all her sinews spread,
 Which madly hurries her she knows not whither :
 This way she runs, and now she will no further, 905
 But back retires to rate the boar for murder.

A thousand spleens bear her a thousand ways ;
 She treads the path that she untreads again ;
 Her more than haste is mated with delays,
 Like the proceedings of a drunken brain, 910
 Full of respects, yet nought at all respecting :
 In hand with all things, nought at all effecting.

Here kennell'd in a brake she finds a hound,
 And asks the weary caitiff for his master ;
 And there another licking of his wound, 915
 'Gainst venom'd sores the only sovereign plaster ;
 And here she meets another sadly scowling,
 To whom she speaks, and he replies with howling.

When he hath ceased his ill-resounding noise,
 Another flap-mouth'd mourner, black and grim, 920
 Against the welkin volleys out his voice;
 Another and another answer him,

Clapping their proud tails to the ground below,
 Shaking their scratch'd ears, bleeding as they go.

Look, how the world's poor people are amazed 925
 At apparitions, signs and prodigies,
 Whereon with fearful eyes they long have gazed,
 Infusing them with dreadful prophecies;

So she at these sad signs draws up her breath,
 And, sighing it again, exclaims on Death. 930

'Hard-favour'd tyrant, ugly, meagre, lean,
 Hateful divorce of love,'—thus chides she Death,—
 'Grim-grinning ghost, earth's worm, what dost thou mean
 To stifle beauty and to steal his breath,
 Who when he lived, his breath and beauty set 935
 Gloss on the rose, smell to the violet?

'If he be dead,—O no, it cannot be,
 Seeing his beauty, thou shouldst strike at it;—
 O yes, it may; thou hast no eyes to see,

 And, hearing him, thy power had lost his power.
 The Destinies will curse thee for this stroke; 945
 They bid thee crop a weed, thou pluck'st a flower:
 Love's golden arrow at him should have fled,
 And not Death's ebon dart, to strike him dead.

'Dost thou drink tears, that thou provokest such weeping?
 What may a heavy groan advantage thee? 950
 Why hast thou cast into eternal sleeping
 Those eyes that taught all other eyes to see?
 Now Nature cares not for thy mortal vigour,
 Since her best work is ruin'd with thy rigour.'

Here overcome, as one full of despair, 955
 She vail'd her eyelids, who, like sluices, stopp'd
 The crystal tide that from her two cheeks fair
 In the sweet channel of her bosom dropp'd;
 But through the flood-gates breaks the silver rain,
 And with his strong course opens them again. 960

O, how her eyes and tears did lend and borrow!
 Her eye seen in the tears, tears in her eye;
 Both crystals, where they view'd each other's sorrow,
 Sorrow that friendly sighs sought still to dry;
 But like a stormy day, now wind, now rain, 965
 Sighs dry her cheeks, tears make them wet again.

Variable passions throng her constant woe,
 As striving who should best become her grief;
 All entertain'd, each passion labours so
 That every present sorrow seemeth chief, 970
 But none is best: then join they all together,
 Like many clouds consulting for foul weather.

By this, far off she hears some huntsman holloa;
 A nurse's song ne'er pleased her babe so well:
 The dire imagination she did follow 975
 This sound of hope doth labour to expel;
 For now reviving joy bids her rejoice,
 And flatters her it is Adonis' voice.

Whereat her tears began to turn their tide,
 Being prison'd in her eye like pearls in glass: 980
 Yet sometimes falls an orient drop beside,
 Which her cheek melts, as scorning it should pass
 To wash the foul face of the sluttish ground,
 Who is but drunken when she seemeth drown'd.

Now she unweaves the web that she hath wrought;
Adonis lives, and Death is not to blame;
It was not she that call'd him all to nought
Now she adds honours to his hateful name,
She clepes him king of graves, and grave for kings, 995
Imperious supreme of all mortal things.

'No, no,' quoth she, 'sweet Death, I did but jest;
Yet pardon me, I felt a kind of fear
When as I met the boar, that bloody beast,
Which knows no pity, but is still severe; 1000
Then, gentle shadow,—truth I must confess,—
I rail'd on thee, fearing my love's decease.

'Tis not my fault: the boar provoked my tongue;
Be wreak'd on him, invisible commander;
'Tis he, foul creature, that hath done thee wrong; 1005
I did but act, he's author of thy slander:
Grief hath two tongues; and never woman yet
Could rule them both without ten women's wit.'

So, at his bloody view, her eyes are fled
 Into the deep-dark cabins of her head :

Where they resign their office and their light
 To the disposing of her troubled brain; 1040
 Who bids them still consort with ugly night,
 And never wound the heart with looks again;
 Who, like a king perplexed in his throne,
 By their suggestion gives a deadly groan,

Whereat each tributary subject quakes; 1045
 As when the wind, imprison'd in the ground,
 Struggling for passage, earth's foundation shakes,
 Which with cold terror doth men's minds confound.

This mutiny each part doth so surprise,
 That from their dark beds once more leap her eyes; 1050

And being open'd threw unwilling light
 Upon the wide wound that the boar had trench'd
 In his soft flank; whose wonted lily white
 With purple tears, that his wound wept, was drench'd:

Having no fair to lose, you need not fear ;
 The sun doth scorn you, and the wind doth hiss you :
 But when Adonis lived, sun and sharp air 1085
 Lurk'd like two thieves, to rob him of his fair.

‘ And therefore would he put his bonnet on,
 Under whose brim the gaudy sun would peep ;
 The wind would blow it off, and, being gone,
 Play with his locks : then would Adonis weep ; 1090
 And straight, in pity of his tender years,
 They both would strive who first should dry his tears.

‘ To see his face the lion walk'd along
 Behind some hedge, because he would not fear him ;
 To recreate himself when he hath sung, 1095
 The tiger would be tame and gently hear him ;
 If he had spoke, the wolf would leave his prey,
 And never fright the silly lamb that day.

‘ When he beheld his shadow in the brook,
 The fishes spread on it their golden gills ; 1100
 When he was by, the birds such pleasure took,
 That some would sing, some other in their bills
 Would bring him mulberries and ripe-red cherries ;
 He fed them with his sight, they him with berries.

He ran upon the boar with his sharp spear,
Who did not whet his teeth at him again,
But by a kiss thought to persuade him there;
And nuzzling in his flank, the loving swine 1115
Sheathed unaware the tusk in his soft groin.

She takes him by the hand, and that is cold;
She whispers in his ears a heavy tale, 1125

 Sorrow on love hereafter shall attend :
 It shall be waited on with jealousy,
 Find sweet beginning but unsavoury end ;
 Ne'er settled equally, but high or low,

'It shall be fickle, false and full of fraud ;
 Bud, and be blasted, in a breathing-while ;

 They that love best their loves shall not enjoy.'

By this the boy that by her side lay kill'd 1165
 Was melted like a vapour from her sight,
 And in his blood, that on the ground lay spill'd,
 A purple flower sprung up, chequer'd with white,
 Resembling well his pale cheeks and the blood
 Which in round drops upon their whiteness stood. 1170

She bows her head, the new-sprung flower to smell,
 Comparing it to her Adonis' breath;
 And says, within her bosom it shall dwell,
 Since he himself is reft from her by death:
 She crops the stalk, and in the breach appears 1175
 Green-dropping sap, which she compares to tears.

NOTE I.

582. Malone (1780) says 'The edition of 1636 and all the modern copies have engaged.' In his note on l. 666 he states truly that 'droop' is the reading of the ed. of 1600, but adds 'The subsequent copies have drop.' Again, l. 809, he says that for 'talk' the ed. of 1636 and the modern editions read 'calls.' By the kindness of Mr W. Y. Fletcher of the British Museum, I have been enabled to verify the correctness of my own statements in the notes to these three passages. In l. 582 the Museum copy of ed. 1636 has 'incaged;' in l. 666 it reads 'droop;' and in l. 809, talke.'

THE RAPE OF LUCRECE.

TO THE

RIGHT HONOURABLE, HENRY WRIOTHESLEY,
EARLE OF SOUTHAMPTON, AND BARON OF TITCHFIELD.

THE loue I dedicate to your Lordship is without end: wherof this Pamphlet without beginning is but a superfluous Moity. The warrant I haue of your Honourable disposition, not the worth of my vntutord Lines makes it assured of acceptance. What I haue done is yours, what I haue to doe is yours, being part in all I haue, deuoted yours. Were my worth greater, my duety would¹ shew greater, meane time, as it is, it is bound to your Lordship; To whom I wish long life still lengthned with all happinesse.

Your Lordships in all duety.

THE ARGUMENT.

LUCIUS TARQUINIUS, for his excessive pride surnamed Superbus, after he had caused his own father-in-law Servius Tullius to be cruelly murdered, and, contrary to the Roman laws and customs, not requiring or staying for the people's suffrages, had possessed himself of the kingdom, went, accompanied with his sons and other noblemen of Rome, to besiege Ardea. During which siege the principal men of the army meeting one evening at the tent of Sextus Tarquinius, the king's son, in their discourses after supper every one commended the virtues of his own wife; among whom Collatinus extolled the incomparable chastity of his wife Lucretia. In that pleasant humour they all posted to Rome, and intending, by their secret and sudden arrival, to make trial of that which every one had before avouched, only Collatinus finds his wife, though it were late in the night, spinning amongst her maids: the other ladies were all found dancing and revelling, or in several disports. Whereupon the noblemen yielded Collatinus the victory, and his wife the fame. At that time Sextus Tarquinius being inflamed with Lucrece' beauty, yet smothering his passions for the present, departed with the rest back to the camp; from whence he shortly after privily withdrew himself, and was, according to his estate, royally entertained and lodged by Lucrece at Collatium. The same night he treacherously stealeth into her chamber, violently ravished her, and early in the morning speedeth away. Lucrece, in this lamentable plight, hastily dispatcheth messengers, one to Rome for her father, another to the camp for Collatine. They came, the one accompanied with Junius Brutus, the other with Publius Valerius; and finding Lucrece attired in mourning habit, demanded the cause of her sorrow. She, first taking an oath of them for her revenge, revealed the actor and whole manner of his dealing, and withal suddenly stabbed herself. Which done, with one consent they all vowed to root out the whole hated family of the Tarquins; and bearing the dead body to Rome, Brutus acquainted the people with the doer and manner of the vile deed, with a bitter invective against the tyranny of the king: wherewith the people were so moved, that with one consent and a general acclamation the Tarquins were all exiled, and the state government changed from kings to consuls.

THE RAPE OF LUCRECE.

FROM the besieged Ardea all in post,
 Borne by the trustless wings of false desire,
 Lust-breathed Tarquin leaves the Roman host,
 And to Collatium bears the lightless fire,
 Which, in pale embers hid, lurks to aspire, 5
 And girdle with embracing flames the waist
 Of Collatine's fair love, Lucrece the chaste.

Haply that name of 'chaste' unhappily set
 This bateless edge on his keen appetite;
 When Collatine unwisely did not let 10
 To praise the clear unmatched red and white
 Which triumph'd in that sky of his delight,
 Where mortal stars, as bright as heaven's beauties,
 With pure aspects did him peculiar duties.

For he the night before, in Tarquin's tent, 15
 Unlock'd the treasure of his happy state;
 What priceless wealth the heavens had him lent
 In the possession of his beauteous mate;
 Reckoning his fortune at such high-proud rate,
 That kings might be espoused to more fame, 20
 But king nor peer to such a peerless dame.

O happiness enjoy'd but of a few !
 And, if possess'd, as soon decay'd and done
 As is the morning's silver-melting dew
 Against the golden splendour of the sun ! 25
 An expired date, cancell'd ere well begun :
 Honour and beauty, in the owner's arms,
 Are weakly fortress'd from a world of harms

Beauty itself doth of itself persuade
 The eyes of men without an orator ; 30
 What needeth then apologies be made,
 To set forth that which is so singular ?
 Or why is Collatine the publisher
 Of that rich jewel he should keep unknown
 From thievish ears, because it is his own ? 35

Perchance his boast of Lucrece' sovereignty
 Suggested this proud issue of a king ;
 For by our ears our hearts oft tainted be :
 Perchance that envy of so rich a thing,
 Braving compare, disdainfully did sting 40
 His high-pitch'd thoughts, that meaner men should vaunt
 That golden hap which their superiors want.

But some untimely thought did instigate
 His all-too-timeless speed, if none of those :
 His honour, his affairs, his friends, his state, 45

Neglected all, with swift intent he goes
 To quench the coal which in his liver glows.
 O rash-false heat, wrapp'd in repentant cold,
 Thy hasty spring still blasts, and ne'er grows old!

When at Collatium this false lord arrived, 50
 Well was he welcomed by the Roman dame,
 Within whose face beauty and virtue strived
 Which of them both should underprop her fame:
 When virtue bragg'd, beauty would blush for shame;
 When beauty boasted blushes, in despite 55
 Virtue would stain that o'er with silver white.

But beauty, in that white intituled,
 From Venus' doves doth challenge that fair field:
 Then virtue claims from beauty beauty's red,
 Which virtue gave the golden age to gild 60
 Their silver cheeks, and call'd it then their shield;
 Teaching them thus to use it in the fight,
 When shame assail'd, the red should fence the white.

This heraldry in Lucrece' face was seen,
 Argued by beauty's red and virtue's white: 65
 Of either's colour was the other queen,
 Proving from world's minority their right:
 Yet their ambition makes them still to fight;
 The sovereignty of either being so great,
 That oft they interchange each other's seat. 70

This silent war of lilies and of roses,
 Which Tarquin view'd in her fair face's field,
 In their pure ranks his traitor eye encloses;
 Where, lest between them both it should be kill'd,
 The coward captive vanquished doth yield 75
 To those two armies, that would let him go
 Rather than triumph in so false a foe.

Now thinks he that her husband's shallow tongue,
 The niggard prodigal that praised her so,
 In that high task hath done her beauty wrong, 80
 Which far exceeds his barren skill to show:
 Therefore that praise which Collatine doth owe
 Enchanted Tarquin answers with surmise,
 In silent wonder of still-gazing eyes.

This earthly saint, adored by this devil, 85
 Little suspecteth the false worshipper;
 For unstain'd thoughts do seldom dream on evil;
 Birds never limed no secret bushes fear:
 So guiltless she securely gives good cheer
 And reverend welcome to her princely guest, 90
 Whose inward ill no outward harm express'd:

For that he colour'd with his high estate,
 Hiding base sin in plaits of majesty;
 That nothing in him seem'd inordinate,

Save sometime too much wonder of his eye, 95
Which, having all, all could not satisfy ;
But, poorly rich, so wanteth in his store,
That, cloy'd with much, he pineth still for more.

But she, that never coped with stranger eyes,
Could pick no meaning from their parling looks, 100
Nor read the subtle-shining secrecies
Writ in the glassy margents of such books :
She touch'd no unknown baits, nor fear'd no hooks ;
Nor could she moralize his wanton sight,
More than his eyes were open'd to the light. 105

He stories to her ears her husband's fame,
Won in the fields of fruitful Italy ;
And decks with praises Collatine's high name,
Made glorious by his manly chivalry
With bruised arms and wreaths of victory : 110
Her joy with heaved-up hand she doth express,
And wordless so greets heaven for his success.

Far from the purpose of his coming hither,
He makes excuses for his being there :
No cloudy show of stormy blustering weather 115
Doth yet in his fair welkin once appear ;
Till sable Night, mother of dread and fear,
Upon the world dim darkness doth display,
And in her vaulty prison stows the day.

For then is Tarquin brought unto his bed, 120
 Intending weariness with heavy spright;
 For after supper long he questioned
 With modest Lucrece, and wore out the night:
 Now leaden slumber with life's strength doth fight;
 And every one to rest themselves betake, 125
 Save thieves and cares and troubled minds that wake.

As one of which doth Tarquin lie revolving
 The sundry dangers of his will's obtaining;
 Yet ever to obtain his will resolving,
 Though weak-built hopes persuade him to abstaining: 130
 Despair to gain doth traffic oft for gaining,
 And when great treasure is the meed proposed,
 Though death be adjunct, there's no death supposed.

Those that much covet are with gain so fond
 That what they have not, that which they possess, 135
 They scatter and unloose it from their bond,
 And so, by hoping more, they have but less;
 Or, gaining more, the profit of excess
 Is but to surfeit, and such griefs sustain,

The aim of all is but to nurse the life
 With honour, wealth and ease, in waning age;
 And in this aim there is such thwarting strife
 That one for all or all for one we gage;
 As life for honour in fell battle's rage; 143
 Honour for wealth; and oft that wealth doth cost
 The death of all, and all together lost.

So that in venturing ill we leave to be
 The things we are for that which we expect;
 And this ambitious foul infirmity, 150
 In having much, torments us with defect
 Of that we have: so then we do neglect
 The thing we have, and, all for want of wit,
 Make something nothing by augmenting it.

Such hazard now must doting Tarquin make, 155
 Pawning his honour to obtain his lust;
 And for himself himself he must forsake:
 Then where is truth, if there be no self-trust?
 When shall he think to find a stranger just,
 When he himself himself confounds, betrays 160
 To slanderous tongues and wretched hateful days?

Now stole upon the time the dead of night,
 When heavy sleep had closed up mortal eyes:

No noise but owls' and wolves' death-boding cries ; 165
 Now serves the season that they may surprise

The silly lambs : pure thoughts are dead and still,
 While lust and murder wakes to stain and kill.

And now this lustful lord leap'd from his bed,
 Throwing his mantle rudely o'er his arm ; 170
 Is madly toss'd between desire and dread ;
 Th' one sweetly flatters, th' other feareth harm ;
 But honest fear, bewitch'd with lust's foul charm,
 Doth too too oft betake him to retire,
 Beaten away by brain-sick rude desire. 175

His falchion on a flint he softly smiteth,
 That from the cold stone sparks of fire do fly ;
 Whereat a waxen torch forthwith he lighteth,
 Which must be lode-star to his lustful eye ;
 And to the flame thus speaks advisedly : 180
 'As from this cold flint I enforced this fire,
 So Lucrece must I force to my desire.'

Here pale with fear he doth premeditate
 The dangers of his loathsome enterprise,
 And in his inward mind he doth debate 185
 What following sorrow may on this arise .
 Then looking scornfully he doth despise
 His naked armour of still-slaughter'd lust,
 And justly thus controls his thoughts unjust :

 Where her beloved Collatinus lies.
 O, how her fear did make her colour rise !
 First red as roses that on lawn we lay,
 Then white as lawn, the roses took away.

'And how her hand, in my hand being lock'd, 260
 Forced it to tremble with her loyal fear !
 Which struck her sad, and then it faster rock'd,
 Until her husband's welfare she did hear ;
 Whereat she smiled with so sweet a cheer
 That had Narcissus seen her as she stood 265
 Self-love had never drown'd him in the flood.

'Why hunt I then for colour or excuses ?
 All orators are dumb when beauty pleadeth ;
 Poor wretches have remorse in poor abuses ;
 Love thrives not in the heart that shadows dreadeth · 270
 Affection is my captain, and he leadeth ;
 And when his gaudy banner is display'd,
 The coward fights, and will not be dismay'd.

'Then, childish fear avaunt! debating die!
 Respect and reason wait on wrinkled age! 275
 My heart shall never countermand mine eye:
 Sad pause and deep regard beseems the sage;
 My part is youth, and beats these from the stage:
 Desire my pilot is, beauty my prize;
 Then who fears sinking where such treasure lies?' 280

As corn o'ergrown by weeds, so heedful fear
 Is almost choked by unresisted lust.
 Away he steals with open listening ear,
 Full of foul hope and full of fond mistrust;
 Both which, as servitors to the unjust, 285
 So cross him with their opposite persuasion,
 That now he vows a league, and now invasion.

Within his thought her heavenly image sits,
 And in the self-same seat sits Collatine.
 That eye which looks on her confounds his wits; 290
 That eye which him beholds, as more divine,
 Unto a view so false will not incline;
 But with a pure appeal seeks to the heart,
 Which once corrupted takes the worser part;

And therein heartens up his servile powers, 295
 Who, flatter'd by their leader's jocund show,
 Stuff up his lust, as minutes fill up hours;
 And as their captain, so their pride doth grow,
 Paying more slavish tribute than they owe.

By reprobate desire thus madly led, 300
The Roman lord marcheth to Lucrece' bed.

The locks between her chamber and his will,
Each one by him enforced, retires his ward;
But, as they open, they all rate his ill,
Which drives the creeping thief to some regard: 305
The threshold grates the door to have him heard,
Night-wandering weasels shriek to see him there;
They fright him, yet he still pursues his fear.

As each unwilling portal yields him way,
Through little vents and crannies of the place 310
The wind wars with his torch to make him stay,
And blows the smoke of it into his face,
Extinguishing his conduct in this case;
But his hot heart, which fond desire doth scorch,
Puffs forth another wind that fires the torch: 315

And being lighted, by the light he spies
Lucretia's glove, wherein her needle sticks:
He takes it from the rushes where it lies,
And griping it, the needle his finger pricks;
As who should say 'This glove to wanton tricks 320
Is not inured; return again in haste;
Thou see'st our mistress' ornaments are chaste.'

But all these poor forbiddings could not stay him;
 He in the worst sense construes their denial:
 The doors, the wind, the glove, that did delay him, 325
 He takes for accidental things of trial;
 Or as those bars which stop the hourly dial,
 Who with a lingering stay his course doth let,
 Till every minute pays the hour his debt.

‘So, so,’ quoth he, ‘these lets attend the time, 330
 Like little frosts that sometime threat the spring,
 To add a more rejoicing to the prime,
 And give the sneaped birds more cause to sing.
 Pain pays the income of each precious thing;
 Huge rocks, high winds, strong pirates, shelves and sands, 335
 The merchant fears, ere rich at home he lands.’

Now is he come unto the chamber door,
 That shuts him from the heaven of his thought,
 Which with a yielding latch, and with no more,
 Hath barr’d him from the blessed thing he sought. 340
 So from himself impiety hath wrought,
 That for his prey to pray he doth begin,
 As if the heavens should countenance his sin.

But in the midst of his unfruitful prayer,
 Having solicited the eternal power 345
 That his foul thoughts might compass his fair fair,
 And they would stand auspicious to the hour,
 Even there he starts: quoth he, ‘I must deflower:
 The powers to whom I pray abhor this fact;
 How can they then assist me in the act? 350

 The eye of heaven is out, and misty night

This said, his guilty hand pluck’d up the latch,
 And with his knee the door he opens wide.
 The dove sleeps fast that this night-owl will catch: 360
 Thus treason works ere traitors be espied.
 Who sees the lurking serpent steps aside;
 But she, sound sleeping, fearing no such thing,
 Lies at the mercy of his mortal sting.

Into the chamber wickedly he stalks 365

 Rolling his greedy eyeballs in his head:
 By their high treason is his heart misled;

To wink, being blinded with a greater light : 375
 Whether it is that she reflects so bright,
 That dazzleth them, or else some shame supposed ;
 But blind they are, and keep themselves enclosed.

O, had they in that darksome prison died !
 Then had they seen the period of their ill ; 380
 Then Collatine again, by Lucrece' side,
 In his clear bed might have reposed still :
 But they must ope, this blessed league to kill ;
 And holy-thoughted Lucrece to their sight
 Must sell her joy, her life, her world's delight. 385

Her lily hand her rosy cheek lies under,
 Cozening the pillow of a lawful kiss ;
 Who, therefore angry, seems to part in sunder,
 Swelling on either side to want his bliss ;
 Between whose hills her head entombed is : 390
 Where, like a virtuous monument, she lies,
 To be admired of lewd unhallow'd eyes.

Without the bed her other fair hand was,
 On the green coverlet ; whose perfect white
 Show'd like an April daisy on the grass, 395
 With pearly sweat, resembling dew of night.
 Her eyes, like marigolds, had sheathed their light,
 And canopied in darkness sweetly lay,
 Till they might open to adorn the day.

Her hair, like golden threads, play'd with her breath ; 400
O modest wantons ! wanton modesty !

Showing life's triumph in the map of death,

And death's dim look in life's mortality :

Each in her sleep themselves so beautify

As if between them twain there were no strife, 405

But that life lived in death and death in life.

Her breasts, like ivory globes circled with blue,

A pair of maiden worlds unconquered,

Save of their lord no bearing yoke they knew,

And him by oath they truly honoured. 410

These worlds in Tarquin new ambition bred ;

Who, like a foul usurper, went about

From this fair throne to heave the owner out.

What could he see but mightily he noted ?

What did he note but strongly he desired ? 415

What he beheld, on that he firmly doted,

And in his will his wilful eye he tired.

With more than admiration he admired

Her azure veins, her alabaster skin,

Her coral lips, her snow-white dimpled chin. 420

As the grim lion fawneth o'er his prey,

Sharp hunger by the conquest satisfied,

So o'er this sleeping soul doth Tarquin stay,

His eye, which late this mutiny restrains,
Unto a greater uproar tempts his veins :

And they, like straggling slaves for pillage fighting,
Obdurate vassals fell exploits effecting,
In bloody death and ravishment delighting, 430
Nor children's tears nor mothers' groans respecting,
Swell in their pride, the onset still expecting :
Anon his beating heart, alarum striking,
Gives the hot charge, and bids them do their liking.

His drumming heart cheers up his burning eye, 435
His eye commends the leading to his hand ;
His hand, as proud of such a dignity,
Smoking with pride, march'd on to make his stand
On her bare breast, the heart of all her land ;
Whose ranks of blue veins, as his hand did scale, 440
Left their round turrets destitute and pale.

 That even for anger makes the lily pale
 And the red rose blush at her own disgrace,
 Shall plead for me and tell my loving tale: 480
 Under that colour am I come to scale
 Thy never-conquer'd fort: the fault is thine,

This said, he shakes aloft his Roman blade, 505

Coucheth the fowl below with his wings' shade,
Whose crooked beak threatens if he mount he dies :
So under his insulting falchion lies
Harmless Lucretia, marking what he tells 510
With trembling fear, as fowl hear falcon's bells.

If thou deny, then force must work my way,
For in thy bed I purpose to destroy thee :

Hindering their present fall by this dividing;

‘Hast thou command? by him that gave it thee,
 From a pure heart command thy rebel will: 625
 Draw not thy sword to guard iniquity,
 For it was lent thee all that brood to kill.
 Thy princely office how canst thou fulfil,
 When, pattern’d by thy fault, foul sin may say
 He learn’d to sin and thou didst teach the way? 630

‘Think but how vile a spectacle it were,
 To view thy present trespass in another.
 Men’s faults do seldom to themselves appear;
 Their own transgressions partially they smother.
 This guilt would seem death-worthy in thy brother. 635
 O, how are they wrapp’d in with infamies
 That from their own misdeeds askance their eyes!

‘To thee, to thee, my heaved-up hands appeal,
 Not to seducing lust, thy rash relier:
 I sue for exiled majesty’s repeal; 640
 Let him return, and flattering thoughts retire:
 His true respect will prison false desire,
 And wipe the dim mist from thy dotting eyne,
 That thou shalt see thy state and pity mine.’

‘Have done,’ quoth he: ‘my uncontrolled tide 645
 Turns not, but swells the higher by this let.
 Small lights are soon blown out, huge fires abide,

And with the wind in greater fury fret :
 The petty streams that pay a daily debt
 To their salt sovereign, with their fresh falls' haste 650
 Add to his flow, but alter not his taste.'

'Thou art,' quoth she, 'a sea, a sovereign king ;
 And, lo, there falls into thy boundless flood
 Black lust, dishonour, shame, misgoverning,
 Who seek to stain the ocean of thy blood. 655
 If all these petty ills shall change thy good,
 Thy sea within a puddle's womb is hearsed,
 And not the puddle in thy sea dispersed.

'So shall these slaves be king, and thou their slave ;
 Thou nobly base, they basely dignified ; 660
 Thou their fair life, and they thy fouler grave :
 Thou loathed in their shame, they in thy pride :
 The lesser thing should not the greater hide ;
 The cedar stoops not to the base shrub's foot,
 But low shrubs wither at the cedar's root. 665

'So let thy thoughts, low vassals to thy state'—
 'No more,' quoth he ; 'by heaven, I will not hear thee :

Unto the base bed of some rascal groom,
To be thy partner in this shameful doom.'

This said, he sets his foot upon the light,
For light and lust are deadly enemies :
Shame folded up in blind concealing night, 675
When most unseen, then most doth tyrannize.
The wolf hath seized his prey, the poor lamb cries ;
Till with her own white fleece her voice controll'd
Entombs her outcry in her lips' sweet fold :

For with the nightly linen that she wears 680
He pens her piteous clamours in her head,
Cooling his hot face in the chastest tears
That ever modest eyes with sorrow shed.
O, that prone lust should stain so pure a bed !
The spots whereof could weeping purify, 685
Her tears should drop on them perpetually.

But she hath lost a dearer thing than life,
And he hath won what he would lose again :
This forced league doth force a further strife ;
This momentary joy breeds months of pain ; 690
This hot desire converts to cold disdain :
Pure Chastity is rifled of her store,
And Lust, the thief, far poorer than before.

Look, as the full-fed hound or gorged hawk,
Unapt for tender smell or speedy flight, 695

The prey wherein by nature they delight,
 So surfeit-taking Tarquin fares this night ·
 His taste delicious, in digestion souring,
 Devours his will, that lived by foul devouring. 700

O, deeper sin than bottomless conceit
 Can comprehend in still imagination !
 Drunken Desire must vomit his receipt,
 Ere he can see his own abomination.
 While Lust is in his pride, no exclamation 705
 Can curb his heat or rein his rash desire,
 Till, like a jade, Self-will himself doth tire.

And then with lank and lean discolour'd cheek,
 With heavy eye, knit brow, and strengthless pace,
 Feeble Desire, all recreant, poor and meek, 710
 Like to a bankrupt beggar wails his case :
 The flesh being proud, Desire doth fight with Grace,
 For there it revels, and when that decays
 The guilty rebel for remission prays.

So fares it with this faultful lord of Rome, 715
 Who this accomplishment so hotly chased ;
 For now against himself he sounds this doom,
 That through the length of times he stands disgraced :
 Besides, his soul's fair temple is defaced,
 To whose weak ruins muster troops of cares, 720
 To ask the spotted princess how she fares.

She says, her subjects with foul insurrection
 Have batter'd down her consecrated wall,
 And by their mortal fault brought in subjection
 Her immortality, and made her thrall 725
 To living death and pain perpetual :
 Which in her prescience she controlled still,
 But her foresight could not forestall their will.

Even in this thought through the dark night he stealeth,
 A captive victor that hath lost in gain; 730
 Bearing away the wound that nothing healeth,
 The scar that will, despite of cure, remain;
 Leaving his spoil perplex'd in greater pain.
 She bears the load of lust he left behind,
 And he the burthen of a guilty mind. 735

He like a thievish dog creeps sadly thence;
 She like a wearied lamb lies panting there;
 He scowls, and hates himself for his offence;
 She, desperate, with her nails her flesh doth tear;
 He faintly flies, sweating with guilty fear; 740
 She stays, exclaiming on the direful night;
 He runs, and chides his vanish'd, loathed delight.

He thence departs a heavy convertite;
 She there remains a hopeless cast-away;
 He in his speed looks for the morning light; 745
 She prays she never may behold the day,
 'For day,' quoth she, 'night's 'scapes doth open lay,
 And my true eyes have never practised how
 To cloak offences with a cunning brow.

' They think not but that every eye can see 750
 The same disgrace which they themselves behold;
 And therefore would they still in darkness be,
 To have their unseen sin remain untold;
 For they their guilt with weeping will unfold,
 And grave, like water that doth eat in steel, 755
 Upon my cheeks what helpless shame I feel.'

Here she exclaims against repose and rest,
 And bids her eyes hereafter still be blind.
 She wakes her heart by beating on her breast,
 And bids it leap from thence, where it may find 760
 Some purer chest to close so pure a mind.
 Frantic with grief thus breathes she forth her spite
 Against the unseen secrecy of night:

' O comfort-killing Night, image of hell !
 Dim register and notary of shame ! 765
 Black stage for tragedies and murders fell !
 Vast sin-concealing chaos ! nurse of blame !
 Blind muffled bawd ! dark harbour for defame !
 Grim cave of death ! whispering conspirator
 With close-tongued treason and the ravisher ! 770

' O hateful, vaporous and foggy Night !
 Since thou art guilty of my cureless crime,
 Muster thy mists to meet the eastern light,
 Make war against proportion'd course of time .
 Or if thou wilt permit the sun to climb 775
 His wonted height, yet ere he go to bed,
 Knit poisonous clouds about his golden head.

 That in their smoky ranks his smother'd light
 May set at noon and make perpetual night.

' Were Tarquin Night, as he is but Night's child, 785
 The silver-shining queen he would disdain ;
 Her twinkling handmaids too, by him defiled,
 Through Night's black bosom should not peep again :
 So should I have co-partners in my pain ;

'O Night, thou furnace of foul-reeking smoke,
 Let not the jealous Day behold that face 800

 Immodestly lies martyr'd with disgrace!

 Will quote my loathsome trespass in my looks.

'The nurse, to still her child, will tell my story,
 And fright her crying babe with Tarquin's name;
 The orator, to deck his oratory, 815
 Will couple my reproach to Tarquin's shame;
 Feast-finding minstrels, tuning my defame,
 Will tie the hearers to attend each line,
 How Tarquin wronged me, I Collatine.

How he in peace is wounded, not in war.

Alas, how many bear such shameful blows,

Which not themselves, but he that gives them knows!

 Disdain to him disdained scraps to give.

 And merry fools to mock at him resort ;
 Let him have time to mark how slow time goes 990

 His time of folly and his time of sport ;

‘O Time, thou tutor both to good and bad, 995
 Teach me to curse him that thou taught'st this ill!
 At his own shadow let the thief run mad,
 Himself himself seek every hour to kill!
 Such wretched hands such wretched blood should spill;
 For who so base would such an office have 1000
 As slanderous deathsman to so base a slave?

‘The baser is he, coming from a king,
 To shame his hope with deeds degenerate:
 The mightier man, the mightier is the thing
 That makes him honour'd or begets him hate; 1005
 For greatest scandal waits on greatest state.
 The moon being clouded presently is miss'd,
 But little stars may hide them when they list.

‘The crow may bathe his coal-black wings in mire,
 And unperceived fly with the filth away; 1010
 But if the like the snow-white swan desire,
 The stain upon his silver down will stay.
 Poor grooms are sightless night, kings glorious day:
 Gnats are unnoted wheresoe'er they fly,
 But eagles gazed upon with every eye. 1015

For me, I force not argument a straw,
 Since that my case is past the help of law.

'In vain I rail at Opportunity,
 At Time, at Tarquin, and uncheerful Night;
 In vain I cavil with mine infamy, 1025
 In vain I spurn at my confirm'd despite:
 This helpless smoke of words doth me no right.
 The remedy indeed to do me good
 Is to let forth my foul-defiled blood.

'Poor hand, why quiver'st thou at this decree? 1030
 Honour thyself to rid me of this shame;
 For if I die, my honour lives in thee,
 But if I live, thou livest in my defame:
 Since thou couldst not defend thy loyal dame
 And wast afeard to scratch her wicked foe, 1035
 Kill both thyself and her for yielding so.'

This said, from her be-tumbled couch she starteth,
 To find some desperate instrument of death:
 But this no slaughterhouse no tool imparteth
 To make more vent for passage of her breath; 1040
 Which, thronging through her lips, so vanisheth
 As smoke from Ætna that in air consumes,
 Or that which from discharged cannon fumes.

'In vain,' quoth she, 'I live, and seek in vain
 Some happy mean to end a hapless life. 1045
 I fear'd by Tarquin's falchion to be slain.
 Yet for the self-same purpose seek a knife.
 But when I fear'd I was a loyal wife
 So am I now: O no, that cannot be;
 Of that true type hath Tarquin rifled me. 1050

'O, that is gone for which I sought to live,
 And therefore now I need not fear to die.
 To clear this spot by death, at least I give
 A badge of fame to slander's livery,
 A dying life to living infamy: 1055
 Poor helpless help, the treasure stol'n away,
 To burn the guiltless casket where it lay!

'Well, well, dear Collatine, thou shalt not know
 The stained taste of violated troth;
 I will not wrong thy true affection so, 1060
 To flatter thee with an infringed oath;
 This bastard graff shall never come to growth.
 He shall not boast who did thy stock pollute
 That thou art doting father of his fruit.

'Nor shall he smile at thee in secret thought, 1065
 Nor laugh with his companions at thy state;
 But thou shalt know thy interest was not bought
 Basely with gold, but stol'n from forth thy gate.
 For me, I am the mistress of my fate,

'I will not poison thee with my attain't,
 Nor fold my fault in cleanly-coin'd excuses;
 My sable ground of sin I will not paint,
 To hide the truth of this false night's abuses: 1075
 My tongue shall utter all; mine eyes, like sluices,
 As from a mountain-spring that feeds a dale,
 Shall gush pure streams to purge my impure tale.'

By this, lamenting Philomel had ended
 The well tuned warble of her nightly sorrow, 1080
 And solemn night with slow sad gait descended
 To ugly hell; when, lo, the blushing morrow
 Lends light to all fair eyes that light will borrow:
 But cloudy Lucrece shames herself to see,
 And therefore still in night would cloister'd be. 1085

Revealing day through every cranny spies,
 And seems to point her out where she sits weeping;
 To whom she sobbing speaks: 'O eye of eyes,
 Why pry'st thou through my window? leave thy peeping:
 Mock with thy tickling beams eyes that are sleeping: 1090
 Brand not my forehead with thy piercing light,
 For day hath nought to do what's done by night.'

Thus cavils she with every thing she sees:
 True grief is fond and testy as a child,
 Who wayward once, his mood with nought agrees: 1095
 Old woes, not infant sorrows, bear them mild;
 Continuance tames the one; the other wild,
 Like an unpractised swimmer plunging still

So she, deep-drenched in a sea of care, 1100
 Holds disputation with each thing she views,
 And to herself all sorrow doth compare ;
 No object but her passion's strength renews,
 And as one shifts, another straight ensues :
 Sometime her grief is dumb and hath no words ; 1105
 Sometime 'tis mad and too much talk affords.

The little birds that tune their morning's joy
 Make her moans mad with their sweet melody
 For mirth doth search the bottom of annoy ;
 Sad souls are slain in merry company ; 1110
 Grief best is pleased with grief's society :
 True sorrow then is feelingly sufficed
 When with like semblance it is sympathized.

'Tis double death to drown in ken of shore ;
 He ten times pines that pines beholding food ; 1115
 To see the salve doth make the wound ache more ;
 Great grief grieves most at that would do it good ;
 Deep woes roll forward like a gentle flood,
 Who, being stopp'd, the bounding banks o'erflows ;
 Grief dallied with nor law nor limit knows. 1120

 Distress likes dumps when time is kept with tears.

‘Come, Philomel, that sing’st of ravishment,
 Make thy sad grove in my dishevell’d hair :
 As the dank earth weeps at thy languishment, 1130
 So I at each sad strain will strain a tear,
 And with deep groans the diapason bear ;
 For burden-wise I’ll hum on Tarquin still,
 While thou on Tereus descant’st better skill.

 To imitate thee well, against my heart
 Will fix a sharp knife, to affright mine eye ;

For why her face wore sorrow's livery,
 But durst not ask of her audaciously
 Why her two suns were cloud-eclipsed so,
 Nor why her fair cheeks over-wash'd with woe. 1225

But as the earth doth weep, the sun being set,
 Each flower moisten'd like a melting eye,
 Even so the maid with swelling drops 'gan wet
 Her circled eyne, enforced by sympathy
 Of those fair suns set in her mistress' sky, 1230
 Who in a salt-waved ocean quench their light,
 Which makes the maid weep like the dewy night.

A pretty while these pretty creatures stand,
 Like ivory conduits coral cisterns filling :
 One justly weeps ; the other takes in hand 1235
 No cause, but company, of her drops spilling :
 Their gentle sex to weep are often willing,
 Grieving themselves to guess at others' smarts,
 And then they drown their eyes or break their hearts.

Her maid is gone, and she prepares to write,
 First hovering o'er the paper with her quill:
 Conceit and grief an eager combat fight;
 What wit sets down is blotted straight with will;
 This is too curious-good, this blunt and ill: 1300
 Much like a press of people at a door,
 Throng her inventions, which shall go before.

At last she thus begins: 'Thou worthy lord
 Of that unworthy wife that greeteth thee,
 Health to thy person! next vouchsafe t' afford— 1305
 If ever, love, thy Lucrece thou wilt see—
 Some present speed to come and visit me.
 So, I commend me from our house in grief:
 My woes are tedious, though my words are brief.'

Here folds she up the tenour of her woe, 1310
 Her certain sorrow writ uncertainly.
 By this short schedule Collatine may know
 Her grief, but not her grief's true quality:
 She dares not thereof make discovery,
 Lest he should hold it her own gross abuse, 1315
 Ere she with blood had stain'd her stain'd excuse.

Besides, the life and feeling of her passion
 She hoards, to spend when he is by to hear her,
 When sighs and groans and tears may grace the fashion
 Of her disgrace, the better so to clear her 1320
 From that suspicion which the world might bear her.

With words, till action might become them better.

To see sad sights moves more than hear them told;
For then the eye interprets to the ear 1325
The heavy motion that it doth behold,
When every part a part of woe doth bear.
'Tis but a part of sorrow that we hear:

Deep sounds make lesser noise than shallow fords,
And sorrow ebbs, being blown with wind of words 1330

Her letter now is seal'd and on it writ
'At Ardea to my lord with more than haste.'
The post attends, and she delivers it,
Charging the sour-faced groom to hie as fast
As lagging fowls before the northern blast: 1335
Speed more than speed but dull and slow she deems:
Extremity still urgeth such extremes.

The homely villain court'sies to her low,
And blushing on her, with a steadfast eye
Receives the scroll without or yea or no, 1340
And forth with bashful innocence doth hie.
But they whose guilt within their bosoms lie
Imagine every eye beholds their blame;
For Lucrece thought he blush'd to see her shame:

When, silly groom! God wot, it was defect 1345
Of spirit, life and bold audacity.

Such harmless creatures have a true respect
To talk in deeds, while others saucily
Promise more speed but do it leisurely :

Even so this pattern of the worn-out age 1350
Pawn'd honest looks, but laid no words to gage.

His kindled duty kindled her mistrust,
That two red fires in both their faces blazed;
She thought he blush'd, as knowing Tarquin's lust,
And blushing with him, wistly on him gazed; 1355
Her earnest eye did make him more amazed :

The more she saw the blood his cheeks replenish,
The more she thought he spied in her some blemish.

But long she thinks till he return again,
And yet the duteous vassal scarce is gone. 1360
The weary time she cannot entertain,

For now 'tis stale to sigh, to weep and groan :

So woe hath wearied woe, moan tired moan,

That she her plaints a little while doth stay,

Pausing for means to mourn some newer way. 1365

At last she calls to mind where hangs a piece

Of skilful painting, made for Priam's Troy ;

Before the which is drawn the power of Greece,

For Helen's rape the city to destroy,

Threatening cloud-kissing Ilion with annoy; 1370

Which the conceited painter drew so proud,

As heaven, it seem'd, to kiss the turrets bow'd.

A thousand lamentable objects there,
 In scorn of nature, art gave lifeless life :
 Many a dry drop seem'd a weeping tear, 1375
 Shed for the slaughter'd husband by the wife :
 The red blood reek'd, to show the painter's strife ;
 And dying eyes gleam'd forth their ashy lights,
 Like dying coals burnt out in tedious nights.

There might you see the labouring pioner 1380
 Begrimed with sweat and smeared all with dust ;
 And from the towers of Troy there would appear
 The very eyes of men through loop-holes thrust,
 Gazing upon the Greeks with little lust :
 Such sweet observance in this work was had 1385
 That one might see those far-off eyes look sad.

In great commanders grace and majesty
 You might behold, triumphing in their faces,
 In youth, quick bearing and dexterity ;
 And here and there the painter interlaces 1390
 Pale cowards, marching on with trembling paces ;
 Which heartless peasants did so well resemble
 That one would swear he saw them quake and tremble.

In Ajax and Ulysses, O, what art
 Of physiognomy might one behold ! 1395
 The face of either cipher'd either's heart ;
 Their face their manners most expressly told :
 In Ajax' eyes blunt rage and rigour roll'd ;

But the mild glance that sly Ulysses lent
Show'd deep regard and smiling government. 1400

There pleading might you see grave Nestor stand,
As 'twere encouraging the Greeks to fight,
Making such sober action with his hand
That it beguiled attention, charm'd the sight:
In speech, it seem'd, his beard all silver white 1405
Wagg'd up and down, and from his lips did fly
Thin winding breath which purl'd up to the sky.

About him were a press of gaping faces,
Which seem'd to swallow up his sound advice;
All jointly listening, but with several graces, 1410
As if some mermaid did their ears entice,
Some high, some low, the painter was so nice;
The scalps of many, almost hid behind,
To jump up higher seem'd, to mock the mind.

Here one man's hand lean'd on another's head, 1415
His nose being shadow'd by his neighbour's ear;
Here one being throng'd bears back, all boll'n and red;
Another smother'd seems to pelt and swear;
And in their rage such signs of rage they bear
As, but for loss of Nestor's golden words, 1420
It seem'd they would debate with angry swords.

For much imaginary work was there ;
 Conceit deceitful, so compact, so kind,
 That for Achilles' image stood his spear
 Griped in an armed hand ; himself behind 1425
 Was left unseen, save to the eye of mind :
 A hand, a foot, a face, a leg, a head,
 Stood for the whole to be imagined.

And from the walls of strong-besieged Troy
 When their brave hope, bold Hector, march'd to field, 1430
 Stood many Trojan mothers sharing joy
 To see their youthful sons bright weapons wield ;
 And to their hope they such odd action yield
 That through their light joy seemed to appear,
 Like bright things stain'd, a kind of heavy fear. 1435

And from the strand of Dardan, where they fought,
 To Simois' reedy banks the red blood ran,
 Whose waves to imitate the battle sought
 With swelling ridges ; and their ranks began
 To break upon the galled shore, and than 1440
 Retire again, till meeting greater ranks
 They join and shoot their foam at Simois' banks.

To this well-painted piece is Lucrece come,

Staring on Priam's wounds with her old eyes,
Which bleeding under Pyrrhus' proud foot lies.

In her the painter had anatomized 1450
Time's ruin, beauty's wreck, and grim care's reign:
Her cheeks with chaps and wrinkles were disguised;
Of what she was no semblance did remain:
Her blue blood changed to black in every vein,
Wanting the spring that those shrunk pipes had fed,
Show'd life imprison'd in a body dead. 1456

On this sad shadow Lucrece spends her eyes,
And shapes her sorrow to the beldam's woes,
Who nothing wants to answer her but cries,
And bitter words to ban her cruel foes: 1460
The painter was no god to lend her those;
And therefore Lucrece swears he did her wrong,
To give her so much grief and not a tongue.

'Poor instrument,' quoth she, 'without a sound,
I'll tune thy woes with my lamenting tongue, 1465
And drop sweet balm in Priam's painted wound,
And rail on Pyrrhus that hath done him wrong,
And with my tears quench Troy that burns so long,
And with my knife scratch out the angry eyes
, Of all the Greeks that are thine enemies. 1470

This load of wrath that burning Troy doth bear :
 Thy eye kindled the fire that burneth here ; 1475
 And here in Troy, for trespass of thine eye,
 The sire, the son, the dame and daughter die.

‘Why should the private pleasure of some one
 Become the public plague of many moe ?
 Let sin, alone committed, light alone 1480
 Upon his head that hath transgressed so ;
 Let guiltless souls be freed from guilty woe :
 For one’s offence why should so many fall,
 To plague a private sin in general ?

‘Lo, here weeps Hecuba, here Priam dies, 1485
 Here manly Hector faints, here Troilus swoonds,
 Here friend by friend in bloody channel lies,
 And friend to friend gives unadvised wounds,
 And one man’s lust these many lives confounds :
 Had doting Priam check’d his son’s desire, 1490
 Troy had been bright with fame and not with fire.’

Here feelingly she weeps Troy’s painted woes .
 For sorrow, like a heavy-hanging bell
 Once set on ringing, with his own weight goes ;
 Then little strength rings out the doleful knell 1495
 So Lucrece, set a-work, sad tales doth tell
 To pencill’d pensiveness and colour’d sorrow ;
 She lends them words, and she their looks doth borrow.

She throws her eyes about the painting round,
 And who she finds forlorn she doth lament. 1500
 At last she sees a wretched image bound,
 That piteous looks to Phrygian shepherds lent.
 His face, though full of cares, yet show'd content;
 Onward to Troy with the blunt swains he goes,
 So mild that Patience seem'd to scorn his woes. 1505

In him the painter labour'd with his skill
 To hide deceit and give the harmless show
 An humble gait, calm looks, eyes wailing still,
 A brow unbent, that seem'd to welcome woe;
 Cheeks neither red nor pale, but mingled so 1510
 That blushing red no guilty instance gave,
 Nor ashy pale the fear that false hearts have.

But, like a constant and confirmed devil,
 He entertain'd a show so seeming just,
 And therein so ensconced his secret evil, 1515
 That jealousy itself could not mistrust
 False-creeping craft and perjury should thrust
 Into so bright a day such black-faced storms,
 Or blot with hell-born sin such saint-like forms.

The well-skill'd workman this mild image drew 1520
 For perjured Sinon, whose enchanting story
 The credulous old Priam after slew;

Whose words, like wildfire, burnt the shining glory
 Of rich-built Ilion, that the skies were sorry,
 And little stars shot from their fixed places, 1525
 When their glass fell wherein they view'd their faces.

This picture she advisedly perused,
 And chid the painter for his wondrous skill,
 Saying, some shape in Sinon's was abused;
 So fair a form lodged not a mind so ill. 1530
 And still on him she gazed, and gazing still
 Such signs of truth in his plain face she spied
 That she concludes the picture was belied.

'It cannot be,' quoth she, 'that so much guile'—
 She would have said 'can lurk in such a look;' 1535
 But Tarquin's shape came in her mind the while,
 And from her tongue 'can lurk' from 'cannot' took:
 'It cannot be' she in that sense forsook,
 And turn'd it thus, 'It cannot be, I find,
 But such a face should bear a wicked mind: 1540

'For even as subtle Sinon here is painted,
 So sober-sad, so weary and so mild,
 As if with grief or travail he had fainted,

‘Look, look, how listening Priam wets his eyes,
 To see those borrow’d tears that Sinon sheds!
 Priam, why art thou old and yet not wise? 1550
 For every tear he falls a Trojan bleeds.
 His eye drops fire, no water thence proceeds;
 Those round clear pearls of his that move thy pity
 Are balls of quenchless fire to burn thy city.

‘Such devils steal effects from lightless hell, 1555
 For Sinon in his fire doth quake with cold,
 And in that cold hot-burning fire doth dwell;
 These contraries such unity do hold,
 Only to flatter fools and make them bold:
 So Priam’s trust false Sinon’s tears doth flatter, 1560
 That he finds means to burn his Troy with water.’

Here, all enraged, such passion her assails,
 That patience is quite beaten from her breast.
 She tears the senseless Sinon with her nails,
 Comparing him to that unhappy guest 1565
 Whose deed hath made herself herself detest:
 ‘At last she smilingly with this gives o’er;
 ‘Fool, fool!’ quoth she, ‘his wounds will not be sore.’

Thus ebbs and flows the current of her sorrow,
 And time doth weary time with her complaining. 1570

And both she thinks too long with her remaining :
 Short time seems long in sorrow's sharp sustaining :
 Though woe be heavy, yet it seldom sleeps,
 And they that watch see time how slow it creeps. 1575

Which all this time hath overslipp'd her thought,
 That she with painted images hath spent ;
 Being from the feeling of her own grief brought
 By deep surmise of others' detriment,
 Losing her woes in shows of discontent. 1580
 It easeth some, though none it ever cured,

 Blue circles stream'd, like rainbows in the sky :
 These water-galls in her dim element
 Foretell new storms to those already spent.

 Why art thou thus attired in discontent?
 Unmask, dear dear, this moody heaviness,

Three times with sighs she gives her sorrow fire,

 At length address'd to answer his desire,

 Her honour is ta'en prisoner by the foe;
 While Collatine and his consorted lords
 With sad attention long to hear her words. 1610

Of that polluted prison where it breathed :
 Her contrite sighs unto the clouds bequeathed
 Her winged sprite, and through her wounds doth fly
 Life's lasting date from cancell'd destiny.

Stone-still, astonish'd with this deadly deed, 1730
 Stood Collatine and all his lordly crew ;
 Till Lucrece' father, that beholds her bleed,
 Himself on her self-slaughter'd body threw ;
 And from the purple fountain Brutus drew
 The murderous knife, and, as it left the place, 1735
 Her blood, in poor revenge, held it in chase ;

And bubbling from her breast, it doth divide
 In two slow rivers, that the crimson blood
 Circles her body in on every side,
 Who, like a late-sack'd island, vastly stood 1740
 Bare and unpeopled in this fearful flood.
 Some of her blood still pure and red remain'd,
 And some look'd black, and that false Tarquin stain'd.

About the mourning and congealed face
 Of that black blood a watery rigol goes, 1745
 Which seems to weep upon the tainted place :
 And ever since, as pitying Lucrece' woes,
 Corrupted blood some watery token shows ;
 And blood untainted still doth red abide,
 Blushing at that which is so putrified. 1750

'Daughter, dear daughter,' old Lucretius cries,
 'That life was mine which thou hast here deprived
 If in the child the father's image lies,
 Where shall I live now Lucrece is unliv'd?
 Thou wast not to this end from me derived. 1755

If children pre-decease progenitors,
 We are their offspring, and they none of ours.

'Poor broken glass, I often did behold
 In thy sweet semblance my old age new born;
 But now that fair fresh mirror, dim and old, 1760
 Shows me a bare-boned death by time outworn:
 O, from thy cheeks my image thou hast torn,
 And shiver'd all the beauty of my glass,
 That I no more can see what once I was.

'O time, cease thou thy course and last no longer, 1765
 If they surcease to be that should survive.
 Shall rotten death make conquest of the stronger,
 And leave the faltering feeble souls alive?
 The old bees die, the young possess their hive:
 Then live, sweet Lucrece, live again, and see 1770
 Thy father die, and not thy father thee!'

By this, starts Collatine as from a dream,
 And bids Lucretius give his sorrow place;
 And then in key-cold Lucrece' bleeding stream
 He falls, and bathes the pale fear in his face, 1775
 And counterfeits to die with her a space;

Till manly shame bids him possess his breath,
And live to be revenged on her death.

The deep vexation of his inward soul
Hath served a dumb arrest upon his tongue; 1780
Who, mad that sorrow should his use control
Or keep him from heart-easing words so long,
Begins to talk; but through his lips do throng
Weak words, so thick come in his poor heart's aid
That no man could distinguish what he said. 1785

Yet sometime 'Tarquin' was pronounced plain,
But through his teeth, as if the name he tore.
This windy tempest, till it blow up rain,
Held back his sorrow's tide, to make it more;
At last it rains, and busy winds give o'er: 1790

The one doth call her his, the other his,
Yet neither may possess the claim they lay.

Replies her husband: 'do not take away
My sorrow's interest; let no mourner say
He weeps for her, for she was only mine,
And only must be wail'd by Collatine.'

'O,' quoth Lucretius, 'I did give that life 1800

The dispersed air, who, holding Lucrece' life, 1805
 Answer'd their cries, 'my daughter' and 'my wife.'

Brutus, who pluck'd the knife from Lucrece' side,
 Seeing such emulation in their woe,
 Began to clothe his wit in state and pride,
 Burying in Lucrece' wound his folly's show. 1810
 He with the Romans was esteemed so
 As silly-jeering idiots are with kings,
 For sportive words and uttering foolish things :

But now he throws that shallow habit by
 Wherein deep policy did him disguise, 1815
 And arm'd his long-hid wits advisedly
 To check the tears in Collatinus' eyes.
 'Thou wronged lord of Rome,' quoth he, 'arise :
 Let my unsounded self, supposed a fool,
 Now set thy long-experienced wit to school. 1820

'Why, Collatine, is woe the cure for woe?
 Do wounds help wounds, or grief help grievous deeds?
 Is it revenge to give thyself a blow
 For his foul act by whom thy fair wife bleeds?
 Such childish humour from weak minds proceeds : 1825
 Thy wretched wife mistook the matter so,
 To slay herself, that should have slain her foe.

'Courageous Roman, do not steep thy heart
 In such relenting dew of lamentations,
 But kneel with me and help to bear thy part 1830

To rouse our Roman gods with invocations
 That they will suffer these abominations,
 Since Rome herself in them doth stand disgraced,
 By our strong arms from forth her fair streets chased.

‘Now, by the Capitol that we adore, 1835
 And by this chaste blood so unjustly stained,
 By heaven’s fair sun that breeds the fat earth’s store,
 By all our country rights in Rome maintained,
 And by chaste Lucrece’ soul that late complained
 Her wrongs to us, and by this bloody knife, 1840
 We will revenge the death of this true wife!’

This said, he struck his hand upon his breast,
 And kiss’d the fatal knife, to end his vow,
 And to his protestation urged the rest,
 Who, wondering at him, did his words allow : 1845
 Then jointly to the ground their knees they bow ;
 And that deep vow, which Brutus made before,
 He doth again repeat, and that they swore.

When they had sworn to this advised doom,
 They did conclude to bear dead Lucrece thence, 1850
 To show her bleeding body thorough Rome,
 And so to publish Tarquin’s foul offence :
 Which being done with speedy diligence,
 The Romans plausibly did give consent
 To Tarquin’s everlasting banishment. 1855

FROM fairest creatures we desire increase,
 That thereby beauty's rose might never die,
 But as the ripper should by time decease,
 His tender heir might bear his memory :
 But thou, contracted to thine own bright eyes, 5
 Feed'st thy light's flame with self-substantial fuel,
 Making a famine where abundance lies,
 Thyself thy foe, to thy sweet self too cruel.
 Thou that art now the world's fresh ornament
 And only herald to the gaudy spring, 10
 Within thine own bud buriest thy content
 And, tender churl, makest waste in niggarding.
 Pity the world, or else this glutton be,
 To eat the world's due, by the grave and thee.

II.

When forty winters shall besiege thy brow
 And dig deep trenches in thy beauty's field,
 Thy youth's proud livery, so gazed on now,
 Will be a tatter'd weed, of small worth held :

 Where all the treasure of thy lusty days,
 To say, within thine own deep-sunken eyes,
 Were an all-eating shame and thriftless praise.
 How much more praise deserved thy beauty's use,
 If thou couldst answer 'This fair child of mine 10
 Shall sum my count and make my old excuse,'
 Proving his beauty by succession thine '
 This were to be new made when thou art old,
 And see thy blood warm when thou feel'st it cold.

Look in thy glass, and tell the face thou viewest
 Now is the time that face should form another;
 Whose fresh repair if now thou not renewest,
 Thou dost beguile the world, unbless some mother.
 For where is she so fair whose unear'd womb 5
 Disdains the tillage of thy husbandry?
 Or who is he so fond will be the tomb
 Of his self-love, to stop posterity?
 Thou art thy mother's glass, and she in thee
 Calls back the lovely April of her prime : 10
 So thou through windows of thine age shalt see,
 Despite of wrinkles, this thy golden time.
 But if thou live, remember'd not to be,
 Die single, and thine image dies with thee.

Unthrifty loveliness, why dost thou spend
 Upon thyself thy beauty's legacy?
 Nature's bequest gives nothing, but doth lend,
 And being frank, she lends to those are free.
 Then, beauteous niggard, why dost thou abuse 5
 The bounteous largess given thee to give?
 Profitless usurer, why dost thou use
 So great a sum of sums, yet canst not live?
 For having traffic with thyself alone,
 Thou of thyself thy sweet self dost deceive. 10
 Then how, when nature calls thee to be gone,
 What acceptable audit canst thou leave?
 Thy unused beauty must be tomb'd with thee,
 Which, used, lives th' executor to be.

Those hours that with gentle work did frame
 The lovely gaze where every eye doth dwell,
 Will play the tyrants to the very same
 And that unfair which fairly doth excel :
 For never-resting time leads summer on 5

Beauty's effect with beauty were bereft,
 Nor it, nor no remembrance what it was :
 But flowers distill'd, though they with winter meet,
 Leese but their show ; their substance still lives sweet.

VI

Then let not winter's ragged hand deface
 In thee thy summer, ere thou be distill'd :
 Make sweet some vial ; treasure thou some place
 With beauty's treasure, ere it be self-kill'd.
 That use is not forbidden usury, 5
 Which happies those that pay the willing loan ;
 That's for thyself to breed another thee,
 Or ten times happier, be it ten for one ;
 Ten times thyself were happier than thou art,
 If ten of thine ten times refigured thee : 10
 Then what could death do, if thou shouldst depart,
 Leaving thee living in posterity ?
 Be not self-will'd, for thou art much too fair
 To be death's conquest and make worms thine heir.

Is it for fear to wet a widow's eye
 That thou consumest thyself in single life?
 Ah! if thou issueless shalt hap to die,
 The world will wail thee, like a makeless wife;
 The world will be thy widow, and still weep 5
 That thou no form of thee hast left behind,
 When every private widow well may keep
 By children's eyes her husband's shape in mind.
 Look, what an unthrift in the world doth spend
 Shifts but his place, for still the world enjoys it; 10
 But beauty's waste hath in the world an end,
 And kept unused, the user so destroys it.

No love toward others in that bosom sits
 That on himself such murderous shame commits.

X

For shame! deny that thou bear'st love to any,
 Who for thyself art so unprovident.
 Grant, if thou wilt, thou art beloved of many,
 But that thou none lovest is most evident;
 For thou art so possess'd with murderous hate 5
 That 'gainst thyself thou stick'st not to conspire,
 Seeking that beauteous roof to ruinate
 Which to repair should be thy chief desire.
 O, change thy thought, that I may change my mind!
 Shall hate be fairer lodged than gentle love? 10

As fast as thou shalt wane, so fast thou grow'st
 In one of thine, from that which thou departest,
 And that fresh blood which youngly thou bestow'st
 Thou mayst call thine when thou from youth convertest.
 Herein lives wisdom, beauty and increase ; 5
 Without this, folly, age and cold decay .
 If all were minded so, the times should cease
 And threescore year would make the world away.
 Let those whom Nature hath not made for store,
 Harsh, featureless and rude, barrenly perish : 10
 Look, whom she best endow'd she gave the more ;
 Which bounteous gift thou shouldst in bounty cherish :
 She carved thee for her seal, and meant thereby
 Thou shouldst print more, not let that copy die.

 No longer yours than you yourself here live :
 Against this coming end you should prepare,

 So should that beauty which you hold in lease 5

When I consider every thing that grows
 Holds in perfection but a little moment,
 That this huge stage presenteth nought but shows
 Whereon the stars in secret influence comment;
 When I perceive that men as plants increase, 5

But wherefore do not you a mightier way
 Make war upon this bloody tyrant, Time?
 And fortify yourself in your decay
 With means more blessed than my barren rhyme?
 Now stand you on the top of happy hours, 5
 And many maiden gardens, yet unset,
 With virtuous wish would bear your living flowers
 Much liker than your painted counterfeit:
 So should the lines of life that life repair,
 Which this, Time's pencil, or my pupil pen, 10
 Neither in inward worth nor outward fair,
 Can make you live yourself in eyes of men.
 To give away yourself keeps yourself still;
 And you must live, drawn by your own sweet skill.

XVII

Who will believe my verse in time to come,
 If it were fill'd with your most high deserts?
 Though yet, heaven knows, it is but as a tomb
 Which hides your life and shows not half your parts.
 If I could write the beauty of your eyes 5
 And in fresh numbers number all your graces,
 The age to come would say 'This poet lies;
 Such heavenly touches ne'er touch'd earthly faces.'
 So should my papers, yellowed with their age,
 Be scorn'd, like old men of less truth than tongue, 10
 And your true rights be term'd a poet's rage

XVIII

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate:
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date.
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines, 5
And often is his gold complexion dimm'd;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance or nature's changing course untrimm'd;
But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou owest; 10
Nor shall Death brag thou wander'st in his shade,
When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st:
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

XIX

Devouring Time, blunt thou the lion's paws,
And make the earth devour her own sweet brood;
Pluck the keen teeth from the fierce tiger's jaws,
And burn the long-lived phoenix in her blood;
Make glad and sorry seasons as thou fleet'st, 5
And do whate'er thou wilt, swift-footed Time,
To the wide world and all her fading sweets;
But I forbid thee one most heinous crime:

O, carve not with thy hours my love's fair brow,
 Nor draw no lines there with thine antique pen : 10
 Him in thy course untainted do allow
 For beauty's pattern to succeeding men.

Yet do thy worst, old Time : despite thy wrong,
 My love shall in my verse ever live young.

XX.

A woman's face with Nature's own hand painted
 Hast thou, the master-mistress of my passion ;
 A woman's gentle heart, but not acquainted
 With shifting change, as is false women's fashion ;
 An eye more bright than theirs, less false in rolling, 5
 Gilding the object whereupon it gazeth ;
 A man in hue, all 'hues' in his controlling,
 Which steals men's eyes and women's souls amazeth.
 And for a woman wert thou first created ;
 Till Nature, as she wrought thee, fell a-doting, 10
 And by addition me of thee defeated,
 By adding one thing to my purpose nothing.

But since she prick'd thee out for women's pleasure,
 Mine be thy love, and thy love's use their treasure.

 For all that beauty that doth cover thee 5
 Is but the seemly raiment of my heart,

 Looking on darkness which the blind do see.

When to the sessions of sweet silent thought
 I summon up remembrance of things past,
 I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought,
 And with old woes new wail my dear time's waste:
 Then can I drown an eye, unused to flow, 5
 For precious friends hid in death's dateless night,
 And weep afresh love's long since cancell'd woe,
 And moan the expense of many a vanish'd sight:
 Then can I grieve at grievances foregone,

Full many a glorious morning have I seen
 Flatter the mountain-tops with sovereign eye,
 Kissing with golden face the meadows green,
 Gilding pale streams with heavenly alchemy;
 Anon permit the basest clouds to ride 5
 With ugly rack on his celestial face,
 And from the forlorn world his visage hide,
 Stealing unseen to west with this disgrace:
 Even so my sun one early morn did shine
 With all-triumphant splendour on my brow; 10
 But, out, alack! he was but one hour mine,
 The region cloud hath mask'd him from me now.
 Yet him for this my love no whit disdaineth;
 Suns of the world may stain when heaven's sun staineth.

XXXIV.

Why didst thou promise such a beauteous day,
 And make me travel forth without my cloak,
 To let base clouds o'ertake me in my way,
 Hiding thy bravery in their rotten smoke?
 'Tis not enough that through the cloud thou break, 5
 To dry the rain on my storm-beaten face,

But that, so much of earth and water wrought,
 I must attend time's leisure with my moan;
 Receiving nought by elements so slow
 But heavy tears, badges of either's woe.

XLV.

The other two, slight air and purging fire,
 Are both with thee, wherever I abide;
 The first my thought, the other my desire,
 These present-absent with swift motion slide.
 For when these quicker elements are gone 5
 In tender embassy of love to thee,
 My life, being made of four, with two alone
 Sinks down to death, oppress'd with melancholy;
 Until life's composition be recured
 By those swift messengers return'd from thee, 10
 Who even but now come back again, assured
 Of thy fair health, recounting it to me:
 This told, I joy; but then no longer glad,
 I send them back again, and straight grow sad.

XLVI.

Mine eye and heart are at a mortal war,
 How to divide the conquest of thy sight;
 Mine eye my heart thy picture's sight would bar,
 My heart mine eye the freedom of that right.

My heart doth plead that thou in him dost lie, 5
 A closet never pierced with crystal eyes,
 But the defendant doth that plea deny,
 And says in him thy fair appearance lies.
 To 'cide this title is impanneled
 A quest of thoughts, all tenants to the heart; 10
 And by their verdict is determined
 The clear eye's moiety and the dear heart's part :
 As thus; mine eye's due is thine outward part,
 And my heart's right thine inward love of heart.

XLVII.

Betwixt mine eye and heart a league is took,
 And each doth good turns now unto the other :
 When that mine eye is famish'd for a look,
 Or heart in love with sighs himself doth smother,
 With my love's picture then my eye doth feast 5
 And to the painted banquet bids my heart;
 Another time mine eye is my heart's guest
 And in his thoughts of love doth share a part :
 So, either by thy picture or my love,
 Thyself away art present still with me; 10
 For thou not farther than my thoughts canst move,
 And I am still with them and they with thee ;
 Or, if they sleep, thy picture in my sight
 Awakes my heart to heart's and eye's delight.

XLVIII.

How careful was I, when I took my way,
 Each trifle under truest bars to thrust,
 That to my use it might unused stay
 From hands of falsehood, in sure wards of trust !
 But thou, to whom my jewels trifles are, 5
 Most worthy comfort, now my greatest grief,
 Thou, best of dearest and mine only care,
 Art left the prey of every vulgar thief.
 Thee have I not lock'd up in any chest,
 Save where thou art not, though I feel thou art, 10
 Within the gentle closure of my breast,
 From whence at pleasure thou mayst come and part ;
 And even thence thou wilt be stol'n, I fear,
 For truth proves thievish for a prize so dear.

XLIX.

Against that time, if ever that time come,
 When I shall see thee frown on my defects,
 When as thy love hath cast his utmost sum,
 Call'd to that audit by advised respects ;
 Against that time when thou shalt strangely pass, 5
 And scarcely greet me with that sun, thine eye,
 When love, converted from the thing it was,
 Shall reasons find of settled gravity ;
 Against that time do I ensconce me here
 Within the knowledge of mine own desert, 10
 And this my hand against myself uprear,
 To guard the lawful reasons on thy part :
 To leave poor me thou hast the strength of laws,
 Since why to love I can allege no cause.

L.

How heavy do I journey on the way,
 When what I seek, my weary travel's end,
 Doth teach that ease and that repose to say,
 'Thus far the miles are measured from thy friend!'
 The beast that bears me, tired with my woe, 5
 Plods dully on, to bear that weight in me,
 As if by some instinct the wretch did know
 His rider loved not speed, being made from thee:
 The bloody spur cannot provoke him on
 That sometimes anger thrusts into his hide; 10
 Which heavily he answers with a groan,
 More sharp to me than spurring to his side;
 For that same groan doth put this in my mind;
 My grief lies onward, and my joy behind.

LI.

Thus can my love excuse the slow offence
 Of my dull bearer when from thee I speed:
 From where thou art why should I haste me thence?
 Till I return, of posting is no need.
 O, what excuse will my poor beast then find, 5
 When swift extremity can seem but slow?
 Then should I spur, though mounted on the wind,
 In winged speed no motion shall I know:
 Then can no horse with my desire keep pace;
 Therefore desire, of perfect'st love being made, 10
 Shall neigh—no dull flesh—in his fiery race;

LII.

So am I as the rich, whose blessed key
 Can bring him to his sweet up-locked treasure,
 The which he will not every hour survey,
 For blunting the fine point of seldom pleasure.
 Therefore are feasts so solemn and so rare, 5
 Since, seldom coming, in the long year set,
 Like stones of worth they thinly placed are,
 Or captain jewels in the carcanet.
 So is the time that keeps you as my chest,
 Or as the wardrobe which the robe doth hide, 10
 To make some special instant special blest,
 By new unfolding his imprison'd pride.
 Blessed are you, whose worthiness gives scope,
 Being had, to triumph, being lack'd, to hope.

LIII.

What is your substance, whereof are you made,
 That millions of strange shadows on you tend ?
 Since every one hath, every one, one shade,
 And you, but one, can every shadow lend.
 Describe Adonis, and the counterfeit 5
 Is poorly imitated after you ;
 On Helen's cheek all art of beauty set,
 And you in Grecian tires are painted new :

 But you like none, none you, for constant heart.

LIV.

O, how much more doth beauty beauteous seem
 By that sweet ornament which truth doth give!
 The rose looks fair, but fairer we it deem
 For that sweet odour which doth in it live.
 The canker-blooms have full as deep a dye 5
 As the perfumed tincture of the roses,
 Hang on such thorns, and play as wantonly
 When summer's breath their masked buds discloses:
 But, for their virtue only is their show,
 They live unwoo'd and unrespected fade; 10
 Die to themselves. Sweet roses do not so;
 Of their sweet deaths are sweetest odours made:
 And so of you, beauteous and lovely youth,
 When that shall vade, by verse distills your truth.

LV.

Not marble, nor the gilded monuments
 Of princes, shall outlive this powerful rhyme;
 But you shall shine more bright in these contents
 Than unswept stone, besmear'd with sluttish time.

 So, till the judgement that yourself arise,
 You live in this, and dwell in lovers' eyes.

Sweet love, renew thy force; be it not said
 Thy edge should blunter be than appetite,
 Which but to-day by feeding is allay'd,
 To-morrow sharpen'd in his former might:
 So, love, be thou; although to-day thou fill 5
 Thy hungry eyes even till they wink with fulness,
 To-morrow see again, and do not kill
 The spirit of love with a perpetual dulness.
 Let this sad interim like the ocean be
 Which parts the shore, where two contracted new 10
 Come daily to the banks, that, when they see
 Return of love, more blest may be the view;
 Or call it winter, which, being full of care,

Being your slave, what should I do but tend Upon the hours and times of your desire?
 I have no precious time at all to spend,
 Nor services to do, till you require.
 Nor dare I chide the world-without-end hour 5
 Whilst I, my sovereign, watch the clock for you,
 Nor think the bitterness of absence sour
 When you have bid your servant once adieu;
 Nor dare I question with my jealous thought
 Where you may be, or your affairs suppose, 10
 But, like a sad slave, stay and think of nought
 Save, where you are how happy you make those.
 So true a fool is love that in your will,
 Though you do any thing, he thinks no ill.

LVIII.

That god forbid that made me first your slave,
 I should in thought control your times of pleasure,
 Or at your hand the account of hours to crave,
 Being your vassal, bound to stay your leisure!

 Dost thou desire my slumbers should be broken,
 While shadows like to thee do mock my sight?
 Is it thy spirit that thou send'st from thee 5
 So far from home into my deeds to pry,
 To find out shames and idle hours in me,
 The scope and tenour of thy jealousy?
 O, no! thy love, though much, is not so great :
 It is my love that keeps mine eye awake ; 10

Sin of self-love possesseth all mine eye
 And all my soul and all my every part ;
 And for this sin there is no remedy,
 It is so grounded inward in my heart.
 Methinks no face so gracious is as mine, 5
 No shape so true, no truth of such account ;
 And for myself mine own worth do define,
 As I all other in all worths surmount.
 But when my glass shows me myself indeed,
 Beated and chopp'd with tann'd antiquity, 10
 Mine own self-love quite contrary I read ;
 Self so self-loving were iniquity.
 'Tis thee, myself, that for myself I praise,
 Painting my age with beauty of thy days.

 Against confounding age's cruel knife, 10
 That he shall never cut from memory
 My sweet love's beauty, though my lover's life :
 His beauty shall in these black lines be seen,
 And they shall live, and he in them still green.

LXIV.

When I have seen by Time's fell hand defaced
 The rich-proud cost of outworn buried age ;
 When sometime lofty towers I see down-razed,
 And brass eternal slave to mortal rage ;
 When I have seen the hungry ocean gain 5
 Advantage on the kingdom of the shore,
 And the firm soil win of the watery main,
 Increasing store with loss and loss with store ;
 When I have seen such interchange of state,
 Or state itself confounded to decay ; 10
 Ruin hath taught me thus to ruminare,
 That Time will come and take my love away.
 This thought is as a death, which cannot choose
 But weep to have that which it fears to lose.

Those parts of thee that the world's eye doth view
 Want nothing that the thought of hearts can mend:
 All tongues, the voice of souls, give thee that due,
 Uttering bare truth, even so as foes commend
 Thy outward thus with outward praise is crown'd; 5
 But those same tongues, that give thee so thine own,
 In other accents do this praise confound
 By seeing farther than the eye hath shown.
 They look into the beauty of thy mind,
 And that, in guess, they measure by thy deeds; 10
 Then, churls, their thoughts, although their eyes were kind,
 To thy fair flower add the rank smell of weeds:
 But why thy odour matcheth not thy show,

After my death, dear love, forget me quite,
 For you in me can nothing worthy prove;
 Unless you would devise some virtuous lie, 5
 To do more for me than mine own desert,
 And hang more praise upon deceased I
 Than niggard truth would willingly impart:
 O, lest your true love may seem false in this,
 That you for love speak well of me untrue, 10
 My name be buried where my body is,

For I am shamed by that which I bring forth,
 And so should you, to love things nothing worth.

 In me thou see'st the twilight of such day 5
 As after sunset fadeth in the west;
 Which by and by black night doth take away,
 Death's second self, that seals up all in rest.
 In me thou see'st the glowing of such fire,

But be contented: when that fell arrest
 Without all bail shall carry me away,
 My life hath in this line some interest,
 Which for memorial still with thee shall stay.
 When thou reviewest this, thou dost review 5
 The very part was consecrate to thee:
 The earth can have but earth, which is his due;
 My spirit is thine, the better part of me:
 So then thou hast but lost the dregs of life,
 The prey of worms, my body being dead; 10
 The coward conquest of a wretch's knife,
 Too base of thee to be remembered.
 The worth of that is that which it contains,
 And that is this, and this with thee remains.

LXXV.

So are you to my thoughts as food to life,
 Or as sweet-season'd showers are to the ground;
 And for the peace of you I hold such strife
 As 'twixt a miser and his wealth is found;
 Now proud as an enjoyer, and anon 5
 Doubting the filching age will steal his treasure;
 Now counting best to be with you alone,
 Then better'd that the world may see my pleasure:
 Sometime all full with feasting on your sight,
 And by and by clean starved for a look; 10

Why is my verse so barren of new pride,
 So far from variation or quick change?
 Why with the time do I not glance aside
 To new-found methods and to compounds strange?
 Why write I still all one, ever the same, 5
 And keep invention in a noted weed,
 That every word doth almost tell my name,
 Showing their birth and where they did proceed?
 O, know, sweet love, I always write of you,
 And you and love are still my argument; 10
 So all my best is dressing old words new,
 Spending again what is already spent:
 For as the sun is daily new and old,
 So is my love still telling what is told.

So oft have I invoked thee for my Muse
 And found such fair assistance in my verse
 As every alien pen hath got my use
 And under thee their poesy disperse.
 Thine eyes, that taught the dumb on high to sing 5

 Have added feathers to the learned's wing
 And given grace a double majesty.

Whilst I alone did call upon thy aid,
 My verse alone had all thy gentle grace ;
 But now my gracious numbers are decay'd,
 And my sick Muse doth give another place
 I grant, sweet love, thy lovely argument 5
 Deserves the travail of a worthier pen ;
 Yet what of thee thy poet doth invent
 He robs thee of, and pays it thee again.
 He lends thee virtue, and he stole that word
 From thy behaviour ; beauty doth he give, 10
 And found it in thy cheek : he can afford
 No praise to thee but what in thee doth live.
 Then thank him not for that which he doth say,
 Since what he owes thee thou thyself dost pay.

LXXX.

O, how I faint when I of you do write,
 Knowing a better spirit doth use your name,
 And in the praise thereof spends all his might,
 To make me tongue-tied, speaking of your fame !
 But since your worth, wide as the ocean is, 5
 The humble as the proudest sail doth bear,
 My saucy bark, inferior far to his,
 On your broad main doth wilfully appear.

 Or you survive when I in earth am rotten:
 From hence your memory death cannot take,
 Although in me each part will be forgotten.
 Your name from hence immortal life shall have, 5
 Though I, once gone, to all the world must die:
 The earth can yield me but a common grave,
 When you entombed in men's eyes shall lie.
 Your monument shall be my gentle verse,
 Which eyes not yet created shall o'er-read; 10
 And tongues to be your being shall rehearse,
 When all the breathers of this world are dead;
 You still shall live—such virtue hath my pen—
 Where breath most breathes, even in the mouths of men.

 And their gross painting might be better used

I never saw that you did painting need,
 And therefore to your fair no painting set;
 I found, or thought I found, you did exceed
 The barren tender of a poet's debt:
 And therefore have I slept in your report, 5
 That you yourself, being extant, well might show
 How far a modern quill doth come too short,
 Speaking of worth, what worth in you doth grow.
 This silence for my sin you did impute,
 Which shall be most my glory, being dumb; 10

 Bound for the prize of all too precious you,
 That did my ripe thoughts in my brain inhearse,
 Making their tomb the womb wherein they grew?
 Was it his spirit, by spirits taught to write 5
 Above a mortal pitch, that struck me dead?
 No, neither he, nor his compeers by night
 Giving him aid, my verse astonished.
 He, nor that affable familiar ghost

 Now, while the world is bent my deeds to cross,

 For thy neglect of truth in beauty dyed?
 Both truth and beauty on my love depends;
 So dost thou too, and therein dignified.
 Make answer, Muse: wilt thou not haply say, 5

But that wild music burthens every bough,
 And sweets grown common lose their dear delight.
 Therefore, like her, I sometime hold my tongue,
 Because I would not dull you with my song.

CIII

Alack, what poverty my Muse brings forth,
 That having such a scope to show her pride,
 The argument, all bare, is of more worth
 Than when it hath my added praise beside!
 O, blame me not, if I no more can write! 5
 Look in your glass, and there appears a face
 That over-goes my blunt invention quite,
 Dulling my lines and doing me disgrace.
 Were it not sinful then, striving to mend,
 To mar the subject that before was well? 10
 For to no other pass my verses tend
 Than of your graces and your gifts to tell,
 And more, much more, than in my verse can sit,
 Your own glass shows you when you look in it.

CIV.

To me, fair friend, you never can be old,
 For as you were when first your eye I eyed,
 Such seems your beauty still. Three winters cold
 Have from the forests shook three summers' pride,
 Three beauteous springs to yellow autumn turn'd 5
 In process of the seasons have I seen,

Three April perfumes in three hot Junes burn'd,
 Since first I saw you fresh, which yet are green.
 Ah, yet doth beauty, like a dial-hand,
 Steal from his figure, and no pace perceived; 10
 So your sweet hue, which methinks still doth stand,
 Hath motion, and mine eye may be deceived.
 For fear of which, hear this, thou age unbred;
 Ere you were born was beauty's summer dead.

CV.

Let not my love be call'd idolatry,
 Nor my beloved as an idol show,
 Since all alike my songs and praises be
 To one, of one, still such, and ever so.
 Kind is my love to-day, to-morrow kind, 5
 Still constant in a wondrous excellence;
 Therefore my verse to constancy confined,
 One thing expressing, leaves out difference.
 'Fair, kind, and true,' is all my argument,
 'Fair, kind, and true,' varying to other words; 10
 And in this change is my invention spent,
 Three themes in one, which wondrous scope affords.
 'Fair, kind, and true,' have often lived alone,
 Which three till now never kept seat in one.

Then, in the blazon of sweet beauty's best, 5
 Of hand, of foot, of lip, of eye, of brow,
 I see their antique pen would have express'd
 Even such a beauty as you master now.
 So all their praises are but prophecies
 Of this our time, all you prefiguring; 10
 And, for they look'd but with divining eyes,
 They had not skill enough your worth to sing:
 For we, which now behold these present days,
 Have eyes to wonder, but lack tongues to praise.

CVII.

Not mine own fears, nor the prophetic soul
 Of the wide world dreaming on things to come,
 Can yet the lease of my true love control,
 Supposed as forfeit to a confined doom.
 The mortal moon hath her eclipse endured, 5
 And the sad augurs mock their own presage;
 Incertainties now crown themselves assured,
 And peace proclaims olives of endless age.
 Now with the drops of this most balmy time
 My love looks fresh, and Death to me subscribes, 10
 Since, spite of him, I'll live in this poor rhyme,
 While he insults o'er dull and speechless tribes:
 And thou in this shalt find thy monument,
 When tyrants' crests and tombs of brass are spent.

Nothing, sweet boy ; but yet, like prayers divine, 5
 I must each day say o'er the very same ;
 Counting no old thing old, thou mine, I thine,
 Even as when first I hallowed thy fair name.
 So that eternal love in love's fresh case
 Weighs not the dust and injury of age, 10
 Nor gives to necessary wrinkles place,
 But makes antiquity for aye his page ;
 Finding the first conceit of love there bred,
 Where time and outward form would show it dead.

CIX

O, never say that I was false of heart,
 Though absence seem'd my flame to qualify.
 As easy might I from myself depart
 As from my soul, which in thy breast doth lie :
 That is my home of love : if I have ranged, 5
 Like him that travels, I return again ;
 Just to the time, not with the time exchanged,
 So that myself bring water for my stain.
 Never believe, though in my nature reign'd
 All frailties that besiege all kinds of blood, 10
 That it could so preposterously be stain'd,
 To leave for nothing all thy sum of good ;
 For nothing this wide universe I call,
 Save thou, my rose ; in it thou art my all.

 Made old offences of affections new ;
 Most true it is that I have look'd on truth 3
 Askance and strangely : but, by all above,
 These blenches gave my heart another youth,
 And worse essays proved thee my best of love.
 Now all is done, have what shall have no end :
 Mine appetite I never more will grind 10
 On newer proof, to try an older friend,
 A god in love, to whom I am confined.
 Then give me welcome, next my heaven the best,
 Even to thy pure and most most loving breast.

CXI

O, for my sake do you with Fortune chide,
 The guilty goddess of my harmful deeds,
 That did not better for my life provide
 Than public means which public manners breeds. 5
 Thence comes it that my name receives a brand,
 And almost thence my nature is subdued
 To what it works in, like the dyer's hand :
 Pity me then and wish I were renew'd ;
 Whilst, like a willing patient, I will drink
 Potions of eisel 'gainst my strong infection ; 10
 No bitterness that I will bitter think,

 Mark how with my neglect I do dispense:
 You are so strongly in my purpose bred

 The crow or dove, it shapes them to your feature:
 Incapable of more, replete with you,

 Drink up the monarch's plague, this flattery?
 Or whether shall I say, mine eye saith true,
 And that your love taught it this alchemy,
 To make of monsters and things indigest 5

 Yet then my judgement knew no reason why

 But reckoning Time, whose million'd accidents 5
 Creep in 'twixt vows, and change decrees of kings,
 Tan sacred beauty, blunt the sharp'st intents,
 Divert strong minds to the course of altering things ;
 Alas, why, fearing of Time's tyranny,
 Might I not then say 'Now I love you best,' 10
 When I was certain o'er incertainty,
 Crowning the present, doubting of the rest ?
 Love is a babe ; then might I not say so,
 To give full growth to that which still doth grow ?

CXVI

Let me not to the marriage of true minds
 Admit impediments. Love is not love
 Which alters when it alteration finds,
 Or bends with the remover to remove :
 O, no ! it is an ever-fixed mark, 5

Mad in pursuit, and in possession so ;
 Had, having, and in quest to have, extreme ; 10
 A bliss in proof, and proved, a very woe ;
 Before, a joy proposed ; behind, a dream.

All this the world well knows ; yet none knows well
 To shun the heaven that leads men to this hell.

My mistress' eyes are nothing like the sun ;
 Coral is far more red than her lips' red :
 If snow be white, why then her breasts are dun ;
 If hairs be wires, black wires grow on her head.
 I have seen roses damask'd, red and white, 5
 But no such roses see I in her cheeks ;
 And in some perfumes is there more delight
 Than in the breath that from my mistress reeks.
 I love to hear her speak, yet well I know
 That music hath a far more pleasing sound : 10
 I grant I never saw a goddess go,
 My mistress, when she walks, treads on the ground :
 And yet, by heaven, I think my love as rare
 As any she belied with false compare.

For well thou know'st to my dear doting heart
 Thou art the fairest and most precious jewel.
 Yet, in good faith, some say that thee behold, 5
 Thy face hath not the power to make love groan :
 To say they err I dare not be so bold,
 Although I swear it to myself alone.
 And to be sure that is not false I swear,
 A thousand groans, but thinking on thy face, 10
 One on another's neck, do witness bear
 Thy black is fairest in my judgement's place.
 In nothing art thou black save in thy deeds,
 And thence this slander, as I think, proceeds.

CXXXII.

Thine eyes I love, and they, as pitying me,
 Knowing thy heart torments me with disdain,
 Have put on black and loving mourners be,
 Looking with pretty ruth upon my pain.
 And truly not the morning sun of heaven 5
 Better becomes the grey cheeks of the east,
 Nor that full star that ushers in the even
 Doth half that glory to the sober west,
 As those two mourning eyes become thy face :
 O, let it then as well beseem thy heart 10
 To mourn for me, since mourning doth thee grace,
 And suit thy pity like in every part.
 Then will I swear beauty herself is black,
 And all they foul that thy complexion lack.

Beshrew that heart that makes my heart to groan
 For that deep wound it gives my friend and me!
 Is't not enough to torture me alone,
 But slave to slavery my sweet'st friend must be?
 Me from myself thy cruel eye hath taken, 5
 And my next self thou harder hast engrossed:
 Of him, myself, and thee, I am forsaken;
 A torment thrice threefold thus to be crossed.
 Prison my heart in thy steel bosom's ward,
 But then my friend's heart let my poor heart bail; 10
 Whoe'er keeps me, let my heart be his guard;
 Thou canst not then use rigour in my gaol:
 And yet thou wilt; for I, being pent in thee,
 Perforce am thine, and all that is in me.

CXXXIV.

 And I myself am mortgaged to thy will,
 Myself I'll forfeit, so that other mine

 But thou wilt not, nor he will not be free, 5
 For thou art covetous and he is kind;

When my love swears that she is made of truth,
 I do believe her, though I know she lies,
 That she might think me some untutor'd youth,
 Unlearned in the world's false subtleties
 Thus vainly thinking that she thinks me young, 5
 Although she knows my days are past the best,
 Simply I credit her false-speaking tongue :
 On both sides thus is simple truth suppress'd.
 But wherefore says she not she is unjust ?
 And wherefore say not I that I am old ? 10
 O, love's best habit is in seeming trust,
 And age in love loves not to have years told :
 Therefore I lie with her and she with me,
 And in our faults by lies we flatter'd be.

CXXXIX.

O, call not me to justify the wrong
 That thy unkindness lays upon my heart ;
 Wound me not with thine eye, but with thy tongue ;
 Use power with power, and slay me not by art.
 Tell me thou lovest elsewhere ; but in my sight, 5
 Dear heart, forbear to glance thine eye aside :
 What need'st thou wound with cunning, when thy might
 Is more than my o'er-press'd defence can bide ?
 Let me excuse thee : ah, my love well knows
 Her pretty looks have been mine enemies ; 10

 One of her feather'd creatures broke away,
 Sets down her babe, and makes all swift dispatch

 Cries to catch her whose busy care is bent
 To follow that which flies before her face,
 Not prizing her poor infant's discontent:
 So runn'st thou after that which flies from thee,
 Whilst I thy babe chase thee afar behind; 10

Why dost thou pine within and suffer dearth,

NOTES.

NOTE I

LXIX. 14. As the verb 'to soil' is not uncommon in old English, meaning 'to solve,' as, for example · 'This question could not one of them all soile' (Udal's Erasmus, Luke, fol 154 b), so the substantive 'soil' may be used in the sense of 'solution.' The play upon words thus suggested is in the author's manner.

NOTE II.

LXX 6. The conjecture of Malone's correspondent 'C' (probably Capell) is given differently in his two editions · 'wood oftime' (1780) and 'wood of time' (1790)

NOTE III.

LXXVII 13, 14. In place of the two concluding lines of this Sonnet, Ewing's edition, by a strange error, gives the final couplet of Sonnet CVIII.:

'Finding the first conceit of love there bred,
Where time and outward form would shew it dead.'

NOTE IV.

CXAV. 11 Mr Dyce in his edition of 1832 suggests that 'seconds' is a misprint.

NOTE V

CXXVI. 2. Capell in his copy of Lintott's edition has corrected 'hower' to 'hour,' leaving 'fickle.' Doubtless he intended to read 'sickle hoar.'

NOTE VI

CXXVI. 12. After the last line an omission of two lines is marked in the Quarto by two pairs of parentheses.

NOTE VII.

CXXXII. 2. Mr Collier attributes this emendation, 'torments' for 'torment,' to a correspondent of his, Mr J. O'Connell. It is found in the edition of 1640, and in those of Sewell and Ewing. The same correction was made by Capell in his copy of Lintott's edition.

NOTE VIII.

CXXXV. In Sonnets CXXXV., CXXXVI., and CXLIII., we have printed 'Will' wherever Will (in italics) is found in the original edition

Mr Massey says: "The lady's Will is a personification of her wilfulness, the speaker's 'Will' is his name." The latter he marks by inverted commas, thus: in Sonnet CXXXV., my 'will' (line 6), my 'will' (line 8), One 'will' (line 12), and one ('Will' line 14); in Sonnet CXXXVI., thy 'will' (line 2), my 'Will' (line 4), and 'Will' (line 14). He also prints 'rich' (line 11 of the former Sonnet) in capital letters, supposing this and other Sonnets to be addressed by William Lord Herbert to Lady Rich.

In line 13 of Sonnet LVII., which he classes in the same series, he prints 'Will' as a proper name.

NOTE IX.

CXXXVIII. The edition of 1640 has this Sonnet in the form in which it appears in the Passionate Pilgrim. The same may be said of Sonnet CXLIV.

NOTE X.

CXLVI. 10. Malone says that the original copy and all the subsequent impressions read 'my' instead of 'thy.' The copies of the edition of 1609 in the Bodleian, one of which belonged to Malone himself, in the Bridgewater Library, and in the Capell collection, as well as Steevens's reprint, have 'thy.'

NOTE XI.

CLIII. 11. Steevens supposes that 'bath' should be printed 'Bath' as being a proper name. In the original Quarto it is printed 'bath.'

A LOVER'S COMPLAINT.

A LOVER'S COMPLAINT.

FROM off a hill whose concave womb re-worded
 A plaintful story from a sistering vale,
 My spirits to attend this double voice accorded,
 And down I laid to list the sad-tuned tale;
 Ere long espied a fickle maid full pale, 5
 Tearing of papers, breaking rings a-twain,
 Storming her world with sorrow's wind and rain.

Upon her head a platted hive of straw,
 Which fortified her visage from the sun,
 Whereon the thought might think sometime it saw 10
 The carcass of a beauty spent and done: '
 Time had not scythed all that youth begun,
 Nor youth all quit; but, spite of heaven's fell rage,
 Some beauty peep'd through lattice of sear'd age.

Oft did she heave her napkin to her eyne, 15
 Which on it had conceited characters.
 Laundering the silken figures in the brine
 That season'd woe had pelleted in tears,
 And often reading what contents it bears;

As often shrieking undistinguish'd woe, 20
In clamours of all size, both high and low.

Sometimes her levell'd eyes their carriage ride,
As they did battery to the spheres intend;
Sometime diverted their poor balls are tied
To the orb'd earth; sometimes they do extend 25
Their view right on; anon their gazes lend
To every place at once, and nowhere fix'd
The mind and sight distractedly commix'd.

Her hair, nor loose nor tied in formal plat,
Proclaim'd in her a careless hand of pride; 30
For some, untuck'd, descended her sheaved hat,
Hanging her pale and pined cheek beside;
Some in her threaden fillet still did bide,
And, true to bondage, would not break from thence,
Though slackly braided in loose negligence. 35

A thousand favours from a maund she drew
Of amber, crystal, and of beaded jet,
Which one by one she in a river threw,
Upon whose weeping margent she was set;
Like usury, applying wet to wet, 40
Or monarch's hands that lets not bounty fall
Where want cries some, but where excess begs all.

Of folded schedules had she many a one,
 Which she perused, sigh'd, tore, and gave the flood;
 Crack'd many a ring of posied gold and bone, 45
 Bidding them find their sepulchres in mud;
 Found yet moe letters sadly penn'd in blood,
 With sleided silk feat and affectedly
 Enswathed, and seal'd to curious secrecy.

These often bathed she in her fluxive eyes, 50
 And often kiss'd, and often 'gan to tear;
 Cried 'O false blood, thou register of lies,
 What unapproved witness dost thou bear!
 Ink would have seem'd more black and damned here!'
 This said, in top of rage the lines she rents, 55
 Big discontent so breaking their contents.

A reverend man that grazed his cattle nigh—
 Sometime a blusterer, that the ruffle knew
 Of court, of city, and had let go by
 The swiftest hours, observed as they flew— 60
 Towards this afflicted fancy fastly drew;
 And, privileged by age, desires to know
 In brief the grounds and motives of her woe.

So slides he down upon his grained bat,
 And comely-distant sits he by her side; 65
 When he again desires her, being sat,
 Her grievance with his hearing to divide:
 If that from him there may be aught applied

Which may her suffering ecstasy assuage,
'Tis promised in the charity of age. 70

'Father,' she says, 'though in me you behold
The injury of many a blasting hour,
Let it not tell your judgement I am old ;
Not age, but sorrow, over me hath power :
I might as yet have been a spreading flower, 75
Fresh to myself, if I had self-applied
Love to myself, and to no love beside.

'But, woe is me' too early I attended
A youthful suit—it was to gain my grace—
Of one by nature's outwards so commended, 80
That maidens' eyes stuck over all his face :
Love lack'd a dwelling and made him her place ;
And when in his fair parts she did abide,
She was new lodged and newly deified.

'His browny locks did hang in crooked curls ; 85
And every light occasion of the wind
Upon his lips their silken parcels hurls.
What's sweet to do, to do will aptly find :
Each eye that saw him did enchant the mind ;
For on his visage was in little drawn 90
What largeness thinks in Paradise was sawn.

'Small show of man was yet upon his chin ;
His phoenix down began but to appear,
Like unshorn velvet, on that termless skin,

Whose bare out-bragg'd the web it seem'd to wear : 95
 Yet show'd his visage by that cost more dear :
 And nice affections wavering stood in doubt
 If best were as it was, or best without.

'His qualities were beauteous as his form,
 For maiden-tongued he was, and thereof free ; 100
 Yet, if men moved him, was he such a storm
 As oft 'twixt May and April is to see,
 When winds breathe sweet, unruly though they be.
 His rudeness so with his authorized youth
 Did livery falseness in a pride of truth. 105

'Well could he ride, and often men would say,
 "That horse his mettle from his rider takes :
 Proud of subjection, noble by the sway,
 What rounds, what bounds, what course, what stop he makes !"
 And controversy hence a question takes, 110
 Whether the horse by him became his deed,
 Or he his manage by the well-doing steed.

'But quickly on this side the verdict went :
 His real habitude gave life and grace
 To appertainings and to ornament, 115
 Accomplish'd in himself, not in his case :
 All aids, themselves made fairer by their place,

Pieced not his grace, but were all graced by him.

'So on the tip of his subduing tongue 120
All kind of arguments and question deep,
All replication prompt and reason strong,
For his advantage still did wake and sleep:
To make the weeper laugh, the laughter weep,
He had the dialect and different skill, 125
Catching all passions in his craft of will ;

'That he did in the general bosom reign
Of young, of old, and sexes both enchanted,
To dwell with him in thoughts, or to remain
In personal duty, following where he haunted : 130
Consents bewitch'd, ere he desire, have granted,
And dialogued for him what he would say,
Ask'd their own wills and made their wills obey.

'Many there were that did his picture get,
To serve their eyes, and in it put their mind ; 135
Like fools that in the imagination set
The goodly objects which abroad they find
Of lands and mansions, theirs in thought assign'd ;
And labouring in moe pleasures to bestow them

 Sweetly supposed them mistress of his heart.
 My woeful self, that did in freedom stand,
 And was my own fee-simple, not in part,
 What with his art in youth and youth in art, 145
 Threw my affections in his charmed power,
 Reserved the stalk and gave him all my flower.

'Yet did I not, as some my equals did,
 Demand of him, nor being desired yielded;
 Finding myself in honour so forbid, 150
 With safest distance I mine honour shielded:
 Experience for me many bulwarks builded
 Of proofs new-bleeding, which remain'd the foil
 Of this false jewel, and his amorous spoil.

'But, ah, who ever shunn'd by precedent 155
 The destined ill she must herself assay?
 Or forced examples, 'gainst her own content,
 To put the by-past perils in her way?
 Counsel may stop awhile what will not stay;
 For when we rage, advice is often seen 160
 By blunting us to make our wits more keen.

'Nor gives it satisfaction to our blood,
 That we must curb it upon others' proof;
 To be forbid the sweets that seem so good,
 For fear of harms that preach in our behoof. 165

His poison'd me, and mine did him restore.

'In him a plenitude of subtle matter,
Applied to cautels, all strange forms receives,
Of burning blushes, or of weeping water,
Or swoounding paleness; and he takes and leaves, 305
In either's aptness, as it best deceives,
To blush at speeches rank, to weep at woes,
Or to turn white and swoond at tragic shows:

'That not a heart which in his level came
Could 'scape the hail of his all-hurting aim, 310
Showing fair nature is both kind and tame;
And, veil'd in them, did win whom he would maim:
Against the thing he sought he would exclaim;
When he most burn'd in heart-wish'd luxury,
He preach'd pure maid and praised cold chastity. 315

'Thus merely with the garment of a Grace
The naked and concealed fiend he cover'd;
That the unexperient gave the tempter place,
Which, like a cherubin, above them hover'd.
Who, young and simple, would not be so lover'd? 320
Ay me! I fell, and yet do question make
What I should do again for such a sake.

NOTE.

261. Malone in his edition of 1780, quotes the reading of the Quarto in this line as 'I dieted,' and in his edition of 1790 as 'I died.' The Bridgewater Quarto, and that from which Capell supplemented in manuscript his own imperfect copy, read 'I dieted.' Both the copies in the Bodleian have the same reading.

THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM.

THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM.

I.

WHEN my love swears that she is made of truth,
I do believe her, though I know she lies,
That she might think me some untutor'd youth,
Unskilful in the world's false forgeries.
Thus vainly thinking that she thinks me young, 5
Although I know my years be past the best,
I smiling credit her false-speaking tongue,
Outfacing faults in love with love's ill rest.
But wherefore says my love that she is young?
And wherefore say not I that I am old? 10
O, love's best habit is a soothing tongue,
And age, in love, loves not to have years told.
Therefore I'll lie with love, and love with me,
Since that our faults in love thus smother'd be.

II.

Two loves I have, of comfort and despair,
That like two spirits do suggest me still;
My better angel is a man right fair,
My worser spirit a woman colour'd ill.

4 spirit] ed. 1612. spirite ed. 1599.

To win me soon to hell, my female evil 5
 Tempteth my better angel from my side,
 And would corrupt my saint to be a devil,
 Wooing his purity with her fair pride.
 And whether that my angel be turn'd fiend,
 Suspect I may, yet not directly tell: 10
 For being both to me, both to each friend,
 I guess one angel in another's hell:
 The truth I shall not know, but live in doubt,
 Till my bad angel fire my good one out.

III

Did not the heavenly rhetoric of thine eye,
 'Gainst whom the world could not hold argument,
 Persuade my heart to this false perjury?
 Vows for thee broke deserve not punishment.
 A woman I forswore; but I will prove, 5
 Thou being a goddess, I forswore not thee:
 My vow was earthly, thou a heavenly love;
 Thy grace being gain'd cures all disgrace in me.
 My vow was breath, and breath a vapour is;
 Then, thou fair sun, that on this earth doth shine, 10
 Exhale this vapour vow; in thee it is:
 If broken, then it is no fault of mine.
 If by me broke, what fool is not so wise
 To break an oath, to win a paradise?

Sweet Cytherea, sitting by a brook
 With young Adonis, lovely, fresh and green,
 Did court the lad with many a lovely look,
 Such looks as none could look but beauty's queen.
 She told him stories to delight his ear, 5
 She show'd him favours to allure his eye;
 To win his heart, she touch'd him here and there;
 Touches so soft still conquer chastity.
 But whether unripe years did want conceit,
 Or he refused to take her figured proffer, 10
 The tender nibbler would not touch the bait,
 But smile and jest at every gentle offer:
 Then fell she on her back, fair queen, and toward:
 He rose and ran away; ah, fool too froward.

V.

If love make me forsworn, how shall I swear to love?
 O never faith could hold, if not to beauty vowed:
 Though to myself forsworn, to thee I'll constant prove;
 Those thoughts, to me like oaks, to thee like osiers bowed.
 Study his bias leaves, and make his book thine eyes, 5
 Where all those pleasures live that art can comprehend.
 If knowledge be the mark, to know thee shall suffice;
 Well learned is that tongue that well can thee commend:
 All ignorant that soul that sees thee without wonder;
 Which is to me some praise, that I thy parts admire: 10

Scarce had the sun dried up the dewy morn,
And scarce the herd gone to the hedge for shade,
When Cytherea, all in love forlorn,
A longing tarriance for Adonis made
Under an osier growing by a brook, 5
A brook where Adon used to cool his spleen :
Hot was the day ; she hotter that did look
For his approach, that often there had been.
Anon he comes, and throws his mantle by,
And stood stark naked on the brook's green brim : 10
The sun look'd on the world with glorious eye,
Yet not so wistly as this queen on him.

He, spying her, bounced in, whereas he stood :
'O Jove,' quoth she, 'why was not I a flood !'

VII.

Fair is my love, but not so fair as fickle,
Mild as a dove, but neither true nor trusty,
Brighter than glass and yet, as glass is, brittle,
Softer than wax and yet as iron rusty :

A lily pale, with damask dye to grace her, 5
None fairer, nor none falser to deface her.

Her lips to mine how often hath she joined,
 Between each kiss her oaths of true love swearing!
 How many tales to please me hath she coined,
 Dreading my love, the loss thereof still fearing! 10
 Yet in the midst of all her pure protestings,
 Her faith, her oaths, her tears, and all were jestings.

She burn'd with love, as straw with fire flameth;
 She burn'd out love, as soon as straw out-burneth;
 She framed the love, and yet she foil'd the framing; 15
 She bade love last, and yet she fell a-turning.
 Was this a lover, or a lecher whether?
 Bad in the best, though excellent in neither

If music and sweet poetry agree,
 As they must needs, the sister and the brother,
 Then must the love be great 'twixt thee and me,
 Because thou lovest the one and I the other.
 Dowland to thee is dear, whose heavenly touch 5
 Upon the lute doth ravish human sense;
 Spenser to me, whose deep conceit is such
 As passing all conceit needs no defence.

 That Phœbus' lute, the queen of music, makes; 10

Fair was the morn when the fair queen of love,

 Paler for sorrow than her milk-white dove,
 For Adon's sake, a youngster proud and wild;
 Her stand she takes upon a steep-up hill: 5
 Anon Adonis comes with horn and hounds;
 She, silly queen, with more than love's good will,
 Forbade the boy he should not pass those grounds:
 'Once,' quoth she, 'did I see a fair sweet youth
 Here in these brakes deep-wounded with a boar, 10
 Deep in the thigh, a spectacle of ruth!
 See, in my thigh,' quoth she, 'here was the sore.'
 She showed hers: he saw more wounds than one,
 And blushing fled, and left her all alone.

Sweet rose, fair flower, untimely pluck'd, soon vaded,
 Pluck'd in the bud and vaded in the spring!

 Like a green plum that hangs upon a tree, 5
 And falls through wind before the fall should be.

Venus, with young Adonis sitting by her
 Under a myrtle shade, began to woo him :
 She told the youngling how god Mars did try her,
 And as he fell to her, so fell she to him.
 'Even thus,' quoth she, 'the warlike god embraced me,' 5
 And then she clipp'd Adonis in her arms ;
 'Even thus,' quoth she, 'the warlike god unlaced me,'
 As if the boy should use like loving charms ;
 'Even thus,' quoth she, 'he seized on my lips,'
 And with her lips on his did act the seizure : 10
 And as she fetched breath, away he skips,
 And would not take her meaning nor her pleasure.
 Ah, that I had my lady at this bay,
 To kiss and clip me till I run away !

Beauty is but a vain and doubtful good;
 A shining gloss that vadeth suddenly;
 A flower that dies when first it 'gins to bud;
 A brittle glass that's broken presently:
 A doubtful good, a gloss, a glass, a flower, 5

While Philomela sits and sings, I sit and mark, 5
And wish her lays were tuned like the lark;

For she doth welcome daylight with her ditty,
And drives away dark dreaming night:
The night so pack'd, I post unto my pretty;
Heart hath his hope and eyes their wished sight; 10
Sorrow changed to solace and solace mix'd with sorrow;
For why, she sigh'd, and bade me come to-morrow.

Were I with her, the night would post too soon;
But now are minutes added to the hours;
To spite me now, each minute seems a moon; 15
Yet not for me, shine sun to succour flowers!
Pack night, peep day; good day, of night now borrow:
Short, night, to-night, and length thyself to-morrow.

Clear wells spring not,
Sweet birds sing not,
Green plants bring not

Forth their dye;

40

Herds stand weeping,
Flocks all sleeping,
Nymphs back peeping

Fearfully :

All our pleasure known to us poor swains,

45

All our merry meetings on the plains,

All our evening sport from us is fled,

All our love is lost, for Love is dead.

Farewell, sweet lass,

Thy like ne'er was

50

For a sweet content, the cause of all my moan :

Poor Corydon

Must live alone ;

Other help for him I see that there is none.

When as thine eye hath chose the dame,
 And stall'd the deer that thou shouldst strike,
 Let reason rule things worthy blame,
 As well as fancy, partial wight:

Take counsel of some wiser head,

Neither too young nor yet unwed.

And when thou comest thy tale to tell,
 Smooth not thy tongue with filed talk,
 Lest she some subtle practice smell,—

A cripple soon can find a halt;—

And set thy person forth to sell.

What though her frowning brows be bent,

 There will I make thee a bed of roses,

Sitting in a pleasant shade
 Which a grove of myrtles made,
 Beasts did leap and birds did sing, 5
 Trees did grow and plants did spring;
 Every thing did banish moan,
 Save the nightingale alone:
 She, poor bird, as all forlorn,
 Lean'd her breast up-till a thorn, 10
 And there sung the dolefull'st ditty,
 That to hear it was great pity:
 'Fie, fie, fie,' now would she cry;
 'Tereu, Tereu!' by and by;
 That to hear her so complain, 15
 Scarce I could from tears refrain;
 For her griefs so lively shown
 Made me think upon mine own.
 Ah, thought I, thou mourn'st in vain!
 None takes pity on thy pain: 20
 Senseless trees they cannot hear thee;
 Ruthless beasts they will not cheer thee:
 King Pandion he is dead;
 All thy friends are lapp'd in lead;
 All thy fellow birds do sing, 25
 Careless of thy sorrowing.
 Even so, poor bird, like thee,
 None alive will pity me.
 Whilst as fickle Fortune smiled,
 Thou and I were both beguiled. 30

Every one that flatters thee
 Is no friend in misery.
 Words are easy, like the wind;
 Faithful friends are hard to find:
 Every man will be thy friend 35
 Whilst thou hast wherewith to spend;
 But if store of crowns be scant,
 No man will supply thy want.
 If that one be prodigal,
 Bountiful they will him call, 40
 And with such-like flattering,
 'Pity but he were a king;'
 If he be addict to vice,
 Quickly him they will entice;
 If to women he be bent, 45
 They have at commandment:
 But if Fortune once do frown,
 Then farewell his great renown;
 They that fawn'd on him before
 Use his company no more. 50
 He that is thy friend indeed,
 He will help thee in thy need:
 If thou sorrow, he will weep;
 If thou wake, he cannot sleep;
 Thus of every grief in heart 55
 He with thee doth bear a part.
 These are certain signs to know
 Faithful friend from flattering foe.

NOTES.

NOTE I.

VIII. 1. This sonnet is printed by Barnfield among the 'Poems in diuers humors' with the following heading: 'To his friend Maister R. L. In praise of Musique and Poetrie.' There are no variations except in spelling and punctuation. Number [xxi] occurs in the same collection.

NOTE II.

XI. 9—14. Instead of these six lines, the following are printed in Griffin's Fidessa

'But he a wayward boy refusde her offer,
And ran away, the beautilous Queene neglecting:
Shewing both folly to abuse her proffer,
And all his sex of cowardise detecting.
Oh that I had my mistris at that bay,
To kisse and clippe me till I ranne away!'

NOTE III.

XIII. A second copy of this poem 'from a corrected Manuscript' appeared in the Gentleman's Magazine, xxx. 39. The readings are the same as those of the other copy quoted in the notes, except that in line 1 it has 'a fleeting' for 'and fleeting,' and in line 8 'fawling' for 'fawled.'

NOTE IV.

XIX. 43—46. Malone, quoting from a MS. copy in the possession of Mr Lysons, reads in his edition of 1790:

'Thunk, women love to match with men,
And not to live so like a saint.
Here is no heaven; they holy then
Begin, when age doth them attaint.'

We have printed the text of the old copies.

Dyce (ed 2) reads with Malone in the third line, and in the rest follows the old copies.

In Halliwell's Folio Shakespeare, vol. 16, a facsimile is given of a MS. copy, which is apparently the same as that quoted by Malone. The readings from this are referred to in the notes as 'MS.'

NOTE V.

[XX.] 12. Here the edition of 1640 inserts from England's Helicon the following lines :

'A gowne made of the finest wooll,
Which from our pretty Lambes we pull,
Faure lined slippers for the cold,
With buckles of the purest gold.'

After the next stanza the same edition gives from the same source the following :

'The Shepheards Swaines shall dance and sing,
For thy delight each May morning ;
If these delights thy minde may move,
Then live with me and be my love.'

In the different versions of this song found in England's Helicon, and Walton's Complete Angler, edd. 1 and 2, there are many minor variations recorded by Mr Dyce in his edition of Marlowe, Vol. III. pp. 299, 300. It probably, as Walton says, was written by Marlowe. In England's Helicon, Love's answer is called 'The Nymphs reply to the Shepheard,' and is in six quatrains, the whole of which are given in the edition of 1640.

THE PHOENIX AND TURTLE.

LET the bird of loudest lay,
On the sole Arabian tree,
Herald sad and trumpet be,
To whose sound chaste wings obey.

But thou shrieking harbinger, 5
Foul precurrer of the fiend,
Augur of the fever's end,
To this troop come thou not near!

From this session interdict 10
Every fowl of tyrant wing,
Save the eagle, feather'd king:
Keep the obsequy so strict.

Let the priest in surplice white,
That defunctive music can,
Be the death-divining swan, 15
Lest the requiem lack his right.

And thou treble-dated crow,
That thy sable gender makest
With the breath thou givest and takest,
'Mongst our mourners shalt thou go. 20

Here the anthem doth commence :
 Love and constancy is dead ;
 Phoenix and the turtle fled
 In a mutual flame from hence.

So they loved, as love in twain 25
 Had the essence but in one ;
 Two distincts, division none :
 Number there in love was slain.

Hearts remote, yet not asunder ;
 Distance, and no space was seen 30
 'Twixt the turtle and his queen :
 But in them it were a wonder.

So between them love did shine,
 That the turtle saw his right
 Flaming in the phoenix' sight ; 35
 Either was the other's mine.

Property was thus appalled,
 That the self was not the same ;
 Single nature's double name
 Neither two nor one was called. 40

Reason, in itself confounded,
 Saw division grow together,
 To themselves yet either neither,
 Simple were so well compounded ;

That it cried, How true a twain
Seemeth this concordant one !
Love hath reason, reason none,
If what parts can so remain.
Whereupon it made this threne
To the phoenix and the dove,
Co-supremes and stars of love,
As chorus to their tragic scene.

THRENOS.

Beauty, truth, and rarity,
Grace in all simplicity,
Here enclosed in cinders lie.
Death is now the phoenix' nest ;
And the turtle's loyal breast
To eternity doth rest,
Leaving no posterity :
'Twas not their infirmity,
It was married chastity.
Truth may seem, but cannot be ;
Beauty brag, but 'tis not she ;
Truth and beauty buried be.
To this urn let those repair
That are either true or fair ;
For these dead birds sigh a prayer.

Pis. O bace gongarian wight, wilt thou the spicket willd?

Nym. His minde is not heroick And theres the humor of it. 25

Fal. Well my Laddes, I am almost out at the heeles

Pis. Why then let cybes issue

Nym I thanke thee for that humor 30

Fal* Well I am glad I am so rid of this tinder Boy

His stealth was too open, his filching was like

An vnskilfull singer, he kept not time

Nym. The good humor is to steale at a minutes rest. 35

Pis Tis so indeed Nym, thou hast hit it right.

Fal. Wel, afore God, I must cheat, I must cony-catch

Which of you knowes Foord of this Towne? 40

Pis. I ken the wight, he is of substance good.

Fal Well my honest Lads, Ile tell you what I am about

Pis. Two yards and more

Fal. No gibes now Pistoll: indeed I am two yards 45

In the wast, but now I am about no wast.

Briefly, I am about thrift you rogues you,

I do intend to make loue to *Foord*s wife,

I espie entertainment in her. She carues, she

Discourses. She gues the lyre of mutation, 50

And every part to be constured rightly is, I am

Syr John Falstaffes.

Pis. He hath studied her well, out of honestie Into English.

Fal. Now the report goes, she hath all the rule Of her husbands purse She hath legians of angels 55

Pis As many duels attend her.

And to her boy say I.

Fal. Heere's a Letter to her. Heeres another to misteris Page. 60

*Who euen now gaue me good eies too, examined my exteriors with such a greedy intentiō, with the beames of her beautie, that it seemed as she would a scorged me vp like a burning glasse. Here is another Letter to her, shee beares the purse too. They shall be Excheckers to me, and Ile be cheaters to them both. They shall be my East and West Indies, 65 and Ile trade to them both. Heere beare thou this Letter to mistresse Foord. And thou this to mistresse

Page. Weele thrue Lads, we will thrue.

70

Pis. Shall I sir Panderowes of Troy become?
And by my sword were steele
Then Lucifer take all

Nym Here take your humor Letter againe,
For my part, I will keepe the humor
Of reputation And theres the humor of it

75

Fal Here sirrha beare me these Letters titely,
Saile like my pinnice to the golden shores.
Hence slaues, avant Vanish like hailstones, goe
Falstaffe will learne the humor of this age,
French thrift you rogue, my selfe and scirted Page

80

Exit Falstaffe,
and the Boy

Pis And art thou gone? Teaster Ile haue in pouch
When thou shalt want, bace Phrygian Turke.

Nym I haue operations in my head, which are humors of reuenge.

85

Pis Wilt thou reuenge?

Nym. By Wellin and her Fairies

Pis By wit, or sword?

Nym. With both the humors I will disclose this loue to Page Ile poses him with Iallowes,
*And theres the humor of it

90

Pis. And I to Foord will likewise tell
How Falstaffe varlot vilde,
Woulde haue her loue, his doue would proue,
And eke his bed defile.

95

Nym. Let vs about it then. (on

Sim. I indeed that is his name.

Quic How say you? I take it hce is somewhat a weakly man:

And he has as it were a whay coloured beard.

Sim Indeed my maisters beard is kane colored.

Quic. Kane colour, you say well.

And is this Letter from sir Yon, about Misteris An,
Is it not?

Sim I indeed is it

10

Quic. So: and your Maister would haue me as it twere to speak to misteris Anne concerning him. I promise you my M. hath a great affectioned mind to mistresse Anne himselfe And if he should know that I should as they say, giue my verdit for any one but himselfe, I should heare of it thoroughly. For I tell you friend, he puts all his priuities in me.

Enter Mistresse Foord

Mis For How now Mistris Page, are you reading
Loue Letters? How do you woman?

Miss Pa O woman I am I know not what.

In loue vp to the hard eares I was neuer in such a case in my life

25

Mis. Ford. In loue, now in the name of God with whom?

Mis Pa With one that sweares he loues me,
And I must not choose but do the like againe.
I prethe looke on that Letter

30

Mis For Ile match your letter rust with the like,
Line for line, word for word. Only the name
Of misteris Page, and misteris Foord disagrees:
Do me the kindnes to looke vpon this.

35

Mis. Pa. Why this is right my letter.
O most notorious villaine!
Why what a bladder of iniquitie is this?
Lets be reuenged what so ere we do.

Mis For. Reuenged, if we lue weel be reuenged.
*O Lord if my husband should see this Letter,
Ifaith this would euen giue edge to his Iealousie.

40

Enter Ford, Page, Pistoll and Nym

Mis Pa. See where our husbands are,
Mine's as far from Iealousie,
As I am from wronging him.

45

Pis. Ford the words I speake are forst:
Beware, take heed, for Falstaffe loues thy wife.
When Pistoll lies do this

Ford. Why sir my wife is not young.

Pis. He woos both yong and old, both rich and None comes amis. I say he loues thy wife: (poore
Faire warning did I giue, take heed,
For sommer comes, and Cuckoo birds appeare;
Page beleue him what he ses. Away sir Corporall

50

Exit Pistoll: (Nym.

Nym. Syr the humor of it is, he loues your wife,
I should ha borne the humor Letter to her
I speake and I auouch tis true: My name is Nym.
Farwell, I loue not the humor of bread and cheese
And theres the humor of it.

Mis Pa How now sweet hart, how dost thou?

Enter Mistresse Quickly.

Pa. How now man? How do you mistris Ford?

Mis For. Well I thanke you good M. Page.

How now husband, how chaunce thou art so melancholy?

65

Ford. Melancholy, I am not melancholy.

Goe get you in, goe.

Mis For. God saue me, see who yonder is:

*Weele set her a worke in this businesse.

70

Mis. Pa O sheele serue excellent.

Now you come to see my daughter An I am sure

Quic. I forsooth that is my commung.

Mis. Pa. Come go in with me Come Mis. Ford

Mis. For. I follow you Mistresse Page.

75

Exit Mistresse Ford, Mis Page, and Quickly.

For. M. Page did you heare what these fellows

Pa. Yes M. Ford, what of that sir? (said?)

For. Do you thinke it is true that they told vs?

Pa No by my troth do I not,

I rather take them to be paltry lying knaues,

80

Such as rather speakes of enue,

Then of any certaine they haue

Of any thing And for the knight, perhaps

He hath spoke merrily, as the fashion of fat men

Are: But should he loue my wife,

85

Ifaith Ide turne her loose to him

And what he got more of her,

Then ill lookes, and shrowd words,

Why let me beare the penaltie of it.

For. Nay I do not mistrust my wife,

90

Yet Ide be loth to turne them together,

A man may be too confident.

Pa. Ifaith tis this sir Hugh. There is an auncient friend of ours, a man of verie good sort, so at oddes
*with one patience, that I am sure you would hartily grieue to see him. Now Sir Hugh, you are a scholler 30 well red, and verie perswasive, we would intreate you to see if you could intreat him to patience.

Sir Hu. I pray you who is it? Let vs know that.

Pa. I am shure you know him, tis Doctor Cayus

Sir Hu. I had as leeue you should tel me of a messe 35
He is an arant lowsie beggerly knaue: (of poredge,
And he is a coward beside.

Pa. Why Ile laie my life tis the man
That he should fight withall.

Enter Doctor and the Host, they offer to fight.

Shal. Keep them asunder, take away their wea- 40

Host. Disarme, let them question. (pons.

Shal. Let them keep their limbs hole, and hack our English.

Doc. Hark van vrd in your eare You be vn daga
And de Iack, coward preest. 45

Sir Hu. Harken you, let vs not be laughing stockes to other mens humors By Ieshu I will knock your vrnalls about your knaues cockcomes, for missing your meetings and appointments.

Doc. O Ieshu mine host of de garter, John Rogoby, 50
Haue I not met him at de p lace he make apoint,
Haue I not?

Sir Hu. So kad vdge me, this is the pointment Witnes by my Host of the garter. (place,

Host. Peace I say gawle and gawlia, French and 55
Soule curer, and bodie curer. (Wealch,

Doc. This be verie braue, excellent

Host. Peace I say, heare mine host of the garter,
*Am I wise? am I pollticke? am I Matchaul? 60
Shall I lose my doctor? No, he giues me the motiōs
And the potions Shall I lose my parson, my sir Hu?
No, he giues me the prouerbes, and the nouerbes
Giue me thy hand terestiall,
So giue me thy hand celestiall.

So boyes of art I haue deceiued you both, 65
I haue directed you to wrong places,

Your hearts are mightie, you skins are whole,
Bardolfe laie their swords to pawne. Follow me lads
Of peace, follow me. Ha, ra, la. Follow. Exit Host
Shal Afore God a mad host, come let vs goe 70

Doc. I begar haue you mocka may thus?
I will be euen met you my Iack Host.

Sir Hu Giue me your hand Doctor Cayus
We be all friends :
But for mine hosts foolish knauery, let me alone. 75

Doc. I dat be vell begar I be friends. (Exit omnes

Enter M. Ford.

[Sc II]

For. The time drawes on he shuld come to my Well wife, you had best worke closely, (house,
Or I am like to goe beyond your cunning :
I now wil seek my guesse that comes to dinner,
And in good time see where they all are come. 5

Enter Shallow, Page, host, Slender, Doctor, and sir Hugh.

By my faith a knot well met. your welcome all.

Pa. I thanke you good M. Ford.

For. Welcome good M. Page,

I would your daughter were here.

Pa. I thank you sir, she is very well at home 10

Slen. Father Page I hope I haue your consent
For Misteris Anne?

Pa.* You haue sonne Slender, but my wife here,
Is altogether for maister Doctor.

Doc. Begar I tanck her hartly 15

Host. But what say you to yong Maister Fenton?
He capers, he daunces, he writes verses, he smalles

All April and May . he wil cary it, 'he wil carit,
Tis in his betmes he wil carite.

Pu My host not with my cōsent . the gentleman is 20
Wilde, he knowes too much . If he take her,
Let him take her simply for my goods goes
With my liking, and my liking goes not that way.

For Well I pray go home with me to dinner
Besides your cheare Ile shew you wonders Ile 25
Shew you a monster You shall go with me

M. Page, and so shall you sir Hugh, and you Maister

Doctor (two :

S. Hu If there be one in the company, I shal make

Doc. And dere be ven to, I sall make de tird . 30

Sir Hu, In your teeth for shame, (fairer

Shal wel, wel, God be with you, we shall haue the

Wooring at Maister Pages :

Exit Shallow and Slender,

Host Ile to my honest knight sir Iohn Falstaffe,
And drinke Canary with him. Exit host 35

Ford I may chance to make him drinke in pipe
First come gentlemen. Exit omnes. (wine,

Enter Mistresse Ford, with two of her men, and [Sc III.]
a greut buck bushet.

Mis For. Surra, if your M. aske you whither
You carry this basket, say to the Launderers,
I hope you know how to bestow it?

Ser I warrant you musters. Exit seruant.

Mis For.* Go get you in Well sir Iohn, 5
I beleue I shall serue you such a trick,
You shall haue little mind to come againe.

Enter Sir Iohn.

Fal. Haue I caught my heauenlie Iewel?
Why now let me die I haue liued long enough,
This is the happie houre I haue desired to see, 10
Now shall I sin in my wish,
I would thy husband were dead

Mis. For. Why how then sir Iohn?

Fal By the Lord, Ide make thee my Ladie.

Mis For. Alas sir Iohn, I should be a verie simple 15
Ladie.

Fal Goe*too, I see how thy eie doth emulate the Diamond.

And how the arched bent of thy brow

Would become the ship ture, the ture vellet, 20

Or anie Venetian attire, I see it (better

Mis. For. A plaine kercher sir Iohn, would fit me

Fal. By the Lord thou art a traitor to saie so
What made me loue thee? Let that perswade thee
Ther's somewhat extraordinarie in thee: Goe too 25
I loue thee.

Mistris Ford, I cannot cog, I cannot prate, like one

Of these fellows that smels like Buckleis-berie,

In simple time, but I loue thee,

And none but thee 30

Mis. For. Sir Iohn, I am afraid you loue misteris

Fal I thou mightest as well saie (Page.

I loue to walke by the Counter gate,

VVhich is as hatefull to me

As the reake of a lime kill. 35

Enter Mistresse Page.*

Mis. Pa. Mistresse Ford, Mis. Ford, where are you?

Mis. For. O Lord step aside good sir Iohn.

Falstaffe stands behind the arras

How now Misteris Page whats the matter?

Mis. Pa. Why your husband woman is cōming,
With halfe Windsor at his heeles, 40
To looke for a gentleman that he ses

Is hid in his house · his wifes sweet hart

Mis. For Speak louder. But I hope tis not true
Misteris Page

Mis. Pa. Tis too true woman. Therefore if you 45
Haue any here, away with him, or your vndone for euer.

Mis. For. Alas mistresse Page, what shall I do?
Here is a gentleman my friend, how shall I do?

Mis. Pa. Gode body woman, do not stand what 50 shal I do, and what shall I do. Better any shift, rather then you shamed. Looke heere, here's a buck-basket, if hee be a man of any reasonable sise, heele in here.

Mis. For. Alas I feare he is too big. 55

Fal. Let me see, let me see, Ile in, Ile in,

Follow your friends counsell. (Aside

Mis. Pa. Fie sir Iohn is this your loue? Go too.

Fal. I loue thee, and none but thee:

Helpe me to conuey me hence, 60
Ile neuer come here more.

Sir Iohn goes into the basket, they put cloathes ouer him, the two men carries it away Foord meetes it, and all the rest, Page, Doctor, Priest, Slender, Shallow*

Foord. Come pray along, you shall see all.

How now who goes heare? whither goes this?

Whither goes it? set it downe.

Mis. For. Now let it go, you had best meddle with buck-washing. 65

Foord Buck, good buck, pray come along,
Maister Page take my keyes helpe to search. Good
Sir Hugh pray come along, helpe a little, a little,
He shew you all. 70

Sir Hu By Ieshu these are realosies & distemperes
Exit omnes

Mis. Pa. He is in a pittifull taking.

Mis I wonder what he thought

Why my husband had them set downe the basket

Mis. Pa. Hang him dishonest slaue, we cannot vse Him bad enough. This is excellent for your Husbands iocalousie 75

M. For. Alas poore soule it grieues me at the hart,
But this will be a meanes to make him cease
His iealous fits, if Falstaffes loue increase. 80

Mis. Pa. Nay we wil send to Falstaffe once again,
Tis great pittie we should leaue him:
What wiues may be merry, and yet honest too.

Mi For. Shall we be cōdemnd because we laugh?
Tis old, but true. still sowes eate all the draffe 85

Enter all.

Mis. Pa. Here comes your husband, stand aside.

For. I can find no body within, it may be he hed.

Mis. Pa. Did you heare that?

Mis. For. I, I, peace.

For. Well He not let it go so, yet He trie further. 90

S. Hu. By Ieshu if there be any body in the kitchin
Or the cuberts, or the presse, or the buttery,
I am an arrant Iew: Now God plesse me.
You serue me well, do you not?

Pa. Fie M. Foord you are too blame 95

Mis. Pa. Ifaith tis not well M. Foord to suspect
Her thus without cause

Doc. No by my trot it be no vell

For. Wel I pray bear with me, M. Page pardō me
I suffer for it, I suffer for it. (now 100

Sir Hu: You suffer for a bad conscience looke you

Ford: Well I pray no more, another time Ile tell you all

The mean time go dine with me, pardō me wife,
I am sorie. M. Page pray goe in to dinner, 105
Another time Ile tell you all

Pa: Wel let it be so, and to morrow I inuite you all
To my house to dinner. and in the morning weele
A birding, I haue an excellent Hauke for the bush.

Ford Let it be so. Come M. Page, come wife: 110
I pray you come in all, your welcome, pray come

Sir Hu: By so kad vdgme, M. Fordes is (in.
Not in his right wittes .

Exit omnes

Enter Sir Iohn Falstaffe.

[Sc. v]

Fal: Bardolfe brew me a pottle sack presently .

Bar: With Egges sir?

Fal: Simply of it selfe, Ile none of these pullets
In my drinke goe make haste. (sperme 5
Haue I hued to be carried in a basket and throwne into the Thames like a barow of Dut-chers offoll. Well, and I be serued such another tricke, Ile gūe them leaue to take out my braines and butter them, and gūe them to a dog for a newyeares gift. Sblood, the rogues shided me in with as 10 little remorse as if they had gone to drowne a blind bitches puppies in the litter: and they might know by my sise I haue a kind of alacritie in sinking: and the bottom had bin as deep as hell I should downe.

I had bene drowned, but that the shore was shelue 15
and somewhat shallowe: a death that I abhorre.
For you know the water swelless a man. and what a thing should I haue bene whū I had bene swelled?
By the Lord a mountaine of money. Now is the Sacke brewed? 20

Bar. I sir, there's a woman below would speake with you.

Fal. Bid her come vp. Let me put some Sacke among this cold water, for my belly is as cold as if I had swallowed snow-balles for pilles. 25

Enter Mistresse Quickly

Now whats the newes with you?

Quic. I come from misteris Ford forsooth.

Fal. Misteris Ford, I haue had Ford nough,
I haue bene throwne into the Ford, my belly is full

Of Ford: she hath tickled mee.

30

Quic O Lord sir, she is the sorrowfullest woman that her seruants mistooke, that euer liued And sir, she would desire you of all loues you will meet her once againe, to morrow sir, betweene ten and eleuen, and she hopes to make amends for all.

35

Fal Ten, and eleuen, saiest thou?

Quic* I forsooth

Fal Well, tell her Ile meet her. Let her but think Of mans frailtie Let her iudge what man is, And then thinke of me. And so farwell

40

Quic. Youle not faile sir?

Exit mistresse Quickly

Fal. I will not faile Commend me to her.

I wonder I heare not of M. Brooke, I like his Mony well By the masse here he is

Enter Brooke

For God saue you sir

45

Fal. Welcome good M. Brooke. You come to know how matters goes

Ford. Thats my conuining indeed sir John.

Fal. M. Brooke I will not lie to you sir,

I was there at my appointed time

50

For. And how sped you sir?

Fal Verne ifaunouredly sir.

For Why sir, did she change her determination?

Fal. No M. Brooke, but you shall heare After we had kissed and embraced, and as it were euen amid the prologue of our incounter, who should come, but the realous knaue her husband, and a rabble of his companions at his heeles, thither prouoked and instigated by his distemper. And what to do thinke you? to search for his wifes loue. Euen so, plainly so

60

For. While ye were there?

Fal. Whilst I was there.

For. And did he search and could not find you?

Fal. You shall heare sir, as God would haue it,

65

A litle before comes me one Pages wife,

*Giues her intelligence of her husbands

Approach. and by her inuention, and Fords wifes

Distraction, conueyd me into a buck-basket.

Ford. A buck basket?

70

Fal. By the Lord a buck basket, rammed me in

With foule shirts, stokins, greasie napkins,
 That M. Brooke, there was a compound of the most Villanous smel, that euer offended nostrill
 He tell you M. Brooke, by the Lord for your sake 75
 I suffered three egregious deaths First to be Crammed like a good bilbo, in the circumference
 Of a pack, Hilt to point, heele to head: and then to Be stewed in my owne grease like a Dutch dish.
 A man of my kidney; by the Lord it was maruell I 80
 Escaped suffication; and in the heat of all this,
 To be throwne into Thames like a horshoo hot.
 Maister Brooke, thinke of that hissing heate, Maister
Brooke.

Ford. Well sir then my shute is void?
 Youle vndertake it no more? 85

Fal. M. Brooke, He be throwne into Etna
 As I haue bene in the Thames,
 Ere I thus leaue her: I haue receiued
 Another appointment of meeting, 90
 Between ten and eleuen is the houre

Ford: Why sir, tis almost ten alreadie.

Fal: Is it? why then will I addresse my selfe
 For my appointment. M. Brooke, come to me soone
 At night, and you shall know how I speed, 95
 And the end shall be, you shall enioy her loue
 You shall cuckold Foord: Come to mce soone at at night.

Exit Falstaffe

For*. Is this a dreame? Is it a vision?
 Maister Ford, maister Ford, awake maister Ford, 100
 There is a hole made in your best coat M. Ford,
 And a man shall not only endure this wrong,
 But shall stand vnder the taunt of names,
Lucifer is a good name, Barbason good: good
 Diuels names But cuckold, wittold, godeso 105
 The diuel himselfe hath not such a name.
 And they may hang hats here, and napkins here
 Vpon my hornes. Well He homo, I fert him,
 And vnlesse the diuel himselfe should aide him,
 He search vnpossible places: He about it, 110
 Least I repent too late:

Exit omnes.

Enter M. Fenton, Page, and mistress [Sc. iv.]

Quickly. (resolue,

Fen: Tell me sweet Nan, how doest thou yet

Shall foolish Slender haue thee to his wife?
 Or one as wise as he, the learned Doctor?
 Shall such as they enioy thy maiden hart?
 Thou knowst that I haue alwaies loued thee deare, 5
 And thou hast oft times swore the like to me
An. Good M. Fenton, you may assure your selfe
 My hart is settled vpon none but you,
 Tis as my father and mother please.
 Get their consent, you quickly shall haue mine. 10
Fen. Thy father thinks I loue thee for his wealth,
 Tho I must needs confesse at first that drew me,
 But since thy vertues wiped that trash away,
 I loue thee Nan, and so deare is it set,
 That whilst I lue, I nere shall thee forget 15
[Quic:] *Codes pitie hero comes her father.
Enter M. Page his wife, M. Shallow, and Slender.
Pa M. Fenton I pray what make you here?
 You know my answere sir, shces not for you:
 Knowing my vow, to blame to vse me thus.
Fen. But heare me speake sir. 20
Pa Pray sir get you gon Come hither daughter, Sonne Slender let me speak with you. (they whisper.
Quic Speake to Misteris Page.
Fen. Pray misteris Page let me haue your cōsent.
Mis. Pa. Ifaith M. Fentō tis as my husband please 25
 For my part Ile neither hinder you, nor further Quic How say you this was my doings? (you.
 I bid you speake to misteris Page
Fen. Here nurse, theres a brace of angels to drink, Worke what thou canst for me, farwell. (Exit Fen. 30 Quic. By my troth so I will, good hart. (Slender
Pa. Come wife, you an I will in, weele leaue M.
 And my daughter to talke together. M. Shallow,
 You may stay sir if you please
Exit Page and his wife
Shal. Mary I thanke you for that: 35
 To her cousin, to her
Slen. Ifaith I know not what to say.
An. Now M. Slender, whats your will? (An,
Slen. Godeso, theres a Iest indeed why misteris
 I neuer made wil yet. I thak God I am wise inough 40 Shal. Fie cūsse fie, thou art not right, (for that
 O thou hadst a father.

Slend. I had a father misteris Anne, good vncle
 Tell the Iest how my father stole the goose out of The henloft. All this is nought, harke you mistresse
Anne 45

Shal.* He will make you ioynter of thiree hundred pound a yeare, he shall make you a Gentlewoman.

Slend. I be God that I vill, come cut and long taile, as good as any is in Glostershire, vnder the degree of a Squire 50

An. O God how many grosse faults are hid,
 And couered in three hundred pound a yeare?
 Well M Slender, within a day or two Ile tell you more. 55

Slend. I thanke you good misteris Anne, vncle I shall haue her.

Quic. M Shallow, M Page would pray you to come you, and you M. Slender, and you mistris An. 60

Slend. Well Nurse, if youle speake for me,
 Ile giue you more then Ile talke of.

Exit omnes but Quickly

Quic. Indeed I will, Ile speake what I can for you,
 But specially for M. Fenton:
 But specially of all for my Maister. 65
 And indeed I will do what I can for them all thre.

Exit.

Enter misteris Ford and her two men [ACT IV. SC. II.]

Mis. For. Do you heare? when your M. comes take vp this basket as you did before, and if your M.
 bid you set it downe, obey him.

Ser. I will forsooth.

Enter Syr Iohn.

Mis. For. Syr Iohn welcome. 5

Fal. What are you sure of your husband now?

Mis. For. He is gone a birding sir Iohn, and I hope will not come home yet.

Enter mistresse Page*

Gods body here is misteris Page,
 Step behind the arras good sir Iohn. 10

He steps behind the arras

Mis. Pa. Misteris Ford, why woman your husband is in his old vaine againe, hees comming to search for your sweet heart, but I am glad he is not here

Mis For O God misteris Page the knight is here,
What shall I do?

15

Mis Pa Why then you'r vndone woman, vules
you make some meanes to shift him away

Mis. For Alas I know no meanes, vlesse we put him in the basket againe.

Ful No Ile come no more in the basket,
Ile creep vp into the chimney (ling peeces.

20

Mis For There they vse to discharge their Fow-

Ful Why then Ile goe out of doores

Mi Pa Then your vndone, your but a dead man.

Ful For Gods sake deuse any extremitie,
Rather then a mischiefe

25

Mis Pa Alas I know not what meanes to make,
If there were any womans apparell would fit him,
He might put on a gowne and a mufler,
And so escape.

30

Mi For. Thats wel remembered, my maids Aunt
Gillian of Brannford, hath a gowne aboue.

Mis Pa. And she is altogether as fat as he.

Mis. For. I that will serue him of my word

Mis Pa Come goe with me sir Iohn, Ile helpe to dresse you.

35

Ful Come for God sake, any thing.

Exit Mis Page, & Sir Iohn.

Enter M. Ford, Page, Priest, Shallow, the two men curries the basket, and Ford meets it.*

For Come along I pray, you shal know the cause,
How now whither goe you? Ha whither go you?

Set downe the basket you ssaue,

40

You panderly rogue set it downe. (thus?)

Mis. For. What is the reason that you vse me

For. Come hither set downe the basket,

Misteris Ford the modest woman,

Misteris Ford the vertuous woman,

45

She that hath the realous foole to her husband,

I mistrust you without cause do I not?

Mis For. I Gods my record do you. And if you mistrust me in any ill sort.

Ford. Well sed brazen face, hold it out,
You youth in a basket, come out here,

50

Pull out the cloathes, search (cloathes?)

Hu Ieshu plesse me, will you pull vp your wines

Pu Fie M Ford you are not to go abroad if you be in these fits

55

Sir Hu. By so kad vldge me, tis verie necessaerie

He were put in pethlem

For. M. Page, as I am an honest man M Page,
There was one conueyd out of my house here yesterday out of this basket, why may he not be here now?

60

Mi. For. Come mistress Page, bring the old womā

For Old woman, what old woman? (downe

Mi For Why my maidens Ant, Gullū of Brainford

A witch, haue I not forewarned her my house,

65

Alas we are simple we, we know not what

*Is brought to passe vnder the colour of fortune-

Telling Come downe you witch, come downe

Enter Falstaffe disguised like an old woman, and mi-steris Page with him, Ford beates him, and hee runnes away.

Away you witch get you gone (indeed,

Sir Hu By Ieshu I verly thinke she is a witch

70

I espied vnder her mufler a great beard.

Ford. Pray come helpe me to search, pray now

Pu Come wee le go for his minds sake.

Exit omnes

Mi. For. By my troth he beat him most extremly

Mi. Pa. I am glad of it, what shall we proceed any further?

75

Mi. For. No faith, now if you will let vs tell our husbands of it. For mine I am sure hath almost fretted himselve to death

Mi. Pa. Content, come wee le goe tell them all,
And as they agree, so will we proceed Exit both.

80

Enter Host and Bardolfe.

[Sc. III.]

Bar. Syr heere be three Gentlemen come from the Duke the Stanger sir, would haue your horse.

Host. The Duke, what Duke? let me speake with the Gentlemen, do they speake English?

Bar. Ile call them to you sir.

Host. No Bardolfe, let them alone, Ile sauce them:
They haue had my house a weeke at command,
I haue turned away my other guesse,

Enter Ford, Page, their wues, Shallow, and Slender. Syr Hu

[Sc. iv]

Ford.* Well wife, heere take my hand, vpon my soule I loue thee dearer then I do my life, and ioi I hnue so true and constant wife, my iealousie shall neuer more offend thee.

Mi. For Sir I am glad, & that which I haue done,
Was nothing else but mirth and modestie

Pa. I misteris Ford, Falstaffe hath all the grieue,
And in this knauerie my wife was the chiefe

Mi. Pa. No knauery husband, it was honest mirth

Hu. Indeed it was good pastimes & merriments

10

Mis. For But sweete heart shall wee leaue olde
Falstaffe so?

Mis. Pa. O by no meanes, send to him againe.

Pa. I do not thinke heele come being so much deceued

15

For. Let me alone, Ile to him once again like Brooke, and know his mind whether heele come or not. (come

Pa. There must be some plot laide, or heele not

Mis. Pa. Let vs alone for that. Heare my deuice.

20

Oft haue you heard since Horne the hunter dyed,

That women to affright their litle children,

Ses that he walkes in shape of a great stagge

Now for that Falstaffe hath bene so deceued,

As that he dares not venture to the house,

25

Weele send him word to meet vs in the field,

Disguised like Horne, with huge horns on his head,

The houre shalbe iust betweene twelue and one,

And at that tyme we will meet him both

Then would I haue you present there at hand,

30

With litle boyes disguised and dressed like Fayries,

For to affright fat Falstaffe in the woods.

*And then to make a period to the Iest,

Tell Falstaffe all, I thinke this will do best.

Pa. Tis excellent, and my daughter Anne,

35

Shall like a litle Fayrie be disguised

Mis. Pa. And in that Maske Ile make the Doctor steale my daughter An, & ere my husband knowes it, to carrie her to Church, and marrie her (boyes?

Mis. For. But who will buy the silkes to tyre the 40

Pa. That will I do, and in a robe of white
He cloath my daughter, and aduertise Slender
To know her by that signe, and steale her thence,
And vnknowne to my wife, shall marrie her

Hu. So kad vldge me the deuises is excellent 45
I will also be there, and be like a Jackanapes,
And pinch him most cruelly for his lecheries

Mrs. Pa. Why then we are reuenged sufficiently
First he was carried and throwne in the Thames,
Next beaten well, I am sure youle witnes that. 50

Mr. For. He lay my life this makes him nothing fat.

Pa. Well lets about this stratagem, I long
To see deceit deceiued, and wrong haue wrong

For. Well send to Falstaffe, and if he come thither, Twill make vs smile and laugh one moneth togi- 55 ther

Exit omnes.

Sim. Sir, I am sent fro my M to sir John Falstaffe.

Host. Sir John, theres his Castle, his standing bed, his trundle bed, his chamber is painted about with 5
the story of the prodigall, fresh and new, go knock, heelee speak like an Antriphogian to thee:
*Knock I say.

Sim. Sir I should speak with an old woman that went vp into his chamber. 10

Host. An old woman, the knight may be robbed,
He call bully knight, bully sir John Speake from thy Lungs military: it is thine host, thy Ephesian calls.

Fal. Now mine Host.

Host: Here is a Bohemian tarter bully, taries the 15
comming downe of the fat woman Let her descend bully, let her descend, my chambers are honorable, pah priuasio, fie.

Fal. Marry was it Musselshell, what would you?

Sim. Marry sir my maister Slender sent me to her.
To know whether one Nim that hath his chaine, 25
Cousoned him of it, or no.

Fal. I talked with the woman about it.

Sun. And I pray sir what ses she?

Fal. Marry she ses the very same man that Beguiled maister Slender of his chame,
Cousoned him of it 30

Sun. May I be bolde to tell my maister so sir?

Fal. I tike, who more bolde

Sun. I thanke you sir, I shall make my maister a glad man at these tydings, God be with you sir 35

Host. Thou art clarkly sir Iohn, thou art clukly,
Was there a wise woman with thee?

Fal. Marry was there mine host, one that taught
*Me more wit then I learned this 7. yeare,
And I paid nothing for it, 40
But was paid for my learning

Enter Bardolfe

Host. Why man, where be my horses? where be the Germanes? 45

Bar. Rid away with your horses
After I came beyond Maidenhead,
They flung me in a slow of myre, & away they ran

Enter Doctor.

Doc. Where be my Host de gartye?

Host. O here sir in perplexitie.

Doc. I cannot tell vad be dad,
But begur I will tell you van ting,
Dear be a Garmano Duke come to de Count,
Has cosened all de host of Branford,
And Redding: begur I tell you for good will,
Ha, ha, mine Host, am I euen met you? Exit. 50 55

Enter Sir Hugh

Sir Hu. Where is mine Host of the gartye?
Now my Host, I would desire you looke you now,
To haue a care of your entertainment,
For there is three sorts of cosen gamombles,
Is cosen all the Host of Maidenhead & Readings, 60
Now you are an honest man, and a scurvy beg-gerly lowsie knaue beside
And can point wrong places,

I tell you for good will, giate why mine Host Exit

Host. I am cosened Hugh, and coy Bardolfe, 65
Sweet knight assist me, I am cosened. Exit

Fal. Would all the worell were cosened for me,

*For I am consoled and beaten too.

Well, I neuer prospered since I forswore

My selfe at Primero: and my winde

Were but long enough to say my prayers,

Ide repent, now from whence come you?

Fal This is the third time, well Ile venter,
They say there is good luck in old numbers,
Ioue transformed himselfe into a bull,
*And I am here a Stag, and I thinke the fattest
In all Windsor forrest well I stand here 5
For Horne the hunter, waiting my Does comming.

Enter mistris Page, and mistris Ford.

Mis Pa Sir Iohn, where are you?

Fal. Art thou come my due? what and thou too?
Welcome Ladies

Mi. For. I I sir Iohn, I see you will not faile,
Therefore you deserue far better then our loues,
But it grieues me for your late crosses 10

Fal This makes amends for all.
Come diuide me betweene you, each a hanch,
For my horns Ile bequeath the to your husbands,
Do I speak like Horne the hunter, ha? 15

Mis. Pu God forgue me, what noise is this?

There is a noise of hornes, the two women run away.

Enter sir Hugh like a Satyre, and boyes drest like Fayries, mistresse Quickly, like the Queene of Fayres: they sing a song about him, and afterward speake.

(groues,

Quic: You Fayries that do haunt these shady

Looke round about the wood if you can espie
 A mortall that doth haunt our sacred round 20
 If such a one you can espie, gree him his due,
 And leaue not till you pinch him blacke and blew
 Giue them their charge Puck ere they part away.

Sir Hu Come hither Peane, go to the countrie houses, 25

And when you finde a slut that lies a sleepe,
 And all her dishes foule, and roomes vnswept,
 With your long nailes pinch her till she crie,
 *And sweare to mend her sluttish huswiferye
Fri I warrant you I will performe your will. 30

Hu Where is Pead? go you & see where Brokers
 And Foxe-eyed Seriants with their mase, (sleepe,
 Goe laie the Proctors in the street,
 And pinch the lowsie Seriants face.
 Spare none of these when they are a bed,
 But such whose nose lookes plew and red. 35

Quic. Away begon, his mind fulfill,
 And looke that none of you stand still
 Some do that thing, some do this,
 All do something, none amis. 40

Hir Hu I smell a man of middle earth

Ful. God blesse me from that wealch Faire.

Quic Looke euery one about this round,
 And if that any here be found,
 For his presumption in this place, 45
 Spare neither legge, arme, head, nor face

Sir Hu. See I haue spied one by good luck,
 His bodie man, his head a buck.

Fal God send me good fortune now, and I care

Quic. Go strait, and do as I commaund, (not. 50
 And take a Taper in your hand,
 And set it to his fingers endes,
 And if you see it him offends,
 And that he starteth at the flame,
 Then is he mortall, know his name. 55

If with an F it doth begin,
 Why then be shure he is full of sin.
 About it then, and know the truth,
 Of this same metamorphised youth

Sir Hu Giue me the Tapers, I will try 60

Sir Hu It is right indeed, he is full of locheries and iniquitie.

Quic A little distant from him stand,
And euery one take hand in hand,
And compasse him within a ring,
First pinch him well, and after sing.

65

Here they pinch him, and sing about him, & the Doctor comes one way & steales away a boy in red And Slender another way he takes a boy in greene And Fenton steales masters Anne, being in white And a noyse of hunting is made within and all the Fairies runne away. Falstaffe pulles of his buck's head, and rises vp And enters M. Page, M. Ford, and their vices, M. Shallow, Sir Hugh Ful Hoone the hunter quoth you am I a ghost?

Sblood the Faries hath made a ghost of me
What hunting at this time at night?
He lay my life the mad Prince of Wales
Is stealing his fathers Deere How now who haue we here, what is all Windsor stirring? Are you there?
Shal. God saue you sir John Falstaffe.

70

Sir Hu God plesse you sir John, God plesse you.

Pa Why how now sir John, what a pair of horns in your hand?

75

Fo Those hornes he ment to place vpon my
And M Brooke and he should be the men (head,
Why how now sir John, why are you thus amazed?
We know the Faries man that pinched you so,
Your throwing in the Thames, your beating well,
*And whats to come sir John, that can we tell 80

Mr Pa Sir John tis thus, your dishonest meanes
To call our credits into question,
Did make vs undertake to our best,
To tune your leaud lust to a merry Iest.

85

Ful Iest, tis well, haue I liued to these yeares
To be gulled now, now to be ridden?
Why then these were not Fairies?

Mr Pa No sir John but boyes.

90

Fal By the Lord I was twice or thrise in the
They were not, and yet the grosnesse (mind

Of the fopperie perswaded me they were
 Well, and the fine wits of the Court hence thus,
 Thayne so whip me with their keene Iests, 95

Sir Hu I trust me boyes Sir John and I was
 Also a Faurie that did helpe to pinch you

Fal I, tis well I am your May-pole,
 You haue the staut of mee,
 Am I hidden too with a wealch goute'
 With a peece of toasted cheese?

Sir Hu Butter is better then cheese Sir John,
 You are all butter, butter 105

For There is a further matter yet Sir John,
 There's 20 pound you borrowed of M Brooke Sir
 And it must be paid to M Ford Sir John (John,

Mi For Nay husband let that go to make amends,
 Forgiue that sum, and so weele all be friends 110

For Well here is my hand, all's forgiven at last.

Fal It hath cost me well,
 I haue beene well pinched and washed

Enter the Doctor*

Enter Nim and Bardolfe.

[ACT II SCENE I.]

Bar. Godmorrow Corporall Nim.

Nim. Godmorrow Lieutenant Bardolfe.

Bar. What is antient Pistoll and thee friends yet?

Nim. I cannot tell, things must be as they may

I dare not fight, but I will winke and hold out mine Iron. 5

It is a simple one, but what tho; it will serue to toste cheese,

And it will endure cold as an other mans sword will,

And theres the humor of it

Bar. Yfaith mistresse quickly did thee great wrong,
For thou weart troth plight to her. 10

Nim.* I must do as I may, tho patience be a tyred mare,
Yet sheel plod, and some say kniues haue edges,

And men may sleepe and haue their throates about them

At that tyme, and there is the humour of it

Bar. Come yfaith, Ile bestow a breakfast to make Pistoll 15
And thee friendes. What a plague should we carrie kniues
To cut our owne throates

Nim. Yfaith Ile lue as long as I may, thats the certaine of it
And when I cannot lue any longer, Ile do as I may,
And theres my rest, and the randeuous of it. 20

Enter Pistoll and Hostes Quickly, his wife

Bar. Godmorrow ancient Pistoll.

Here comes ancient Pistoll, I prithee Nim be quiet

Nim. How do you my Hoste?

Pist. Base slaue, callest thou me hoste?

Now by gads lugges I sweare, I scorne the title, 25
Nor shall my Nell keepe lodging.

Host. No by my troath not I,
For we canot bed nor boord half a score honest gētlewomē
That lue honestly by the prick of their needle,
But it is thought straight we keepe a bawdy-house 30
O Lord heeres Corporall Nims, now shall
We haue wilful adultry and murther committed
Good Corporall Nim shew the valour of a man,
And put vp your sword.

Nim. Push. 35

Pist. What dost thou push, thou prickeard our of Iseland?

Nim. Will you shog off? I would haue you solus.

 Ile pricke your guts a litle in good termes,
 And theres the humour of it

Pist. O braggard vile, and damned furous wight,
 The Graue doth gape, and groaning 50
 Death is neare, therefore exall.

They drawe.

Bar. Heare me, he that strikes the first blow,
 Ile kill him, as I am a souldier

Pist. An oath of mickle might, and fury shall abate.

Nim. Ile cut your throat at one time or an other in faire 55
 And theres the humor of it (termes,

Post. Couple gorge is the word, I thee defie agen.
 A damned hound, thinkst thou my spouse to get?
 No, to the powdering tub of infamy,
 Fetch forth the lazar kite of Cresides kinde, 60
 Doll Tear-sheets, she by name, and her espowse
 I haue, and I will hold, the quandom quickly,
 For the onely she and Paco, there it is inough.

Enter the Boy.

Boy. Hostes you must come straight to my maister,
 And you Host Pistoll. Good Bardolfe 65

Nim. I shall haue my noble?

Pist. In cash most truly paid.

Nim. Why theres the humour of it

Enter Hostes

Hostes. As euer you came of men come in,
Sir Iohn poore soule is so troubled 90
With a burning tashan contigian feuer, tis wonderfull.

Pist. Let vs condoll the knight: for lamkins we will liue.

Ereunt omnes.

Enter Exeter and Gloster.

[Sc. II.]

Glost. Before God my Lord, his Grace is too bold to trust these traytors.

Exe. They shalbe apprehended by and by

Glost. I but the man that was his bedfellow
Whom he hath cloyed and graced with princely fauours
That he should for a forraine purse, to sell 5
His Soueraignes life to death and trechery.

Exe. O the Lord of Massham.

Enter the King and three Lords.

King. Now sirs the windes faire, and we wil aboard;
My Lord of Cambridge, and my Lord of Massham,
And you my gentle Knight, giue me your thoughts, 10
Do you not thinke the power we beare with vs,
Will make vs conquerors in the field of France?

Masha. No doubt my Liege, if each man do his best.

Cum.* Neuer was Monarch better feared and loued then is your maiestie.

 And labour shall refresh it selfe with hope
 To do your Grace incessant seruice.

King. Vncle of Exeter, enlarge the man
 Committted yesterday, that rayled against our person, 25
 We consider it was the heate of wine that set him on,
 And on his more aduice we pardon him

Masha That is mercie, but too much securitie

King. O let vs yet be mercifull.

Cam. So may your highnesse, and punish too

Gray You shew great mercie if you giue him life,
 After the taste of his correction.

King. Alas your too much care and loue of me 35
 Are heauy orisons gainst the poore wretch,
 If litle faults proceeding on distemper should not bee (winked at,

How should we stretch our eye, when capitall crimes,
 Chewed, swallowed and digested, appeare before vs
 Well yet enlarge the man, tho Cambridge and the rest 40
 In their deare loues, and tender preservation of our state,
 Would haue him punisht.
 Now to our French causes.

Who are the late Commissioners?

Cam. Me one my Lord, your highnesse bad me aske for

You must not dare for shame to aske for mercy,
For your owne conscience turne vpon your bosomes,
As dogs vpon their maisters worrying them.
See you my Princes, and my noble Peeres,
These English monsters · 65

My Lord of Cambridge here,
You know how apt we were to grace him,
In all things belonging to his honour.

And this vilde man hath for a fewe light crownes,
Lightly conspired and sworne vnto the practises of France: 70

To kill vs here in Hampton. To the which,
This knight no lesse in bountie bound to vs

Host. I, he is in Arthors bosom, if euer any were.

He went away as if it were a crysombd childe, 5
 Betweene twelue and one,
 Iust at turning of the tide:

His nose was as sharpe as a pen:
 For when I saw him fumble with the sheetes,
 And talk of floures, and smile vpo his fingers ends 10
 I knew there was no way but one
 How now sir John quoth I?

And he cryed three times, God, God, God,
 Now I to comfort him, bad him not think of God,
 I hope there was no such need. 15

Then he bad me put more cloathes at his foete.
 And I felt to them, and they were as cold as any stone:
 And to his knees, and they were as cold as any stone.

 Of lawe of nature, and of nations, longs 35

To him and to his heires, namely the crowne
 And all wide stretched titles that belongs
 Vnto the Crowne of France, that you may know
 Tis no sinister, nor no awkward claime,
 Picket from the wormeholes of old vanisht dayes, 40

Nor from the dust of old obliuion rackte,
 He sends you these most memorable lynes,
 In euery branch truly demonstrated:
 Willing you ouerlooke this pedigree,
 And when you finde him euenly deriued 45

From his most famed and famous ancestors,
Edward the third, he bids you then resigne
 Your crowne and kingdome, indirectly held
 From him, the natue and true challenger.

King.* If not, what followes? 50

Erc. Bloody cōstraint, for if you hide the crown
 Euen in your hearts, there will he rake for it
 Therefore in fierce tempest is he comming,
 In thunder, and in earthquake, like a Ioue,

Thus saith my king. Vnles your fathers highnesse
Sweeten the bitter mocke you sent his Maiestie, 70
Heele call you to so loud an answer for it,
That caues and wombely vaultes of France
Shall chide your trespassse, and return your mock,
In second accent of his ordenance.

Dol. Say that my father render faire reply, 75
It is against my will.
For I desire nothing so much,
As oddes with England.

And for that cause according to his youth
I did present him with those Paris balles. 80

Eve Heele make your Paris Louer shake for it,

Enter Ancient Pistoll.

Flew Do you not know him, here comes the man

Pist. Captaine, I thee beseech to do me fauour,
The Duke of Exeter doth loue thee well 20

Flew. I, and I praise God I haue merrited some loue at (his hands.

Pist. Bardolfe a souldier, one of buxsome valour,
Hath by furious fate
And giddy Fortunes fickle wheele,
That Godes blinde that stands vpon the rowling restlesse 25 (stone.

Flew. By your patience ancient Pistoll,
Fortune, looke you is painted,
Blind with a muller before her eyes,
To signifie to you, that Fortune is blind.
And she is moreouer painted with a wheele, 30
Which is the morall that Fortune is turning,
And inconstant, and variation; and mutabilities.
And her fate is fixed at a sphericall stone
Which rouses, and rouses, and rouses:
Surely the Poet is make an excellēt descriptiō of Fortune 35
Fortune looke you is an excellent morall

Pist. Fortune is Bardolfes foe, and frownes on him,
For he hath stolne a packs, and hanged must he be:
A damned death, let gallowes gape for dogs,
Let man go free, and let not death his windpipe stop 40
*But Exeter hath guen the doome of death,
For packs of pettie price
Therefore go speake, the Duke will heare thy voyce,
And let not Bardolfes vitall threed be cut,
With edge of penny cord, and vile approach. 45
Speake Captaine for his life, and I will thee requite.

Flew. Captain Pistoll, I partly vnderstand your meaning.

Pist. Why then reioyce therefore.

Flew Certainly Antient Pistol, tis not a thing to reioyce at,
For if he were my owne brother, I would wish the Duke 50
To do his pleasure, and put him to executions: for look you,
Disciplines ought to be kept, they ought to be kept

Pist. Die and be damned, and figa for thy friendship

Flew That is good.

Pist. The figge of Spaine within thy lawe. 55

Fle. Captain Gour, cannot you hear it lighten & thunder?

Gour Why is this the Ancient you told me of?

I remember him now, he is a bawd, a cutpurse 60

Flew By Iesus heeis vtter as prauē words vpon the bridge
As you shall desire to see in a sommers day, but its all one,
What he hath sed to me, looke you, is all one.

Go. Why this is a gull, a foole, a rogue that goes to the wars
Onely to grace himselfe at his returne to London. 65

And such fellows as he,

Are perfect in great Commaunders names.

They will learne by rote where seruices were done,

At such and such a sconce, at such a breach,

At such a conuoy. who came off brauely, who was shot, 70

Who disgraced, what termes the enemie stood on

And this they con perfectly in phrase of warre,

Which they trick vp with new tuned oathes, & what a berd

Of the Generalls cut, and a horid shout of the campe

*Will do among the foming bottles and alewasht wits 75

Is wonderfull to be thought on but you must learne

To know such slaunders of this age,

Or else you may maruellously be mistooke.

Flew. Certain captain Gower, it is not the man, looke you,
That I did take him to be. but when time shall serue, 80

I shall tell him a litle of my desires. here comes his Maiestie

Enter King, Clarence, Gloster and others

King. How now Flewellen, come you from the bridge?

Flew. I and it shall please your Maiestie,

There is excellent seruice at the bridge.

King. What men haue you lost Flewellen? 85

Flew. And it shall please your Maiestie,

The partition of the aduersarie hath bene great,

Very reasonably great: but for our own parts, like you now,

I thinke we haue lost neuer a man, vnlesse it be one

For robbing of a church, one Bardolfe, if your Maiestie 90

Know the man, his face is full of whelkes and knubs,

And pumple, and his breath blowes at his nose

Like a cole, sometimes red, sometimes plew

But god be praised, now his nose is executed, & his fire out.

Hera You know me by my habit.

Ka. Well thū, we know thee, what shuld we know of thee?

Hera. My maisters minde.

King Vnfold it. 105

Heral. Go thee vnto Harry of England, and tell him,
Aduantage is a better souldier then rashnesse .
*Altho we did seeme dead, we did but slumber.
Now we speake vpon our kue, and our voyce is imperiall,
England shall repent her folly . see her rashnesse, 110
And admire our sufferance. Which to raunsome,
His pettinesse would bow vnder
For the effusion of our blood, his army is too weake :
For the disgrace we haue borne, himselfe
Kneeling at our feete, a weake and worthlesse satisfaction. 115
To this, adde defyaunce. So much from the king my maister.

King What is thy name? we know thy qualitie.

Herald. Montioy.

King Thou dost thy office faire, returne thee backe,
And tell thy King, I do not seeke him now . 120

To march on to Callis for to say the sooth,
Though tis no wisdom to confesse so much
Vnto an enemie of craft and vantage.
My souldiers are with sicknesse much infeeblede, 125
My Army lessoned, and those few I haue,
Almost no better then so many French :
Who when they were in heart, I tell thee Herald,
I thought vpon one paire of English legges,
Did march three French mens 130
Yet forgiue me God, that I do brag thus .
This your heire of France hath blowne this vice in me.

 The noble Earle of Suffolke also lyes. 10
Suffolke first dyde, and Forle all hasted ore,
 Comes to him where in blood he lay steept,
 And takes him by the beard, kisses the gashes
 That bloodily did yane vpon his face,
 And cryde aloud, tary deare cousin Suffolke: 15
 My soule shall thine keep company in heauen
 Tary deare soule awhile, then flie to rest
 And in this glorious and well foughten field,
 We kept together in our chualdry
 Vpon these words I came and choerd them vp, 20

Enter Flewellen, and Captaine Gower.* [SC. VII.]

Flew. Godes plud kil the boyes and the luggye,
 Tis the arrants pece of knauery as can be desired,
 In the worrell now, in your conscience now.

Gour. Tis certaine, there is not a Boy left alue,
 And the cowerdly rascals that ran from the battell, 5
 Themselues haue done this slaughter
 Beside, they haue carried away and burnt,
 All that was in the kings Tent
 Whervpon the king caused euery prisoners
 Throat to be cut. O he is a worthy king. 10

Flew. I he was born at Monmorth.
 Captain Gower, what call you the place where Alexander the big was borne?

Gour. Alexander the great.

Flew. Why I pray, is nat big great? 15
 As if I say, big or great, or magnanimous,
 I hope it is all one reconing,
 Saue the frase is a little varation.

Gour. I thinke Alexander the great
 Was borne at Macedon. 20
 His father was called Philip of Macedon,
 As I take it.

Flew. I thinke it was Macedon indeed where Alexander
 Was borne: looke you captaine Gower,

But tis out of my braine, what is the name of the other
But tis all one, tis so like, as my fingers is to my fingers,
And there is Samons in both

Looke you captaine Gower, and you marke it,
*You shall finde our King is come after Alexander
God knowes, and you know, that Alexander in his
Bowles, and his alles, and his wrath, and his displeasures,
And indignations, was kill his friend Clitus

35

For he neuer killd any of his friends

40

Flew. Looke you, tis not well done to take the tale out
Of a mans mouth, ere it is made an end and finished:
I speake in the comparisouns, as Alexander is kill
His friend Clitus: so our King being in his ripe
Wits and iudgements, is turne away, the fat knite
With the great belly doublet. I am forget his name

Come Kate, I know you loue me

75

And soone when you are in your closset,

Youle question this Lady of me.

But I pray thee sweete Kate, vse me mercifully,

Because I loue thee cruelly

That I shall dye Kate, is sure

Then all the French Councill.

Your father is returned.

Enter the King of France, and the Lordes.

How now my Lords?

115

France Brother of England,
We haue ored the Articles,
And haue agreed to all that we in sedule had.

[ACT I. SCENE I.]

S by your high imperall Maiesties command,
I had in charge at my depart for France,
As Procurator for your excellence,
To marry Princes Margaret for your grace,
So in the auncient famous Citie Towres, 5
In presence of the Kings of France & Cyssile,
The Dukes of Orleance, Calabar, Brittain, and Alonson.
Seuen Earles, twelue Barons, and then the reuerend Bishops,
I did performe my taske and was espoused,
And now, most humbly on my bended knees, 10
In sight of England and her royall Peeres,
Deliuier vp my title in the Queene,
Vnto your gracious excellence, that are the substance
Of that great shadow I did represent.
The happiest gift that euer Marquesse gaue, 15
*The fairest Queene that euer King possesseth.

King. Suffolke arise.

Welcome Queene Margaret to English Henries Court,

Is this kinde kisse Oh gracious God of heauen, 20
Lend me a heart repleat with thankfulnessse,
For in this beautilous face thou hast bestowde
A world of pleasures to my perplexed soule

Queene Th' excessive loue I beare vnto your grace,
Forbids me to be lauish of my tongue, 25
Least I should speake more then becommes a woman
Let this suffice, my blisse is in your liking,
And nothing can make poore Margaret miserable,
Vnlesse the frowne of mightie Englands King

King. Her lookes did wound, but now her speech doth pierce, 30
Lonely Queene Margaret sit down by my side
And vnckle Gloster, and you Lordly Peeres,
With one voice welcome my beloued Queene

All. Long liue Queene Margaret, Englands happinesse

Queene We thanke you all. 35

King They please vs well, Lord Marquesse kneele downe, We here create thee first Duke of Suffolke, & girt thee with the sword Cosin of Yorke, We here discharge your grace from being Regent in the parts of France, till terme of 18. months 60 be full expirde.

Thankes vncke VVinchester, Gloster, Yorke, and Buckingham, So- merset, Salisbury and Warrwicke.

We thanke you all for this great fauour done,
 In entertainment to my Princely Queene,
 Come let vs in, and with all speed prouide 65
 To see her Coronation be performde.

Exet King, Queene, and Suffolke, and Duke
Humphrey staies all the rest.

Humphrey. Braue Peeres of England, Pillars of the state,
 To you Duke Humphrey must vnfold his grieue,
 What did my brother Henry toyle himselfe, 70
 And waste his subjects for to conquire France?

And did my brother Bedford spend his time
 To keepe in awe that stout vnruely Realme?
 And haue not I and mine vncke Bewford here,
 Done all we could to keepe that land in peace? 75

And is all our labours then spent in vaine,
 For Suffolke he, the now made Duke that rules the roast,
 Hath giuen away for our King Henries Queene,
 The Duches of Anioy and Mayne vnto her father.
 Ah Lords, fatall is this marriage canselling our states,
 Reuersing Monuments of conquered France, 80
 Vndoning all, as none had nere bene done.

Card. Why how now cosin Gloster, what needs this?
 *As if our King were bound vnto your will,
 And might not do his will without your leaue,
 Proud Protector, enuy in thine eyes I see, 85
 The big swolne venome of thy hatefull heart,
 That dares presume gaunst that thy Soueraigne likes.

 Farewell my Lords, and say when I am gone,
 I prophesied France would be lost ere long.

Exet Duke Humphrey

Card There goes our Protector in a rage,
 My Lords you know he is my great enemy,
 And though he be Protector of the land, 95
 And thereby couers his deceitfull thoughts,
 For well you see, if he but walke the streets,
 The common people swarme about him straight,
 Crying Iesus blesse your royall excellence,
 With God proserue the good Duke Humphrey. 100
 And many things besides that are not knowne,
 Which time will bring to light in smooth Duke Humphrey
 But I will after him, and if I can
 Ile laie a plot to heaue him from his seate.

Exet Cardinall

Duck But let vs watch this haughtie Cardinall, 105
 Cosen of Somerset be rulde by me,
 Weele watch Duke Humphrey and the Cardinall too,
 And put them from the marke they faue would hit.

Somerset. Thauks cosin Buckingham, ioyn thou with me,
 And both of vs with the Duke of Suffolke, 110
 Weele quickly heaue Duke Humphrey from his seate

Buck. Content, Come then let vs about it straight,
 For either thou or I will be Protector.

Exet Buckingham and Somerset

Salob. Pride went before, Ambition follows after.
 Whilst these do seeke their owne preferments thus, 115
 *My Lords let vs seeke for our Countries good,
 Oft haue I seene this haughtie Cardinall
 Sweare, and forswear himselfe, and braue it out,
 More like a Ruffin then a man of Church.
 Cosin Yorke, the victories thou hast wonne, 120
 In Ireland, Normandie, and in France,
 Hath wonne thee immortall praise in England.
 And thou braue Warwicke, my thrice valiant sonne,
 Thy simple plainnesse and thy house-keeping,
 Hath wonne thee credit amongst the common sort, 125
 The reuerence of mine age, and Neuels name,
 Is of no litle force if I command,

Then let vs ioyne all three in one for this,
That good Duke Humphrey may his state possesse,
But wherefore weepes Warwicke my noble sonne. 130

VVarw. For grieve that all is lost that VVarwick won.
Sonnes Anioy and Maine, both giuen away at once,
Why VVarwick did win them, & must that then which we wonne with our swords, be giuen away with wordes
Yorke As I haue read, our Kinges of England were wont to 135 haue large dowries with their wiues, but our King Henry
giues away his owne

Sals. Come sonnes away and looke vnto the maine.

VVar Vnto the Maine, Oh father Maine is lost,
Which VVarwicke by maine force did win from France, 140
Maine chance father you meant, but I meant Maine,
Which I will win from France, or else be slaine.

Exet Salisbury and Warwicke.

Yorke Anioy and Maine, both giuen vnto the French,
Cold newes for me, for I had hope of France,
Euen as I haue of fertill England. 145
A day will come when Yorke shall claime his owne,
And therefore I will take the Neuels parts,
And make a show of loue to proud Duke Humphrey :
And vwhen I spie aduantage, claime the Crowne,
For thats the golden marke I seeke to hit . 150
*Nor shall proud Lancaster vsurpe my right,
Nor hold the scepter in his childish fist,
Nor vveare the Diademe vpon his head,
Whose church-like humours fits not for a Crowne .
Then Yorke be still a vvhile till time do serue, 155
Watch thou, and vvake vvhen others be a sleepe,
To pnie into the secrets of the state,
Till Henry surfeiting in ioyes of loue,
With his nevv bride, and Englands dear bought queene,
And Humphrey vvith the Poeres be falne at iarres, 160
Then vvill I raise aloft the milke-vvwhite Rose,
With vvwhose svvete smell the aire shall be perfumde,
And in my Standard beare the Armes of Yorke,
To graffie vvith the House of Lancaster
And force perforce, ile make him yeeld the Crowne, 165

Elnor. Why droopes my Lord like ouer ripened corne,
 Hanging the head at Cearies plentious loade,
 What seest thou Duke Humphrey King Henries Crowne?
 Reach at it, and if thine arme be too short,
 Mine shall lengthen it Art not thou a Prince, 5
 Vnckle to the King, and his Protector?

Then vvhat shouldst thou lacke that might content thy minde.
Humph. My louely Nell, far be it from my heart,
 To thinke of Treasons gamst my soueraigne Lord,
 But I vvvas troubled vvith a dreame to night, 10
 And God I pray, it do betide no ill.

Elnor. What drempt my Lord Good Humphrey tell it me,
 And ile interpret it, and vvhen thats done,
 Ile tell thee then, vvhat I did dreame to night

Humphrey. This night vvhen I vvvas laid in bed, I drempt that 15

 Was broke in two, and on the ends were plac'd,
 The heads of the Cardinall of Winchester,
 And William de la Poule first Duke of Suffolke

Elnor. Tush my Lord, this signifies nought but this, 20
 That he that breakes a sticke of Glosters groue,
 Shall for th' offence, make forfeit of his head.
 But now my Lord, Ile tell you what I drempt,
 Me thought I was in the Cathedrall Church
 At Westminster, and seated in the chaire 25
 Where Kings and Queenes are crownde, and at my feete
Henry and Margaret with a Crowne of gold
 Stood readie to set it on my Princely head

VVar. And Warwicke may lue to be the best of all

Queene My Lord in mine opunion, it vvere best that Somerset vvere Regent ouer France.

Humphrey Madame our King is old mough himselfe,

To giue his ansvere vvithout your consent. 85

Queene If he be old mough, vvhat needs your grace

To be Protector ouer him so long

Humphrey* Madame I am but Protector ouer the land,

And when it please his grace, I will resigne my charge.

Suffolke. Resigne it then, for since that thou wast King, 90

As who is King but thee The common state

Doth as we see, all wholly go to wracke,

And Millions of treasure hath bene spent,

And as for the Regentship of France,

I say Somerset is more worthie then Yorke. 95

Yorke. Ile tell thee Suffolke why I am not worthie,

Because I cannot flatter as thou canst.

War And yet the wortlue deeds that Yorke hath done,

Should make him wortlue to be honoured here

Suffolke. Peace headstrong VVarwicke 100

VVar. Image of pride, wherefore should I peace?

Suffolke. Because here is a man accusde of Treason,

Pray God the Duke of Yorke do cleare himselfe.

Ho, bring hither the Armourer and his man

Enter the Armourer and his man

If it please your grace, this fellow here, hath accused his maister of 105 high Treason, And his words were these.

That the Duke of Yorke was lawfull heire vnto the Crowne, and that your grace was an vsurper.

Yorke I beseech your grace let him haue what punishment the

the law will afford, for his villany 110

*of Clarence, the third sonne to Edward the third. Now sir In the time of Richards raigne, Henry of Bullingbrooke, sonne and heire to Iohn of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancanster fourth sonne to Edward the thurd, he claimde the Crowne, deposde the Morthfull King, and as both you know, in Pomphret Castle harmelesse Richard was shamefully murdered, and so by Richards death came the house of Lancaster vnto the Crowne

30

Sals. Saung your tale my Lord, as I haue heard, in the raigne of Bullenbrooke, the Duke of Yorke did claime the Crowne, and but for Owyn Glendor, had bene King

35

Yorke. True But so it fortunied then, by meanes of that monstrous rebel Glendor, the noble Duke of York was done to death, and so euer since the heires of Iohn of Gaunt haue possessed the Crowne. But if the issue of the elder should succeed before the issue of the younger, then am I lawfull heiro vnto the kingdome

40

Warwicke. What plaine proceedings can be more plaine, hee claimes it from Lyonel Duke of Clarence, the third sonne to Edward the third, and Henry from Iohn of Gaunt the fourth sonne. So that till Lyonels issue failes, his should not raigne It failes not yet, but flourisheth in thee & in thy sons, braue slips of such a stock. Then noble father, kneele we both together, and in this private place, be we the first to honor him with birthright to the Crown.

VVar. Then Yorke aduise thy selfe and take thy time,
 Claime thou the Crowne, and set thy standard vp,
 And in the same aduance the milke-white Rose, 55
 And then to gard it, will I rouse the Beare,
 Inurion'd with ten thousand Ragged-staues
 To aide and helpe thee for to win thy right,
 Maugre the proudest Lord of Henries blood,
 That dares deny the right and claime of Yorke, 60
 For why my minde presageth I shall lue
 To see the noble Duke of Yorke to be a King
Forke Thanks noble Warwicke, and Yorke doth hope to see,
 The Earle of Warwicke lue, to be the greatest man in England,
 *but the King. Come lets goe. 65

Eret omnes.

Enter King Henry, and the Queene, Duke Humphrey, the Duke of [So III.]
Suffolke, and the Duke of Buckingham, the Cardinall, and Dame
Elnor Cobham, led with the Officers, and then enter to them the Duke of Yorke, and the Earles of Salisbury and Warwicke.

King. Stand fourth Dame Elnor Cobham Duches of Gloster, and here the sentence pronounced against thee for these Treasons, that thou hast committed gainst vs, our States and Peeres

First for thy hainous crimes, thou shalt two daies in London do penance barefoote in the streetes, with a white sheete about thy 5 bodie, and a waxe Taper burning in thy hand That done, thou shalt be banished for euer into the Ile of Man, there to ende thy wretched daies, and this is our sentence erreuocable. Away with her.

Elnor Euen to my death, for I haue lued too long. 10

Exet some with Elnor

King. Greeue not noble vnckle, but be thou glad,
 In that these Treasons thus are come to light,
 Least God had pourde his vengeance on thy head,
 For her offences that thou heldst so deare.

King With all my hart good vnkle, when you please, 20

Yet ere thou goest, Humphrey resigune thy stiffe,

For Henry will be no more protected,

The Lord shall be my guide both for my land and me

Humph My staffe, I noble Henry, my life and all, 25

My staffe, I yeeld as willing to be thine,

As erst thy noble father made it mine,

And euen as willing at thy foete I leaue it,

As others would ambitiously receiue it,

And long hereafter when I am dead and gone,

* May honourable peace attend thy throne. 30

King Vnkle Gloster, stand vp and go in peace,

No lesse beloued of vs, then when

Thou weart Protector ouer my land Erit Gloster

Queen Take vp the staffe, for here it ought to stand, 35

Where should it be, but in King Henries hand?

Yorke Please it your Maestie, thus is the day

That was appointed for the combating

Betweene the Armourer and his man, my Lord,

And they are readie when your grace doth please

King Then call them forth, that they may trie their rightes 40

Enter at one doore the Armourer and his neighbour, drinking to him so much that he is drunken, and he enters with a drum before him, and his staffe with a sand-bag fastened to it, and at the other doore, his man with a drum and sand-bagge, and Prentises drinking to him.

Humph Then is that wofull houre hard at hand,
 That my poore Lady should come by this way,
 In shamefull penance wandring in the streetes, 5
 Sweete Nell, ill can thy noble minde abrooke,
 The abiect people gazing on thy face,
 With enuious lookes laughing at thy shame,
 That earst did follow thy proud Chariot wheelles,
 When thou didst ride in tryumph through the streetes 10

Enter Dame Elnor Cobham bare-foote, and a white sheete about her, with a waxe candle in her hand, and verses written on her backe and pind on, and accompanied with the Sherffes of London, and Sir John Standly, and Officers, with billes and holbards.

Seruing. My gracious Lord, see where my Lady comes,
 Please it your grace, wee le take her from the Sherffes?

Humph* I charge you for your lues stir not a foote,
 Nor offer once to draw a weapon here,
 But let them do their office as they should. 15

Elnor. Come you my Lord to see my open shaine?
 Ah Gloster, now thou doest penance too,
 See how the gddie people looke at thee,
 Shaking their heads, and pointing at thee heere,
 Go get thee gone, and hide thee from their sights, 20
 And in thy pent vp studie rue my shame,
 And ban thine enemies Ah mine and thine

Hum Ah Nell, sweet Nell, forget this extreme grief,
 And beare it patiently to ease thy heart.

Elnor. Ah Gloster teach me to forget my selfe, 25
 For whilst I thinke I am thy wedded wife,
 Then thought of this, doth kill my wofull heart
 The ruthlesse flints do cut my tender feete,
 And when I start the cruell people laugh,
 And bids me be aduised how I tread, 30
 And thus with burning Tapor in my hand,
 Malde vp in shaine with papers on my backe,
 Ah, Gloster, can I endure this and lue.

I should incurre the danger of the law,
And thy disgrace would not be shadowed so

Elnor. Be thou milde, and stir not at my disgrace,
Vntill the axe of death hang ouer thy head, 45
As shortly sure it will. For Suffolke he,
The new made Duke, that may do all in all
With her that loues him so, and hates vs all,
And impious Yorke and Bewford that false Priest,
Haue all lymde bushes to betraie thy wings, 50

That none so humble as Duke Humphrey was: 5
But now let one meete him euen in the morne,
When euery one will giue the time of day,
And he will neither moue nor speake to vs
See you not how the Commones follow him
In troupes, crying, God saue the good Duke Humphrey, 10
And with long life, Iesus preserue his grace,
Honouring him as if he were their King.
Gloster is no litle man in England,
And if he list to stir commotions,
Tys likely that the people will follow him. 15

Enter the Duke of Somerset.

King Welcome Lord Somerset, what newes from France?

Somer. Cold newes my Lord, and this it is,
That all your holds and Townes within those Territores 30
Is ouercome my Lord, all is lost

King.* Cold newes indeed Lord Somerset,
But Gods will be done.

Yorke. Cold newes for me, for I had hope of France,

Enter Duke Humphrey.

Hum. Pardon my liege, that I haue staid so long

Suffol. Nay, Gloster know, that thou art come too soone, Vnlesse thou proue more loyall then thou art,
We do arrest thee on high treason here

Humph. Why Suffolkes Duke thou shalt not see me blush 40
Nor change my countenance for thine arrest,
Whereof am I guiltie, who are my accusers?

Yorke Tis thought my lord, your grace tooke bribes from France,
And stopt the soldiers of their paie,
By which his Maiestie hath lost all France. 45

Humph. Is it but thought so, and who are they that thinke so?
So God helpe me, as I haue watcht the night
Euer intending good for England still,
That penie that euer I tooke from France,
Be brought against me at the iudgement day. 50

Pitie was all the fault that was in me,
A murtherer or foule felonous theefe,
That robs and murthers silly passengers,
I tortord aboute the rate of common law.

60

Suffolk Tush my Lord, these be things of no account,
But greater matters are laid vnto your charge,
I do arrest thee on high treason here,
And commit thee to my good Lord Carduall,
Vntill such time as thou canst cleare thy selfe

65

King. Good vnkle obey to his arrest,
*I haue no doubt but thou shalt cleare thy selfe,

70

Hump. Ah gracious Henry these daies are dangerous,
And would my death might end these miseries,
And staie their moodes for good King Henries sake,
But I am made the Prologue to their plaie,
And thousands more must follow after me,
That dreads not yet their lues destruction.

Let vs consult of proud Duke Humphries fall.
In mine opinion it were good he dide,
For safetie of our King and Common-wealth. 115

Suffolke. And so thinke I Madame, for as you know,
If our King Henry had shooke hands with death,
Duke Humphrey then would looke to be our King:
And it may be by pollicie he workes,
To bring to passe the thing which now we doubt, 120
The Foxe barks not when he would steale the Lambe,
But if we take him ere he do the deed,
We should not question if that he should lue.
No. Let him die, in that he is a Foxe,

Yorke I, for Yorke would haue lost his life before
That France should haue reuolted from Englands rule 145

Somer. I so thou might'st, and yet haue gouerned worse then I.

Yorke. What worse then nought, then a shame take all

Somer. Shame on thy selfe, that wisheth shame

Queene. Somerset forbear, good Yorke be patient,
And do thou take in hand to crosse the seas, 150
With troupes of Armed men to quell the pride
Of those ambitious Irish that rebell.

Yorke. Well Madame sith your grace is so content,
Let me haue some bands of chosen soldiers,
And Yorke shall trie his fortune against those kernes. 155

Queene. Yorke thou shalt. My Lord of Buckingham,
Let it be your charge to muster vp such souldiers
As shall suffice him in those needfull warres

Buck. Madame I will, and leaue such a band

Suffolke Then draw the Curtaines againe and get you gone,
And you shall haue your firne reward anon

Exet murtherers

Then enter the King and Queene, the Duke of Buckingham, and the Duke of Somerset, and the Cardinall.

King. My Lord of Suffolke go call our vnkle Gloster,
Tell him this day we will that he do cleare himselfe 10

Suffolke I will my Lord. Exet Suffolke

(Gloster,

King And good my Lords proceed no further against our vnkle
*Then by iust prooffe you can affirme,
For as the sucking childe or harmlesse lambe,
So is he innocent of treason to our state. 15

Enter Suffolke.

How now Suffolke, where's our vnkle?

Suffolke. Dead in his bed, my Lord Gloster is dead.

The King falles in a sound.

Queen Ay-me, the King is dead. help, help, my Lords.

Suffolke. Comfort my Lord, gracious Henry comfort

Kin. What doth my Lord of Suffolk bid me comfort? 20

Came he euen now to sing a Rauens note,
And thinkes he that the cherping of a Wren,
By crying comfort through a hollow voice,
Can satisfie my griefes, or ease my heart.
Thou balefull messenger out of my sight, 25
For euen in thine eye-balls murther sits,
Yet do not goe. Come Basaliske
And kill the silly gazer with thy lookes.

Queene. Why do you rate my Lord of Suffolke thus,
As if that he had causde Duke Humphroys death? 30
The Duke and I too, you know were enemies,
And you had best say that I did murther him.

King. Ah woe is me, for wretched Glosters death

Winds, said, seeke not a scorpions nest. 40

Enter the Earles of Warwicke and Salisbury.

War. My Lord, the Commons like an angrie hne of bees,
Run vp and downe, caring not whom they sting,
For good Duke Humphreys death, whom they report
To be murdered by Suffolke and the Cardinall here.

King That he is dead good Warwick, is too true, 45
But how he diel God knowes, not Henry.

War Enter his priue chamber my Lord and view the bodie

War. Now by his soule that tooke our shape vpon him,
To free vs from his fathers dreadfull curse,
I am resolu'd that violent hands were laid,
Vpon the life of this thrise famous Duke. 55

Suffolk. A dreadfull oth sworne with a solemne toong,
What instance giues Lord Warwicke for these words?

War Oft haue I seene a timely parted ghost,
Of ashie semblance, pale and bloodlesse,
But loe the blood is setled in his face, 60
More better coloured then when he liu'd,
His well proportioned beard made rough and sterne,
His fingers spred abroad as one that graspt for life,
Yet was by strength surprisde, the least of these are probable,
It cannot chuse but he was murdered. 65

Salb. My Lord, the Commons sends you word by me,
 The vnlesse false Suffolke here be done to death,
 Or banished faire Englands Territories,
 That they will erre from your highnesse person,
 They say by him the good Duke Humphrey died, 120
 They say by him they feare the ruine of the realme.
 And therefore if you loue your subiects weale,
 They wish you to banish him from foorth the land

in his pocket with red letters

Cade Sonnes, hees a conuurer bring him hither.

Now sir, whats your name?

Clarke. Emanuell sir, and it shall please you 60

Dicke. It will go hard with you, I can tell you,

For they vse to write that oth top of letters.

Cade. And what do you vse to write your name?

Or do you as auncient forefathers haue done,

Vse the score and the Tally? 65

Clarke. Nay, true sir, I praise God I haue bene so well brought vp, that I can write mine owne name

Cade. Oh hes confest, go hang him with his penny-inckhorne

Cade. As for these silken coated slaues I passe not a pinne,
Tis to you good people that I speake

Stafford Why country-men, what meane you thus in troopes,
To follow this rebellious Traitor Cade?

Why his father was but a Brick-larer 85

Cade Well, and Adam was a Gardner, what then?
But I come of the Mortemers.

Stafford I, the Duke of Yorke hath taught you that

Cade. The Duke of York, nay, I leant it my selfe,
For looke you, Roger Mortemer the Earle of March, 90
Married the Duke of Clarence daughter

Stafford Well, thats true But what then?

Cade. And by her he had two children at a birth.

Stafford. Thats false

Cade. I, but I say, tis true 95

All. Why then tis true.

Cade. And one of them was stolne away by a beggor-woman,
And that was my father, and I am his soune,
Deny it and you can

Nickle Nay looke you, I know twas true, 100
For his father built a chimney in my fathers house,
And the bricke are alue at this day to testifie.

Cade. But doest thou heare Stafford, tell the King, that for his fathers sake, in whose time boyes plaide at spanne-counter with Frenche Crownes, I am content that hee shall be King as long 105

Cade. Come hither thou Say, thou George, thou buckrum lord,
What answers canst thou make vnto my mightinesse, 25
For deluering vp the townes in France to Mounsier bus mine cue, the Dolphin of France?

And more then so, thou hast most traitorously erected a grammar schoole, to infect the youth of the realme, and against the Kings Crowne and dignitie, thou hast built vp a paper-mill, nay it wil be 30 said to thy face, that thou kepst men in thy house that daily reades of bookes with red letters, and talkes of a Nowne and a Verbe, and such abhominable words as no Christian eare is able to endure it.

And besides all that, thou hast appointed certaine lustices of peace

Enter the Duke of Buckingham, and Lord Clifford the Earle of Comberland.

[Sc. VIII.]

Clifford. Why country-men and warlike friends of Kent,
What meanes this mutinous rebellions,
That you in troopes do muster thus your selues,
Vnder the conduct of this Traitor Cade? 90
To rise against your soueraigne Lord and King,
Who mildly hath his pardon sent to you,
If you forsake this monstrous Rebell here?
If honour be the marke whereat you aime,
Then haste to France that our forefathers wonne, 95
And winne againe that thing which now is lost,
And leaue to seeke your Countries ouerthrow.

All A Clifford, a Clifford

They forsake Cade.

Cade. Why how now, will you forsake your generall,
And ancient freedome which you haue possest? 100

Cade must die. (He dies.)

Eyden. Iack Cade, & was it that monstrous Rebelle which I haue slaine. Oh sword ile honour thee for this, and in my chamber shalt thou hang as a monument to after age, for this great seruice thou hast done to me Ile drag him hence, and with my sword cut off his 35 head, and beare it Exet.

*Enter the Duke of Yorke with Drum and souldiers.

Yorke. In Armes from Ireland comes Yorke amaine, [ACT V. SCENE I]
Ring belles aloud, bonfires perfume the ayre,
To entertaine faire Englands royall King
Ah Sancta Maiesta, who would not buy thee deare?

Enter the Duke of Buckingham

But soft, who comes here Buckingham, what newes with him? 5

Buc. Yorke, if thou meane well, I grette thee so.

Yorke. Humphrey of Buckingham, welcome I svveare :
What comes thou in loue or as a Messenger?

Buc. I come as a Messenger from our dread Lord and soueraign,
Henry. To knovv the reason of these Armes in peace? 10
Or that thou being a subiect as I am,
Shouldst thus approach so neare vvith colours spred,
Whereas the person of the King doth keepe?

Yorke. A subiect as he is.

Oh hovv I hate these spitefull abiect termes, 15
But Yorke dissemble, till thou meete thy sonnes,
Who novv in Armes expect their fathers sight,
And not farre hence I knovv they cannot be.
Humphrey Duke of Buckingham, pardon me,
That I ansvvearde not at first, my mind vvas troubled, 20
I came to remoue that monstrous Rebelle Cade,
And heaue proud Somerset from out the Court,
That basely yeelded vp the Towvnes in France.

Buc. Why that vvas presumption on thy behalfe,
But if it be no othervvise but so, 25

Church in Cornwall

1594.

NOTES TO THE FIRST PART OF THE CONTENTION, &c.

NOTE I.

i. 1. 66. The Quarto of 1594 has 'Exet' throughout this play, which is corrected in the edition of 1619 to 'Exit,' and in that of 1600 to 'Exit' or 'exeunt.' We have only recorded the corrections of 'Exet' to 'Exeunt'

NOTE II.

i. 2. 45—47. Instead of these lines the Quarto of 1619 has :

'As long as Gloster beares this base and humble minde:
Were I a man, and Protector as he is,
I'de reach to'th Crowne, or make some hop headlesse
And being but a woman, ile not behunde
For playing of my part, in spite of all that seek to crosse me thus:
Who is within there?'

NOTE III.

ii. 2. 11—27. In the edition of 1619 this passage is so much altered that it is necessary to give it at full:

'The second was William of Hatfield,
Who dyed young.
The third was Lyonell, Duke of Clarence.
The fourth was Iohn of Gaunt,
The Duke of Lancaster.
The fift was Edmund of Langley,
Duke of Yorke.
The sixt was William of Windsore,
Who dyed young
The seauenth and last was Sir Thomas of Woodstocke, Duke of Yorke.
Now Edward the blacke Prince dyed before his Father, leauing behunde him two sonnes, Edward borne at Angolesme, who died young, and Richard that was after crowned King, by the name of Richard the second, who dyed without an heyre.

Lyonell Duke of Clarence dyed, and left him one only daughter, named Phillip, who was married to Edmund Mortimer earle of March and Vlster and so by her I claime the Crowne, as the true heire to Lyonell Duke of Clarence, thrd sonne to Edward the thrd.'

NOTE IV.

rv. 7. 37, 38. On the line 'Thou ridest on a foot-cloth dost thou not?' Mr Halliwell remarks, 'This passage, though completely necessary for the sense, is entirely omitted in the edition of 1619 and by Mr Knight.' It is indeed omitted by Mr Knight, who follows Steevens, but it is found in Capell's copy of the edition of 1619, 'Thou ridest on a foot-cloth, dost thou not?' We take this opportunity of remarking that, in all cases where the readings given by us from the edition of 1619 differ from those quoted by Mr Halliwell, we have given them as they stand in Capell's copy. Mr Halliwell appears to quote from Mr Knight's reprint. Instances of these variations occur in i 3. 6, where Steevens and Mr Knight print 'They' for 'That,' the reading of all the Quartos. in i. 4. 41, where they have 'treason' for 'treasons.' in ii. 3. 3, where they have 'against' for 'gainst.' In iii. 2. 76, Mr Halliwell says the edition of 1619 reads 'with the vnbloody beake' in Capell's copy it is 'With vnbloody beake.' In rv. 10. 16 he quotes 'Yet if I do not' as the reading of the edition of 1619 where Capell's copy has 'Yet if do not,' the former being the reading of Steevens's reprint. In rv. 10. 25 'hand' is the reading of all the Quartos, while Steevens has 'hands.' It is possible that these variations may be found in other copies of the ed. of 1619.

NOTE V

rv. 10. 36. In the edition of 1594 the words which follow 'beare it' have dropped out.

The Facsimile by Charles Praetorius, 1889, without any indication that the words are supplied, reads 'beare it to the King.'

THE TRUE TRAGÉDIE.

The true Tragedie of Richard Duke of Yorke, and the good King Henry the Sixt.

 Now are they but one lampe, one light, one sun,
 In this the heauens doth figure some euent.

Edw I thinke it cites vs brother to the field,
 That we the sonnes of braue Plantagenet,
 Alreadie each one shining by his meed, 20
 May iome in one and ouerpeere the world,
 As this the earth, and therefore hence forward,
 Ile beare vpon my Target, three faire shining suns
 But what art thou? that lookest so heauilie?

Mes Oh one that was a wofull looker on, 25
 When as the noble Duke of Yorke was slaine

Edw O speake no more, for I can heare no more

Rich. Tell on thy tale, for I will heare it all.

Mes* When as the noble Duke was put to flight,
 And then pursu'de by Clifford and the Queene, 30
 And manie souldiers moe, who all at once
 Let drue at him and forst the Duke to yeeld
 And then they set him on a molehill there,
 And crownd the gracious Duke in high despite,
 Who then with teares began to waile his fall. 35
 The ruthlesse Queene perceiuing he did weepe,
 Gaue him a handkercher to wipe his eyes,
 Dipt in the bloud of sweet young Rutland
 By rough Clifford slaine. who weeping tooke it vp.
 Then through his brest they thrust their bloody swordes, 40

Edw. Sweet Duke of Yorke our prop to leane vpon, 45
Now thou art gone there is no hope for vs:
Now my soules pallace is become a prison.

Where your braue father breath'd his latest gaspe, 75
 Tidings as swifte as the post could runne,
 Was brought me of your losse, and his departure.
 I then in London keeper of the King,
 Mustred my souldiers, gathered flockes of friends,
 And verie vvell appouinted as I thought, 80
 Marcht to saunt Albons to entercept the Queene,
 Bearing the King in my behalfe along,
 For by my scouters I was aduertised,
 That she was conning, with a full intent
 To dash your late decree in parllament, 85
 Touching king Henries heires and your succession.
 Short tale to make, we at Saint Albons met,
 *Our battles ioinde, and both sides fiercelie fought
 But whether twas the coldnesse of the king,
 He lookt full gentlie on his warlike Queene, 90
 That robde my souldiers of their heated spleene
 Or whether twas report of his successe,
 Or more then common feare of Cliffords rigor,
 Who thunders to his captaiues bloud and death,
 I cannot tell. But to conclude with truth, 95
 Their weapons like to lightnings went and came.
 Our souldiers like the night Owles lasie flight,
 Or like an idle thresher with a flaile,
 Fel gentlie downe as if they smote their friends.
 I cheerd them vp with iustice of the cause, 100
 With promise of hie paie and great rewardes,
 But all in vaine, they had no harts to fight,
 Nor we in them no hope to win the daie,
 So that We fled. The king vnto the Queene,
 Lord George your brother, Norfolke, and my selfe, 105
 In hast, post hast, are come to ioinne with you,
 For in the marches here we heard you were,
 Making another head to fight againe.
Edw. Thankes gentle Warwike.
 How farre hence is the Duke with his power? 110
 And when came George from Burgundie to England?
War. Some fve miles off the Duke is with his power,

For thou shalt know that this right hand of mine, 120
Can plucke the Diadem from faint Henries head,
And wring the awefull scepter from his fist:
Were he as famous and as bold in warre,
As he is famde for mildnesse, peace and praier.

Rich. I know it well Lord Warwike blame me not, 125
Twas loue I bare thy glories made me speake.
But in this troublous time, whats to be done?
Shall we go throw away our coates of steele,
And clad our bodies in blacke mourning gownes,
Numbring our Auemaries with our beades? 130
Or shall we on the helmets of our foes,
Tell our deuotion with reuengefull armes?
If for the last, saie I, and to it Lords.

And therefore comes my brother Montague. 135

65

Clif. Heere burnes my candell out,
That whilst it lasted gaue king Henry light
Ah Lancaster, I feare thine ouerthrow,
More then my bodies parting from my soule
My loue and feare glude manie friendes to thee,
And now I die, that tough commixture melts 70
Impairing Henry strengthened misproud Yorke,
The common people swarme like summer flies,
And whither flies the Gnats but to the sun?
And who shines now but Henries enemie?
Oh Phæbus hadst thou neuer giuen consent, 75
That Phaeton should chocke thy fierie steedes,
Thy burning carre had neuer scorcht the earth.
And Henry hadst thou liu'd as kings should doe,
And as thy father and his father did,
*Giuing no foot vnto the house of Yorke, 80
I and ten thousand in this wofull land,
Had left no mourning Widdowes for our deatnes,
And thou this daie hadst kept thy throne in peace
For what doth cherish weedes but gentle aire?
And what makes robbers bold but lenitie? 85
Bootlesse are plaintes, and curelesse are my woundes,
No waie to flie, no strength to hold our flight,
The foe is merclesse and will not pittie me,
And at their hands I haue deserude no pittie.
The aire is got into my bleeding wounds, 90
And much effuse of bloud doth make me faint,
Come Yorke and Richard, Warwike and the rest,
I stabde your fathers, now come split my brest.

Enter Edward, Richard and Warwike, and Souldiers.

Edw. Thus farre our fortunes keepe an vpward
Course, and we are grast with wreathes of vitorie. 95
Some troopes pursue the bloudie minded Queene,
That now towards Barwike doth poste amaine,
But thinke you that Clifford is fled awaie with them?

Edw Harke, what soule is this that takes his heauy leaue?

Rich. A deadlie grone, like life and deaths departure

Edw. See who it is, and now the battailes ended, 105

Friend or foe, let him be friendlie vsed.

Rich. Reuerse that doome of mercie, for tis Clifford,

*Who kild our tender brother Rutland,

And stabd our princelie father Duke of Yorke

War. From off the gates of Yorke fetch down the 110

Instead of that, let his supplie the roome

Measure for measure must be answered.

Edw. Bring forth that fatall scrichowle to our house,

That nothing sung to vs but bloud and death, 115

Now his euill boding tongue no more shall speake.

War. I thinke his vnderstanding is bereft.

Say Clifford, doost thou know who speakes to thee?

Darke cloudie death oreshades his beames of life,

And he nor sees nor heares vs what we saie. 120

Rich. Oh would he did, and so perhaps he doth,

And tis his policie that in the time of death,

He might auoid such bitter stormes as he

In his houre of death did giue vnto our father

George. Richard if thou thinkest so, vex him with ea-

Yorke and young Rutland could not satisfie. 140

War I, but he is dead, off with the traitors head,
 And reare it in the place your fathers stands
 And now to London with triumphant march,
 There to be crowned Englands lawfull king. 145
 From thence shall Warwike crosse the seas to France,
 And aske the ladie Bona for thy Queene,
 So shalt thou sinew both these landes together,
 And hauing France thy friend thou needst not dread,
 The scattered foe that hopes to rise againe. 150
 And though they cannot greatly sting to hurt,
 Yet looke to haue them busie to offend thine eares
 First Ile see the coronation done,
 And afterward Ile crosse the seas to France,
 To effect this marriage if it please my Lord. 155

Edw. Euen as thou wilt good Warwike let it be

 And men maie talke of kings, and why not I?
 * Keeper I but thou talkest as if thou wert a king thy selfe
Hen. Why so I am in mind though not in shew.
Keeper. And if thou be a king where is thy crowne? 30
Hen. My crowne is in my hart, not on my head
 My crowne is calde content, a crowne that Kings doe seldome times emoy
Keeper And if thou be a king crownd with content,
 Your crowne content and you, must be content 35

- K Edw.* Brothers of Clarence, and of Glocester, [Sc. II.]
This ladies husband heere sir Richard Gray,
At the battaile of saint Albones did lose his life,
His lands then were seized on by the conqueror.
Her sute is now to repoesse those lands, 5
And sith in quarrell of the house of Yorke,
The noble gentleman did lose his life,
In honor we cannot denie her sute.
Glo. Your highnesse shall doe well to grant it then
K Edw. I, so I will, but yet Ile make a pause. 10
Glo. I, is the winde in that doore?
Clarence. I see the Lady hath some thing to grant,
Before the king will grant her humble sute.
Cl. He knowes the game, how well he keepes the wind.

Weele march to London, to meete with VVarwike.
And pull false Henry from the Regall throne.

Exeunt Omnes

Enter VVarwike and Clarence, with the Crowne, and [SC. VI.]
then king Henry, and Oxford, and Summerset, and the yong Earle of Richmond.

King. Thus from the prison to this princelie scat,
By Gods great mercies am I brought Againe, Clarence and VVarwike doe you
Keepe the crowne, and gouerne and protect
My realme in peace, and I will spend the 5
Remnant of my daies, to sinnes rebuke
And my Creators praise.

VVar. What answeres Clarence to his soueraignes will?

Cl. Clarence agrees to what king Henry likes.

King. My Lord of Summerset, what prettie
Boie is that you seeme to be so carefull of? 10

Sum. And it please your grace, it is yong Henry,
Earle of Richmond.

King. Henry of Richmond, Come hitther prettie Ladde
If heauenlie powers doe aime aright 15
To my diuining thoughts, thou prettie boy,
Shalt proue this Countries blisse,
Thy head is made to weare a princelie crowne,
Thy lookes are all repleat with Maiestie,

That I must yeeld my bodie to the earth

And by my fall the conquest to my foes,

Thus yeelds the Cedar to the axes edge,

Whose armes gaue shelter to the princelie Eagle,

Vnder whose shade the ramping Lion slept,

Whose top branch ouerpoerd Ioues spreading tree.

The wrinkles in my browes now fild with bloud

10

The Rauen rookt her on the Chimnies top,
 And chattering Pies in dismall discord sung,
 Thy mother felt more then a mothers paine,
 And yet brought forth lesse then a mothers hope,
 To wit an vndigest created lumpe, 40
 Not like the fruit of such a goodly tree,
 Teeth hadst thou in thy head when thou wast borne,
 *To signifie thou camst to bite the world,
 And if the rest be true that I haue heard,
 Thou camst into the world He stabs him 45
 Glo. Die prophet in thy speech, I le heare
 No more, for this amongst the rest, was I ordainde
 Hen. I and for much more slaughter after this.
 O God forgiue my sinnes, and pardon thee. He dies.
 Glo. What? will the aspiring bloud of Lancaster 50
 Sinke into the ground, I had thought it would haue mounted,
 See how my sword weepes for the poore kings death
 Now maie such purple teares be alwaies shed,
 For such as seeke the downefall of our house
 If anie sparke of life remaine in thee, 55
 Stab him againe
 Downe, downe to hell, and saie I sent thee thither.
 I that haue neither pittie, loue nor feare.
 Indeed twas true that Henry told me of,
 For I haue often heard my mother saie,
 That I came into the world with my legs forward, 60
 And had I not reason thinke you to make hast,
 And seeke their ruines that vsurpt our rights?
 The women wept and the midwife cride,
 O Jesus blesse vs, he is borne with teeth.
 And so I was indeed, which plainelie signifie, 65
 That I should snarle and bite, and plaine the dogge
 Then since Heauen hath made my bodie so,
 Let hell make crookt my mind to answere it.
 I had no father, I am like no father,
 I haue no brothers, I am like no brothers, 70

Exit

Enter king Edward, Queene Elizabeth, and a Nurse with the young prince, and Clarence, and Hastings, and others.

Edw. Once more we sit in Englands royall throne,
Repurchasde with the bloud of enemies,
What valiant foemen like to Autumnes corne,
Haue we mow'd downe in tops of all their pride?
Three Dukes of Summerset, threefold renown'd
For hardie and vndoubted champions
Two Cliffords, as the father and the sonne,
And two Northumberlands, two brauer men
Nere spurd their coursers at the trumpets sound
With them the two rough Beares, Warwike and

NOTES TO THE TRUE TRAGEDIE OF RICHARD
DUKE OF YORKE.

NOTE I.

v. 2. 15. Mr Halliwell quotes 'and walkes' as the reading of the edition of 1619. Capell's copy has 'my walkes.' In Steevens's reprint the reading 'and walkes' occurs, and Mr Knight has followed him. See note iv to 'The First part of the Contention,' &c.

NOTE II.

v. 6. 79, 80. Instead of these lines Q₃ has

'King Henry, and the Prince his sonne are gone,
And Clarence thou art next must follow them,
So by one and one dispatching all the rest, &c.'

AN
OF
ROMEO AND IULIET.

The Prologue.

T*WVO* houshold Friends alike in dignitie,
(In faire Verona, where we lay our Scene)
From ciuill broyles broke into enmitie,
*W*hose ciuill warre makes ciuill hands vnleane. 5
From forth the fatall loynes of these two foes,
A paire of starre-crost Louers tooke their life:
*W*hose misaduentures, piteous ouerthrowes, (Through the continuing of their Fathers strife,
And death-markt passage of their Parents rage)
Is now the two howres traffique of our Stage. 10
The which if you with patient eares attend,
*W*hat here we want wee'l studie to amend.

The most excellent Tragedie of Romeo and Iuliet.

Enter 2. Seruing-men of the Capolets.

- G Regorie, of my word Ile carrie no coales. [ACT I. SC. I.]
- 2 No, for if you doo, you should be a Collier.
- 1 If I be in choler, Ile draw.
- 2 Euer while you liue, drawe your necke out of the the collar. 5
- 1 I strike quickly being moou'd.
- 2 I, but you are not quickly moou'd to strike.
- 1 A Dog of the house of the Mountagues moues me.
- 2 To mooue is to stirre, and to bee valiant is to stand to it: therefore (of my word) if thou be moou'd thou't runne away. 10
- 1 There's not a man of them I meete, but Ile take the wall of.
- 2 That shewes thee a weakling, for the weakest goes to the wall. 15
- 1 Thats true, therefore Ile thrust the men from the wall, and thrust the maids to the walls: nay, thou shalt see I am a tall peece of flesh.
- 2 Tis well thou art not fish, for if thou wert thou wouldst be but poore Iohn. 20
- 1 Ile play the tyrant, Ile first begin with the maids, & off with their heads.
- 2 The heads of the maids?
- *1 I the heades of their Maides, or the Maidenheades, take it in what sence thou wilt. 25
- 2 Nay let them take it in sence that feele it, but heere comes two of the Mountagues.

Enter two Servingmen of the Mountagues.

1 Nay feare not me I warrant thee.

2 I feare them no more than thee, but draw.

1 Nay let vs haue the law on our side, let them begin first. Ile tell thee what Ile doo, as I goe by ile bite my thumbe, which is disgrace enough if they suffer it.

30

2 Content, goe thou by and bite thy thumbe, and ile come after and frowne

1 Moun.: Doo you bite your thumbe at vs?

35

1 I bite my thumbe

2 Moun.: I but i'st at vs?

1 I bite my thumbe, is the law on our side?

2 No.

1 I bite my thumbe.

40

1 Moun.: I but i'st at vs? Enter Beneuolio.

2 Say I, here comes my Masters kinsman

They draw, to them enters Tybalt, they fight, to them the Prince, old Mountague, and his wife, old Capulet and his wife, and other Citizens and part them.

Prince: Rebellious subiects enemies to peace,

On paine of torture, from those bloody handes

Throw your mistempered weapons to the ground

45

Three Ciuell brawles bred of an aine word,

By the old Capulet and Mountague,

Haue thrice disturbd the quiet of our streets

If euer you disturbe our streets againe,

*Your liues shall pay the ransome of your fault:

50

For this time euery man depart in peace

Come Capulet come you along with me,

And Mountague, come you this after noone,

To know our farther pleasure in this case,

To old free Towne our common iudgement place,

55

Once more on paine of death each man depart.

Exeunt.

M: wife. Who set this auncient quarrel first abroad?

Speake Nephew, were you by when it began?

Benuo: Here were the seruants of your aduersaries,

And yours close fighting ere I did approach

60

Wife: Ah where is Romeo, saw you him to day?

Right glad I am he was not at this fray.

Ben: Madame, an houre before the worshipt sunne

Peept through the golden window of the East,

A troubled thought drew me from companie:

65

Where vnderneath the groue Sicamours,
 That Westward rooteth from the Citties side,
 So early walking might I see your sonne.
 I drew towards him, but he was ware of me,
 And drew into the thicket of the wood. 70
 I noting his affections by mine owne,
 That most are busied when th'are most alone,
 Pursued my honor, not pursuing his.

Moun: Black and portentious must this honor proue,
 Vnlesse good counsaile doo the cause remooue 75

Ben: Why tell me Vncle do you know the cause?

Enter Romeo.

Moun: I neyther know it nor can learne of him.

Ben: See where he is, but stand you both aside,
 Ile know his greuance, or be much denied.

Moun*: I would thou wert so happie by thy stay 80
 To heare true shrift. Come Madame lets away.

Benuo: Good morrow Cosen.

Romeo: Is the day so young?

Ben: But new stroke nine.

Romeo: Ay me, sad hopes seeme long. 85
 Was that my Father that went hence so fast?

Ben: It was, what sorrow lengthens Romeos houres?

Rom: Not hauing that, which hauing makes them

Ben: In loue. (short.

Ro: Out 90

Ben: Of loue.

Ro: Out of her fauor where I am in loue.

Ben: Alas that loue so gentle in her view,
 Should be so tyrannous and rough in prooffe.

Ro: Alas that loue whose view is muffled still, 95
 Should without lawes giue path-waies to our will:

Where shall we dine? Gods me, what fray was here?

Yet tell me not for I haue heard it all,

Heres much to doe with hate, but more with loue.

Why then, O brawling loue, O louing hate, 100
 O anie thing, of nothing first create!

O heaue lightnes serious vanitie!

Mishapen C'aus of best seeming thinges,

Feather of lead, bright smoke, cold fire, sicke health,

Still waking sleepe, that is not what it is: 105

This loue feele I, which feele no loue in thus.

Doest thou not laugh?

Ben: No Cose I rather weepe.

Rom: Good hart at what?

Ben: At thy good hearts oppression. 110

Ro: Why such is loues transgression,

*Griefes of mine owne lie heauie at my hart,
Which thou wouldst propagate to haue them prest
With more of thine, this grieve that thou hast showne,
Doth ad more grieve to too much*of mine owne: 115

Loue is a smoke raisde with the fume of sighes
Being purgde, a fire sparkling in louers eyes:
Being vext, a sea raging with a louers teares
What is it else? A madnes most discreet,
A choking gall, and a preseruing sweet. Farewell Cose 120

Ben: Nay Ile goe along.

And if you hinder me you doo me wrong.

Ro: Tut I haue lost my selfe I am not here,
This is not Romeo, hee's some other where

Ben: Tell me in sadnes whome she is you loue? 125

Ro: What shall I grone and tell thee?

Ben: Why no, but sadly tell me who.

Ro: Bid a sickman in sadnes make his will.

Ah word ill vrgde to one that is so ill.

In sadnes Cosen I doo loue a woman. 130

Ben: I amde so right, when as you said you lou'd.

Ro: A right good mark-man, and shee's faire I loue.

Ben: A right faire marke faire Cose is soonest hit

Ro: But in that hit you misse, shee'le not be hit

With Cupids arrow, she hath Dianaes wit, 135

And in strong prooffe of chastitie well arm'd:

Gainst Cupids chuldish bow she liues vn harm'd,

Shee'le not abide the sledge of louing tearmes,

Nor ope her lap to Saint seducing gold,

Ah she is rich in beautie, only poore, 140

That when she dies with beautie dies her store Exeu

Enter Conntie Paris, old Capulet.

Of honorable reckoning are they both, [Sc. II.]

*And pittie tis they lue at ods so long

But leauing that, what say you to my sute?

Capu: What should I say more than I said before,
My daughter is a stranger in the world, 5

Shee hath not yet attainde to fourteene yeares:

Let two more sommers wither in their pride,

Before she can be thought fit for a Bride.

Paris: Younger than she are happie mothers made.

Cap: But too soone marde are these so early married: 10

But wooe her gentle Paris, get her heart,

My word to her consent is but a part.

This night I hold an old accustom'd Feast,
 Whereto I haue munted many a guest,
 Such as I loue: yet you among the store, 15
 One more most welcome makes the number more
 At my poore house you shall behold this night,
 Earth treading stars, that make darke heauen light.
 Such comfort as doo lusty youngmen feele,
 When well apparaild Aprill on the heele 20
 Of lumping winter treads, euen such delights
 Amongst fresh female buds shall you this night
 Inherit at my house, heare all, all see,
 And like her most, whose merite most shalbe.
 Such amongst view of many myne boeing one, 25
 May stand in number though in reckoning none

Enter Seruingman.

Where are you sirra, goe trudge about
 Through faire Verona streets, and seeke them out:
 Whose names are written here and to them say,
 My house and welcome at their pleasure stay. 30

Exeunt.

Ser: Seeke them out whose names are written here, *and yet I knowe not who are written here. I must to the learned to learne of them, that's as much to say, as the Taylor must meddle with his Laste, the Shoomaker with his needle, the Painter with his nets, and the Fisher 35 with his Pensill, I must to the learned.

Enter Benuolio and Romeo.

Ben: Tut man one fire burnes out anothers burning,
 One paine is lessned with anothers anguish:
 Turne backward, and be help with backward turning,
 One desperate griefe cures with anothers languish. 40
 Take thou some new infection to thy eye,
 And the ranke poyson of the old will die.

Romeo: Your Planton leafe is excellent for that.

Ben: For what?

Romeo: For your broken shin. 45

Ben: Why Romeo art thou mad?

Rom: Not mad, but bound more than a mad man is.
 Shut vp in prison, kept without my foode,
 Whipt and tormented, and Godden good fellow.

Ser: Godgigoden, I pray sir can you read, 50

Rom: I mine owne fortune in my miserie.

Ser: Perhaps you haue learned it without booke:
 but I pray can you read any thing you see?

Rom: I if I know the letters and the language

Seru: Yee say honestly, rest you merrie.

55

Rom: Stay fellow I can read.

He reads the Letter.

S *Seigneur Martino and his wife and daughters, Countie Anselme and his beauteous sisters, the Ladie widdow of Vtruuo, Seigneur Placentio, and his louelie Nieces, Mercutio and his brother Valentine, mine vncl Capulet his wife and daughters, my faire Neece Rosaline and Liua, Seigneur Valentio and his Cosen Tibalt, Lucio and the liuelie Hellena

60

A faire assembly, whether should they come?

Ser: Vp.

65

Ro: Whether to supper?

Ser: To our house.

Ro: Whose house?

Ser: My Masters

Ro: Indeed I should haue askt thee that before.

70

Ser: Now I'll tel you without asking My Master is the great rich Capulet, and if you be not of the house of Mountagues, I pray come and crush a cup of wine Rest you merrie.

Ben: At this same auncient feast of Capulets,

75

Sups the faire Rosaline whom thou so loues

With all the admired beauties of Verona,

Goe thither and with vnattainted eye,

Compare her face with some that I shall shew,

And I will make thee thinke thy swan a crow

80

Ro: When the deuout religion of mine eye

Maintaines such falshood, then turne teares to fire,

And these who often drownde could neuer die,

Transparent Heretiques be burnt for liers

One fairer than my loue, the all seeing sonne

85

Nere saw her match, since first the world begun

Ben: Tut you saw her faire none els being by,

Her selfe poyd with her selfe in either eye.

But in that Cristall scales let there be waide,

Your Ladyes loue, against some other maide

90

That I will shew you shining at this feast,

And she shall scant shew well that now seemes best.

Rom: He goe along no such sight to be showne,

*But to reioyce in splendor of mine owne

Enter Capulets wife and Nurce.

[SC. III.]

Viue: Nurce wher's my daughter call her forth to mee.

Nurce: Now by my marden head at twelue years old I

bad her come, what Lamb, what Ladie bird, God forbid V'her's this girle? what Iuliet. Enter Iuliet.

Iuliet: How now who cal's?

Nurse: Your Mother.

Iul: Madame I am here, what is your will?

VV: This is the matter. Nurse giue leaue a while, we must talke in secret. Nurse come back again I haue re-membred me, thou'se heare our counsaile Thou know est my daughters of a prettie age

10

Nurse: Faith I can tell her age vnto a house

VVife: Shee's not fourteene.

Nurse: He lay fourteene of my teeth, and yet to my teene be it spoken, I haue but foure, shee's not fourteene
How long is it now to Lammas-tide?

15

VVife. A fortuight and odde dayes.

Nurse: Euen or odde, of all dayes in the yeare come Lammas Eue at night shall she be fourteene Susan and she God rest all Christian soules were of an age. VVell Susan is with God, she was too good for me: But as I said on Lammas Eue at night shall she be fourteene, that shall shee marie I remember it well. Tis since the Earth-quake nowe e-leauen yeares, and she was weand I neuer shall forget it, of all the daies of the yeare vpon that day: for I had then laid wormewood to my dug, sitting in the sun vnder the Doue-house wall. My Lord and you were then at Mantua, nuy I do beare a braine: But as I said, when it did tast the wormwood on the nipple of my dug, & felt it bitter, pretty foole *to see it teachis and full out with Dugge. Shake quoth the Doue-house twas no need I trow to bid me trudge, and since that time it is a leauen yeare: for then could Iuliet stande high lone, nay by the Rood, shee could haue waddled vp and downe, for euen the day before shee brake her brow, and then my husband God be with his soule, hee was a merris man:
Dost thou fall forward Iuliet? thou wilt fall backward when thou hast more wit: wilt thou not Iuliet? and by my holi-dam, the pretty foole left crying and said I. To see how a ieast shall come about, I warrant you if I should liue a hundred yeare, I neuer should forget it, wilt thou not Iuliet?
and by my troth she stinted and cried I.

25

30

35

40

Iuliet. And stint thou too, I prethee Nurse say I.

Nurse: VVell goe thy waies, God marke thee for his grace, thou wert the prettiest Babe that ever I wurst, might
I but lue to see thee married once, I haue my wish.

45

VVife: And that same marriage Nurse, is the Thome

I meant to talke of. Tell me Iuliet, howe stand you affected to be married?

Iul: It is an honor that I dreame not off.

50

Nurce: An honor! were not I thy onely Nurce, I would say thou hadst suckt wisdom from thy Teat.

Wife: Well girle, the Noble Countie Paris seekes thee for his Wife.

Nurce: A man young Ladie, Ladies such a man as all the world, why he is a man of waxe.

55

Wife: Veronaes Summer hath not such a flower

Nurce. Nay he is a flower, in faith a very flower.

Wife: Well Iuliet, how like you of Paris loue

Iuliet: He looke to like, if looking liking moue, gut no more deepe will I engage mine eye,
 Then your consent giues strength to make it flie.

60

Enter Clowne

Clowne*. Maddam you are culd for, supper is readie, the Nurce curst in the Pantrie, all thinges in extremitie, make hast for I must be gone to waite.

65

Enter Maskers with Romeo and a Page.

Ro: What shall this speech bee spoke for our excuse?
 Or shall we on without Apologie.

[Sc. iv.]

Benuoleo: The date is out of such prolixitie,
 Weele haue no Cupid hudwinckt with a Scarfe,
 Bearing a Tartars painted bow of lath,
 Scaring the Ladies like a crow-keeper:
 Nor no withoutbooke Prologue faintly spoke
 After the Prompter, for our entrance.

But let them measure vs by what they will,
 Weele measure them a measure and be gone.

10

Rom: A torch for me I am not for this aumbling,
 Beeing but heaue I will beare the light.

Mer: Beleeue me Romeo I must haue you daunce.

Rom: Not I beleeue me you haue dancing shooes
 With nimble soles, I haue a soule of lead
 So stakes me to the ground I cannot stirre.

15

Mer: Giue me a case to put my visage in,
 A visor for a visor, what care I
 What curious eye doth coate deformitie.

Rom: Giue me a Torch, let wantons light of hart
 Tickle the senceles rushes with their heeles.
 For I am prouerbd with a Grandsire phrase,
 He be a candleholder and looke on,
 The game was nere so faire and I am done.

20

Mer. Tut dun's the mouse the Cunstables old word,
If thou beest Dun, weele draw thee from the mire
Of this surreuerence loue wherein thou stickst
Leaue this talke, we burne day light here

Rom.* Nay thats not so Mer. I meane sir in delay,
We burne our lights by night, like Lampes by day,
Take our good meaning for our iudgement sits
Three times a day, ere once in her right wits.

Rom. So we meane well by going to this maske.
But tis no wit to goe.

Mer: Why Romeo may one aske? 35

Rom. I dreamt a dreame to night.

Mer: And so did I Rom: Why what was yours?

Mer. That dreamers often lie. (true.

Rom. In bed a sleepe while they doe dreame things

Mer: Ah then I see Queene Mab hath bin with you 40

Ben: Queene Mab whats she?

She is the Faeries Midwife and doth come
In shape no bigger than an Aggat stone
On the forefinger of a Burgomaster,
Drawne with a teeme of little Atom,

A thwart mens noses when they lie a sleepe. 45

Her waggon spokes are made of spinners webs,
The couer, of the winges of Grashoppers,
The traces are the Moone-shine watrie beames,
The collers crickets bones, the lash of filnes,

Her waggoner is a small gray coated fue, 50

Not halfe so big as is a little worme,

Pickt from the lasie finger of a maide,

And in this sort she gallops vp and downe

Through Louers braines, and then they dream of loue: 55

O're Courtiers knees: who strait on cursies dreame

O're Ladies lips who dreame on kisses strait:

Which oft the angrie Mab with blisters plagues,

Because their breathes with sweet meats tainted are:

Sometimes she gallops ore a Lawers lap, 60

And then dreames he of smelling out a sute,*

And sometime comes she with a tithe pigs taile,

Tickling a Parsons nose that lies a sleepe,

And then dreames he of another benefice:

Sometime she gallops ore a souldiers nose, 65

And then dreames he of cutting forraine throats,

Of breaches ambuscados, countermines,

Of healthes fue fadome deepe, and then anon

Drums in his eare. at which he startes and wakes,

And sweares a Praier or two and sleepest againe. 70
 This is that Mab that makes maids lie on their backes,
 And proues them women of good carriage (the night,
 This is the verie Mab that plats the manes of Horses in
 And plats the Elfelocks in foule sluttish haire,
 Which once vntangled much misfortune breedes. 75

Rom.: Peace, peace, thou talkst of nothing.

Mer.: True I talke of dreames,
 Which are the Children of an idle braine,
 Begot of nothing but vaine fantasie,
 Which is as thinne a substance as the aire, 80
 And more inconstant than the winde,
 Which woos euen now the frosē bowels of the north,
 And being angred puffes away in haste,
 Turning his face to the dew-dropping south. (selues.

Ben.: Come, come, this winde both blow vs from our 85
 Supper is done and we shall come too late

Ro.: I feare too earlie, for my minde misgues
 Some consequence is hanging in the stars,
 Which bitterly begins his fearefull date
 With this nights reuels, and expiers the terme 90
 Of a dispused life, closde in this breast,
 By some vntimehe forfet of vile death:
 *But he that hath the steerage of my course
 Directs my saile, on lustie Gentlemen.

Enter old Capulet with the Ladies.

[Sc. v]

Capu.: Welcome Gentlemen, welcome Gentlemen,
 Ladies that haue their toes vnplagud with Corns
 Will haue about with you, ah ha my Mistresses,
 Which of you all will now refuse to dance?
 Shee that makes dantie, shee Ile sweare hath Corns 5
 Am I come neere you now, welcome Gentlemen, wel-
 More lights you knaues, & turn these tables vp, (come,
 And quench the fire the roome is growne too hote
 Ah surra, thus vnlookt for sport comes well,
 Nay sit, nay sit, good Cosen Capulet: 10
 For you and I are past our standing dayes,
 How long is it since you and I were in a Maske?

Cos.: By Ladie sir tis thirtie yeares at least

Cap.: Tis not so much, tis not so much
 Tis since the marriage of Lucentio, 15
 Come Pentecost as quicklie as it will,
 Some fise and twentie yeares, and then we maskt

Cos.: Tis more, tis more, his sonne is elder far.

Cup.: Will you tell me that it cannot be so,

HIS sonne was but a Ward three yeares agoe, 20
 Good youths I faith. Oh youth's a iolly thing.

Rom: What Ladie is that that doth enrich the hand
 Of yonder Knight? O shee doth teach the torches to burne bright!

It seemes she hangs vpon the cheekes of night,
 Like a rich iewell in an Aethiops eare, 25
 Beautie too rich for vse, for earth too deare
 So shines a snow-white Swan troupung with Crowes,
 As this faire Ladie ouer her fellowes showes.

*The measure done, ile watch her place of stand,
 And touching hers, make happie my rude hand. 30
 Did my heart loue till now? Forsweare it sight,
 I neuer saw true beautie till this night.

Tib: This by his voice should be a Mountague,
 Fetch me my rapier boy. What dares the slaue
 Come hither couer'd with an Anticke face, 35
 To scorne and iere at our solemnitie?
 Now by the stocke and honor of my kin,
 To strike him dead I hold it for no sin.

Ca: Why how now Cosen, wherfore storme you so

Ti: Vncle this is a Mountagus our foe, 40
 A villaine that is hether come in spight,
 To mocke at our solemnitie this night.

Ca: Young Romeo, is it not?

Ti: It is that villaine Romeo. (man, 45

Ca: Let him alone, he beares him like a portly gentle- 45
 And to speake truth, Verona brags of him,
 As of a vertuous and well gouern'd youth:
 I would not for the wealth of all this towne,
 Here in my house doo him disparagement:
 Therefore be quiet take no note of him, 50
 Beare a faire presence, and put off these frownes,
 An ill beeseeming semblance for a foast.

Ti: It fits when such a villaine is a guest,
 Ile not indure him.

Ca: He shalbe indured, goe to I say, he shall, 55
 Am I the Master of the house or you?

You'le not indure him? God shall mend my soule
 You'le make a mutenie amongst my guests,
 You'le set Cocke a hoope, you'le be the man

Ti: Vncle tis a shame. 60

Ca*: Goe too, you are a saucie knaue.
 This trickes will scath you one day I know what
 Well said my hartes. Be quiet:

More light Ye knaue, or I will make you quiet. (tang,

Tibalt: Patience perforce with wilfull choller mee- 65
Makes my flesh tremble in their different greetings:

I will withdraw, but this intrusion shall
Now seeming sweet, conuert to bitter gall.

Rom: If I prophane with my vnworthie hand,
This holie shrine, the gentle sinne is this. 70
My lips two blushing Pilgrims ready stand,
To smooth the rough touch with a gentle kisse.

Iul: Good Pilgrime you doe wrong your hand too
Which mannerly deuotion shewes in this: (much,
For Saints haue hands which holy Palmers touch, 75
And Palme to Palme is holy Palmers kisse

Rom: Haue not Saints lips, and holy Palmers too?

Iul: Yes Pilgrime lips that they must vse in praier

Ro: Why then faire saint, let lips do what hands doo,
They pray, yeeld thou, least faith turne to dispaire. 80

Iu: Saints doe not mooue though: grant nor praier forsake.

Ro: Then mooue not till my praers effect I take.
Thus from my lips, by yours my sin is purgde.

Iu: Then haue my lips the sin that they haue tooke

Ro: Sinne from my lips, O trespasse sweetly vrgde! 85
Giue me my sinne againe.

Iu You kisse by the booke.

Nurse: Madame your mother calles.

Rom: What is her mother?

Nurse: *Marrie Batcheler her mother is the Ladie of the 90 house, and a good Lady, and a wise, and a vertuous. I nurst her daughter that you talkt withall, I tell you, he that can lay hold of her shall haue the chinkes

Rom: Is she a Mountague? Oh deare account,
My life is my foes thrall. 95

Ca: Nay gentlemen prepare not to be gone,
We haue a trifling foolish banquet towards.

They whisper in his eare.

I pray you let me intreat you. Is it so?

Well then I thanke you honest Gentlemen,
I promise you but for your company, 100
I would haue bin a bed an houre agoe:
Light to my chamber hoe.

Exeunt.

Iul: Nurse, what is yonder Gentleman?

Nur: The sonne and heire of old Tiberio.

Iul Whats he that now is going out of dore? 105

Nur: That as I thinke is yong Petruchio (dance)

Jul: Whats he that followes there that would not

Nur. I know not

Jul: Goe learne his name, if he be married,
My graue is like to be my wedding bed. 110

Nur: His name is Romeo and a Mountague, the onely sonne of your great enemye.

Jul: My onely Loue sprung from my onely hate,
Too early scene vnknowne and knowne too late
Prodigious birth of loue is this to me, 115
That I should loue a loathed enemye.

Nurse Whats this? whats that?

Jul: Nothing Nurse but a rime I learnt euen now of oue I dancst with

Nurse: Come your mother staies for you, Ile goe a long with you. Exeunt.

Enter Romeo alone.*

[ACT II. SC. I.]

Ro: Shall I goe forward and my heart is here
Turne backe dull earth and finde thy Center out

Enter Benuolio Mercutio

Ben: Romeo, my cosen Romeo.

Mer. Doest thou heare he is wise,
Vpon my life he hath stolne him home to bed 5

Ben: He came this way, and leapt this Orchard wall.
Call good Mercutio

Mer: Call, nay Ile conuure too.

Romeo, madman, humors, passion, luere, appeare thou in likenes of a sigh. speake but one rime & I am satisfied, cry but ay me. Pronounce but Loue and Doue, speake to my gossip Venus one faire word, one nickname for her purblynde sonne and heire young Abraham. Cupid hee that shot so trim when young King Cophetua loued the begger wench. Hee heares me not I conuure thee by Rosalundes bright eye, high forehead, and scarlet lip, her prettie foote, straight leg, and quiuering thigh, and the demaines that there adiacent lie, that in thy likeness thou appeare to vs. 10

Ben: If he doe heare thee thou wilt anger him. 20

Mer: Tut this cannot anger him, marrie if one should raise a spurt in his Mistris circle of some strange fashion, making it there to stand till she had laid it, and conuure it downe, that were some spite. My inuocation is faire and honest, and in his Mistris name I conuure onely but to raise vp him. 25

Ben: Well he hath had himselfe amongst those trees,
To be consorted with the humerous night,
Blinde in his loue, and best befits the darke.

Mer:* If loue be blind, loue will not hit the marke, 30
Now will he sit vnder a Medler tree,
And wish his Mistris were that kinde of fruite,
As maides call Medlers when they laugh alone
Ah Romeo that she were, ah that she were
An open Et cætera, thou a poprin Peare. 35
Romeo God night, il'e to my trundle bed:
This field bed is too cold for mee.

Come lets away, for tis but vaine,
To seeke him here that meanes not to be found

Ro: He iests at scars that neuer felt a wound : [Sc. II.]
But soft, what light forth yonder window breakes?
It is the East, and Iuliet is the Sunne,
Arise faire S nne, and kill the enuious Moone
That is alreadie sicke, and pale with gnefe:
That thou her maid, art far more faire than she 45
Be not her maide since she is enuious,
Her vestall luerie is but pale and greene,
And none but fooles doe weare it, cast it off
She speakes, but she sayes nothing What of that?
Her eye discourseth, I will answere it. 50
I am too bold, tis not to me she speakes,
Two of the fairest starres in all the skies,
Hauing some busines, doe entreat her eyes
To twinkle in their speares till they returne.
What if her eyes were there, they in her head, 55
The brightnes of her cheekes would shame those stars .
As day-light doth a Lampe, her eyes in heauen,
Would through the aerie region streame so bright,
That birdes would sing, and thinke it were not night
Oh now she leanes her cheekes vpon her hand, 60
I would I were the gloue to that same hand,
*That I might kisse that cheek

Iul: Ay me.

Rom: She speakes, Oh speake againe bright Angell :
For thou art as glorious to this night beeing ouer my 65
As is a winged messenger of heauen (head,
Vnto the white vpturned woondring eyes,
Of mortals that fall backe to gaze on him,
When he bestrides the lasie pacing cloudes,
And sailes vpon the bosome of the aire 70

Iul: Ah Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?

Denie thy Father, and refuse thy name,
Or if thou wilt not be but sworne my loue,
And il'e no longer be a Capulet.

Rom: Shall I heare more, or shall I speake to this? 75

Iul: Tis but thy name that is mine enemie.

Whats Mountague? It is nor hand nor foote,

Nor arme, nor face, nor any other part.

Whats in a name? That which we call a Rose,

By any other name would smell as sweet: 80

So Romeo would, were he not Romeo cald,

Retaine the diuine perfection he owes.

Without that title Romeo part thy name,

And for that name which is no part of thee,

Take all I haue. 85

Rom. I take thee at thy word,

Call me but loue, and il'e be new Baptisde,

Henceforth I neuer will be Romeo.

Iu: What man art thou, that thus beskrind in night,
Doest stumble on my counsaile? 90

Ro: By a name I know not how to tell thee

My name deare Saint is hatefull to my selfe,

Because it is an enemie to thee.

*Had I it written I would teare the world.

Iul: My eares haue not yet drunk a hundred words
Of that tongues vtterance, yet I know the sound. 95

Art thou not Romeo and a Mountague?

Ro: Neyther faire Saint, if eyther thee displease.

Iu: How camst thou hether, tell me and wherfore?

The Orchard walles are high and hard to clime, 100

And the place death considering who thou art,

If any of my knsmen finde thee here.

Ro: By lous light winges did I oreperch these wals,
For stonie limits cannot hold loue out,

And what loue can doo, that dares loue attempt, 105

Therefore thy kinsmen are no let to me

Iul: If they doe finde thee they will murder thee.

Ro: Alas there lies more perrill in thine eyes,
Then twentie of their swords, looke thou but sweete,
And I am prooffe against their ennitie. (here 110

Iul: I would not for the world they shuld find thee

Ro: I haue nights cloak to hide thee from their sight,
And but thou loue me let them finde me here:

For life were better ended by their hate,

Than death proroged wanting of thy loue 115

Iu: By whose directions foundst thou out this place.

Ro: By loue, who first did prompt me to enquire,
 I he gaue me counsaile and I lent him eyes.
 I am no Pilot. yet wert thou as farre
 As that vast shore, washt with the furthest sea, 120
 I would aduenture for such Marchandise.

Iul: Thou knowst the maske of night is on my face,
 Els would a Maiden blush bepaint my cheeks:
 For that which thou haste heard me speake to night,
 Faine would I dwell on forme, faine faine deme, 125
 *What I haue spoke: but farewell complements.
 Doest thou loue me? Nay I know thou wilt say I,
 And I will take thy word: but if thou swearst,
 Thou maiest proue false
 At Louers peruries they say Ioue smiles. 130
 Ah gentle Romeo, if thou loue pronounce it faithfully:
 Or if thou thinke I am too easely wonne,
 Il'e frowne and say thee nay and be peruerse,
 So thou wilt wooe: but els not for the world,
 In truth faire Mountague, I am too fond, 135
 And therefore thou maiest thinke my haunour light.
 But trust me gentleman Ile proue more true,
 Than they that haue more cunning to be strange.
 I should haue bin strange I must confesse,
 But that thou ouer-heardst ere I was ware 140
 My true loues Passion: therefore pardon me,
 And not impute this yeelding to light loue,
 Which the darke night hath so discovered.

Ro: By yonder blessed Moone I sweare,
 That tips with siluer all these fruit trees tops. 145

Iul O sweare not by the Moone the vnconstant
 That monthlie changeth in her circled orbe, (Moone,
 Least that thy loue proue likewise variable.

Ro: Now by

Iul: Nay doo not sweare at all, 150
 Or if thou sweare, sweare by thy glorious selfe,
 Which art the God of my Idolatrie,
 And il'e beleue thee

Ro: If my true harts loue

Iul: Sweare not at al, though I doo ioy in 155
 I haue small ioy in this contract to night, (thee,
 It is too rash, too sodaine, too vnaduisde,
 *Too like the lightning that doth cease to bee
 Ere one can say it lightens I heare some comming,
 Deare loue adew, sweet Mountague be true, 160
 Stay but a little and il'e come againe.

Ro O blessed blessed night, I feare being night,
All this is but a dreame I heare and see,
Too flattering true to be substantiall.

Iul: Three wordes good Romeo and good night 165
If that thy bent of loue be honourable? (deed.
Thy purpose marriage, send me word to morrow
By one that il'e procure to come to thee:
Where and what time thou wilt performe that right,
And al my fortunes at thy foote il'e lay, 170
And follow thee my Lord through out the world.

Ro: Loue goes toward loue like schoole boyes from their bookes,
But loue from loue, to schoole with heaume lookes

Iul: Romeo, Romeo, O for a falkners voice,
To lure this Tassell gentle backe againe 175
Bondage is hoarse and may not cry aloud,
Els would I teare the Caue where Eccho lies
And make her arie voice as hoarse as mine,
With repetition of my Romeos name.

Romeo? 180

Ro: It is my soule that calles vpon my name,
How siluer sweet sound louers tongues in night

Iul: Romeo?

Ro: Madame

Iul: At what a clocke to morrow shall I send? 185

Ro: At the houre of nine.

Iul: I will not faile, tis twentie yeares till then.
Romeo I haue forgot why I did call thee backe.

Rom*: Let me stay here till you remember it.

Iul: I shall forget to haue thee still staie here, 190
Remembring how I loue thy companie.

Rom: And il'e stay still to haue thee still forgot,
Forgetting any other home but this.

Iu Tis almost morning I would haue thee gone,
But yet no further then a wantons bird, 195
Who lets it hop a little from her hand,
Like a pore prisoner in his twisted giues,
And with a silke thred puls it backe againe,
Too louing iealous of his libertie.

Ro: Would I were thy bird 200

Iul: Sweet so would I,
Yet I should kill thee with much cherrishing thee.
Good night, good night, parting is such sweet sorrow,
That I shall say good night till it be morrow. (breast,

Rom: Sleepe dwell vpon thine eyes, peace on thy 205

I would that I were sleep and peace of sweet to rest
 Now will I to my Ghostly fathers Cell,
 His help to craue, and my good hap to tell

Enter Frier Francis

(night,

[Sc. III]

Frier The gray ey'd morne smiles on the frowning
 Checkring the Easterne clouds with streakes of light,
 And flecked darkenes like a drunkard reeles,
 From forth daies path, and Titans fierie wheelles:
 Now ere the Sunne aduance his burning eye,
 The world to cheare, and nights darke dew to drie.
 We must vp fill this easier Cage of ours,
 With balefull weeds, and precious ruyed flowers.
 Oh mickle is the powerfull grace that lies
 In hearbes, plants, stoncs, and their true qualities.
 For nought so vile, that vile on earth doth lue,
 *But to the earth some speciall good doth gree:
 Nor nought so good, but straind from that faire vse,
 Reuolts to vice and stumbles on abuse.
 Vertue it selfe turnes vice being misapplied,
 And vice sometimes by action dignified.
 Within the infant rinde of this small flower,
 Poyson hath residence, and medecine power.
 For this being smelt too, with that part cheares ech hart,
 Being tasted slaues all sences with the hart.
 Two such opposed foes incampe them still,
 In man as well as herbes, grace and rude will,
 And where the worser is predominant,
 Full soone the canker death eats vp that plant.

Rom: Good morrow to my Ghostly Confessor.

Fri. Benedicite, what earlie tongue so soone saluteth
 Yong sonne it argues a distempered head,
 So soone to bid good morrow to my bed.
 Care keepes his watch in euerie old mans eye,
 And where care lodgeth, sleep can neuer lie:
 But where vnbrused youth with vnstufte braines
 Doth couch his limmes, there golden sleepe remaines:
 Therefore thy earlines doth me assure,
 Thou art vprows'd by some distemperature
 Or if not so, then here I hit it righ
 Our Romeo hath not bin a bed to night.

Ro: The last was true, the sweeter rest was mine.

Fr God pardon sin, wert thou with Rosaline?

Ro: With Rosaline my Ghostly father no,
 I haue forgot that name, and that names woe.

Fri: Thats my good sonne: but where hast thou bin

10

15

20

25

30

35

40

Ro: I tell thee ere thou aske it me againe,
 I haue bin feasting with mine enemie
 *Where on the sodaine one hath wounded mee
 Thats by me wounded, both our remedies 45
 With in thy help and holy plucke lies,
 I beare no hatred blessed man for loe
 My intercession likewise staundes my foe.

Frier Be plaine my some and homely in thy drift,
 Ridling confession findes but ridling shrift 50

Rom. Then plainly know my hats deare loue is set
 On the faire daughter of rich Cypriote:
 As mine on hers, so hers likewise on mine,
 And all combin'd, saue what thou must combine
 By holy marriage where, and when, and how, 55
 We met, we woo'd, and made exchange of vowes,
 It's tell thee as I passe But thus I pray,
 That thou consent to marrie vs to day.

Fr: Holy S Francis, what a change is here?
 Is Rosaline whome thou didst loue so deare 60
 So soone forsooke, lo yong mens loue then lies
 Not trueho in their hearts, but in their eyes.

Iesu Maria, what a deale of brine
 Hath washt thy sallow cheekes for Rosaline?
 How much salt water cast away in waste, 65
 To season loue, that of loue doth not taste.

The sunne not yet thy siglus from heauen cleares,
 Thy old grones ring yet in my ancient eares,
 And loe vpon thy cheeke the staine doth sit,
 Of an old teare that is not washt off yet. 70

If ouer thou wert thus, and these woes thine,
 Thou and these woes were all for Rosaline,
 And art thou changeable, pronounce this sentence then
 Women may fal, when thier's no strength in men

Rom: Thou chidst me oft for louing Rosaline. 75

Fr:* For doting, not for louing, pupill mine.

Rom And hadst me burie loue

Fr: Not in a graue,

To lay one in another out to haue

Rom: I prece thee chide not, she whom I loue now
 Doth grace for grace, and loue for loue allow
 The other did not so

Fr: Oh she knew well

Thy loue did read by rote, and could not spell.
 But come yong Wauerer, come goe with me, 85
 In one respect Ile thy assistant bee:

For this alliaunce may so happie proue,
To turne your Housholds rancour to pure loue Exeunt

Enter Mercutio, Benuolio

[Sc. IV.]

Mer: Why whats become of Romeo? came he not home to night?

Ben: Not to his Fathers, I spake with his man

Mer: Ah that same pale hard hearted wench, that Rio Torments him so, that he will sure run mad (salue)

Mer: Tybalt the Kinsman of olde Capolet 5
Hath sent a Letter to his Fathers House:
Some Challenge on my life.

Ben: Romeo will answere it.

Mer: I, anie man that can write may answere a letter.

Ben: Nay, he will answere the letters master if hee bee challenged. 10

Mer: Who, Romeo? why he is alreadie dead stabd with a white wenches blacke eye, shot thorough the eare with a loue song, the vere pinne of his heart cleft with the blinde bow-boyes but-shaft. And is he a man to encounter Tybalt? 15

Ben: Why what is Tybalt?

Mer: More than the prince of cattes I can tell you Oh he is the courageous captaine of complements Catso, he *fightes as you sing pricke-song, keepes time dystance and proportion, rests me his minum rest one two and the thurde 20 in your bosome, the very butcher of a silken button, a Duellist a Duellist, a gentleman of the very first house of the first and second cause, ah the immortall Passado, the Punto reuerso, the Hay.

Ben: The what? 25

Me: The Poxe of such limping antique affecting fausticoes these new tuners of accents. By Iesu a very good blade, a very tall man, a very good whoore. Why ground-sir is not this a miserable case that we should be stil afflicted with these strange flies. these fashionmongers, these pardonmees, that stand so much on the new forme, that they cannot sitte at ease on the old bench. Oh their bones, theyr bones. 30

Ben. Heere comes Romeo.

Mer. Without his Roe, like a dryed Hering O flesh flesh 35 how art thou fishified Sirra now he is for the numbers that Petrarch flowdin: Laura to his Lady was but a kitchin drudg, yet she had a better loue to berime her. Dido a dowdy Cleopatra a Gypsie, Hero and Hellen hildings and harletries: Thusbie a gray eye or so, but not to the purpose Signior Romeo bon iour, there is a French curtesie to your French slop yee gaue vs the counterfeit fairely yesternight

40

Rom: What counterfeit I pray you?

Me: The slip the slip, can you not conceue?

Rom: I cry you mercy my busines was great, and in such a case as mine, a man may straine curtesie

45

Mer: Oh thats as much to say as such a case as yours wil constraine a man to bow in the hams.

Rom: A most curteous exposition.

Me: Why I am the very pinke of curtesie

50

Rom: Pinke for flower?

Mer: Right.

Rom: Then is my Pompe well flour'd.

Mer: Well said, follow me nowe that iest till thou hast
*worne out thy Pompe, that when the single sole of it is worn the iest may remaine after the wearing solie singuler

55

Rom: O single soold iest solie singuler for the singlenes.

Me: Come betweene vs good Benuolio, for my wits faile.

Rom: Swits and spurres, swits & spurres, or Ile cry a match

Mer: Nay if thy wits runne the wildegoose chase, I haue done for I am sure thou hast more of the goose in one of thy wits, than I haue in al my five: Was I with you there for the goose?

60

Rom: Thou wert neuer with me for any thing, when thou wert not with me for the goose.

65

Me: Ile bite thee by the care for that iest

Rom: Nay good goose bite not.

Mer: Why thy wit is a bitter sweeting, a most sharp sauce

Rom: And was it not well seru'd in to a sweet goose?

Mer: Oh heere is a witte of Cheuerell that stretcheth from an ynnch narrow to an ell broad.

70

Rom: I stretcht it out for the word broad, which added to the goose, proues thee faire and wide a broad goose

Mer: Why is not this better now than grouing for loue?
why now art thou sociable, now art thou thy selfe, nowe art thou what thou art, as wel by arte as nature. This drueling loue is like a great naturall, that runs vp and downe to hide his bable in a hole.

75

Ben: Stop there.

Me: Why thou wouldst haue me stopp my tale against the haire.

80

Ben: Thou wouldst haue made thy tale too long?

Mer: Tut man thou art deceiued, I meant to make it short, for I was come to the whole depth of my tale? and meant indeed to occupie the argument no longer.

85

Rom. Heers goodly geare

Enter Nurse and her man

Mer. A saile, a saile, a saile

Ben:* Two, two, a shirt and a smocke

Nur: Peter, pree thee giue me my fan

Mer: Pree thee doo good Peter, to hide her face: for her fanne is the faurer of the two.

90

Nur. God ye goodmorrow Gentlemen

Mer: God ye good den faire Gentlewoman

Nur: Is it godyegooden I pray you

Mer: Tis no lesse I assure you, for the baudie hand of the diall is euen now vpon the pricke of noone

95

Nur: Fie, what a man is this?

Rom: A Gentleman Nurse, that God hath made for himselfe to marre.

Nur: By my troth well said. for himselfe to marre quoth he? I pray you can anie of you tell where one maie finde yong Romeo?

100

Rom: I can. but yong Romeo will bee elder when you haue found him, than he was when you sought him. I am the yongest of that name for fault of a worse

105

Nur: Well said.

Mer: Yea, is the worst well? mas well noted, wisely, wisely

Nu. If you be he sir, I desire some conference with ye

Ben: O, behke she meanes to inuite him to supper.

110

Mer: So ho. A baud, a baud, a baud

Rom: Why what hast found man?

Mer: No hare sir, vnlesse it be a hare in a lenton pye, that is somewhat stale and hoare ere it be eaten.

He walks by them, and sings.

And an olde hare hore, and an olde hare hore

115 is vome good moate in Lent:

But a hare thats hoare is too much for a score, if it hore ere it be spent.

Youl come to your fathers to supper?

Rom: I will.

120

Mer: Farewell ancient Ladie, farewell sweete Ladie.

Exeunt Benuolio, Mercutio

Nur:* Marry farewell. Pray what saucie merchant was this that was so full of his roperipe?

Rom · A gentleman Nurse that loves to heare himselfe talke, and will speake more in an houre than hee will stand to in a month 125

Nur · If hee stand to anie thing agunst mee, Ile take him downe if he were lustier than he is if I cannot take him downe, Ile finde them that shall I am none of his flurt-gills, I am none of his skaines mates 130

She turnes to Peter her man

And thou like a knave must stand by, and see euen Icke vse me at his pleasure

Pet I see no bodie vse you at his pleasure, if I had, I would soone haue drawen you know my toole is as soone out as anothers if I see time and place 135

Nur · Now afore God he hath so vext me, that euenie member about me quivers scurrie Icke. But as I said, my Ladie had me seeke ye out, and what shée had me tell yee, that Ile keepe to my selfe but if you should lead her into a foolies paradise as they saye, it were a verie grosse kinde of behauiour as they say, for the Gentlewoman an is young Now if you should deale doubly with her, it were verie weake dealing, and not to be offered to anie Gentlewoman 140

Rom · Nurse, commend me to thy Ladie, tell her I protest 145

Nur · Good heart · yfath Ile tell her so : oh she will be a ioyfull woman

Rom · Why, what wilt thou tell her?

Nur · That you doo protest which (as I take it) is a Gentlemanlike proffer. 150

Rom · Bid her get leaue to morrow morning
To come to shrift to Frier Laurence cell
And stay thou Nurse behinde the Abbey wall,
My man shall come to thee, and bring along
The cordes, made like a tackled staire, 155
Which to the lighthop-gallant of my ioy
*Must be my conduct in the secret night
Hold, take that for thy pannes

Nur · No, not a penie truly.

Rom I say you shall not chuse 160

Nur · Well, to morrow morning she shall not faile.

Rom · Farewell, be trustie, and Ile quite thy paine Exit

Nur · Peter, take my fainne, and goe before. Et omnes

Enter Juliet.

[Sc. v]

Jul · The clocke stroke nine when I did send my Nurse

In halfe an houre she promist to returne.

Perhaps she cannot finde him. Thats not so

Oh she is lazie, Loues heralds should be thoughts,

And runne more swift, than hastie powder fierd,

Doth hurrie from the fearfull Cannons mouth

Enter Nurse

Oh now she comes Tell me gentle Nurse,

What sayes my Loue?

Nur: Oh I am wearie, let mee rest a while Lord how my bones ake Oh wheres my man? Giue me some aqua

10 vita

Iul I would thou hadst my bones, and I thy newes.

Nur: Fie, what a iaunt haue I had and my backe a to-ther side Lord, Lord, what a case am I in Iul But tell me sweet Nurse, what sayes Romeo?

15

Nur: Romeo, nay, alas you cannot chuse a man. Hees no bodie, he is not the Flower of curtesie, he is not a proper man: and for a hand, and a foote, and a baudie, wol go thy way wench, thou hast it ifaith Lord, Lord, how my head beates?

20

Iul. What of all this? tell me what sayes he to our marriage?

Nur: Marry he sayes like an honest Gentleman, and a kinde, and I warrant a vertuous: wheres your Mother?

Iul Lord, Lord, how odly thou repliest? He saies like a 25

*kinde Gentleman, and an honest, and a vertuous; wheres

your mother?

Nur: Marry come vp, cannot you stay a while? is this the poultesse for mine aking boanes? next arrant youl haue done, euen doot your selfe.

30

Iul. Nay stay sweet Nurse, I doo intreate thee now,

What sayes my Loue, my Lord, my Romeo?

Nur. Goe, hye you straight to Friar Laurence Cell,

And frame a scuse that you must goe to shrift

There stayes a Bridegroomie to make you a Bride.

35

Now comes the wanton blood vp in your cheekes,

I must prouide a ladder made of cordes,

With which your Lord must clime a birdes nest soone.

I must take paines to further your delight,

But you must beare the burden soone at night

40

Doth this newes please you now?

Iul: How doth her latter words reuue my hart.

Thankes gentle Nurse, dispatch thy busines,

And Ile not faile to meete my Romeo

Exeunt.

Enter Romeo, Friar.

[Sc. VI.]

Rom Now Father Lawrence, in thy holy grant Consists the good of me and Iuliet

Fr Without more words I will doo all I may,
To make you happie if in me it lye

Rom This morning here she pointed we should meet, 5
And consumate those neuer parting hands,
Witnes of our harts loue by ioyning hands,
And come she will

Fr I gesse she will indeed,
Youths loue is quicke, swifter thin swiftest speed. 10

Enter Iuliet somewhat fast, and embraceth Romeo.
See where she comes
So light of foote nere hurts the troden flower
Of loue and ioy, see see the soueraigne power.

Iul Romeo

Rom*: My Iuliet welcome As doo waking eyes 15
(Cloasd in Nights mysts) attend the frolicke Day,
So Romeo hath expected Iuliet,
And thou art come.

Iul: I am (if I be Day)
Come to my Sunne: shine foorth, and make me fure. 20

Rom All beauteous faunes dwelleth in thine eyes.

Iul: Romeo from thine all brightnes doth arise.

Fr: Come wantons, come, the stealing houres do passe
Defer unbracements till some fiter time,
Part for a while, you shall not be alone, 25
Till holy Church haue ioynd ye both in one

Rom: Lead holy Father, all delay seemes long

Iul: Make hast, make hast, this lingring doth vs wrong

Fr O, soft and fure makes sweetest worke they say.
Hast is a common hindier in crosse way. Exeunt omnes. 30

Enter Benuolio, Mercutio

[Act III. Sc. I.]

Ben: I pice thee good Mercutio lets retire,
The day is hot, the Capels are abroad.

Mer: Thou art like one of those, that when hee comes into the confines of a tauerne, claps me his rapier on the boord, and sayes, God send me no need of thee and by 5 the operation of the next cup of wine, he drawes it on the drawer, when indeed there is no need.

Ben: Am I like such a one?

Mer: Go too, thou art as hot a lacke being mooude, and as soone moode to be moodie, and as soone moodie to be mooud. 10

Ben: And what too?

Mer: Nay, and there were two such, wee should haue none shortly. Didst not thou fall out with a man for cracking of nuts, hauing no other reason, but because thou hadst hasill eyes? what eye but such an eye would haue pickt out such a quarrell? With another for coughing, because hee *wakd thy dogge that laye a sleepe in the Sunne? With a Taylor for wearing his new dublet before Easter. and with another for tying his new shoes with olde ribands. 15
And yet thou wilt forbid me of quarrelling. 20

Ben: By my head heere comes a Cupolet

Enter Tybalt.

Mer: By my heele I care not

Tyb: Gentlemen a word with one of you

Mer: But one word with one of vs? You had best couple it with somewhat, and make it a word and a blow 25

Tyb: I am apt enough to that if I haue occasion

Mer: Could you not take occasion?

Tyb: Mercutio thou consorts with Romeo?

Mer: Consort Zwounes consort? the slaue wil make fidlers of vs If you doe sirra, look for nothing but discord For heeres my fiddle-sticke 30

Enter Romeo

Tyb: Well peace be with you, heere comes my man

Mer: But Ile be hanged if he weare your lyuery. Mary go before into the field, and he may be your follower, so in that sence your worship may call him man 35

Tyb: Romeo the hate I heare to thee can affoord no better words then these, thou art a villaine

Rom: Tybalt the loue I beare to thee, doth excuse the appertaining rage to such a word. villaine am I none, therfore I well perceiue thou knowst me not 40

Tyb: Bace boy this cannot serue thy turne, and therefore drawe.

Ro: I doe protest I neuer inured thee, but loue thee better than thou canst deuise, till thou shalt know the reason of my loue. 45

Mer: O dishonorable vile submission. Allastockado caries
it away. You Ratcatcher, come backe, come backe

Tyb: What wouldest with me?

Mer:* Nothing King of Cates, but borrow one of your 50

nine lues, therefore come drawe your rapier out of your scabard, least mine be about your cares ere you be a ware.

Rom: Stay Tibalt, hould Mercutio. Benuolio beate downe their weapons.

Tibalt vnder Romeos arme thrusts Mercutio, in and flies.

Mer: Is he gone, hath hee nothing? A poxe on your houses 55

Rom. What art thou hurt man, the wound is not deepe.

Mer: Noe not so deepe as a Well, nor so wide as a barne doore, but it will serue I warrant. What meant you to come betweene vs? I was hurt vnder your arme 60

Rom. I did all for the best.

Mer: A poxe of your houses, I am fairely drest Sirra goe fetch me a Surgeon.

Boy: I goe my Lord

Mer: I am pepperd for this world, I am sped yfaith, he hath made wormes meate of me, & ye aske for me to morrow you shall finde me a graue-man A poxe of your houses, I shall be fairely mounted vpon foure mens shoulders For your house of the Montegues and the Capolets and then some peasantly rogue, some Sexton, some base slaue shall write my Epitaph, that Tybalt came and broke the Princes Lawes, and Mercutio was slaue for the first and second cause Wher's the Surgeon? 70

Boy: Hee's come sir

Mer. Now heele keepe a mumbling in my guts on the other side, come Benuolio, lend me thy hand. a poxe of your houses. 75

Exeunt.

Rom: This Gentleman the Princes neere Ahe. My very frend hath tane this mortall wound In my behalfe, my reputation stand 80 With Tibalts slaunder, Tybalt that an houre Hath bene my kinsman. Ah Juliet
*Thy beautie makes me thus effeminate,
And in my temper softens valors Steele

Enter Benuolio.

Ben: Ah Romeo Romeo braue Mercutio is dead, 85
That gallant spirit hath a spur'd the cloudes,
Which too vntimely scornd the lowly earth.

Rom: This daies black fate, on more daies doth depend
This but begins what other dayes must end

Enter Tibalt.

Ben. Heere comes the furious Tibalt backe againe. 90

Rom. A lue in tryumph and Mercutio slaine?

Away to heauen respectiue lenity.

And fier eyed fury be my conduct now.

Now Tibalt take the villaine backe againe,

Which late thou gav'st me. for Mercutio's soule, 95

Is but a little way aboue the cloudes,

And staes for thine to beare him company.

Or thou, or I, or both shall follow him

Fight, Tibalt falles.

Ben. Romeo away, thou seest that Tibalt's slaine,
The Citizens approach, away, begone 100
Thou wilt be taken.

Rom. Ah I am fortunes slaue

Exeunt.Enter Citizens

Watch. Wher's he that slue Mercutio, Tybalt that villaine?

Ben. There is that Tybalt. 105

*Vp sirra goe with vs¹.

Enter Prince, Capolets wife

Pry: Where be the the vile beginners of this fray?

Ben: Ah Noble Prince I can discover all

The most vnlucky mannage of this brawle.

Heere lyes the man slaine by yong Romeo, 110

That slew thy kinsman braue Mercutio,

M: Tibalt, Tybalt, O my brothers child,

Vnhappie sight? Ah the blood is spilt

Of my deare kinsman, Prince as thou art true:

For blood of ours, shed bloud of Mountague 115

Pry. Speake Benuolio who began this fray?

Ben: Tibalt heere slaine whom Romeo's hand did slay.

Romeo who spake him fayre bid him bethinke

How nice the quarrell was.

But Tybalt still persisting in his wrong, 120
 The stout Mercutio drewe to calme the stoime,
 Which Romeo seeing cal'd stay Gentlemen,
 And on me cry'd, who drew to part their strife,
 And with his agill arme yong Romeo,
 As fast as tung crydepeace, sought peace to make. 125
 While they were enterchanging thrusts and blows,
 Vnder yong Romeos laboring arme to part,
 The furious Tybalt cast an enuous thrust,
 That rid the life of stout Mercutio
 With that he fled, but presently return'd, 130
 And with his rapier braued Romeo .
 That had but newly entertain'd reuenge
 And ere I could draw forth my rapyer
 To part their furie, downe did Tybalt fall,
 And thus way Romeo fled 135

Mo. He is a Mountague and speaks partiall,
 Some twentie of them fought in this blacke strife .
 And all those twenty could but kill one life
 *I doo intreate sweete Prince thout rustice grue,
Romeo slew Tybalt, Romeo may not lue 140

Prin. And for that offence
 Immediately we doo exile him hence.
 I haue an interest in your hates proceeding,
 My blood for your rude braules doth lye a bleeding.
 But Ile amerce you with so large a fine, 145
 That you shall all repent the losse of mine
 I will be deafe to plewling and excuses,
 Nor teares nor prayers shall purchase for abuses.
 Pittie shall dwell and gouerne with vs still .
 Mercie to all but murders, pardouning none that kill. 150

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Iuliet.

[So. II.]

Iul. Gallop apace you florie footed steedes
 To Phæbus mansion, such a Waggoner
 As Phaeton, would quickly bring you thether,
 And send in cloudie night immediately.

Enter Nurse wringing her hands, with the ladder of cordes in her lap

But how now Nurse . O Lord, why lookst thou sad ? 5
 What hast thou there, the cordes ?

Nur : I, I, the cordes : alacke we are vndone,

We are vndone, Ladie we are vndone

Iul. What diuell art thou that torments me thus?

Nurs: Alack the day, hees dead, hees dead, hees dead. 10

Iul: This torture should be roard in disnall hell.

Can heauens be so enuious?

Nur: Romeo can if heauens cannot.

I saw the wound, I saw it with mine eyes

God saue the sample, on his manly breast. 15

A bloodie coarse, a piteous bloodie coarse,

All pale as ashes, I swounded at the sight.

Iul:* Ah Romeo, Romeo, what disaster hap

Hath seuerd thee from thy true Iuliet?

Ah why should Heauen so much conspire with Woe, 20

Or Fate enue our happie Marriage,

So soone to sunder vs by timelesse Death?

Nur. O Tybalt, Tybalt, the best frend I had,

O honest Tybalt, curieous Gentleman.

Iul: What storme is this that blowes so contrane, 25

Is Tybalt dead, and Romeo murderod.

My deare loude cousen, and my dearest Lord

Then let the trumpet sound a generall doome,

These two being dead, then liuing is there none.

Nur: Tybalt is dead, and Romeo banished, 30

Romeo that muredred him is banished.

Iul: Ah heauens, did Romeos hand shed Tybalts blood?

Nur: It did, it did, alacke the day it did.

Iul: O serpents hate, hid with a flowring face.

O painted sepulcher, including filth 35

Was neuer booke containing so foule matter,

So fairly bound. Ah, what meant Romeo?

Nur: There is no truth, no faith, no honestie in men:

All false, all faithles, periurde, all forsworne.

Shame come to Romeo. 40

Iul: A blister on that tung, he was not borne to shame:

Vpon his face Shame is ashaunde to sit.

But wherefore villaine didst thou kill my Cousen?

That villaine Cousen would haue kild my husband

All this is comfort. But there yet remains 45

VVorse than his death, which faine I would forget:

But ah, it presseth to my memorie,

Romeo is banished. Ah that word Banished

Is worse than death. Romeo is banished,

Is Father, Mother, Tybalt, Iuliet, 50

All kild, all slaine, all dead, all banished.

Where are my Father and my Mother Nurse?

Nur: VVeeping and wayling ouer Tybalts coarse.
 *VWill you goe to them?

Iul. I, I, when theirs are spent,
 Mine shall he shed for Romeos banishment 55

Nur. Ladie, your Romeo will be here to night,
 He to him, he is hid at Laurence Coll

Iul Doo so, and beare this Ring to my true Knight,
 And bid him come to take his last farewell Exeunt. 60

Enter Frier.

[Sc. III]

Fr. Romeo come forth, come forth thou fearfull man,
 Affliction is enamoured on thy parts,
 And thou art wedded to Calamitie.

Enter Romeo.

Rom: Father what newes, what is the Princes doome,
 VVhat Sorrow craues acquaintance at our hands,
 VVhich yet we know not 5

Fr: Too familiar
 Is my yong sonne with such sowre companie.
 I bring thee tidings of the Princes doome.

Rom: VVhat lesse than doomes day is the Princes doome? 10

Fr A gentler iudgement vanisht from his lips,
 Not bodies death, but bodies banishment.

Rom: Ha, Banished? be mercifull, say death:
 For Exile hath more terror in his lookes,
 Than death it selfe, doo not say Banishment. 15

Fr. Hence from Verona art thou banished.
 Be patient, for the world is broad and wide.

Rom: There is no world without Verona walls,
 But purgatorie, torture, hell it selfe.
 Hence banished, is banisht from the world. 20

And world exile is death. Calling death banishment,
 Thou cutst my head off with a golden axe,
 And smilest vpon the stroke that murders me.

Fr: Oh monstrous sinne, O rude vnthankfulness.
 Thy fault our law calls death, but the milde Prince
 (Taking thy part) hath rushd aside the law,
 *And turnd that blacke word death to banishment: 25

This is meere mercie, and thou seest it not

Rom. Tis torture and not mercie, heauen is heere
 Where Iuliet liues: and euery cat and dog,
 And little mouse, euery vnworthie thing
 Liue here in heauen, and may looke on her,
 But Romeo may not. More validitie,
 More honourable state, more courtship liues 30

In carrion flies, than Romeo. they may seaze 35
 On the white wonder of faire Juliet skinne,
 And steale immortall kisses from her lips,
 But Romeo may not, he is banished.

Flies may doo this, but I from this must flye.
 Oh Father hadst thou no strong poyson mixt, 40
 No sharpe ground knife, no present meane of death,
 Though nere so meane, but banishment
 To torture me withall. ah, banished.

O Frier, the damned vse that word in hell
 Howling attends it How hadst thou the heart, 45
 Being a Diuine, a ghostly Confessor,
 A sinne absoluer, and my frend profest,
 To mangle me with that word, Banishment?

Fr Thou fond mad man, heare me but speake a word.

Rom O, thou wilt talke againe of Banishment. 50

Fr: He giue thee armour to beare off this word,
 Aduersities sweete milke, philosophie,
 To comfort thee though thou be banished.

Rom: Yet Banished? hang vp philosophie,
 Vnlesse philosophie can make a Juliet, 55
 Displant a Towne, reuerse a Princes doome,
 It helpes not, it preuailes not, talke no more.

Fr O, now I see that madmen haue no eares.

Rom: How should they, when that wise men haue no eyes.

Fr: Let me dispute with thee of thy estate 60

Rom. Thou canst not speak of what thou dost not feele.
 *Wert thou as young as I, Juliet thy Loue,
 An houre but married, Tybalt murdered.
 Doting like me, and like me banished,
 Then mightst thou speake, then mightst thou teare thy hayre. 65

And fall vpon the ground as I doe now,
 Taking the measure of an vnmaide graue

Nurse knockes

Fr: Romeo arise, stand vp thou wilt be taken,
 I heare one knocke, arise and get thee gone.

Nu: Hoe Fryer. 70

Fr: Gods will what wilfulnes is this?

Shee knockes againe.

Nur: Hoe Fryer open the doore,

Fr. By and by I come. Who is there?

Nur. One from Lady Iuliet

Fr. Then come neare

75

Nur. Oh holy Fryer, tell mee oh holy Fryer,
Where is my Ladies Lord? Wher's Romeo?

Fr. There on the ground, with his owne teares made drunke

Nur. Oh he is euen in my Mistresse case.

80

Iust in her case Oh wofull sympathy,
Pittecous predicament, euen so lyes shee,
Weeping and blubbring, blubbring and weeping:
Stand vp, stand vp, stand and you be a man.
For Iuliets sake, for her sake rise and stand,
Why should you fall into so deep an O.

85

He rises.

Romeo Nurse.

Nur. Ah sir, ah sir. Wel death's the end of all

Rom.* Spakest thou of Iuliet, how is it with her?

Doth she not thinke me an olde murderer,

90

Now I haue stande the chuldhoo of her ioy,
With bloud remou'd but litle from her owne?

Where is she? and how doth she? And what sayes

My conceal'd Lady to our cancel'd loue?

Nur. Oh she saith nothing, but weepes and pules,

95

And now fells on her bed, now on the ground,

And Tybalt cryes, and then on Romeo calles

Rom. As if that name shot from the deadly leuel of a gun

Did murder her, as that names cursed hand

Murderd her kinsman Ah tell me holy Fryer

100

In what vile part of this Anatomy

Doth my name lye? Tell me that I may sacke

The hatefull mansion?

He offers to stab himselfe, and Nurse snatches the dagger away.

Nur. Ah?

Fr. Hold, stay thy hand. art thou a man? thy forme

105

Cryes out thou art, but thy wilde actes denote

The vnreasonable furies of a beast.

Vnseemely woman in a seeming man,

Or ill besecming beast in seeming both,

Thou hast amaz'd me. By my holy order,

110

I thought thy disposition better temperd,

Hast thou slaine Tybalt? wilt thou slay thy selfe?

And slay thy Lady too, that lues in thee?
 Rouse vp thy spirits, thy Lady Iuliet lues,
 For whose sweet sake thou wert but lately dead. 115
 There art thou happy Tybalt would kill thee,
 But thou sluest Tybalt, there art thou happy too.
 A packe of blessings lights vpon thy backe,
 Happines Courts thee in his best array
 But like a misbehaude and sullen wench 120
 Thou frownst vpon thy Fate that smiles on thee
 *Take heede, take heede, for such dye miserable
 Goe get thee to thy loue as was decreed
 Ascend her Chamber Window, hence and comfort her,
 But looke thou stay not till the watch be set: 125
 For then thou canst not passe to Mantua
 Nurse prouide all things in a readines,
 Comfort thy Mistresse, haste the house to bed,
 Which heauy sorrow makes them apt vnto
Nur: Good Lord what a thing learning is. 130
 I could haue stayde heere all this night
 To heare good counsell. Well Sir,
 Ile tell my Lady that you will come
Rom: Doe so and bidde my sweet prepare to childe,
 Farwell good Nurse. 135

Nurse offers to goe in and turnes againe

Nur: Heere is a Ring Sir, that she bad me giue you,

Rom: How well my comfort is reuiud by this

Exit Nurse

Fr: Soiorne in Mantua, Ile finde out your man,
 And he shall signifie from time to time:
 Euery good hap that doth befall thee heere. 140
 Farwell.

Rom: But that a iew, past ioy cries out on me,
 It were a griefe so breefe to part with thee.

Enter olde Capolet and his Wife, with County Paris.

[Sc. iv.]

Cap: Things haue fallen out Sir so vnluckⁱly,
 That we haue had no time to moue my daughter.
 *Looke yee Sir, she lou'd her kinsman dearely,
 And so did I. Well, we were borne to dye,

Wife wher's your daughter, is she in her chamber? 5

I thinke she meanes not to come downe to night.

Par: These times of woe affoord no time to wooe,
Maddam farwell, commend me to your daughter

Paris offers to goe in, and Capolet calles him againe.

Cap. Sir Paris? Ile make a desperate tender of my child
I thinke she will be rulde in all respectes by mee 10
But soft what day is this?

Par. Munday my Lord.

Cap. Oh then Wensday is too soone,
On Thursday let it be you shall be married
Wee'le make no great adoe, a frend or two, or so. 15
For looke ye Sir, Tybalt being slaine so lately,
It will be thought we held him careleslye
If we should reuell much, therefore we will haue
Some halfe a dozen frends and make no more adoe.
But what say you to Thursday. 20

Par. My Lorde I wish that Thursday were to morrow.

Cap. Wife goe you to your daughter, ere you goe to bed.

Acquaint her with the County Paris loue,
Fare well my Lord till Thursday next
Wife gette you to your daughter. Light to my Chamber. 25
Afore me it is so very very late,
That we may call it earely by and by

Exeunt.

Enter Romeo and Iuliet at the window.* [Sc. v.]

Iul: Wilt thou be gone? It is not yet nere day,
It was the Nightingale and not the Lark
That pierst the fearfull hollow of thine eare.
Nightly she sings on yon Pomegranate tree,
Beleeue me loue, it was the Nightingale. 5

Rom It was the Lark, the Herald of the Morne,
And not the Nightingale. See Loue what enuious strakes
Doo lace the seuering clowdes in yonder East
Nights candles are burnt out, and iocund Day
Stands tiptoes on the mystic mountaine tops. 10
I must be gone and lue, or stay and dye

Iul: Yon light is not day light, I know it I.
It is some Meteor that the Sunne exhales,

To be this night to thee a Torch-bearer,
And light thee on thy way to Mantua 15
Then stay awhile, thou shalt not goe soone

Rom: Let me stay here, let me be tane, and dye:
If thou wilt haue it so, I am content
He say yon gray is not the Mornings Eye,
It is the pale reflex of Cynthias brow 20
He say it is the Nightingale that beates
The vaultie heauen so high aboue our heads,
And not the Larke the Messenger of Morne.
Come death and welcome, Iuliet wils it so.
What sayes my Loue? lets talke, tis not yet day. 25

Iul It is, it is, be gone, flye hence away
It is the Larke that sings so out of tune,
Straining harsh Discords and vnpleasing Sharpes
Some say, the Larke makes sweete Diuision:
*Thus doth not so: for this diuideth vs 30
Some say the Larke and loathed Toad change eyes,
I would that now they had changd voyces too.
Since arme from arme her voyce doth vs affray,
Hunting thee hence with Huntswp to the day
So now be gone, more light and light it growes 35

Rom: More light and light, more darke and darke our woes.
Farewell my Loue, one kisse and He descend.

He goeth downe

Iul: Art thou gone so, my Lord, my Loue, my Friend?
I must heare from thee euerie day in the hower:
For in an hower there are manie minutes, 40
Minutes are dayes, so will I number them
Oh, by this count I shall be much in yeares,
Ere I see thee againe.

Rom: Farewell, I will omit no opportunitie
That may conueigh my greetings loue to thee 45

Iul: Oh, thinkst thou we shall euer meete againe.

Rom: No doubt, no doubt, and all this woe shall serue
For sweete discourses in the time to come.

Iul: Oh God, I haue an ill diuining soule
Me thinkes I see thee now thou art below 50
Like one dead in the bottome of a Tombe.
Either mine ey-sight fales, or thou lookst pale.

Rom: And trust me Loue, in my eye so doo you,
Drie sorrow drinkes our blood: adieu, adieu. Exit.

Enter Nurse hastily

Nur: Madame beware, take heed the day is broke, 55
Your Mother's comming to your Chamber, make all sure.
She goeth downe from the window

 Enter Iuliets Mother, Nurse*

Moth Where are you Daughter?

Nur What Ladie, Lambe, what Iuliet?

Iul: How now, who calls?

Nur It is your Mother.

60

Moth: Why how now Iuliet?

Iul: Madam, I am not well.

Moth: What euermore weeping for your Cosens death:
I thinke thoult wash him from his graue with teares.

Iul I cannot chuse, hauing so great a losse.

65

Moth: I cannot blame thee.

But it greeues thee more that Villaine liues.

Iul What Villaine Madame?

Moth: That Villaine Romeo.

Iul Villaine and he are manie miles a sunder.

70

Moth Content thee Girle, if I could finde a man

I soone would send to Mantua where he is,
That should bestow on him so sure a draught,
As he should soone beare Tybalt companie.

Iul: Finde you the meanes, and Ile finde such a man.

75

For whilst he liues, my heart shall nere be light
Till I behold him, dead is my poore heart.

Thus for a Kinsman vext?

(newes?)

Moth: Well let that passe. I come to bring thee ioyfull

Iul: And ioy comes well in such a needfull time

80

Moth: Well then, thou hast a carefull Father Girle,

And one who pittying thy needfull state,
Hath found thee out a happie day of ioy.

Iul: What day is that I pray you?

Moth: Marry my Childe,

85

*The gallant, yong and youthfull Gentleman,
The Countie Paris at Saint Peters Church,
Early next Thursday morning must prouide,
To make you there a glad and ioyfull Bride

Iul: Now by Saint Peters Church and Peter too, 90

He shall not there make mee a ioyfull Bride.

Are these the newes you had to tell me of?

Marrie here are newes indeed. Madame I will not marrie yet

And when I doo, it shalbe rather Romeo whom I hate,
Than Countie Paris that I cannot loue

95

Enter olde Capolet

Moth. Here comes your Father, you may tell him so.

Capo Why how now, euermore showingr?

In one little bodie thou resemblst a sea, a barke, a storme :
For this thy bodie which I tearme a barke,
Still floating in thy euerfalling teares,
And tost with sighes arising from thy hart :
Will without succour shipwracke presently.
But heare you Wife, what haue you sounded her, what saies
she to it?

100

Moth. I haue, but she will none she thanks ye .
VVould God that she were married to her graue.

105

Capo. What will she not, doth she not thanke vs, doth she not wexe proud?

Iul: Not proud ye haue, but thankfull that ye haue :
Proud can I neuer be of that I hate,
But thankfull euen for hate that is ment loue.

110

Capo. Proud and I thanke you, and I thanke you not,
And yet not proud VVhats here, chop logicke.
Proud me no proude, nor thanke me no thanks,
But fettle your fine ioyns on Thursday next
To goe with Paris to Saint Peters Church,
Or I will drag you on a hurdle thether.

115

*Out you greene sicknes baggage, out you tallow face.

Iu: Good father heare me speake?

She kneeles downe.

Cap: I tell thee what, eyther resolute on thursday next
To goe with Paris to Saint Peters Church :
Or henceforth neuer looke me in the face.
Speake not, reply not, for my fingers yth.

120

Why wife, we thought that we were scarcely blest
That God had sent vs but this onely chyld :
But now I see this one is one too much,
And that we haue a crosse in hauing her.

125

Nur: Mary God in heauen blesse her my Lord,
You are too blame to rate her so.

Cap. And why my Lady wisdomeshold your tung,
Good prudence smatter with your gossips, goe

130

Nur. Why my Lord I speake no treason.

Cap: Oh goddegodden.

Vtter your graunty ouer a gossips boule,
For heere we need it not.

Mo: My Lord ye are too hotte.

135

Cap. Gods blessed mother wife it mads me,

Day, night, early, late, at home, abroad,
Alone, in company, waking or sleeping,
Still my care hath beene to see her matcht

And hauing now found out a Gentleman,
Of Princely parentage, youthfull, and nobly traunde.

140

Stuft as they say with honorable parts,
Proportioned as ones heart coulde wish a man.

And then to haue a wretched whyning foole,

A puling mammet in her fortunes tender,

145

To say I cannot loue, I am too young, I pray you pardon mee?

But if you cannot wedde Ile pardon you.

Graze where you will, you shall not house with me

Looke to it, thinke ont, I doe not vse to iest.

*I tell yee what, Thursday is neere,

150

Lay hand on heart, aduse, bethinke your selfe,

If you be mine, Ile giue you to my frend

If not, hang, drowne, starue, beg,

Dye in the streetes: for by my Soule

Ile neuer more acknowledge thee,

155

Nor what I haue shall euer doe thee good,

Thinke ont, looke toot, I doe not vse to iest.

Exit.

Inl. Is there no pittie hanging in the cloudes,

That lookes into the bottom of my woes?

I doe beseech you Madame, cast me not away,

160

Defer this mariage for a day or two,

Or if you cannot, make my mariage bed

In that dimme monument where Tybalt lyes.

Moth: Nay be assured I will not speake a word.

Do what thou wilt for I haue done with thee.

Exit.

165

Iul: Ah Nurse what comfort? what counsell canst thou giue me.

Nur: Now trust me Madame, I know not what to say:

Your Romeo he is banisht, and all the world to nothing

He neuer dares returne to challengd you.

Now I thinke good you marry with this County,

170

Oh he is a gallant Gentleman, Romeo is but a dishclout

In respect of him. I promise you

I thinke you happy in this second match.

As for your husband he is dead

Or twere as good he were, for you haue no vse of him 175

Iul: Speakst thou this from thy heart?

Nur I and from my soule, or els beshrew them both

Iul. Amen.

Nur: What say you Madame?

Iul Well, thou hast comforted me wondrous much, 180

I pray thee goe thy waies vnto my mother

Tell her I am gone hauing displeasde my Father,

To Fryer Laurence Cell to confesse me,

And to be absolu'd.

Nur*: I will, and this is wisely done. 185

She lookes after Nurse.

Iul: Auncient damnation, O most cursed fiend

Is it more sinne to wish me thus forsworne,

Or to dispraise him with the selfe same tongue

That thou hast praisde him with aboue compare

So many thousand times? Goe Counsellor, 190

Thou and my bosom henceforth shalbe twaine.

Ile to the Fryer to know his remedy,

If all faile els, I haue the power to dye

Exit.

Enter Fryer and Paris

[ACT. IV. SC. I.]

Fr: On Thursday say ye. the time is very short,

Par: My Father Capolet will haue it so,

And I am nothing slacke to slow his hast.

Fr. You say you doe not know the Ladies minde?

Vneuen is the course, I like it not 5

Par: Immoderately she weepes for Tybalts death,

And therefore haue I little talkt of loue

For Venus smiles not in a house of teares,

Now Sir, her father thinke it daungerous:

That she doth grue her sorrow so much sway 10

And in his wisdoms hasts our marriage,

To stop the inundation of her teares

Which too much minded by her selfe alone

May be put from her by societie.

Now doe ye know the reason of this hast 15

Fr: I would I knew not why it should be slowd.

Enter Paris*

Heere comes the Lady to my cell,

- Par* · Welcome my loue, my Lady and my wife .
Iu · That may be sir, when I may be a wife,
Par That may be, must be loue, on thursday next 20
Iu What must be shalbe
Fr · Thats a certaine text
Par What come ye to confession to this Fryer
Iu To tell you that were to confesse to you
Par Do not deny to him that you loue me. 25
Iul · I will confesse to you that I loue him,
Par · So I am sure you will that you loue me
Iu · And if I doe, it wilbe of more price,
 Being spoke behinde your backe, than to your face
Par · Poore soule thy face is much abus'd with teares. 30
Iu The teares haue got small victory by that,
 For it was bad enough before their spite.
Par Thou wrongst it more than teares by that report.
Iu · That is no wrong sir, that is a truth:
 And what I spake I spake it to my face. 35
Par · Thy face is mine and thou hast slaundred it.
Iu It may be so, for it is not mine owne.
 Are you at leasure holy Father now:
 Or shall I come to you at euening Masse?
Fr · My leasure serues me pensue daughter now 40
 My Lord we must entreate the time alone.
Par · God sheild I should disturbe deuotion,
Iuliet farwell, and keep this holy kisse.

Exit Paris

- Iu* · Goe shut the doore and when thou hast done so,
 Come weepe with me that I am past cure, past help, 45
Fr · Ah Iuliet I already know thy grieffe,
 I heare thou must and nothing may proroge it,
 *On Thursday next be married to the Countie.
Iul · Tell me not Frier that thou hearst of it,
 Vnlesse thou tell me how we may preuent it 50
 Grue me some sudden counsell: els behold
 Twixt my extreames and me, this bloodie Knife
 Shall play the Vmpeere, arbitrating that
 Which the Commussion of thy yeares and arte
 Could to no issue of true honour bring 55
 Speake not, be brieffe: for I desire to die,
 If what thou speakst, speake not of remedie
Fr · Stay Iuliet, I doo spie a kinde of hope,
 VVhich craues as desperate an execution,
 As that is desperate we would preuent.

If rather than to marrie Countie Paris 60
 Thou hast the strength or will to slay thy selfe,
 Tis not vnlike that thou wilt vndertake
 A thing like death to chyde away this shame,
 That coapst with death it selfe to flye from blame 65
 And if thou doost, Ile gue thee remedie.

Jul Oh bid me leape (rather than marrie Paris)
 From off the battlements of yonder tower.
 Or chaine me to some steepe mountaines top,
 VVhere roaring Beares and sauage Lions are: 70
 Or shut me nightly in a Charnell-house,
 VVith reekie shankes, and yeolow chaples skulls.
 Or lay me in tombe with one new dead:
 Things that to heare them namde haue made me tremble;
 And I will doo it without feare or doubt, 75
 To keep my selfe a faithfull vnstaind VVife
 To my deere Lord, my dearest Romeo

Fr: Hold Iuliet, hie thee home, get thee to bed,
 Let not thy Nurse lye with thee in thy Chamber:
 And when thou art alone, take thou this Violl, 80
 And this distilled Liquor drinke thou off.
 VVhen presently through all thy veynes shall run
 A dull and heaue slumber, which shall seaze
 *Each vitall spirit: for no Pulse shall keepe
 His naturall progresse, but surcease to beate. 85
 No signe of breath shall testifie thou liust
 And in this borrowed likenes of shrunke death,
 Thou shalt remaine full two and fortie houres.
 And when thou art laid in thy Kindreds Vault,
 Ile send in hast to Mantua to thy Lord, 90
 And he shall come and take thee from thy graue

Iul Frier I goe, be sure thou send for my deare Romeo.

Exeunt

Enter olde Capolet, his Wife, Nurse, and [Sc. II.]
Seruingman.

Capo: Where are you sirra?

Ser: Heere forsooth.

Capo: Goe, prouide me twentie cunning Cookes.

Ser: I warrant you Sir, let me alone for that, Ile knowe them by licking their fingers. 5

Capo: How canst thou know them so?

Ser Ah Sir, tis an ill Cooke cannot licke his owne fingers.

Capo Well get you gone.

Exit Seruingman

But wheres this Head-strong?

Moth. Shees gone (my Lord) to Frier Laurence Cell
To be confest 10

Capo: Ah, he may hap to doo some good of her,
A headstrong selfewild harlotrie it is.

 Enter Iuliet.*

Moth: See here she commeth from Confession, 15

Capo: How now my Head-strong, where haue you bin gadding?

Iul: Where I haue learned to repent the sin
Of froward wilfull opposition
Gainst you and your behests, and am enioynd 20
By holy Laurence to fall prostrate here,
And craue remission of so foule a fact.

She kneeles downe.

Moth: Why thats well said.

Capo: Now before God this holy reuerent Frier
All our whole Citie is much bound vnto. 25
Goe tell the Countie presently of this,
For I will haue this knot knit vp to morrow.

Iul: Nurse, will you go with me to my Closet,
To sort such things as shall be requisite
Against to morrow. 30

Moth: I pree thee doo, good Nurse goe in with her,
Helpe her to sort Tyres, Rebatoes, Chaines,
And I will come vnto you presently,

Nur: Come sweet hart, shall we goe:

Iul: I pree thee let vs. 35

Exeunt Nurse and Iuliet.

Moth: Me thinks on Thursday would be time enough.

Capo: I say I will haue this dispatcht to morrow,
Goe one and certefie the Count thereof.

Moth: I pray my Lord, let it be Thursday.

Capo: I say to morrow while shees in the mood. 40

Moth: We shall be short in our prouision.

Capo* Let me alone for that, goe get you in,
 Now before God my heart is passing light,
 To see her thus conformed to our will Exeunt.

Enter Nurse, Juliet [Sc III.]

Nur. Come, come, what need you anie thing else?

Iul. Nothing good Nurse, but leaue me to my selfe
 For I doo meane to lye alone to night.

Nur. Well theres a cleane smocke vnder your pillow, and so good night. Exit. 5

Enter Mother.

Moth. What are you busie, doo you need any helpe?

Iul. No Madame, I desire to lye alone,
 For I haue manie things to thinke vpon.

Moth. Well then good night, be stirring Juliet,
 The Countie will be earlie here to morrow. Exit. 10

Iul. Farewell, God knowes when wee shall meete againe.

Ah, I doo take a fearfull thing in hand.
 What if this Potion should not worke at all,
 Must I of force be married to the Countie?
 This shall forbid it. Knife, lye thou there. 15

What if the Frier should giue me this drinke
 To poyson mee, for feare I should disclose
 Our former marriage? Ah, I wrong him much,
 He is a holy and religious Man:
 I will not entertaine so bad a thought 20

What if I should be stifled in the Toomb?
 *Awake an houre before the appointed time
 Ah then I feare I shall be lunaticke,
 And playing with my dead forefathers bones,
 Dash out my franticke braines. Me thinkes I see 25
 My Cosin Tybalt weltring in his bloud,
 Seeking for Romeo. stay Tybalt stay.

Romeo I come, this doe I drinke to thee

She fa's vpon her bed within the Curtaines.

Enter Nurse with hearbs, Mother. [Sc. iv.]

Moth. Thats well said Nurse, set all in redines,
 The Countie will be heere immediatly.

Enter Oldeman

Cap: Make hast, make hast, for it is almost day,
The Curfewe bell hath rung, 'tis foure a clocke,
Looke to your bakt meates good Angelica.

Nur: Goe get you to bed you cotqueane I faith you will be sicke anone

Cap: I warrant thee Nurse I haue ere now watcht all night, and haue taken no harme at all

Moth: I you haue beene a mouse hunt in your time

10

Enter Seruingman with Logs & Coales.

Cap: A Ielous hood, a Ielous hood How now sirra?
What haue you there?

Ser: Forsooth Logs.

Cap: Goe, goe choose dryer Will will tell thee where thou shalt fetch them.

15

Ser: Nay I warrant let me alone, I haue a heade I tree to *choose a Log

Exit.

Cap: Well goe thy way, thou shalt be logger head.
Come, come, make hast call vp your daughter,
The Countie will be heere with musicke straight
Gods me hees come, Nurse call vp my daughter

20

Nur: Goe, get you gone. What lambe, what Lady birde? fast I warrant What Juliet? well, let the County take you in your bed yee sleepe for a weeke now, but the next night, the Countie Puris hath set vp his rest that you shal rest but little. What lambe I say, fast still: what Lady, Loue, whatbride, what Juliet? Gods me how sound she sleeps? Nay then I see I must wake you indeed Whats heere, laide on your bed, drest in your clothes and down, ah me, alack the day, some Aqua vitæ hoe.

25

[Sc v.]

Enter Mother

Moth: How now whats the matter?

Nur: Alack the day, shees dead, shees dead, shees dead.

Moth: Accurst, vnlappy, miserable time.

Enter Oldeman.

Cap: Come, come, make hast, wheres my daughter?

Moth: Ah shees dead, shees dead.

35

Cap: Stay, let me see, all pale and wan.
Accursed time, vnfortunate olde man

Enter Fryer and Paris

Par: What is the bride ready to goe to Church?

Cap: Ready to goe, but neuer to returne.

O Sonne the night before thy wedding day, 40
Hath Death laine with thy bride, flower as she is,
Deflowerd by him, see, where she lyes,

*Death is my Sonne in Law, to him I giue all that I haue,

Par: Haue I thought long to see this mornings face,
And doth it now present such prodiges? 45

Accurst, vnhappy, miserable man,
Forlorne, forsaken, destitute I am.

Borne to the world to be a slaue in it.

Distrest, remediles, and vnfortunate.

O heauens, O nature, wherefore did you make me, 50
To lue so vile, so wretched as I shall.

Cap: O heere she lies that was our hope, our ioy,
And being dead, dead sorrow nips vs all.

All at once cry out and wring their hands.

All cry: And all our ioy, and all our hope is dead,
Dead, lost, vndone, absented, wholly fled. 55

Cap: Cruel, vniust, impartiall destinies,
Why to this day haue you preseru'd my life?
To see my hope, my stay, my ioy, my life,
Depruide of sence, of life, of all by death,
Cruell, vniust, impartiall destinies. 60

Cap: O sad fac'd sorrow map of misery,
Why this sad time haue I desir'd to see.
This day, this vniust, this impartiall day
Wherein I hop'd to see my comfort full,
To be depruide by suddaine destinie. 65

Moth: O woe, alacke, distrest, why should I lue?
To see this day, this miserable day.
Alacke the time that euer I was borne,
To be partaker of this destinie.
Alacke the day, alacke and welladay. 70

Fy O peace for shame, if not for charity.
Your daughter lues in peace and happines,
And it is vaine to wish it otherwise.
*Come sticke your Rosemary in this dead coarse,

And as the custome of our Country is,
In all her best and sumptuous ornaments,
Conuay her where her Ancestors lie tomb'd,

75

Cap: Let it be so, come wofull sorrow mates,
Let vs together taste this bitter fate.

They all but the Nurse goe foorth, casting Rosemary on her and shutting the Curtens.

Enter Musitions

Nur: Put vp, put vp, this is a wofull case Exit. 80
1 I by my troth Mistresse is it, it had need be mended

Enter Seruingman.

Ser: Alack alack what shal I doe, come Fidlers play me some mery dumpe.

1. A sir, this is no time to play.

Ser You will not then? 85

1. No marry will wee

Ser Then will I giue it you, and soundly to 1 What will you grue vs?

Ser. The fidler, Ile re you, Ile fa you, Ile sol you

1. If you re vs and fa vs, we will note you 90

Ser I will put vp my Iron dagger, and beate you with my wodden wit Come on Simon found Pot, Ile pose you,

1. Lets heare

Ser: When griping griefe the heart doth wound,
And dolefull dumps the minde oppresse: 95

Then musique with her siluer sound,
Why siluer sound? Why siluer sound?

1. I thinke because musicke hath a sweet sound.

Ser: Pretie, what say you Mathew minikine?

*2. I thinke because Musitions sound for siluer. 100

Ser: Prettie too: come, what say you?

3. I say nothing.

Ser. I thinke so, Ile speak for you because you are the Singer. I saye Siluer sound, because such Fellowes as you haue sildome Golde for sounding Farewell Fidlers, fare- 105 well. Exit

1. Farewell and be hangd: come lets goo Exeunt.

Enter Romeo

[ACT V. SC. I.]

Rom: If I may trust the flattering Eye of Sleepe,

My Dreame presagde some good euent to come,
 My bosome Lord sits chearfull in his throne,
 And I am comforted with pleasing dreames.
 Me thought I was this night alreadie dead : 5
 (Strange dreames that gue a dead man leaue to thinke)
 And that my Ladie Iuliet came to me,
 And breathd such life with kisses in my lips,
 That I reuude and was an Emperour

Enter Balthasar his man booted.

Newes from Verona. How now Balthasar, 10
 How doth my Ladie? Is my Father well?
 How fares my Iuliet? that I aske againe.
 If she be well, then nothing can be ill

Balt Then nothing can be ill, for she is well,
 Her hodie sleepes in Capels Monument, 15
 And her immortall parts with Angels dwell.
 Pardou me Sir, that am the Messenger of such bad tidings.

Rom Is it euen so? then I defie my Starres.
 *Goe get me incke and paper, hyre post horse,
 I will not stay in Mantua to night 20

Balt Pardon me Sir, I will not leaue you thus,
 Your lookes are dangerous and full of feare.
 I dare not, nor I will not leaue you yet.

Rom: Doo as I bid thee, get me incke and paper,
 And hyre those horse. stay not I say. 25

Exit Balthasar

Well Iuliet, I will lye with thee to night.
 Lets see for meanes As I doo remember
 Here dwells a Potheecarie whom oft I noted
 As I past by, whose needie shop is stufft
 With beggerly accounts of emptie boxes: 30
 And in the same an Aligarta hangs,
 Olde endes of packthred, and cakes of Roses,
 Are thinly strewed to make vp a show.
 Him as I noted, thus with my selfe I thought:
 And if a man should need a poyson now, 35
 (Whose present sale is death in Mantua)
 Here he might buy it. This thought of mine
 Idd but forerunne my need. and here about he dwels.
 Being Holiday the Beggers shop is shut
 What ho Apothecarie, come forth I say. 40

Enter Apothecarie.Apo VVho calls, what would you sir?

Rom Heeres twentie duckates,
 Giue me a dram of some such speeding geere,
 As will dispatch the wearie takers life,
 As suddenly as powder being fierd 45
 From forth a Cannons mouth

Apo. Such drugs I haue I must of force confesse,
 But yet the law is death to those that sell them.

Rom* Art thou so bare and full of pouertie,
 And doost thou feare to violate the Law? 50
 The Law is not thy frend, nor the Lawes frend,
 And therefore make no conscience of the law
 Vpon thy backe hangs ragged Miserie,
 And starued Famine dwelleth in thy cheekes.

Apo My pouertie but not my will consents. 55

Rom. I pay thy pouertie, but not thy will

Apo Hold take you this, and put it in anie liquid thing you will, and it will serue had you the liues of twenty men.

Rom Hold, take this gold, worse poyson to mens soules
 Than this which thou hast giuen me. Goe hye thee hence, 60
 Goe buy the cloathes, and get thee into flesh.
 Come cordiall and not poyson, goe with mee
 To Iuliets Graue. for there must I vse thee. Exeunt.

Enter Frier Iohn.

[SC. II]

John VVhat Frier Laurence, Brother, ho?

Laur This same should be the voyce of Frier Iohn.
 What newes from Mantua, what will Romeo come?

Iohn. Going to seeke a barefoote Brother out,
 One of our order to associate mee, 5
 Here in this Cittie visiting the sick,
 VVhereas the infectious pestilence remaund:
 And being by the Searchers of the Towne
 Found and examinde, we were both shut vp.

Laur: VVho bare my letters then to Romeo? 10

Iohn. I haue them still, and here they are.

Laur: Now by my holy Order,
 The letters were not nice, but of great weight.
 Goe get thee hence, and get me presently
 *A spade and mattocke. 15

Iohn: Well I will presently go fetch thee them. Exit.

Laur: Now must I to the Monument alone,
 Least that the Ladie should before I come
 Be wakde from sleepe. I will hye
 To free her from that Tombe of miserie Exit 20

Enter Countie Paris and his Page with flowers and sweete water. [SC. III.]

Par: Put out the torch, and lye thee all along Vnder this Ew-tree, keeping thine eare close to the hollow ground.
 And if thou heare one tread within this Churchyard,
 Staight gue me notice. 5

Boy: I will my Lord.

Paris strewes the Tomb with flowers.

Par: Sweete Flower, with flowers I strew thy Bridale
 bed:

Sweete Tombe that in thy circuite dost containe,
 The perfect modell of eternitie
 Faure Iuliet that with Angells dost remaine, 10
 Accept this latest fauour at my hands,
 That liuing honourd thee, and being dead
 With funerall praises doo adorne thy Tombe
Boy whistles and calls My Lord.

Enter Romeo and Balthasar, with a torch, a a mattocke, and a crow of yron.

Par:* The boy giues warning, something doth approach. 15
 What cursed foote wanders this was to night,
 To stay my obseques and true loues rites?
 What with a torch, muffle me night a while

Rom: Gue mee this mattocke, and this wrenching Iron.

And take these letters, early in the morning, 20
 See thou deliuer them to my Lord and Father.
 So get thee gone and trouble me no more.
 Why I descend into this bed of death,
 Is partly to behold my Ladies face,
 But chiefly to take from her dead finger, 25
 A precious ring which I must vse
 In deare employment: but if thou wilt stay,
 Further to prie in what I vndertake,
 By heauen Ile teare thee ioynt by ioynt,
 And strewe thys hungry churchyard with thy liins. 30

The time and my intents are sauage, wilde

Balt: Well, Ile be gone and not trouble you

Rom. So shalt thou win my fauour, take thou this,
Commend me to my Father, farwell good fellow.

Balt: Yet for all this will I not part from hence. 35

Romeo opens the tombe

Rom Thou detestable maw, thou womb of death,
Gorde with the dearest morsell of the earth.

Thus I enforce thy rotten iawes to ope

Par: This is that banisht haughtie Mountague,
That murderd my loues cosen, I will apprehend him 40
Stop thy vnhalloved toyle vile Mountague.
Can vengeance be pursued further then death?
I doe attach thee as a fellow heere.

The Law condemnes thee, therefore thou must dye,

Rom. I must indeed, and therefore came I hither, 45
Good youth be gone, tempt not a desperate man
*Heape not another sinne vpon my head

By sheding of thy bloud, I doe protest

I loue thee better then I loue my selfe:

For I come hyther armed against my selfe, 50

Par. I doe defie thy coniurations
And doe attach thee as a fellow heere.

Rom: What dost thou tempt me, then haue at thee boy.

They fight.

Boy: O Lord they fight, I will goe call the watch.

Par: Ah I am slaine, if thou be mercifull 55
Open the tombe, lay me with Iuliet.

Rom: Yfaith I will, let me peruse this face,
Mercutios kinsman, noble County Paris!

What said my man, when my betossed soule
Did not regard him as we past a long. 60

Did he not say Paris should haue married
Iuliet? eyther he said so, or I dreamd it so.

But I will satisfie thy last request,
For thou hast prizd thy loue aboue thy life.
Death lye thou there, by a dead man interd, 65

How oft haue many at the houre of death
Beene blith and pleasant? which their keepers call

A lightning before death But how may I
Call this a lightning. Ah deare Iuliet,

How well thy beauty doth become this graue? 70
 O I beleue that vnsubstanciall death,
 Is amorous, and doth court my loue.
 Therefore will I, O heere, O euer heere,
 Set vp my euerlasting rest
 With wormes, that are thy chambermayds. 75
 Come desperate Pilot now at once runne on
 The dashing rockes thy sea-sicke weary barge.
 Heers to my loue. O true Apothecary
 Thy drugs are swift thus with a kisse I dye. Falls.

Enter Fryer with a Lanthorne*

How oft to night haue these my aged feete 80
 Stumbled at graues as I did passe along.
 Whose there?

Man. A frend and one that knowes you well

Fr. Who is it that consorts so late the dead,
 What light is yon? if I be not deceiued, 85
 Me thinkes it burnes in Capels monument?

Man. It doth so holy Sir, and there is one
 That loues you dearely.

Fr. Who is it?

Man. Romeo 90

Fr. How long hath he beene there?

Man. Full halfe an houre and more

Fr. Goe with me thether.

Man: I dare not sir, he knowes not I am heere
 On paine of death he chargde me to be gone, 95
 And not for to disturbe him in his enterprize.

Fr. Then must I goe my minde presageth ill

Fryer stoops and lookes on the blood and weapons.

What bloud is this that staines the entrance
 Of this marble stony monument?
 What meanes these maisterles and goory weapons? 100
 Ah me I doubt, whose heere? what Romeo dead?
 Who and Paris too? what vnluckie houre
 Is accessary to so foule a sinne?

Juliet rises.

The Lady sturres

2* Ah comfortable Fryer. 105

² Here again the stage direction is omitted, but 'Jul' is the catchword of the previous page.

I doe remember well where I should be,
And what we talkt of: but yet I cannot see
Him for whose sake I vndertooke this hazard.

Fr. Lady come forth, I heare some noise at hand,
We shall be taken, Paris he is slaine, 110
And Romeo dead. and if we heere be tane
We shall be thought to be as accessarie.

I will prouide for you in some close Nunery.

Iul. Ah leaue me, leaue me, I will not from hence.

Fr. I heare some noise, I dare not stay, come, come 115

Iul. Goe get thee gone

Whats heere a cup closde in my louers hands?
Ah churle drinke all, and leaue no drop for me.

Enter watch.

Watch: This way, this way.

Iul: I, noise? then must I be resolute. 120

O happy dagger thou shalt end my feare,
Rest in my bosome, thus I come to thee.

She stabs herselfe and fallies.

Enter watch.

Cap: Come looke about, what weapons haue we heere?
See frends where Iuliet two daies buried,
New bleeding wounded, search and see who's neare. 125
Attach and bring them to vs presently.

Enter one with the Fryer

1. Captaine heers a Fryer with tooles about him,
Fitte to ope a tombe.

Cap: A great suspition, keep him safe.

Enter one with Romets Man.*

1. Heeres Romeos Man. 130

Capt: Keepe him to be examinde.

Enter Prince with others.

Prin: What early mischiefe calls vs vp so soone.

Capt: O noble Prince, see here

Where Iuliet that hath lyen intoombd two dayes,
Warne and fresh bleeding, Romeo and Countie Paris 135
Likewise newly slaine

Prin: Search seeke about to finde the murderers.

Enter olde Capolet and his Wife.

Capo: What rumor's this that is so early vp?

Moth: The people in the streetes crie Romeo,
And some on Iuliet as if they alone 140
Had been the cause of such a mutinie.

Capo: See Wife, this dagger hath mistooke.
For (loe) the backe is emptie of yong Mountague
And it is sheathed in our Daughters breast.

Enter olde Montague.

Prin: Come Mountague, for thou art early vp, 145
To see thy Sonne and Heire more early downe

Mount: Dread Souereigne, my Wife is dead to night,
And yong Benuolio is deceased too:

What further mischiefe can there yet be found?

Prin: First come and see, then speake. 150

Mount O thou vntaught, what manners is in this
To presse before thy Father to a graue.

Prin: Come seale your mouthes of outrage for a while,
And let vs seeke to finde the Authors out
Of such a hainous and seld seene mischaunce. 155
Bring forth the parties in suspection.

Fr: I am the greatest able to doo least.
Most worthie Prince, heare me but speake the truth.

*And Ile informe you how these things fell out.

Iuliet here slaine was married to that Romeo, 160
Without her Fathers or her Mothers grant
The Nurse was priue to the marriage.

The balefull day of this vnhappie marriage,
VVas Tybalts doomesday: for which Romeo
VVas banished from hence to Mantua. 165

He gone, her Father sought by foule constraint
To marrie her to Paris: But her Soule
(Loathing a second Contract) did refuse
To giue consent; and therefore did she vrge me
Either to finde a meanes she might auoyd 170

VVhat so her Father sought to force her too
Or els all desperately she threatned
Euen in my presence to dispatch her selfe.
Then did I giue her, (tutord by mine arte)
A potion that should make her seeme as dead: 175
And told her that I would with all post speed
Send hence to Mantua for her Romeo,

That he might come and take her from the Toombe.

But he that had my Letters (Frier John)

Seeking a Brother to associate him, 180

VWhereas the sicke infection remaind,

VVas stayed by the Searchers of the Towne

But Romeo vnderstanding by his man,

That Juliet was deceasde, returnde in post

Vnto Verona for to see his loue. 185

VVhat after happened touching Paris death,

Or Romeos is to me vnknowne at all.

But when I came to take the Lady hence,

I found them dead, and she awakt from sleep.

VVhom faine I would haue taken from the tombe, 190

VVhich she refused seeing Romeo dead

Anone I heard the watch and then I fled,

VVhat afterhappened I am ignorant of.

And if in this ought haue miscaried.

*By me, or by my meanes let my old life 195

Be sacrificed some houre before his time.

To the most strickest rigor of the Law.

Pry VVe still haue knowne thee for a holy man,

VVheres Romeos man, what can he say in this?

Balth: I brought my maister word that shee was dead, 200

And then he poasted straight from Mantua,

Vnto this Toombe. These Letters he deliuered me,

(charging me early gue them to his Father.

Prin. Lets see the Letters, I will read them ouer.

VVhere is the Counties Boy that calld the VVatch? 205

Boy: I brought my Master vnto Juliets graue,

But one approaching, straight I calld my Master.

At last they fought, I ran to call the VVatch.

And this is all that I can say or know.

Prin: These letters doe make good the Fryers wordes, 210

Come Capolet, and come olde Mountagewe.

VVhere are these enemies? see what hate hath done,

Cap: Come brother Mountague gue me thy hand,

There is my daughters dowry: for now no more

Can I bestowe on her, thats all I haue 215

Moun: But I will gue them more, I will erect

Her statue of pure golde.

That while Verona by that name is knowne

There shall no statue of such price be set,

As that of Romeos loued Juliet. 220

Cap: As rich shall Romeo by his Lady lie,

Poore Sacrifices to our Enmitie.

Prin : A gloomie peace this day doth with it bring.

Come, let vs hence,

To haue more talke of these sad things.

225 .

Some shall be pardoned and some punished :

For nere was heard a Storie of more woe,

Than this of Iuliet and her Romeo.

FINIS.

THE
HAMLET.

The Tragicall Historie of

H A M L E T

Prince of Denmarke.

Enter two Centinels.

[ACT I Sc. I.]

[Sc. I.]

1. S^Tand: who is that?

2. Tis I.

1. O you come most carefully vpon your watch,

2. And if you meete Marcellus and Horatio,

The partners of my watch, bid them make haste

1. I will. See who goes there.

Enter Horatio and Marcellus

Hor. Friends to this ground.

Mar. And leegemen to the Dane,

O farewell honest souldier, who hath releued you?

1. Barnardo hath my place, gve you good night.

10

Mar. Holla, Barnardo.

2. Say, is Horatio there?

Hor. A peece of him.

2. Welcome Horatio, welcome good Marcellus.

Mar. What hath this thing appear'd againe to night,

15

2. I haue scene nothing.

Mar. Horatio sayes tis but our fantasie,

And wil not let beliefe take hold of him,

Touching this dreaded sight twice seene by vs,

*Therefore I haue intreated him a long with vs

20

To watch the minutes of this night,

That if againe this apparition come,

He may approoue our eyes, and speake to it.

Hor. Tut, t'will not appeare.

2. Sit downe I pray, and let vs once againe

25

Assaile your cares that are so fortified,

What we haue two nights seene.

Hor. Wel,sit we downe,and let vs heare Bernardo speake [Sc 1.]
of this.

2. Last night of al,when yonder starre that's west- 30 ward from the pole,had made his course to illumine that part of heauen. Where now it burnes,
The bell then towling one.

Enter Ghost.

Mar. Breake off your talke, see where it comes againe
2 In the same figure like the King that's dead, 35

Mar. Thou art a scholler, speake to it Horatio

2. Lookes it not like the king?

Hor. Most like, it horrors mee with feare and wonder.

2. It would be spoke to.

Mar. Question it Horatio 40

Hor. What art thou that thus vsurps the state,in Which the Maestie of buried Denmarke did sometimes Walke? By heauen I charge thee speake.

Mar. It is offended. exit Ghost.

2. See, it stalkes away. 45

Hor. Stay, speake, speake, by heauen I charge thee speake.

Mar. Tis gone and makes no answer.

2 How now Horatio,you tremble and looke pale,
Is not this something more than fantasie? 50
What thinke you on't?

Hor. Afore my God, I might not this beleuee, without the sensible and true auouch of my owne eyes.

Mar.* Is it not like the King?

Hor. As thou art to thy selfe, 55
Such was the very armor he had on,
When he the ambitious Norway combated.
So frownd he once,when in an angry parle
He smot the sleaded pollax on the yce,
Tis strange. 60

Mar. Thus twice before, and iump at this dead hower,
With Marshall stalke he passed through our watch.

Hor In what particular to worke, I know not,
But in the thought and scope of my opinion,
This bodes some strange eruption to the state. 65

Mar. Good,now sit downe, and tell me he that knowes
Why this same strikt and most obseruant watch,
So nightly toyles the subiect of the land,
And why such dayly cost of brazen Cannon
And forraine marte, for implements of warre, 70

Why such impresse of ship-writes, whose sore taske
Does not diuide the sunday from the weeke .

[Sc. I.]

What might be toward that this sweaty march
Doth make the night ioynt labourer with the day,
Who is't that can informe me?

75

Hor. Mary that can I, at least the whisper goes so,
Our late King, who as you know was by Forten-
Brasse of Norway,

Thereto prickt on by a most emulous cause, dared to
The combate, in which our valiant Hamlet,
For so this side of our knowne world esteemed him,
Did slay this Fortenbrasse,

80

Who by a seale compact well ratified, by law
And heraldrie, did forfeit with his life all those
His lands which he stooode seized of by the conqueror,
Against the which a moity competent,

85

Was gaged by our King :

Now sir, yong Fortenbrasse,

Of inaproued mettle hot and full,

*Hath in the skirts of Norway here and there,

90

Sharpt vp a sight of lawlesse Resolutes

For food and diet to some enterprise,

That hath a stomacke in't. and this (I take it) is the Chiefe head and ground of this our watch.

Enter the Ghost.

But loe, behold, see where it comes againe,

95

Ile crosse it, though it blast me. stay illusion,

If there be any good thing to be done,

That may doe ease to thee, and grace to mee,

Speake to mee.

If thou art pruy to thy countries fate,

100

Which happily foreknowing may preuent, O speake to me,

Or if thou hast extorted in thy life,

Or hoorded treasure in the wombe of earth,

For which they say you Spirites oft walke in death, speake to me, stay and speake, speake, stoppe it Marcellus.

105

2. 'Tis heere

exit Ghost.

Hor. 'Tis heere

Marc. 'Tis gone, O we doe it wrong, being so maiestically, to offer it the shew of violence,

For it is as the ayre inueltorable,

110

And our vaine blowes malitious mockery.

2. It was about to speake when the Cocke crew.

Hor. And then it faded like a guilty thing,
Vpon a fearefull summons. I haue heard

The Cocke, that is the trumpet to the morning,
 Doth with his earely and shrill crowing throate,
 Awake the god of day, and at his sound,
 Whether in earth or ayre, in sea or fire,
 The strauagant and erring spirite hies
 To his confines, and of the trueth heereof
 This present object made probation. 120

Marc It faded on the crowing of the Cocke,
 Some say, that euer gainst that season comes,
 Wherein our Sauours birth is celebrated,
 *The bird of dawning singeth all night long, 125
 And then they say, no spirite dare walke abroad,
 The nights are wholesome, then no planet frikes,
 No Faerie takes, nor Witch hath powre to charme,
 So gratus, and so hallowed is that time.

Hor. So haue I heard, and doe in parte beleue it. 130
 But see the Sunne in russet mantle clad,
 Walkes ore the deaw of yon hie mountaine top,
 Breake we our watch vp, and by my aduise,
 Let vs impart what wee haue seene to night
 Vnto yong Hamlet: for vpon my life 135
 This Spirite dumbe to vs will speake to him:
 Do you consent, wee shall acquaint him with it,
 As needefull in our loue, fitting our duetie?

Marc. Lets doo't I pray, and I this morning know,
 Where we shall finde him most conueniently. 140

Enter King, Queene, Hamlet, Leartes, Corambis, and the two Ambassadors, with Attendants. [Sc. II.]

King Lordes, we here haue writ to Fortenbrasse,
 Nephew to olde Norway, who impudent
 And bed-rid, scarcely heares of this his Nephews purpose: and Wee heere dispatch
 Yong good Cornelia, and you Voltemar 5
 For bearers of these greetings to olde
Norway, giuing to you no further personall power
 To businesse with the King,
 Then those related articles do shew:
 Farewell, and let your haste commend your dutie. 10

Gent. In this and all things will wee shew our dutie.

King. Wee doubt nothing, hartly farewell:
 And now Leartes what's the newes with you?

You said you had a sute what i'st Leartes?

[Sc. II.]

Lea: My gracious Lord, your fauorable licence,

15

Now that the funerall rites are all performed,

*I may haue leaue to go againe to France,

For though the fauour of your grace might stay mee,

Yet something is there whispers in my hart,

Whlch makes my minde and spirits bend all for France

20

King Haue you your fathers leaue, Leartes?

Cor. He hath, my lord, wrung from me a forced graunt,

And I beseech you grant your Highnesse leaue.

King With all our heart, Leartes fare thee well.

Lear I in all loue and dutie take my leaue.

25

King And now princely Sonne Hamlet, Exit

What meanes these sad and melancholy moods?

For your intent going to Wittenberg,

Wee hold it most vnmeet and vnconuenient,

Being the Ioy and halfe heart of your mother.

30

Therefore let mee intreat you stay in Court,

All Denmarkes hope our coosin and dearest Sonne.

Ham. My lord, t'i's not the sable sute I weare:

No nor the teares that still stand in my eyes,

Nor the distracted hauiour in the visage,

35

Nor all together mixt with outward semblance,

Is equall to the sorrow of my heart,

Him haue I lost I must of force forgooe,

These but the ornaments and sutes of woe.

King This shewes a louing care in you, Sonne Hamlet,

40

But you must thinke your father lost a father,

That father dead, lost his, and so shalbe vntill the Generall ending. Therefore cease laments,

It is a fault gainst heauen, fault gainst the dead,

A fault gainst nature, and in reasons

45

Common course most certaine,

None liues on earth, but hee is borne to die

Que. Let not thy mother loose her praiers Hamlet,

Stay here with vs, go not to Wittenberg

Ham. I shall in all my best obey you madam.

50

King Spoke like a kinde and a most louing Sonne,

And there's no health the King shall drinke to day,

*But the great Canon to the clowdes shall tell

The rowse the King shall drinke vnto Prince Hamlet

Exeunt all but Hamlet.

Ham. O that this too much grieu'd and salled flesh

55

Would melt to nothing, or that the vniuersall

Globe of heauen would turne al to a Chaos!

O God within two moneths; no not two: married,
 Mine vncke O let me not thinke of it,
 My fathers brother: but no more like
 My father, then I to Hercules. 60

Within two months, ere yet the salt of most Vnrightheous teates had left their flushing
 In her galled eyes she married, O God, a beast
 Deuoyd of reason would not haue made 65

Such speede Frailtie, thy name is Woman,
 Why she would hang on him, as if increase
 Of appetite had growne by what it looked on.
 O wicked wicked speede, to make such Dexteritie to incestuous sheetes, 70

Ere yet the shooes were olde,
 The which she followed my dead fathers corse
 Like Nyobe, all teares: married, well it is not,
 Nor it cannot come to good:
 But breake my heart, for I must holde my tongue. 75

Enter Horatio and Marcellus.

Hor Health to your Lordship.

Ham. I am very glad to see you, (Horatio) or I much forget my selfe

Hor. The same my Lord, and your poor seruant euer.

Ham O my good friend, I change that name with you: 80
 but what make you from Wittenberg Horatio?

Marcellus.

Marc. My good Lord.

Ham. I am very glad to see you, good euen sirs
 But what is your affaire in Elsenoure? 85

Wee teach you to drinke deepe ere you depart.

Hor* A trowant disposition, my good Lord

Ham. Nor shall you make mee truster
 Of your owne report against your selfe:
 Sir, I know you are no trowant: 90
 But what is your affaire in Elsenoure?

Hor. My good Lord, I came to see your fathers funerall.

Ham. O I pre thee do not mocke mee fellow student,
 I thinke it was to see my mothers wedding.

Hor. Indeepe my Lord, it followed hard vpon. 95

Ham Thrift, thrift, Horatio, the funerall bak't meates
 Did coldly furnish forth the marriage tables,
 Would I had met my deerest foe in heauen

Ere euer I had scene that day Horatio;

[Sc. II.]

O my father, my father, me thinks I see my father, 100

Hor Whoe my Lord?

Ham Why, in my mindes eye Horatio

Hor I saw him once, he was a gallant King

Ham He was a man, take him for all in all,

I shall not looke vpon his like againe

105

Hor My Lord, I thinke I saw him yesternight,

Ham Saw, who?

Hor My Lord, the King your father

Ham Ha, ha, the King my father he you

Hor Ceasen your admiration for a while 110

With an attentue eare, till I may deliuer,

Vpon the witnesse of these Gentlemen

This wonder to you

Ham For Gods loue let me heare it

Hor Two nights together had these Gentlemen,

115

Marcellus and Bernardo, on their watch,

In the dead vast and middle of the night

Beene thus encountered by a figure like your father,

Armed to poynt, exactly Capapea

Apperes before them thise, he walkes

120

Before their weake and feare oppressed eyes

Within his tronchions length,

*While they distilled almost to gelly

With the act of feare stands dumbe,

And speake not to him this to mee

125

In dreadfull secrecie impart they did

And I with them the thud night kept the watch,

Where as they had deliuered forme of the thing

Each part made true and good,

The Apparition comes I knew your father,

130

These handes are not more like

Ham Tis very strange

Hor. As I do lue, my honord lord, tis true,

And wee did thinke it right done,

In our dutie to let you know it 135

Ham Where was this?

Mar My Lord, vpon the platforme where we watched

Ham Did you not speake to it?

Hor My Lord we did, but answers made it none,

Yet once me thought it was about to speake,

140

And lifted vp his head to motion,

Like as he would speake, but euen then

The morning cocke crew lowd, and in all haste,

It shruncke in haste away, and vanished

[Sc. II]

Our sight

145

Ham Indeed, indeed sirs, but this troubles me
Hold you the watch to night?

All We do my Lord

Ham Armed say ye?

All Armed my good Lord

150

Ham From top to toe?

All My good Lord, from head to foote

Ham Why then saw you not his face?

Hor. O yes my Lord, he wore his beuer vp.

Ham How look't he, frowningly?

155

Hor. A countenance more in sorrow than in anger.

Ham. Pale, or red?

Hor Nay, verie pal

Ham* And fixt his eies vpon you

Hor Most constantly

160

Ham I would I had bene there.

Hor It would a much amazed you.

Ham. Yea very like, very like, staid it long?

Hor. While one with moderate pace

Might tell a hundred.

165

Mar. O longer, longer.

Ham His beard was griseled, no.

Hor. It was as I haue scene it in his life,

A sable siluer

Ham. I wil watch to night, perchance t'wil walke againe.

170

Hor. I warrant it will

Ham. If it assume my noble fathers person,

He speake to it, if hell it selfe should gape,

And bid me hold my peace, Gentlemen,

If you haue hither consealed this sight,

175

Let it be temble in your silence still,

And whatsoever else shall chance to night,

Giue it an vnderstanding, but no tongue,

I will requit your loues, so fare you well,

Vpon the platforme, twixt eleuen and twelue,

180

He visit you.

All. Our duties to your honor. exunt.

Ham. O your loues, your loues, as mine to you,

Farewell, my fathers spirit in Armes,

Well, all's not well I doubt some foule play,

185

Would the night were come,

Till then, sit still my soule, foule deeds will rise

Though all the world orewhelme them to mens eies Exit.

Enter Leartes and Ofelia.

[SCENE III.]

Leart My necessities are inbarkt, I must aboard,
 But ere I part, marke what I say to thee
 I see Prince Hamlet makes a shew of loue
 Beware Ofelia, do not trust his vowes,
 Perhaps he loues you now, and now his tongue, 5
 *Speakes from his heart, but yet take heed my sister,
 The Charrest maide is prodigall enough,
 If she vnmaske hir beautie to the Moone
 Vertue it selfe scapes not calumnious thoughtis,
 Belou't Ofelia, therefore keepe a loofe 10
 Lest that he trip thy honor and thy fame

Ofel. Brother, to this I haue lent attentine care,
 And doubt not but to keepe my honour firme,
 But my deere brother, do not you
 Like to a cunning Sophister, 15
 Teach me the path and ready way to heauen,
 While you forgetting what is said to me,
 Your selfe, like to a carelesse libertine
 Doth giue his heart, his appetite at ful,
 And little reckes how that his honour dies 20

Lear No, feare it not my deere Ofelia,
 Here comes my father, occasion smiles vpon a second leaue

Enter Corambis

Cor Yet here Leartes? aboard, aboard, for shame,
 The winde sits in the shoulder of your saile,
 And you are stard for, there my blessing with thee 25
 And these few precepts in thy memory.
 "Do thou familiar, but by no meanes vulgare;
 "Those friends thou hast, and their adoptions tried,
 "Graple them to thee with a hoope of Steele,
 "But do not dull the palme with entertaine, 30
 "Of euery new vnfleg'd courage,
 "Beware of entrance into a quarrell; but being in,
 "Beare it that the opposed may beware of thee,
 "Costly thy appurrell, as thy purse can buy.
 "But not exprest in fashion, 35
 "For the apparell oft proclaimes the man
 And they of France of the chiefe rancke and station
 Are of a most select and generall chiefe in that:
 "Thus above all, to thy owne selfe be true,
 And it must follow as the night the day, 40
 *Thou canst not then be false to any one,
 Farewel, my blessing with thee.

Lear. I humbly take my leaue, farewell Ofelia,

And remember well what I haue said to you. exit

[SC. III]

Ofel It is already lock't within my hart, 45

And you your selfe shall keepe the key of it

Cor What i'st Ofelia he hath saide to you?

Ofel. Somthing touching the prince Hamlet

Cor Mary wel thought on, t'is giuen me to vnderstand,

That you haue bin too prodigall of your maiden presence 50

Vnto Prince Hamlet, if it be so,

As so tis giuen to mee, and that in waie of caution

I must tell you, you do not vnderstand your selfe

So well as befits my honor, and your credite.

Ofel. My lord, he hath made many tenders of his loue 55

to me

Cor. Tenders, I, I, tenders you may call them.

Ofel And withall, such earnest vowes

Cor Springes to catch woodcocks,

What, do not I know when the blood doth burne, 60

How prodigall the tongue lends the heart vowes,

In briefe, be more scanter of your maiden presence,

Or tending thus you'l tender mee a foole

Ofel I shall obey my lord in all I may

Cor. Ofelia, receiue none of his letters, 65

"For louers lines are snares to intrap the heart;

"Refuse his tokens, both of them are keyes

To vnlooke Chastitie vnto Desire.

Come in Ofelia, such men often proue,

"Great in their wordes, but little in their loue 70

Ofel. I will my lord exeunt.

Enter Hamlet, Horatio, and Marcellus.

[SC. IV.]

Ham. The ayre bites shrewd, it is an eager and

An nipping winde, what houre i'st?

Hor I think it lacks of twelue, Sound Trumpets

Mar. No, t'is stricke.

* Hor. Indeed I heard it not, what doth this mean my lord? 5

Ham. O the king doth wake to night, & takes his rowse,

Keepe wassel, and the swaggering vp-spring reeles,

And as he dreames, his draughts of renish downe,

The kettle, drumme, and trumpet, thus bry out,

The triumphes of his pledge. 10

Hor. Is it a custome here?

Ham. I mary i'st and though I am

Natiue here, and to the maner borne,

It is a custome, more honourd in the breach,

Then in the obseruance. 15

Enter the Ghost.

[Sc. iv.]

Hor. Looke my Lord, it comes

Ham. Angels and Ministers of grace defend vs,
 Be thou a spirite of health, or goblin damn'd,
 Bring with thee ayres from heanen, or blasts from hell
 Be thy intents wicked or charitable, 20
 Thou commest in such questionable shape,
 That I will speake to thee,
 Ile call thee Hamlet, King, Father, Royall Dane,
 O answere mee, let mee not burst in ignorance,
 But say why thy canonizd bones hearsed in death 25
 Haue burst their ceremonies.why thy Sepulcher,
 In which wee saw thee quietly interr'd,
 Hath burst his ponderous and marble iawes,
 To cast thee vp againe. what may this meane,
 That thou, dead corse, againe in compleate steele, 30
 Reussets thus the glimses of the Moone,
 Making night hideous, and we fooles of nature,
 So horribly to shake our disposition,
 With thoughts beyond the reaches of our soules?
 Say, speake, wherefore, what may this meane? 35

Hor. It beckons you, as though it had something
 To impart to you alone.

Mar. Looke with what courteous action
 It waues you to a more remoued ground,
 *But do not go with it. 40

Hor. No, by no meanes my Lord*Ham.* It will not speake, then will I follow it

Hor. What if it tempt you toward the flood my Lord
 That beckles ore his bace, into the sea,
 And there assume some other horrible shape, 45
 Which might depriue your soueraigntie of reason,
 And drue you into madnesse: thinke of it.

Ham. Still am I called, go on, ile follow thee*Hor.* My Lord, you shall not go.

Ham. Why what should be the feare? 50
 I do not set my life at a pinnes fee,
 And for my soule, what can it do to that?
 Being a thing immortall, like it selfe,
 Go on, ile follow thee.

Mar. My Lord be rulde, you shall not goe 55

Ham. My fate cries out, and makes each pety Artiuus
 As hardy as the Nemeon Lyons nerue,
 Still am I cald, vnhand me gentlemen,
 By heauen ile make a ghost of him that lets me,

Away I say, go on, ile follow thee

[Sc IV]

Hor He waxeth desperate with imagination

Mar Something is rotten in the state of Denmarke

Hor Haue after, to what issue will this sort?

Mar Lets follow, tis not fit thus to obey him exit

Enter Ghost and Hamlet [ACT I Sc V]

Ham Ile go no farther, whither wilt thou leade me? 65

Ghost Maike me

Ham I will

Ghost I am thy fathers spirit, dooind for a time

To walke the night, and all the day

Confinde in flaming fire, 70

Till the foule crimes done in my dayes of Nature

Arepurged and bunt away

Ham Alas poore Ghost

Ghost Nay pittie me not, but to my unfolding

*Lend thy listning eare, but that I am forbid 75

To tell the secrets of my prison house

I would a tale vnfold, whose lightest word

Would harrow vp thy soule, freeze thy yong blood,

Make thy two eyes like stars start from their sphere,

Thy knotted and combined locks to part, 80

And each particular haire to stand on end

Like quils vpon the fietfull Porpentine,

But this same blazon must not be, to eares of flesh and blood

Hamlet, if ever thou didst thy deere father loue.

Ham O God 85

Gho Reuenge his foule, and most vnnaturall murder

Ham Murder

Ghost Yea, murder in the highest degree,

As in the least tis bad,

But mine most foule, beastly, and vnnaturall 90

Ham Haste me to knowe it, that with wings as swift as meditation, or the thought of it, may sweepe to my reuenge

Ghost O I finde thee apt, and duller shouldst thou be

Then the fat weede which rootes it selfe in ease

On Lethe wharffe brieft let me be 95

Tis given out, that sleeping in my orchard,

A Serpent stung me, so the whole eare of Denmarke

Is with a forged Prosses of my death rankoly abusde.

But know thou noble Youth he that did sting

Thy fathers heart, now weares his Crowne 100

Ham O my prophetike soule, my vncl^e my vncl^e!

Ghost Yea he, that incestuous wretch, wonne to his will

O wicked will, and gifts! that haue the power (with gifts,

So to seduce my most seeming vertuous Queene,
 But vertne, as it neuer will be moued,
 Though Lewdnesse court it in a shape of heauen,
 So Lust, though to a radiant angle linct,
 Would fute it selfe from a celestiaall bedde,
 And prey on garbage but soft, me thinkes
 I sent the mornings ayre, brieft let me be, 110
 *Sleeping within my Orchard, my custome alwayes
 In the after noone, vpon my secure houre
 Thy vncke came, with iuyce of Hebouna
 In a viall, and through the porches of my eares
 Did powre the leaprous distilment, whose effect 115
 Hold such an enmitie with blood of man,
 That swift as quickesiluer, it posteth through
 The naturall gates and allies of the body,
 And turnes the thinne and wholesome blood,
 Like cager dropings into milke 120
 And all my smoothe body, barked, and totterd ouer.
 Thus was I sleeping by a brothers hand
 Of Crowne, of Queene, of life, of dignitie
 At once depriued. no reckoning made of,
 But sent vnto my graue, 125
 With all my accompts and sinnes vpon my head,
 O horrible, most horrible!
Ham. O God!
ghost If thou hast nature in thee, beare it not,
 But howsoeuer, let not thy heart 130
 Conspire against thy mother aught,
 Leaue her to heauen,
 And to the burthen that her conscience beares.
 I must be gone, the Glo-worme shewes the Martin
 To be neere, and gin's to pale his vneffectuall fire: 135
 Hamlet adue, adue, adue: remember me. Exit
Ham O all you hoste of heauen! O earth, what else?
 And shall I couple hell; remember thee?
 Yes thou poore Ghost; from the tables
 Of my memorie, ile wipe away all sawes of Bookes, 140
 All triuall fond conceites
 That euer youth, or else obseruance noted,
 And thy remembrance, all alone shall sit
 Yes, yes, by heauen, a damnd pernicious villaine,
 Murderons, bawdy, smiling damnd villaine, 145
 (My tables) meet it is I set it downe,
 *That one may smile, and smile, and be a villayne,
 At least I am sure, it may be so in Denmarke.

145

So vncle, there you are, there you are.

[Sc. iv.]

Now to the words; it is adue adue remember me,

150

Soe t'is enough I haue sworne

Hor. My lord, my lord

Enter Horatio,

Mar. Lord Hamlet

and Marcellus.

Hor. Ill, lo, lo, ho, ho

Mar. Ill, lo, lo, so, ho, so, come boy, come 155

Hor. Heauens secure him.

Mar. How i'st my noble lord?

Hor. What news my lord?

Ham. O wonderfull, wonderful

Hor. Good my lord tel it.

160

Ham. No not I, you'l reueale it

Hor. Not I my Lord by heauen

Mar. Nor I my Lord

Ham. How say you then? would hart of man

Once thinke it? but you'l be secret.

165

Both. I by heauen, my lord

Ham. There's neuer a villaine dwelling in all Denmarke,

But hee's an arrant knaue.

Hor. There need no Ghost come from the graue to tell you this

170

Ham. Right, you are in the right, and therefore

I holde it meet without more circumstance at all,

Wee shake hands and part, you as your busines

And desiers shall leade you. for looke you,

Euery man hath busines, and desires, such 175

As it is, and for my owne poore parte, ile go pray

Hor. These are but wild and wherling words, my Lord.

Ham. I am sory they offend you; hartely, yes faith hartily.

Hor. Ther's no offence my Lord

Ham. Yes by Saint Patruke but there is Horatio,

180

And much offence too, touching this vision,

It is an honest ghost, that let mee tell you,

*For your desires to know what is betweene vs,

Or'emaister it as you may

And now kind frends, as you are frends,

185

Schollers and gentlemen,

Grant mee one poore request

Both. What i'st my Lord?

Ham. Neuer make known what you haue scene to night

Both. My lord, we will not.

190

Ham. Nay but sweare.

Hor. In faith my Lord not I.

Mar. Nor I my Lord in faith.

Ham Nay vpon my sword, indeed vpon my sword

[Sc. iv.]

Gho. Swear

195

The Gost vnder the stage.

Ham Ha, ha, come you here, this fellow in the sellerige,
Here consent to swear

Hor Propose the oth my Lord.

Ham Neuer to speake what you haue scene to night,
Swear by my sword

200

Gost. Swear.

Ham. Hic & vbique; nay then weele shift our ground
Come hither Gentlemen, and lay your handes

Againe vpon this sword, neuer to speake

Of that which you haue soone, swear by my sword

205

Ghost Swear

Ham. Well said old Mole, can'st worke in the earth' so fast, a worthy Pioner, once more remoue.

Hor Day and night, but this is wondrous strange

Ham And therefore as a stranger giue it welcome,
There are more things in heauen and earth Horatio,

210

Then are Dream't of, in your philosophie,

But come here, as before you neuer shall

How strange or odde soere I beare my selfe,

As I perchance hereafter shall thinke meet,

215

To put an Anticke disposition on,

That you at such times seeing me, neuer shall

*With Armes, incombred thus, or thus head shake,

Or by pronouncing some vndoubtfull phrase,

As well well, wee know, or wee could and if we would,

220

Or there be, and if they might, or such ambiguous:

Giuing out to note, that you know aught of mee,

This not to doe, so grace, and mercie

At your most need helpe you, swear

Ghost. swear

225

Ham. Rest, rest, perturbed spirit so gentlemen,

In all my loue I do commend mee to you,

And what so poore a man as Hamlet may,

To pleasure you, God willing shall not want,

Nay come lett's go together,

230

But stil your fingers on your lippes I pray,

The time is out of ioynt, O cursed spite,

That euer I was borne to set it right,

Nay come lett's go together.

Exeunt

Enter Corambis, and Montano

[ACT II SCENE I]

Cor Montano, here, these letters to my sonne,

[Sc. v]

And this same mony with my blessing to him,

And bid him ply his learning good Montano

[Sc v.]

Mon I will my lord

Cor You shall do very well Montano, to say thus,

I knew the gentleman, or know his father,

To inquire the manner of his life,

As thus; being amongst his acquaintance,

You may say, you saw him at such a time, marke you mee,

At game, or drincking, swearing, or drabbing,

10

You may go so farre

Mon My lord, that will impeach his reputation

Cor I faith not a whit, no not a whit,

Now happely hee closeth with you in the consequence,

As you may bridle it not disparage him a iote

15

What was I a bout to say,

Mon Hee closeth with him in the consequence.

Cor I, you say right, hee closeth with him thus,

"This will hee say, let mee see what hee will say,

Mary this, I saw him yesterday, or tother day,

20

Or then, or at such a time, a dicing,

Or at Tennis, I or drincking drunke, or entring

Of a howse of lightnes viz. brothell,

Thus sir do wee that know the world, being men of reach,

By indirections, finde directions forth,

25

And so shall you my sonne; you haue me, haue you not?

Mon I haue my lord.

Cor Wel, fare you well, commend mee to him.

Mon. I will my lord.

Cor. And bid him ply his musicke

30

Mon. My lord I wil exit.

Enter, Ofelia.

Cor. Farewel, how now Ofelia, what's the newes with you?

Ofe. O my deare father, such a change in nature,

So great an alteration in a Prince,

So pitifull to him, fearefull to mee,

35

A maidens eye ne're looked on

Cor Why what's the matter my Ofelia?

Of O yong Prince Hamlet, the only floure of Denmark,

Hee is bereft of all the wealth he had,

The Iewell that adornd his feature most 40

Is filcht and stolue away, his wit's bereft him,

Hee found mee walking in the gallery all alone,

There comes hee to mee, with a distracted looke,

His garters lagging downe, his shooes vntide,

And fixt his eyes so stedfast on my face,

45

As if they had vow'd, this is their latest object

Small while he stooke, but gripes me by the wrist,
 And there he holdes my pulse till with a sigh
 He doth vnclaspe his holde, and parts away
 Silent, as is the mid time of the night. [Sc. v]

And as he went, his eie was still on mee,
 For thus his head ouer his shoulder looked,
 He seemed to finde the way without his eies
 *For out of doores he went without their helpe,
 And so did leaue me 50

Cor. Madde for thy loue,
 What haue you giuen him any crosse wordes of late?

Ophelia I did repell his letters, deny his gifts,
 As you did charge me.

Cor. Why that hath made him madde. 60
 By heau'n 'tis as proper for our age to cast
 Beyond our selues, as 'tis for the younger sort
 To leaue their wantonnesse Well I am sorry
 That I was so rash: but what remedy?

Lets to the King, this madnesse may prouoc,
 Though wilde a while, yet more true to thy loue. 65

Enter King and Queene, Rossencraft, and Gilderstone. [ACT II. SC II]

King Right noble friends, that our deere cosin Hamlet [Sc. VI]

Hath lost the very heart of all his sence,
 It is most right, and we most sorry for him.
 Therefore we doe desire, euen as you tender
 Our care to him, and our great loue to you, 5
 That you will labour but to wring from him
 The cause and ground of his distemperance
 Doe this, the king of Denmarke shal be thankfull.

Ros. My Lord, whatsoever lies within our power
 Your maiestie may more commaund in wordes 10
 Then vse perswasions to your liege men, bound
 By loue, by duetie, and obedience.

Guil. What we may doe for both your Maiesties
 To know the grieffe troubles the Prince your sonne,
 We will indeuour all the best we may, 15
 So in all duetie doe we take our leaue

King Thanks Gilderstone, and gentle Rossencraft,

Que. Thanks Rossencraft, and gentle Gilderstone

Enter Corambis and Ophelia.

Cor. My Lord, the Ambassadors are ioyfully
 Return'd from Norway 20

King Thou still hast beene the father of good news.

Cor.* Haue I my Lord? I assure your grace,
 I holde my duetie as I holde my life,

Both to my God, and to my soueraigne King.

[Sc. vi]

And I beleue, or else this braine of mine

25

Hunts not the traine of policie so well

As it had wont to doe, but I haue found

The very depth of Hamlets lunacie

Queene God graunt he hath.

Enter the Ambassadors

King Now Voltemar, what from our brother Norway?

30

Vol. Most faire returnes of greetings and desires,

Vpon our first he sent forth to suppress

His nephews leues, which to him appear'd

To be a preparation gainst the Polacke:

But better look't into, he truely found

35

It was against your Highnesse, whereat grieved,

That so his sicknesse, age, and impotence,

Was falsely borne in hand, sends out arrests

On Fortenbrasse, which he in briefe obays,

Receiues rebuke from Norway: and in fine,

40

Makes vow before his vncke, neuer more

To give the assay of Armes against your Maestie,

Whereon olde Norway ouercome with ioi,

Giues him three thousand crownes in annuall fee,

And his Commission to employ those souldiers,

45

So leuied as before, against the Polacke,

With an intreaty heerein further shewne,

That it would please you to giue quiet passe

Through your dominions, for that enterprise

On such regardes of safety and allowances

50

As therein are set downe

King It likes vs well, and at fit time and leasure

Weele reade and answere those his Articles,

Meane time we thanke you for your well

Tooke labour. go to your rest, at night weele feast together.

exeunt Ambassadors

Cor.* This busines is very well dispatched.

Now my Lord, touching the yong Prince Hamlet,

Certaine it is that hee is madde. mad let vs grant him then

Now to know the cause of this effect,

60

Or else to say the cause of this defect,

For this effect defectiue comes by cause.

Queene Good my Lord be briefe.

Cor Madam I will my Lord, I haue a daughter,

Haue while shee's mine for that we thinke

65

Is surest, we often loose now to the Prince.

My Lord, but note this letter,

The which my daughter in obedience
Deluer'd to my handes

[Sc. VI.]

King Reade it my Lord

70

Cor Marke my Lord

Doubt that in earth is fire,

Doubt that the starres doe moue,

Doubt trueth to be a har,

But doe not doubt I loue.

75

To the beautifull Ofelia:

Thine euer the most vnhappy Prince Hamlet.

My Lord, what doe you thinke of me?

I, or what might you thinke when I sawe this?

King As of a true friend and a most louing subiect.

80

Cor. I would be glad to prooue so.

Now when I saw this letter, thus I bespake my maiden:

Lord Hamlet is a Prince out of your starre,

And one that is vnequall for your loue.

Therefore I did commaund her refuse his letters,

85

Deny his tokens, and to absent her selfe.

Shee as my childe obediently obey'd me

Now since which time, seeing his loue thus cross'd,

Which I tooke to be idle, and but sport,

He straitway grew into a melancholy,

90

From that vnto a fast, then vnto distraction,

Then into a sadnessse, from that vnto a madnessse,

*And so by continuance, and weakenesse of the braine

Into this frensie, which now possesseth him

And if this be not true, take this from this 95

King Thinke you t'is so?

Cor. How? so my Lord, I would very faine know

That thing that I haue saide t'is so, posituely,

And it hath fallen out otherwise.

Nay, if circumstances leade me on,

100

Ile finde it out, if it were hid

As deepe as the centre of the earth.

King. how should wee trie this same?

Cor. Mary my good lord thus,

The Princes walke is here in the galery,

105

There let Ofelia, walke vntill hee comes.

Your selfe and I will stand close in the study,

There shall you heare the effect of all his hart,

And if it proue any otherwise then loue,

Then let my censure faile an other time

110

King. see where hee comes poring vppon a booke.

Enter Hamlet.

[Sc. VI]

Cor Madame, will it please your grace
To leaue vs here?

Que. With all my hart exit

Cor And here Ophelia, reade you on this booke, 115
And walke aloofe, the King shal be vnseene

Ham. To be, or not to be, I there's the point,
To Die, to sleepe, is that all? I all
No, to sleepe, to dreame, I mary there it goes,
For in that dreame of death, when wee awake, 120

And borne before an euerlasting Iudge,
From whence no passenger euer retur'nd,
The vndiscovered country, at whose sight
The happy smile, and the accursed damn'd
But for this, the ioyfull hope of this, 125

Whold beare the scornes and flattery of the world,
Scorned by the right rich, the rich curssed of the poore?

* The widow being oppressed, the orphan wrong'd,
The taste of hunger, or a tyrants raigne,
And thousand more calamities besides, 130

To grunt and sweate vnder this weary life,
When that he may his full Quietus make,
With a bare bodkin, who would this indure,
But for a hope of something after death?

Which puzzles the braine, and doth confound the sence, 135
Which makes vs rather beare those euilles we haue,
Than flie to others that we know not of

I that, O this conscience makes cowardes of vs all,
Lady in thy orizons, be all my sinnes remembred.

Oph. My Lord, I haue sought opportunitie, which now 140
I haue, to redeliuer to your worthy handes, a small remembrance, such tokens which I haue receiued of you.

Ham. Are you faire?

Oph. My Lord

Ham. Are you honest? 145

Oph. What meanes my Lord?

Ham. That if you be faire and honest,
Your beauty should admit no discourse to your honesty.

Oph. My Lord, can beauty haue better priuiledge than with honesty? 150

Ham. Yea mary may it; for Beauty may transforme
Honesty, from what she was into a bawd.

Then Honesty can transforme Beauty:

This was sometimes a Paradox,

But now the time giues it scope 155

I neuer gaue you nothing.

[Sc. VI]

Ofel My Lord, you know right well you did,
And with them such earnest vowes of loue,
As would haue moou'd the stoniest breast alue,
But now too true I finde,
Rich giftes waxe poore when giuers grow vnkindo

160

Ham I neuer loued you

Ofel You made me beleue you did.

Ham.* O thou shouldst not a beleue'd me!

Go to a Nunnery goe, why shouldst thou
Be a breeder of sinners? I am my selfe indifferent honest,
But I could accuse my selfe of such crimes
It had beene better my mother had ne're borne me,
O I am very powde, ambitious,disdainefull,
With more sinnes at my becke, then I haue thoughts
To put them in,what should such fellowes as I
Do, crawling between heauen and earth?
To a Nunnery goe, we are arrant knaues all,
Beleue none of vs, to a Nunnery goe

165

Ofel. O heauens secure him!

175

Ham. Wher's thy father?

Ofel At home my lord

Ham For Gods sake let the doores be shut on him,
He may play the foole no where but in his Owne house to a Nunnery goe

180

Ofel Help him good God.

Ham If thou dost marry, Ile giue thee
This plague to thy dowry

Be thou as chaste as yce, as pure as snowe,
Thou shalt not scape calumny,to a Nunnery goe.

185

Ofel. Alas, what change is this?

Ham But if thou wilt needes marry,marry a foole,
For wisemen know well enough,
What monsters you make of them,to a Nunnery goe.

Ofel. Pray God restore him.

190

Ham Nay, I haue heard of your paintings too,
God hath giuen you one face,
And you make your selues another,
You fig,and you amble, and you nickname Gods creatures,
Making your wantonnesse, your ignorance,
A pox, tis scuruy, Ile no more of it,
It hath made me madde: Ile no more marriages,
All that are married but one,shall lue,
The rest shall keepe as they are, to a Nunnery goe,

195

*To a Nunnery goe

exit

200

Ofe Great God of heauen, what a quicke change is this? [Sc. vi.]
 The Courtier, Scholler, Souldier, all in him,
 All dasht and splinterd thence, O woe is me.
 To a scene what I haue seene, see what I see exit.

King Loue? No, no, that's not the cause, Enter King and [Sc. vii.]
Corambis.
 Some deeper thing it is that troubles him

Cor. Wel, something it is my Lord, content you a while, [ACT II. Sc. II.]
 I will my selfe goe feele him let me worke,
 He try him euery way see where he comes, 5
 Send you those Gentlemen, let me alone
 To finde the depth of this, away, be gone. exit King.
 Now my good Lord, do you know me? Enter Hamlet.

Ham. Yea very well, y'are a fishmonger.

Cor. Not I my Lord 10

Ham. Then sir, I would you were so honest a man,
 For to be honest, as this age goes,
 Is one man to be pickt out of tenne thousand.

Cor. What doe you reade my Lord?

Ham. Wordes, wordes 15

Cor. What's the matter my Lord?

Ham. Betweene who?

Cor. I meane the matter you reade my Lord.

Ham. Mary most vile heresie

For here the Satyricall Satyre writes, 20
 That olde men haue hollow eyes, weake backes,
 Grey heardes, pittifull weake hammes, gowty legges,
 All which sir, I most potently beleue not
 For sir, your selfe shalbe olde as I am,
 If like a Crabbe, you could goe backward. 25

Cor. How pregnant his replies are, and full of wit.
 Yet at first he tooke me for a fishmonger
 All this comes by loue, the vemenie of loue,
 And when I was yong, I was very idle,
 And suffered much extwasie in loue, very noere this 30
 Will you walke out of the aire my Lord?

Ham.* Into my graue.

Cor. By the masse that's out of the aire indeed,
 Very shrewd answers,
 My lord I will take my leaue of you. 35

Enter Gilderstone, and Rosencraft.

Ham. You can take nothing from me sir,
 I will more willingly part with all,
 Olde doating foole.

Cor. You seeke Prince Hamlet, see, there he is. exit.

Gil. Healtli to your Lordship. 40

Ham What, Gilderstone, and Rosencraft,
Welcome kinde Schoole-fellowes to Elsanoure [Sc. vii]

Gil. We thanke your Grace, and would be very glad
You were as when we were at Wittenberg.

Ham I thanke you, but is this visitation free of
Your selues, or were you not sent for? 45
Tell me true, come, I know the good King and Queene
Sent for you, there is a kinde of confession in your eye
Come, I know you were sent for.

Gil What say you? 50

Ham Nay then I see how the winde sits,
Come, you were sent for

Ross My lord, we were, and willingly if we might,
Know the cause and ground of your discontent.

Ham. Why I want preferment. . 55

Ross I thinke not so my lord.

Ham. Yes faith, this great world you see contents me not,
No nor the spangled heauens, nor earth, nor sea,
No nor Man that is so glorious a creature,
Contents not me, no nor woman too, though you laugh. 60

Gil. My lord, we laugh not at that.

Ham Why did you laugh then,
When I said, Man did not content mee?

Gil My Lord, we laughed, when you said, Man did not content you 65

What entertainement the Players shall haue,
*We boorded them a the way. they are comming to you

Ham. Players, what Players be they?

Ross. My Lord, the Tragedians of the Citty,
Those that you tooke delight to see so often. (stie? 70

Ham How comes it that they trauell? Do they grow re-

Gil. No my Lord, their reputation holds as it was wont.

Ham. How then?

Gil. Yfaith my Lord, noueltie carries it away,
For the principall publike audience that 75
Came to them, are turned to priuate playes,
And to the humour of children.

Ham. I doe not greatly wonder of it,
For those that would make mops and moes
At my vnkle, when my father liued, 80
Now giue a hundred, two hundred pounds
For his picture. but they shall be welcome,
He that playes the King shall haue tribute of me,
The ventrous Knight shall vse his foyle and target,
The louer shall sigh gratis, 85

For if the gods themselues had scene her then,
 When she saw Purru with malicious strokes,
 Mincing her husbandes limbs,
 It would haue made mulch the burning eyes of heauen,
 And passion in the gods

Cor Looke my lord if he hath not changde his colour,
 And hath teares in his eyes: no more good heart, no more. 180

Ham. T'is well, t'is very well, I pray my lord,
 Will you see the Players well bestowed,
 I tell you they are the Chronicles
 And briefe abstracts of the time, 185
 After your death I can tell you,
 You were better haue a bad Epitoech,
 Then their ill report while you lue

Cor. My lord, I will vse them according to their deserts.

Ham. O farre better man, vse euery man after his deserts,
 Then who should scape whipping? 190

Vse them after your owne honor and dignitie,
 The lesse they deserue, the greater credit's yours.

Cor. Welcome my good fellowes. exit.

Ham. Come hither maisters, can you not play the murder of Gonsago? 195 players Yes my Lord

Ham And could'st not thou for a neede study me
 Some dozen or sixteene lines,
 Which I would set downe and insert? 200 players Yes very easily my good Lord.

Ham T'is well, I thanke you follow that lord:
 And doe you heare sirs? take heede you mocke him not
 Gentlemen, for your kindnes I thanke you,
 And for a time I would desire you leaue me. 205

Gil. Our loue and duetie is at your commaund.

Exeunt all but Hamlet.

Ham. Why what a dunghill idiote slaue am I?
 Why these Players here draw water from eyes
 *For Hecuba, why what is Hecuba to him, or he to Hecuba?
 What would he do and if he had my losse? 210
 His father murdered, and a Crowne bereft him,
 He would turne all his teares to droppes of blood,
 Amaze the standers by with his laments,
 Strike more then wonder in the iudiciall eares,
 Confound the ignorant, and make mute the wise, 215
 Indeede his passion would be generall.
 Yet I like to an asse and Iohn a Dreames,
 Haung my father murdered by a villane,

Stand still, and let it passe, why sure I am a coward [Sc. VII]
 Who pluckes me by the beard, or twites my nose, 220
 Gue's me the lie i'th throate downe to the lungs,
 Sure I should take it, or else I haue no gall,
 Or by this I should a fatted all the region kites
 With this slaues offell, this damned villaine,
 Treacherous, bawdy, murderous villaine 225
 Why this is braue, that I the sonne of my deare father,
 Should like a scalion, like a very drabbe
 Thus rale in wordes About my braine,
 I haue heard that guilty creatures sitting at a play,
 Hath, by the very cunning of the scone, confest a murder 230
 Committed long before.
 This spirit that I haue seene may be the Diuell,
 And out of my weakenesse and my melancholy,
 As he is very potent with such men,
 Doth seeke to damne me, I will haue sounder proofes, 235
 The play's the thing,
 Wherein I'll catch the conscience of the King exit

Enter the King, Queene, and Lordes

[Act. III. Sc. I.]

[Sc. VIII]

King Lordes, can you by no meanes finde
 The cause of our sonne Hamlets lunacie?
 You being so neere in loue, euen from his youth,
 Me thinkes should game more than a stranger should
 Gil.* My lord, we haue done all the best we could, 5
 To wring from him the cause of all his grieue,
 But still he puts vs off, and by no meanes
 Would make an answere to that we exposde.
Ross. Yet was he something more inclin'd to mirth
 Before we left him, and I take it, 10
 He hath giuen order for a play to night,
 At which he craues your highnesse company.
King With all our heart, it likes vs very well:
 Gentlemen, seeke still to increase his mirth,
 Spare for no cost, our coffers shall be open, 15
 And we vnto your selues will still be thankefull.
Both In all wee can, be sure you shall commaund Queene Thankes gentlemen, and what the Queene of May pleasure you, be sure you shall not want. (Denmarke
Gil Weele once againe vnto the noble Prince 20
King Thanks to you both: Gertred you'l see this play
Queene My lord I will, and it ioyes me at the soule
 He is inclin'd to any kinde of mirth.

Cor. Madame, I pray be ruled by me: [SC VIII.]
 And my good Soueraigne, giue me leaue to speake, 25
 We cannot yet finde out the very ground

Of his distemperance, therefore
 I holde it meete, if so it please you,
 Else they shall not meete, and thus it is.

King What i'st Corambus? (done, 30

Cor. Mary my good lord this, soone when the sports are Madam, send you in haste to speake with him,
 And I my selfe will stand behind the Arras,
 There question you the cause of all his grieffe,
 And then in loue and nature vnto you, hee'll tell you all. 35
 My Lord, how thinke you on't?

King It likes vs well, Gerterd, what say you?

Queene With all my heart, soone will I send for him

Cor. My selfe will be that happy messenger,
 Who hopes his grieffe will be reueal'd to her exunt omnes 40

Enter Hamlet and the Players.* [ACT III SC II.]

Ham. Pronounce me this speech trippingly a the tongue [SC IX.]
 as I taught thee,

Mary and you mouth it, as a many of your players do
 I'de rather heare a towne bull bellow,
 Then such a fellow speake my lines. 5

Nor do not saw the aere thus with your hands,
 But giue euery thing his action with temperance. (fellow,
 O it offends mee to the soule, to heare a rebustious periwig
 To teare a passion in totters, into very ragges,
 To split the eares of the ignoraut, who for the (noises, 10
 Most parte are capable of nothing but dumbe shewes and I would haue such a fellow whipt, for o're doing, tarinagant
 It out, Herodes Herod.

players My Lorde, wee haue indifferently reformed that among vs. 15

Ham. The better, the better, mend it all together.
 There be fellows that I haue seene play,
 And heard others commend them, and that highly too,
 That hauing neither the gate of Christian, Pagan,
 Nor Turke, haue so strutted and bellowed, 20
 That you would a thought, some of Natures journeyemen
 Had made men, and not made them well,
 They imitated humanitie, so abhominable
 Take heede, auoyde it.

players I warrant you my Lord. 25

Ham. And doe you heare? let not your Clowne speake
 More then is set downe, there be of them I can tell you

- That will laugh themselves, to set on some Quantitie of barren spectators to laugh with them,
 Albert there is some necessary point in the Play
 Then to be obserued O tis vile, and shewes
 A pittifull ambition in the foole that vseth it
 And then you haue some agen, that keepes one sute
 Of icasts, as a man is knowne by one sute of Apparell, and Gentlemen quotes his icasts downe
 *In their tables, before they come to the play,as thus Cannot you stay till I eate my porridge? and,you owe me
 A quarters wages and, my coate wants a cullison.
 And,your beere is sowre and,blabbering with his lips,
 And thus keeping in his cinkapase of icasts,
 When, God knows,the warme Clowne cannot make a iest
 Vnlesse by chance,as the blinde man catcheth a hare
 Maisters tell him of it.
- players* We will my Lord
Ham. Well, goe make you ready. exeunt players.
Horatio Heere my Lord
Ham Horatio, thou art euen as iust a man,
 As e're my conuersation cop'd withall.
Hor O my lord!
Ham. Nay why should I flatter thee?
 Why should the poore be flattered?
 What gaine should I receiue by flattering thee,
 That nothing hath but thy good munde?
 Let flattery sit on those tunc-pleasing tongs,
 To glose with them that loues to heare their praise,
 And not with such as thou Horatio.
 There is a play to night, wherein one Seane they haue
 Comes very neere the murder of my fathor,
 When thou shalt see that Act afoote,
 Marke thou the King, doe but obserue his lookes,
 For I mine eies will riuet to his face
 And if he doe not bleach, and change at that,
 It is a damned ghost that we haue scene.
Horatio, haue a care, obserue him well.
Hor My lord, mine eies shall still be on his face,
 And not the smallest alteration
 That shall appeare in him, but I shall note it
Ham. Harke, they come
Enter King, Queene, Corambis, and other Lords. (a play?
King How now son Hamlet,how fare you,shall we haue
Ham. Yfaith the Cannelons dish, not capon cram'd, *foede a the ayre

- I father My lord, you playd in the Vniuersitie [Sc. ix]
Cor. That I did my L. and I was counted a good actor
Ham. What did you enact there?
Cor. My lord, I did act Iulius Caesar, I was killed 75 in the Capitoll, Brutus killed me
Ham. It was a brute parte of him,
 To kill so capitall a calfe
 Come, be these Players ready/
Queene Hamlet come sit downe by me. 80
Ham. No by my faith mother, heere's a inettle more at-Lady will you giue me leaue, and so forth (tractue
 To lay my head in your lappe?
Ofel. No my lord (trary matters?

Enter in a Dumb Shew, the King and the Queene, he sits downe in an Arbor, she leaues him: Then enters Luci-anus with poyson in a Viall, and poures it in his eares, and goes away. Then the Queene commeth and findes him dead: and goes away with the other Ofel. What meanes this my Lord? Enter the Prologue.
Ham. This is myching Mallico, that meanes my chiefe.
Ofel. What doth this meane my lord?
Ham. you shall heare anone, this fellow will tell you all.
Ofel. Will he tell vs what this shew meanes? 90
Ham. I, or any shew you'le shew him,
 Be not afeard to shew, hee'le not be afeard to tell.
 O these Players cannot keepe counsell, ther'le tell all.
Prol. For vs, and for our Tragedie,
 Heere stowpiug to your clemencie, 95
 We begge your hearing patiently
Ham. I't a prologue, or a poesie for a ring?
Ofel. T'is short my Lord
Ham. As womens loue.
Enter the Duke and Dutchesse.
Duke Full fortie yeares are past, their date is gone, 100
 *Since happy time ioyn'd both our hearts as one:
 And now the blood that fill'd my youthfull veines,
 Runnes weakely in their pipes, and all the straines
 Of musicke, which whilome pleasse mine eare,
 Is now a burthen that Age cannot beare: 105
 And therefore sweete Nature must pay him due,
 To heauen must I, and leaue the earth with you
Dutchesse O say not so, lest that you kill my heart,
 When death takes you, let life from me depart
Duke Content thy selfe, when ended is my date, 110

Thou maist(perchance)haue a more noble mate,
More wise,more youthfull, and one. [Sc. ix]

Dutchesse O speake no more, for then I am accurst,
None weds the second, but she kils the first
A second time I kill my Lord that's dead, 115
When second husband kisses me in bed

Ham O wormewood,wormewood'

Duke I doe beleue you sweete,what now you speake,
But what we doe determine oft we breake,
For our demises stil are ouerthrowne, 120
Our thoughts are ours, their end's none of our owne.
So thinke you will no second husband wed,
But die thy thoughts, when thy first Lord is dead.

Dutchesse Both here and there pursue me lasting strife,
If once a widdow,euer I be wife 125

Ham If she should breake now.

Duke T'is decpely sworne,sweete leaue me here a while,
My spirites growe dull, and faine I would beguile the tedious tunc with sleepe.

Dutchesse Sleepe rocke thy braine, 130
And neuer come mischance betweene vs twaine exit Lady

Ham. Madam, how do you like this play?

Queene The Lady protests too much.

Ham O but shee'll keepe her word.

King Haue you heard the argument, is there no offence 135 in it?

Ham.* No offence in the world,poyson iniest,poison in King What do you call the name of the phy? (10st.

Ham Mouse-trap:mary how trapically this play is
The image of a murder done in guyana, Albertus 140
Was the Dukes name, his wife Baptistu,
Father,it is a knauish peece a worke·but what
A that, it toucheth not vs, you and I that haue free
Soules,let the galld rade wince, this is one
Lucianus nephew to the King. 145

Ofel. Ya're as good as a Chorus my lord.

Ham. I could interpret the loue you beare, if I sawe the poopies dallying.

Ofel Y'are very pleasant my lord.

Ham. Who I, your onlie jig-maker, why what shoulde 150 a man do but be merry? for looke how cheerefully my mother lookes, my futher died within these two houres

Ofel Nay, t'is twice two months,my Lord.

Ham. Two months,nay then let the duell weare blacke,
For r'le haue a sute of Sables Iesus, two months dead, 155

And not forgotten yet? nay then there's some Likelihood, a gentlemans death may outlue memorie,
 But by my faith hee must build churches then,
 Or els hee must follow the olde Eptithe,
 With hoh, with ho, the hobi-horse is forgot. 160

Ofel. Your iests are keene my Lord

Ham. It would cost you a grooming to take them off.

Ofel. Still better and worse.

Ham. So you must take your husband, begin. Murdred
 Begin, a poxe, leaue thy damnable faces and begin, 165
 Come, the croking rauens doth bellow for reuenge.

Murd. Thoughts blacke, hands apt, drugs fit, and time Confederate season, else no creature seeing- (agreeing
 Thou mixture rancke, of midnight weedes collected,
 With Hecates bane thrise blasted, thrise infected, 170
 Thy naturall magicke, and dire propertie,
 One wholesome life vsurps immediately. exit.

Ham.* Hepoysons him for his estate.

King. Lights, I will to bed

Cor. The king rises, lights hoe. 175

Exeunt King and Lordes.

Ham. What, frighted with false fires?
 Then let the stricken decre goe weepe,
 The Hart vngalled play,
 For some must laugh, while some must weepe,
 Thus runnes the world away. 180

Hor. The king is moued my lord.

Hor. I Horatio, I'll take the Ghosts word
 For more then all the coyne in Denmarke.

Enter Rossencraft and Gilderstone.

Ross. Now my lord, how i'st with you?

Ham. And if the king like not the tragedy,
 Why then belike he likes it not perdy. 185

Ross. We are very glad to see your grace so pleasant,
 My good lord, let vs againe intreate (ture
 To know of you the ground and cause of your distempera-

Gil. My lord, your mother craues to speake with you. 190

Ham. We shall obey, were she ten times our mother

Ross. But my good Lord, shall I intreate thus much?

Ham. I pray will you play vpon this pipe?

Ross. Alas my lord I cannot.

Ham. Pray will you. 195

Gil. I haue no skill my Lord.

Ham why looke, it is a thing of nothing,
Tis but stopping of these holes,
And with a little breath from your lips,
It will giue most delicate musick. 200

Gil But this cannot wee do my Lord

Ham. Pray now, pray hartily, I beseech you

Ros My lord wee cannot (mo')

Ham. Why how vnworthy a thing would you make of
*You would seeme to know my stops, you would play vpon 205
You would search the very inward part of my hart, (ince,
And drue into the secret of my soule

Zownds do you thinke I am easier to be play'd

On, then a pipe? call mee what Instrument

You will, though you can fret me, yet you can not 210

Play vpon mee, besides, to be demanded by a sponge. [Act iv. Sc. II.]

Ros How a sponge my Lord?

Ham. I sir, a sponge, that soakes vp the kings
Countenance, fauours, and rewardes, that makes
His liberalitie your store house: but such as you, 215

Do the king, in the end, best seruise;

For hee doth keep you as an Ape doth nuttes,

In the corner of his Iaw, first mouthes you,

Then swallowes you. so when hee hath need

Of you, tis but squeesing of you, 220

And sponge, you shall be dry againe, you shall.

Ros. Wel my Lord wee'll take our leaue

Ham Farewell, farewell, God blesse you

Exit Rosencraft, and Gilderstone

Enter Corambis

Cor. My lord, the Queene would speake with you.

Ham. Do you see yonder clowd in the shape of a camell? 225

Cor. Tis like a camell in deed.

Ham. Now me thinkes it's like a weasel

Cor. Tis back't liko a weasell.

Ham. Or like a whale.

Cor. Very like a whale. exit Coram. 230

Ham. Why then tell my mother i'll come by and by Good night Horatio

Hor Good night vnto your Lordship. exit Horatio

Ham. My mother she hath sent to speake with me:

O God, let ne're the heart of Nero enter 235

This soft bosome

Let me be cruell, not vnnaturall.

*I will speake daggers, those sharpe wordes being spent,

To doe her wrong my soule shall ne're consent

exit. [Sc. ix.]

Enter the King

[Act III Sc. iii.]

King O that this wet that falles vpon my face
Would wash the crime cleere from my conscience!
When I looke vp to heauen, I see my trespasse,
The earth doth still crie out vpon my fact,
Pay me the murder of a brother and a king,
And the adulterous fault I haue committed
O these are sinnes that are vnpardonable:

Why say thy sinnes were blacker then is reat,
Yet may contrition make them as white as snowe.

I but still to perseuer in a sinne,

10

It is an act gaunst the vniuersall power,

Most wretched man, stoope, bend thee to thy prayer,

Aske grace of heauen to keepe thee from despaire.

hee kneeles enters Hamlet

Ham I so, come forth and worke thy last,
And thus hee dies: and so am I reuenged.

15

No, not so. he tooke my father sleeping, his sins brim full,

And how his soule stooode to the state of heauen

Who knowes, saue the immortall powres,

And shall I kill him now,

When he is purging of his soule?

20

Making his way for heauen, this is a benefit,

And not a reuenge no, get thee vp agen, (drunke,

When hee's at game swaring, taking his carowse, drinking

Or in the incestuous pleasure of his bed,

Or at some act that hath no relish

25

Of saluation in't, then trip him

That his heeles may kicke at heauen,

And fall as lowe as hel. my mother stayes,

This phisicke but prolongs thy weary dayes. exit Ham.

King My wordes fly vp, my sinnes remaine below. 30

*No King on earth is safe, if Gods his foe exit King.

Enter Queene and Corambis.

[Act III. Sc. iv.]

Cor. Madame, I heare yong Hamlet comming,

[Sc. xi.]

I'll shrowde my selfe behinde the Arras. exit Cor.

Queene Do so my Lord.

Ham. Mother, mother, O are you here?

How i'st with you mother?

Queene How i'st with you?

Ham, I'll tell you, but first weele make all safe.

Queene Hamlet, thou hast thy father much offended.

Ham. Mother, you haue my father much offended

[Sc. xi.]

Queene How now boy?

10

Ham. How now mother! come here, sit downe, for you shall heare me speake.

Queene What wilt thou doe? thou wilt not murder me Helpe hoe

Cor. Helpe for the Queene.

15

Ham I a Rat, dead for a Duckat.
Rash intruding foole, farewell,
I tooke thee for thy better.

Queene Hamlet, what hast thou done?

Ham. Not so much harme, good mother,
As to kill a king, and marry with his brother.

20

Queene How! kill a king!

Ham. I a King nay sit you downe, and ere you part,
If you be made of penitrible stuffe,
Ile make your eyes looke downe into your heart,
And see how horride thero and blacke it shews. (words?)

25

Queene Hamlet, what mean'st thou by these killing

Ham Why this I meane, see here, behold this picture,
It is the portraiture, of your deceased husband,
See here a face, to outface Mars himselfe,
An eye, at which his foes did tremble at,
A front wherein all vertues are set downe

30

For to adorne a king, and guild his crowne,
Whose heart went hand in hand euen with that vow,
*He made to you in marriage, and he is dead.

35

Murdred, damnably murdred, this was your husband,
Looke you now, here is your husband,
With a face like Vulcan.

A looke fit for a murder and a rape,
A dull dead hanging looke, and a hell-bred oie,
To affright children and amaze the world:

40

And this same haue you left to change with this.

What Diuell thus hath cosoned you at hob-man blinde?

A! haue you eyes and can you looke on him

That slew my father, and your deere husband,

45

To lue in the incestuous pleasure of his bed!

Queene O Hamlet, speake no more.

Ham. To leaue him that bare a Monarkes minde,
For a king of clowts, of very shreads.

Queene Sweete Hamlet cease.

50

Ham. Nay but still to persist and dwell in sinne,
To sweate vnder the yoke of infamie,
To make increase of shame, to scale damnation.

Queene Hamlet, no more

[Sc. XL.]

Ham. Why appetite with you is in the waine,
Your blood runnes backward now from whence it came,
Who'le chide hote blood within a Virgins heart,
When lust shall dwell within a matrons breast?

55

Queene Hamlet, thou cleaves my heart in twaine.

Ham O throw away the worser part of it, and keepe the better

60

Enter the ghost in his night gowne.

Save me, save me, you gracious
Powers above, and houer ouer mee,
With your celestiaall wings.

Doe you not come your tardy soune to chide,
That I thus long haue let reuenge slippe by?
O do not glare with lookes so pittifull'

65

Lest that my heart of stone yeelde to compassion,
*And euery part that should assist reuenge,
Forgoe their proper powers, and fall to pittie.

70

Ghost Hamlet, I once againe appeare to thee,
To put thee in remembrance of my death.
Doe not neglect, nor long time put it off.
But I perceiue by thy distracted lookes,
Thy mother's fearefull, and she stands amaze
Speake to her Hamlet, for her sex is weake,
Comfort thy mother, Hamlet, thinke on me

75

Ham. How is't with you Lady?

Queene Nay, how is't with you
That thus you bend your eyes on vacancie,
And holde discourse with nothing but with ayre?

80

Ham. Why doe you nothing heare?

Queene Not I

Ham. Nor doe you nothing see?

Queene No neither.

(habite

85

Ham. No, why see the king my father, my father, in the
As he liued, looke you how pale he lookes,
See how he steales away out of the Portall,
Looke, there he goes. exit ghost.

Queene Alas, it is the weakenesse of thy braine,
Which makes thy tongue to blazon thy hearts grieve.
But as I haue a soule, I sweare by heauen,
I neuer knew of this most horride murder.
But Hamlet, this is onely fantasie,
And for my loue forget these idle fits.

90

95

Ham. Idle, no mother, my pulse doth beate like yours,

It is not madnesse that possesseth Hamlet. [Sc. XI.]

O mother, if euer you did my deare father loue,
 Forbeare the adulterous bed to night,
 And win your selfe by little as you may, 100
 In time it may be you wil lothe him quite
 And mother, but assist mee in reuenge,
 And in his death your infamy shall die

Queene Hamlet, I vow by that maiesty,
 *That knowes our thoughts, and lookes into our hearts, 105
 I will conceale, consent, and doe my best,
 What stratagem soe're thou shalt deuise.

Ham It is enough, another good night
 Come sir, I'll prouide for you a graue,
 Who was in life a foolish prating knaue. 110

Exit Hamlet with the dead body.

Enter the King and Lordes [ACT IV. SC. I.]

King Now Gertred, what sayes our sonne, how doe you finde him?

Queene Alas my lord, as raging as the sea:
 Whenas he came, I first bespake him faire,
 But then he throwes and tosses me about, 115
 As one forgetting that I was his mother:
 At last I call'd for help. and as I cried, Corumbis
 Call'd, which Hamlet no sooner heard, but whips me
 Out his rapier, and cries, a Rat, a Rat, and in his rage
 The good olde man he killes. 120

King Why this his madnesse will vndoe our state
 Lordes goe to him, inquire the body out.

Grl. We will my Lord. Exeunt Lordes.

King Gertred, your sonne shall presently to England,
 His shipping is already furnished, 125
 And we haue sent by Rossencraft and Gilderstone,
 Our letters to our deare brother of England,
 For Hamlets welfare and his happinesse.
 Happly the aire and climate of the Country
 May please him better than his natue home: 130
 See where he comes

Enter Hamlet and the Lordes. [ACT IV. SC. III.]

Grl. My lord, we can by no meanes
 Know of him where the body is.

King Now sonne Hamlet, where is this dead body?

Ham. At supper, not where he is eating, but 135

*Where he is eaten, a certaine company of politicke wormes are euen now at him [Sc. xi.]

Father,your fatte King,and your leane Beggar
Are but variable seruices, two dishes to one messe
Looke you, a man may fish with that worine 140
That hath eaten of a King,
And a Beggar eate that fish,
Which that worne hath caught

King What of this?

Ham. Nothing father, but to tell you,how a King 145
May go a progresse through the guttes of a Beggar.

King But sonne Hamlet, where is this body?

Ham. In heau'n, if you chance to misse him there,
Father, you had best looke in the other partes below
For him, and if you cannot finde him there, 150
You may chance to nose him as you go vp the lobby.

King Make haste and finde him out.

Ham. Nay doe you heare? do not make too much haste,
I'll warrant you hee'll stay till you come.

King Well sonne Hamlet,we in care of you but specially 155
in tender preservation of your health,
The which we price euen as our proper selfe,
It is our minde you forthwith goe for England,
The winde sits faire, you shall aboorde to night,
Lord Rosencraft and Gilderstone shall goe along with you. 160

Ham. O with all my heart farewel mother

King Your louing father,Hamlet.

Ham. My mother I say you married my mother,
My mother is your wife, man and wife is one flesh,
And so(my mother)farewel.for England hoe 165
exeunt all but the king.

king Gertred, leaue me,
And take your leaue of Hamlet,
To England is he gone, ne're to returne:
Our Letters are vnto the King of England,
That on the sight of them,on his allegiance, 170
*He presently without demanding why,
That Hamlet loose his head,for he must die,
There's more in him than shallow eyes can see
He once being dead, why then our state is free. exit.

Enter Fortenbrasse, Drumme and Souldiers. [Act iv Sc iv.]
[Sc. xii.]

Fort. Captaine, from vs goe grete
The king of Denmarke.

Tell him that Fortenbrasse nephew to old Norway, [Sc. xii.]
 Craues a free passe and conduct ouer his land,
 According to the Articles agreed on: 5
 You know our Randevous, goe march away exeunt all.

enter King and Queene. [Act iv. Sc. v.]
 [Sc. xiii.]

King Hamlet is ship't for England, fare him well,
 I hope to heare good newes from thence ere long,
 If euery thing fall out to our content,
 As I doe make no doubt but so it shall

Queene God grant it may, heau'ns keep my Hamlet safe: 5
 But this mischance of olde Corambis death,
 Hath pierced so the yong Opheliaes heart,
 That she, poore maide, is quite bereft her wittes.

King Alas deere heart! And on the other side,
 We vnderstand her brother's come from France, 10
 And he hath halfe the heart of all our Land,
 And hardly hee'le forget his fathers death,
 Vnlesse by some meanes he be pacified.

Qu O see where the yong Ophelia is!

Enter Ophelia playing on a Lute, and her haire downe singing.

Ophelia. How should I your true loue know 15
 From another man?

By his cockle hatte, and his staffe,
 *And his sandall shoone.
 White his shrowde as mountaine snowe,
 Larded with sweete flowers, 20
 That bewept to the graue did not goo
 With true louers showers

He is dead and gone Lady, he is dead and gone,
 At his head a grasse greene turffe,
 At his heeles a stone 25

King How i'st with you sweete Ophelia?

Ophelia Well God yeeld you,
 It grieues me to see how they luid him in the cold ground,
 I could not chuse but weepo:
 And will he not come againe? 30
 And will he not come againe?
 No, no, hee's gone, and we cast away mone,
 And he neuer will come againe.
 His beard as white as snowe

All flaxen was his pole, 35

He is dead, he is gone,
And we cast away moane.
God a mercy on his soule.

[SC. XIII.]

And of all christen soules I pray God.

God be with you Ladies, God be with you. exit Ofelia 40 king A pretty wretch! this is a change indeede

O Time, how swiftly runnes our ioyes away?
Content on earth was neuer certaine bred,
To day we laugh and liue, to morrow dead
How now, what noyse is that? 45

A noyse within. enter Leartes

Lear. Stay there vntill I come,
O thou vilde king, giue me my father
Speake, say, where's my father?

king Dead.

Lear. Who hath mured him? speake, I'll not
Be juggled with, for he is mured 50

Queens True, but not by him.

Lear.* By whome, by heau'n Ile be resolued.

king Let him goe Gertred, away, I feare him not,
There's such diuinitie doth wall a king, 55
That treason dares not looke on.

Let him goe Gertred, that your father is mured,
Tis true, and we most sory for it,
Being the chiefest pillar of our state:
Therefore will you like a most desperate gamster, 60
Swoop-stake-like, draw at friend, and foe, and all?

Lear. To his good friends thus wide Ile ope mine arms,
And locke them in my hart, but to his foes,
I will no reconcilment but by bloud.

king Why now you speake like a most louting sonne 65
And that in soule we sorrow for for his death,
Your selfe ere long shall be a witnesse,
Meane while be patient, and content your selfe.

Enter Ofelia as before.

Lear. Who's this, Ofelia? O my deere sister!
Ist possible a yong maides life, 70
Should be as mortall as an olde mans sawe?
O heau'ns themselues! how now Ofelia?

Ofel. Wel God a mercy, I a bin gathering of floures:
Here, here is reu for you, 75
You may call it hearb a grace a Sundayes,
Heere's some for me too: you must weare your reu
With a difference, there's a dazie.
Here Loue, there's rosemary for you

For remembrance I pray Loue remember,

[Sc. XIII]

And there's pansey for thoughts

80

Lear. A document in madnes, thoughts, remembrance
O God, O God!

Ofelia There is fennell for you, I would a giu'n you
Some violets, but they all withered, when

My father died. alas, they say the owle was 85

A Bakers daughter, we see what we are,

But can not tell what we shall be.

*For bonny sweete Robin is all my joy.

Lear Thoughts & afflictions, torments worse than hell.

Ofel. Nay Loue, I pray you make no words of this now:

90

I pray now, you shall sing a downe,

And you a downe a, t'is a the Kings daughter

And the false steward, and if any body

Aske you of any thing, say you this

To morrow is saint Valentines day,

95

All in the morning betime,

And a maide at your window,

To be your Valentine:

The yong man rose, and dan'd his clothes,

And dupt the chamber doore,

100

Let in the maide, that out a maide

Neuer departed more.

Nay I pray marke now,

By gisse, and by saint Charitie,

Away, and fie for shame:

105

Yong men will doo't when they come too't.

By cocke they are too blame

Quoth she, before you tumbled me,

You promised me to wed.

So would I a done, by yonder Sonne,

110

If thou hadst not come to my bed.

So God be with you all, God bwy Ladies

God bwy you Loue. exit Ofelia.

Lear. Griefe vpon griefe, my father murdered,

My sister thus distracted.

115

Cursed be his soule that wrought this wicked act.

King Content you good Leartes for a tunc,

Although I know your griefe is as a floud,

Brimme full of sorrow, but forbearc a while,

And thinke already the reuenge is done

120

On him that makes you such a haplesse sonne.

Lear. You haue preuail'd my Lord, a while I'll strue,
To bury griefe within a tombe of wrath,

*Which once vnhearsed, then the world shall heare
Leartes had a father he held deere. [Sc. xiii.] 125

king No more of that, ere many dayes be done,
You shall heare that you do not dreame vpon. exeunt om
Enter Horatio and the Queene [Sc. xiv.]

Hor. Madame, your sonne is safe arriv'de in Denmarke,
This letter I euen now receiv'd of him,
Whereas he writes how he escap't the danger,
And subtile treason that the king had plotted,
Being crossed by the contention of the windes, 5
He found the Packet sent to the king of England,
Wherein he saw himselfe betray'd to death,
As at his next conuersion with your grace,
He will relate the circumstance at full.

Queene Then I perceiue there's treason in his lookes 10
That seem'd to sugar o're his villanie.
But I will soothe and please him for a time,
For murderous mindes are alwayes jealous,
But know not you Horatio where he is?

Hor. Yes Madame, and he hath appoynted me 15
To meete him on the east side of the Cittie
To morrow morning

Queene O faile not, good Horatio, and withall, com-
A mothers care to him, bid him a while (mend me
Be wary of his presence, lest that he 20
Faile in that he goes about.

Hor. Madam, neuer make doubt of that:
I thinke by this the news be come to court:
He is arriv'de, obserue the king, and you shall Quickely finde, Hamlet being here, 25
Things fell not to his minde

Queene But what became of Gilderstone and Rossencraft?

Hor. He being set ashore, they went for England,
And in the Packet there writ downe that doome
To be perform'd on them poynted for him 30
And by great chance he had his fathers Seale,
*So all was done with discouerie.

Queene Thankes-be to heauen for blessing of the prince,
Horatio once againe I take my leaue,
With thowsand mothers blessings to my soone 35

Horat. Madam adue.

Enter King and Leartes.

[ACT IV. Sc. vii.]

King. Hamlet from England? is it possible? [Sc. xv.]
What chance is this? they are gone, and he come home.

Lear. O he is welcome, by my soule he is.

At it my iocund heart doth leape for ioy,
That I shall liue to tell him, thus he dies.

[Sc. xv.]

king Leartes, content your selfe, be rulde by me,
And you shall haue no let for your reuenge.

Lear. My will, not all the world.

King Nay but Leartes, marke the plot I haue layde,
I haue heard him often with a greedy wish,
Vpon some praise that he hath heard of you
Touching your weapon, which with all his heart,
He might be once tasked for to try your cunning

10

Lea. And how for this?

King Mary Leartes thus: I'll lay a wager,
Shalbe on Hamlets side, and you shall giue the oddes,
The which will draw him with a more desire,
To try the maistry, that in twelue venies
You gaine not three of him: now this being granted,
When you are hot in midst of all your play,
Among the foyles shall a keene rapier lie,
Steeped in a mixture of deadly poyson,
That if it drawes but the least dramme of blood,
In any part of him, he cannot liue:
This being done will free you from suspition,
And not the deerest friend that Hamlet lov'de
Will euer haue Leartes in suspect.

15

25

Lear. My lord, I like it well

But say lord Hamlet should refuse this match.

King I'll warrant you, wee'll put on you

30

*Such a report of singularitie,

Will bring him on, although against his will

And lest that all should misse,

I'll haue a portion that shall ready stand,

In all his heate when that he calles for drinke,

35

Shall be his period and our happinesse

Lear. Tis excellent, O would the time were come!
Here comes the Queene.

enter the Queene.

king How now Gertred, why looke you heauily?

Queene O my Lord, the yong Ofelia

40

Haung made a garland of sundry sortes of floures,

Sitting vpon a willow by a brooke,

The enuious sprig broke, into the brooke she fell,

And for a while her clothes spread wide abroad,

Bore the yong Lady vp: and there she sate smiling,

45

Euen Mermaide-like, twixt heauen and earth,

Chaunting olde sundry tunes vncapable

As it were of her distresse, but long it could not be,

Till that her clothes, being heauy with their drinke, [Sc xv.]
 Draggd the sweete wretch to death. 50

Lear. So, she is drownde:

Too much of water hast thou Ofelia,
 Therefore I will not drowne thee in my teares,
 Reuenge it is must yeeld this heart releefe,
 For woe begets woe, and grieve hangs on grieve. exeunt. 55

enter Clowne and an other [ACT v. Sc. 1]

Clowne I say no, she ought not to be buried [Sc. xvi.]
 In christian buriall

2. Why sir?

Clowne Mary because shee's drownd.

2. But she did not drowne her selfe. 5

Clowne No, that's certaine, the water drown'd her.

2. Yea but it was against her will.

Clowne No, I deny that, for looke you sir, I stand here,
 If the water come to me, I drowne not my selfe.

But if I goe to the water, and am there drown'd, 10

Ergo* I am guiltie of my owne death.

Y'are gone, goe y'are gone sir.

2. I but see, she hath christian buriall,
 Because she is a great woman.

Clowne Mary more's the pittie, that great folke 15
 Should haue more authoritie to hang or drowne
 Themselues, more than other people:

Goe fetch me a stope of drinke, but before thou
 Goest, tell me one thing, who buidles strongest,
 Of a Mason, a Shipwright, or a Carpenter? 20

2. Why a Mason, for he buidles all of ~~stone~~,
 And will indure long.

Clowne That's prety, too't agen, too't agen

2. Why then a Carpenter, for he buidles the gallowes,
 And that brings many a one to his long home. 25

Clowne Prety agen, the gallowes doth well, mary howe does it well? the gallowes does well to them that doe ill,
 goe get thee gone:

And if any one aske thee hereafter, say,
 A Graue-maker, for the houses he buidles 30
 Last till Doomes-day. Fetch me a stope of beere, goe.

Enter Hamlet and Horatio.

Clowne A picke-axe and a spade,
 A spade for and a winding sheete,
 Most fit it is, for t'will be made, he throwes up a shouel.
 For such a ghest most meete. 35

Ham. Hath this fellow any feeling of himselfe,
That is thus merry in making a graue?
See how the slaue joles their heads against the earth. [Sc xvi]

Hor. My lord, Custome hath made it in him seeme no-

Clowns A pick-axe and a spade, a spade, (thing 40
For and a winding sheete,
Most fit it is for to be made,
For such a ghest most meet

Ham Looke you, there's another Horatio.

*Why mai't not be the scull of some Lawyer? 45

Me thinkes he should indite that fellow

Of an action of Batterie, for knocking

Him about the pate with's shouel.now where is you

Quirkes and quillets now, your vouchers and

Double vouchers, your leases and free-holde, 50

And tenements? why that same boxe there will scarce

Holde the conueiance of his land, and must

The honor lie there? O pittifull transformance!

I prethee tell me Horatio,

Is parchment made of sheep-skinnes? 55

Hor. I my Lorde, and of calues-skinnes too

Ham. Ifaith they prooue themselues sheepe and calues
That deale with them, or put their trust in them.

There's another, why may not that be such a ones

Scull, that praised my Lord such a ones horse, 60

When he meant to beg him? Horatio, I prethee

Lets question yonder fellow.

Now my friend, whose graue is this?

Clowns Mine sir.

Ham. But who must lie in it? (sir. 65

Clowns If I should say, I should, I should lie in my throat

Ham. What man must be buried here?

Clowns No man sir.

Ham. What woman?

Clowns No woman neither sir, but indeede 70

One that was a woman.

Ham. An excellent fellow by the Lord Horatio,

This seauen yeares haue I noted it: the toe of the posant,

Comes so neere the heele of the courtier,

That hee gawles his kibe, I prethee tell mee one thing, 75

How long will a man lie in the ground before hee rots?

Clowns Ifaith sir, if hee be not rotten before

He be laide in, as we haue many pocky corses,

He will last you, eight yeares, a tanner

Will last you eight yeares full out, or nine. 80

Ham.* And why a tanner?

Clowne Why his hide is so tanned with his trade,
That it will holde out water, that's a parlous
Deuourer of your dead body, a great soaker.
Looke you, heres a scull hath bin here this dozen yeare, 85
Let me see, I euer since our last king Hamlet
Slew Fortenbrasse in combat, yong Hamlets father,
Hee that's mad

Ham I mary, how came he madde?

Clowne Ifaith very strangely, by loosing of his wittes 90

Ham. Vpon what ground?

Clowne A this ground, in Denmarke

Ham. Where is he now?

Clowne Why now they sent him to England

Ham. To England! wherefore? 95

Clowne Why they say he shall haue his wittes there,
Or if he haue not, t'is no great matter there,
It will not be seene there.

Ham. Why not there?

Clowne Why there they say the men are as mad as he 100

Ham. Whose scull was this?

Clowne This, a plague on him, a madde rogues it was,
He powred once a whole flagon of Rhenish of my head,
Why do not you know him? this was one Yorickes scull.

Ham. Was this? I prethee let me see it, alas poore Yoricke 105
I knew him Horatio,

A fellow of infinite mirth, he hath caried mee twenty times vpon his backe, here hung those lippes that I haue Kissed a hundred times, and to see, now they abhorre me Wheres your iests now Yoricke? your flashes of meriment now go 110 to my Ladies chamber, and bid her paint her selfe an inch thicke, to this she must come Yoricke. Horatio, I prethee tell me one thing, doost thou thinke that Alexander looked thus?

Hor. Euen so my Lord. 115

Ham. And smelt thus?

Hor.* I my lord, no otherwise.

Ham. No, why might not imagination worke, as thus of Alexander, Alexander diod, Alexander was buried, Alexander became earth, of earth we make clay, and Alexander being 120 but clay, why might not time bring to passe, that he might stoppe the bounge hole of a beere barrell?
Imperious Cæsar dead and turned to clay,
Might stoppe a hole, to keepe the winde away.

Enter King and Queene, Leartes, and other lordes, with a Priest after the coffin.

Ham. What funerall's this that all the Court laments? 125

It shews to be some noble parentage:
Stand by a while.

[Sc. XVI]

Lear. What ceremony else? say, what ceremony else?

Priest My Lord, we haue done all that lies in vs,
And more than well the church can tolerate, 130
She hath had a Dirge sung for her maiden soule.
And but for fauour of the king, and you,
She had beene buried in the open fieldes,
Where now she is allowed christian buriall

Lear. So, I tell thee churlish Priest, a ministring Angell 135 shall my sister be, when thou host howling.

Ham. The faire Ofelia dead!

Queene Sweetes to the sweete, farewell
I had thought to adorne thy bridale bed, faire maide, 140
And not to follow thee vnto thy graue

Lear. Forbeare the earth a while sister farewell.

Leartes leapes into the graue

Now powre your earth on, Olympus hie,
And make a hill to o're top olde Pellon. Hamlet leapes
Whats he that coniuers so? in after Leartes.

Ham. Deholde tis I, Hamlet the Dane. 145

Lear. The diuell take thy soule

Ham O thou praiest not well,

I pretheo take thy hand from off my throate,
For there is something in me dangerous,
*Which let thy wisdom feare, holde off thy hand. 150
I lou'de Ofelia as deere as twenty brothers could:
Shew me what thou wilt doe for her:

Wilt fight, wilt fast, wilt pray,

Wilt drinke vp vessels, eate a crocodile? Ile doot:

Com'st thou here to whine? 155

And where thou talk'st of burying thee a liue,

Here let vs stand and let them throw on vs,

Whole hills of earth, till with the heighth therof,

Make Oosell as a Wart.

King Forbeare Leartes, now is hee mad, as is the sea, 160
Anone as mild and gentle as a Doue:

Therefore a while giue his wilde humour scope.

Ham What is the reason sir that you wrong mee thus?

I neuer gave you cause: but stand away,

A Cat will meaw, a Dog will haue a day. 165

Exit Hamlet and Horatio.

[Sc. XVII]

Queene. Alas, it is his madnes makes him thus,
And not his heart, Leartes.

King. My lord, t'is so: but wee'le no longer trifle,

This very day shall Hamlet drinke his last,
 For presently we meane to send to him,
 Therefore Leartes be in readynes. [Sc. xvii.]

Lear. My lord, till then my soule will not bee quiet.

King. Come Gertrud, wee'l haue Leartes, and our sonne,
 Made friends and Louers, as befittes them both,
 Euen as they tender vs, and loue their countrie. 10

Queene God grant they may. exeunt omnes

Enter Hamlet and Horatio [ACT V. SC. II.]

Hann beleue mee, it greeues mee much Horatio, [SC. xviii.]
 That to Leartes I forgot myselfe:

For by my selfe me thinkes I feele his griefe,
 Though there's a difference in each others wrong

Enter a Bragart Gentleman.

Horatio, but marke yon water-flie, 5

The Court knowes him, but hee knowes not the Court.

Gent.* Now God saue thee, sweete prince Hamlet.

Ham. And you sir, foh, how the muske-cod smels!

Gen. I come with an embassage from his maiesty to you

Ham. I shall sir giue you attention. 10

By my troth me thinkes t'is very colde.

Gent. It is indeede very rawish colde

Ham. T'is hot me thinkes.

Gent. Very swoltery hote:

The King, sweete Prince, hath layd a wager on your side, 15

Six Barbary horse, against six french rapiers,

With all their acoutrements too, & the carriages.

In good faith they are very curiously wrought.

Ham. The carriages sir, I do not know what you meane

Gent. The girdles, and hangers sir, and such like. 20

Ham. The worde had beene more cosin german to the phrase, if he could haue carried the canon by his side,
 And howe's the wager? I vnderstand you now.

Gent. Mary sir, that yong Leartes in twelue venies
 At Rapier and Dagger do not get three oddes of you, 25
 And on your side the King hath laide,
 And desires you to be in readinesse.

Ham. Very well, if the King dare venture his wager,
 I dare venture my skull. when must this be?

Gent. My Lord, presently, the king, and her maiesty, 30
 With the rest of the best iudgement in the Court,
 Are comming downe into the outward pallace.

Ham. Goe tell his maiestie, I wil attend him.

Gent. I shall deliuer your most sweet answer. exit.

Ham. You may sir, none better, for y'are spiced, 35

Else he had a bad nose could not smell a foole.

[Sc XVIII]

Hor. He will disclose himselfe without inquirie.

Ham. Beleeue me Horatio, my hart is on the sodaine
Very sore, all here about

Hor. My lord, forbear the challenge then.

40

Ham. No Horatio, not I, if danger be now,
Why then it is not to come, theres a predestinate prouidence
*in the fall of a sparrow. heere comes the King.

Enter King, Queene, Leartes, Lordes

King Now sonne Hamlet, we haue laid vpon your head,
And make no question but to haue the best.

45

Ham. Your maestie hath laide a the weaker side.

King We doubt it not, deliuer them the foiles

Ham. First *Lear*tes, heere's my hand and loue,
Protesting that I neuer wrongd *Lear*tes

If Hamlet in his madnesse did amisse,

50

That was not Hamlet, but his madnes did it,

And all the wrong I o're did to *Lear*tes,

I here proclaime was madnes, therefore lets be at peace,

And thinke I haue shot mine arrow o're the house,

And hurt my brother.

55

Lear. Sir I am satisfied in nature,
But in termes of honor I'll stand aloofe,
And will no reconcilement,

Till by some elder maisters of our time

I may be satisfied

60

King Giue them the foyles.

Ham. I'll be your foyle *Lear*tes, these foyles,
Haue all a laught, come on sir: a hit.

Lear. No none.

Heere they play

Ham. Iudgement.

65

Gent. A hit, a most palpable hit.

Lear. Well, come againe.

They play againe.

Ham. Another. Iudgement.

Lear. I, I grant, a tuch, a tuch.

King Here Hamlet, the king doth drinke a health to thee

70

Queene Here Hamlet, take my napkin, wipe thy face.

King Giue him the wine.

Ham. Set it by, I'll haue another bowt first,
I'll drinke anone.

Queene Here Hamlet, thy mother drinks to thee.

75

Shee drinks

King Do not drinke Gertrud: O t'is the poysned cup!

Ham.* *Lear*tes come, you dally with me,
I pray you passe with your most cunningst play.

Lear. I! say you so? haue at you,
He hit you now my Lord.
And yet it goes almost against my conscience.

[Sc. XVIII.]
80

Ham. Come on sir.

*They catch one anothers Rapiers, and both are wounded,
Leartes falles downe, the Queene falles downe and dies*

King Looke to the Queene.

Queene O the drinke, the drinke, Hamlet, the drinke.

Ham. Treason, ho, keepe the gates.

85

Lords How ist my Lord *Lear*tes?

Lear. Euen as a coxcombe should,
Foolishly slaine with my owne weapon.

Hamlet, thou hast not in thee halfe an houre of life,
The fatall Instrument is in thy hand.

90

Vnbated and inuenomed. thy mother's poysned
That drinke was made for thee

Ham. The poysned Instrument within my hand!
Then venome to thy venome, die damn'd villaine
Come drinke, here lies thy vnion here

The King dies.

95

Lear. O he is iustly serued.

Hamlet, before I die, here take my hand,
And withall, my loue: I doe forgiue thee.

*Lear*tes dies.

Ham. And I thee, O I am dead Horatio, faie thee well.

Hor. No, I am more an antike Roman,
Then a Dane, here is some poison left.

100

Ham. Vpon my loue I charge thee let it goe,
O fie Horatio, and if thou shouldst die,

What a scandale wouldst thou leaue behinde?

What tongue should tell the story of our deaths,

105

If not from thee? O my heart sinckes Horatio,

Mine eyes haue lost their sight, my tongue his vse:

Farewel Horatio, heauen receiue my soule.

Ham. dies.

Enter Voltemar and the Ambassadors from England.*

enter Fortenbrasse with his traine.

Fort. Where is this bloody sight?

Hor. If aught of woe or wonder you'd behold,
Then looke vpon this tragicke spectacle.

110

Fort. O imperious death! how many Princes

Hast thou at one draft bloudily shot to death? (land,

Ambass. Our ambassie that we haue brought from Eng-

Where be these Princes that should heare vs speake?

115

O most most vnlooked for time! vnhappy country.

Hor. Content your selues, He shew to all, the ground,

The first beginning of this Tragedy :

[SC. XVIII.]

Let there a scaffold be rearde vp in the market place,

And let the State of the world be there:

120

Where you shall heare such a sad story tolde,

That neuer mortall man could more vnfolde.

Fort. I haue some rights of memory to this kingdome,

Which now to claime my leisure doth inuite mee:

Let foure of our chiefest Captaines

125

Beare Hamlet like a souldier to his graue :

For he was likely, had he liued,

To a prou'd most royall.

Take vp the bodie, such a fight as this

Becomes the fieldes, but here doth much amisse

130

Finis.
